A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

MRS. PIETZEL IS ILL.

SHE IS MENTALLY AND PHISICALLY PROSTRATED.

She Arrived in Toronto Yesterday But was too Ill to View the Bodies of Her Two Little Girls—Two Inquests in Progress.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 19.—The Canadian Pacific train from Chicago last night brought to Toronto the heart broken mother of the murdered Pietzel children. The appalling incidents of the past week and the long journey from Chicago had brought about her almost complete collapse. The train on which she travelled had been met at various points by the press representatives but Mrs. Pietzel refused to converse about the tragedy with anyone. The news of her expected arrival had the effect of attracting to the Union Station a large and somewhat disorderly crowd and when the train pulled up at the platform Detective Geyer, who was present to meet her, had a difficult task to get her through the rush of curious spectators. She was at once driven in a cab to the Rossin house, where instructions were given that no one was to be allowed to speak to her until she had a chance to recuperate.

On reaching her room the strong reaction was to much for her and she collapsed in a faint. A physician was called in, an opiate was prescribed and she rallied considerably during the night.

HER PITIFUL CONDITION.

Mrs. Pietzel's position is uniquely pitiful. She is now convinced that her husband and three children have all fallen by the hand of Holmes, though it has been hard to relinquish the hope that there may be some mistake and that time may restore them to her.

A suspicion has arisen that the body of the boy Howard may after all be buried on the St. Vincent street premises. This was based on the fact that the Armbrusts can still smell, or think they can smell, an odor similar to that emitted by the bodies of the girls. The cellar has been quite re-modelled. The soil has been removed, disinfectants used with the greatest freedom and fresh soil submitted. The family, however, still think they can detect a stench arising from the north-east part of the building, and so strong did this become last night that they were obliged to vacate the premises.

WHERE IS THE BOY'S BODY?

Circumstances, however, are strongly against the suppposition that the boy is here. Apart from the presumptive evidence that he was made away with in Detroit, there is also the fact that to bring him here in a trunk meant either a job of smuggling or the risk of having the corpse discovered by the customs officers.

Owing to the fact that the morgue was occupied already by a jury investigating the death of the newsboy Tugentaft, Coroner Orr's inquest on the body of Nellie Pietzel was adjourned until to-night. Coroner Johnson will resume tonight the inquest on the body of the other girl.

TALK OF AN ALIBI.

A FRENCH CANADIAN WHO SAYS HE BELONGS TO TORONTO.

PHILADELPHIA, July 19.—The principal development in the Pietzel case yesterday was the appearance on the scene of a witness who is to prove an alibi for Holmes of the charges of murdering the children in Toronto. The witness refused to give his name or where he is staying in the city. In the afternoon a man of medium height, with remarkable bushy iron gray hair and and mustache, and chin whiskers also streaked with gray, went into the office of Lawyer Shoemaker, counsel for Holmes. The man had the appearance of a foreigner and it was subsequently learned that he was a French Canadian. Mr. Shoemaker and the stranger were together for some time. When the latter left the office he was accosted by the waiting reporters. In replying to the questions put to him he spoke with strong French accent and declined to give his name or address. He stated, however, that he had come from Toronto to Holmes' assistance. He said that he would be able to prove that he saw Holmes deliver the two Pietzel children to the care of mysterious Hatch, and that he also saw Holmes at Fort Worth, Texas. This was practically all that could be extracted from the man and his story was subsequently confirmed by Mr. Shoemaker. Mr. Shoemaker said that he would not tell the man's name until he had consulted with Holmes.

MRS. PIETZEL TOO ILL

TO VIEW THE BODIES — MENTALLY AND PHYSICALLY PROSTRATED.

Mrs. Pietzel has not yet been taken into the presence of her dead children, and the ordeal will be deferred until her physical and mental condition has improved sufficiently to allow it. The only portions of the remains which can be of use for purposes of identifications are thought to be the hair and teeth.

Mrs. Pietzel is slowly recovering, and the rest after her journey is bringing improvement. Accordingly she will not be able to give evidence at either of the inquests tonight.

To avoid the possibility of any trouble from a possible subsequent legal objection that both deaths have not been inquired into by a coroner's jury, Coroner Orr will open at the morgue tonight an inquest on the younger sister. The evidence used in both cases will be practically the same except as to the medical men's report.

THE CAUSE OF THE FURTHER STENCH.

Isaac Armbrust has discovered the source of the lingering stench which annoyed him and his family. A part of the foul earth had been thrown between the boards which formed the casing of the cellar, and the odor omitted therefrom found its way to the other portions of the house by way of the space in the walls. the removal of the offensive earth finished the trouble. Mr. Armbrust is angry with the authorities, and told a reporter that he was about to make some one move along lively.

ANOTHER FAIRY STORY.

LONDON, Eng., July 19.—Enquiries made in this city regarding the statement of Herman Mudgett, alias H. H. Holmes, alias H. H. Howard, suspected of having murdered the two Pietzel children at Toronto, Ont., and who is now in custody at Philadelphia, seem to show that he did not tell the truth when he informed District Attorney Graham, of Philadelphia, that the children were taken to Eng'and by the Williams woman. According to the despatches received here, Holmes is said to have given the girls in the keeping of Minnie Williams, who came to this city from New York, and established a message resort at No. 80 Veder and Vedar street. He also said that she was known here as Minnie Williams, Geraldine Wander or Adele Coyell. But the enquiries made show that there is no Veder or Vedar street in London, and when Vigo and Vere streets, the nearest names to those mentioned by Holmes, were searched, no trace was found of a woman or of an establishment answering the description of those referred to by the prisoner.

HOLSTEIN MILLS GONE.

$15,000 Loss by Destruction of the Saw and Grist Mills.

Special to The Times.

HOLSTEIN, Ont., July 19.—This morning fire broke out in the saw and flour mills owned by W. Y. Petrie. The flames soon enveloped the whole building, and quickly spread to the lumber yard adjoining, where hundreds of thousands of feet of lumber were piled, all of which was consumed. The loss will amount to $15,000.

MAY PROROGUE TO-DAY.

PARLIAMENT DIVIDED AS TO WHEN WALLACE SHOULD RESIGN.

The House Will Prorogue To-Day if the Railway Bill Does Not Prove a Snag—What Tupper Says of Wallace.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 19.—Sir Richard Cartwright started in today after Hon. N. Clarke Wallace's scalp. He moved the adjournment of the House in order to try and get it. In view of the statement of the Controller during last night's debate, denouncing and repudiating the Government's policy on the Manitoba school question, he contended that the Controller could not consistently remain in the Government. It was, in his opinion, contrary to British practice and precedent.

A LIMIT TO WALLACE.

Sir Charles H. Tupper admitted the importance of the question raised, but objected to the manner in which it had been brought before the notice of the House. Had proper notice been given there would have been an opportunity to look up British precedents. Neither could Sir Richard's statement of facts he accepted as correct. It was incorrect to state that the controller denounced and repudiated the Government's policy. Ample authority could be had to justify the Controller in his course politically. Throughout the whole discussion on this great and burning question, a discussion to which Sir Richard had not contributed so much as an expression of a single opinion, the concensus of views was the hope that the question might never come to be decided by the House at all. If, however, it should become necessary, as it will become necessary, if legislation does not take place in the province, to introduce such a measure in this House, then the Controller of Customs would either have to support it and vote for it or retire.

DIVERGENT VIEWS.

Mr. Mills thought the controller's position anomalous and inconsistent, while Mr. Davin declared it all right. Not being a member of the Cabinet, Mr. Wallace had no responsibility. Mr Casey was astonished to learn that Mr. Wallace had no ministerial authority.

Mr. Devine said Mr. Wallace had accused the Roman Catholic Bishops of "practices which the common law of Canada not only forbids but punishes." He would like to know if the Government endorsed such language.

Mr. Martin and Mr. McCarthy both declared Manitoba would never recede from her present position. The latter said on so important an issue the constitution demanded united action on the part of the Government.

After Mr. Dickey had supported the Conservative view of Mr. Wallace's course Sir Richard withdrew his motion.

PROROGATION ON SATURDAY.

Mr. Foster asked Mr. Laurier to agree to prorogation on Saturday. There was only one other Government measure to go through, and that was a bill respecting the Hudson Bay railroad. It was only of a technical character. Mr. Laurier was suspicious. He agreed on prorogation on Saturday, reserving the right to change his mind when he saw this bill.

The debate on the bill providing for the branding of cheese for export was adjourned. The bill will probably go over.

Dr. Sproule asked if in view of the change of Government in England another attempt to have the cattle embargo removed would be made. Mr. Ouimet replied that negotiations were in progress.

CHARGED WITH POISONING.

Efforts Being Made to Show That Mrs. Spivey Killed Her Husband.

Special to The Times.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 19.—Mrs. Mary Spivey was arrested last night charged with having poisoned her husband, W. H. Spivey last month. Spivey had $7,000 insurance in favor of his wife. Witnesses swore today before the coroner's jury that Spivey was slightly indisposed the morning of his death, became ill at noon and died several hours afterwards, and that Mrs. Spivey bought ten grains of morphine twice during the day. Dr. Hill swore Spivey died of morphine poison and that Mrs. Spivey denied at the time that morphine had been administered to him. Spivey's body was exhumed and his stomach sent today to the laboratory at Auburn for analysis.

AN INDIAN CAMPAIGN.

Wyoming's Militia to Get Ready to Move at at a Moment's Notice.

Special to the Times.

LANDER, Wyo., July 19.—Governor Richards has telegraphed General Sheldon, commander of Company B, W.N.G., to place his company under arms subject to orders at a moment's notice. He has ordered to procure saddles and pack horses for the command in readiness for a campaign against the Indians in Jackson's Hole, if necessary.

J. F. Torrance of Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, July 19.—John Fraser Torrance, a wealthy mining operator, committed suicide yesterday. The cause of the act is not known. He was a nephew of Sir A. Galt. Torrance was a cousin of Mr. George W. Torrance of Toronto.

LIBERALS BADLY ROUTED.

THEY ARE, FIGURATIVELY SPEAKING, IN THE VALLEY OF DESPAIR.

Four Ex-Cabinet Ministers Defeated—A Former Canadian Successful—Standing of the Parties.

Special to the times.

LONDON, July 19.—It is calculated that the Liberal party in the next House of Commons will not number more than one hundred and seventy.

Major-General Laurie, the new member for Pembroke division, is a former Canadian, and at one time represented a Nova Scotia constituency in the Canadian Parliament. Major-General Laurie served during the Crimean War and the Indian Mutiny. In 1860 he was appointed inspecting field officer of militia for Nova Scotia, and later filled the position of Deputy Adjutant-General of Militia for Canada. He also participated in the military operations against the rebels in the Canadian North West in 1885.

Four members of Lord Rosebery's Cabinet have been defeated: John Morley, Sir William Harcourt, Mr. Shaw Lefevre, and Mr. Arnold Morley.

Cardiff, heretofor a Liberal stronghold, today rejected Sir E. J. Reed, Liberal, an authority on naval shipbuilding, in favor of J. M. Maclean, Conservative, the owner of the Western Mail, a local daily newspaper.

The reduction of Mr. T. P. O'Connor's majority in the Scotland division of Liverpool is ascribed chiefly to the lukewarmness of the priests, owing to Mr. O'Connor's attitude on the education question and the opposition of the Sun, his newspaper, to Cardinal Vaughan in connection with the London School Board elections.

AN AMERICAN OPINION.

The Times this morning gives prominence to a letter signed by St. Clair McKelway, editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, in which Mr. McKelway says he regards the elections in Great Britain as a check to socialistic tendencies, and thereby of value to every division of the English speaking world.

During the course of his letter Mr. McKelway says: "As an American newspaper man and politician, permit me to say that I think that the gain in the homogenity of both parties will be great. Your majority will be responsible, intelligible and indictable, if need be. As, perhaps, the most practical people in the world, the English nation, with Conservatism as the instrumentality and the opposition as a flail, will get eminently useful results out of the new Parliament."

LABOR CANDIDATES REJECTED.

The rejection of the Labor candidates in many electorates is noteworthy. The defeat of such prominent trade-unionists as George Howell in Bethnal Green, and W. R. Cremer, of Arbitage fame, in the Haggerston division of Shoreditch, is a heavier and more significant blow to the Labor party than the overthrow of a dozen wind-bags and hunters after notoriety like James Kier-Hardie, who was defeated yesterday in West Ham. The conversion of the east end of London to Unionism, as shown by the results in these and other districts, is a remarkable feature of the contest.

ADDITIONAL RETURNS.

Further returns of the results are as follows:

Unopposed—Sussex, Rye Division, A. M. Brookhold, Con.; Galway, East Division, J. Roche, Nationalist; Kildare, South Divisron, M. J. Minch, Nationalist.

Contested—Liverpool, East Toxteth, Division, Baron H. De Worms, Cons.; Exchange Division, J. C. Bingham, Liberal-Unionist, a Liberal loss; West Derby Division, W. H. Long, Con.; Kirkdale Division, Sir George Baden-Powell, Cons.; West Toxteth Division, R. P. Houston, Con.; Burnley, Philip Stanhope, Lib.; Lancashire, Eccles Division, O. L. Clarke, Cons.; a Conservative gain; Middleton Division, T. Fielden, Cons., a Liberal loss; Montroseburg, S. Shiress Will, Lib.; Cardiff, J. J. Maclean, Con., a Liberal loss, Stirling Burgh, S. H. Campbell-Bannerman, Lib.; Hythe, Sir Bevan Edwards, Cons., in 1892 a Liberal-Unionist was returned without opposition.

LATEST RETURNS.

LONDON, July 19.—Following are today's returns of contested and uncontested elections: Contested—Fifeshire, East division, H. H. Asquith, Liberal, 4,332; J. Gilmour, Unionist, 3,616. In 1892 Mr. Asquith's majority was 294.

Northumberland, Wansbeck division, Charles Fenwick, Liberal, 5,627; J. Harris, Conservative and Labor, 2,422. The Liberal majority in 1892 was 2,776.

WITNESSES SWEAR AGAINST THE GRAYS

Preliminary Hearing of Thomas And Hessie Gray Charged With The Awful Crime of Murder.

Sister Against Sister—Mrs. McGregor Takes the Stand and Tells of Mrs. Gray's Repeated Threats to Murder Scollie—McGregor Swears that Thomas Gray Made Damaging Statements and that Mrs. Gray Said She Didn't Want Scollie Saved from the Flames—Gray and McGregor Had a Fight Before the Grays Went South—Old Davie's Strange Dream—Full Report of Yesterday's Proceedings.

The preliminary investigation into the several charges of murder and arson against Thomas and Hessie Gray, opened yesterday. All the Crown witnesses were examined in chief, and the investigation will probably close this morning with the cross-examination of Mrs. McGregor.

At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the preliminary investigation into the charges of murder and arson against Thomas and Hessie Gray, was opened before County Magistrate Edmison in the Court House. County Crown Attorney Wood appeared for the Crown and Mr. W. A. Stratton for the prisoners. Mr. Butcher, Court stenographer, took the desk adjoining the witness stand, and Detective Murray sat near the prosecuting attorney. The press table was well represented by the local and Toronto dailies. Long before 1 o'clock the court room was comfortably packed with spectators and among this number fully one fourth were ladies. During the progress of the examination the Magistrate found it necessary to admonish the spectators for frequent outbursts when points were scored by either side. The warning that the Court room would be cleared put an effectual stop to further demonstrations.

The Grays were ushered to seats in front of the prisoner's dock by Constable Archie Moore, and so quietly did they come in that very few of those around the table knew that they had made their appearance. They were almost totally screened from the eyes of the audience, but a few saw them and came forward and shook hands with them. Mrs. Gray carried her baby at her breast, and the sight moved many hearts to pity. Both looked totally unconcerned. In fact, Gray himself had a half sneering leer on his face while his wife frequently smiled and exchanged glances with acquaintances. Indeed, the prisoners did not appear to realize that they were charged with the awful crime of murder, and their actions were certainly not in their favor.

By consent the evidence taken was allowed to bear on either of the three charges. The Grays are charged: Thomas, with murder und inciting to arson; Hessie, murder and arson.

THE FIRST WITNESS.

UNDERTAKER D. BELLEGHEM DESCRIBES THE BODY AS HE SAW IT ON TWO OCCASIONS.

Mr. Daniel Belleghem was the first witness called. He said he was an undertaker doing business in Peterborough and he remembered being called to bury David Scollie in February, 1894. He was called by William McGregor. He found part of the remains of Scollie laid out in the barn. He didn't remember all who were there, but remembered Wm. McGregor, He was called out at 10.30 in the morning. He examined the remains. The head was missing, also part of the feet and part of the shoulder. The stump of the neck came to a point about six inches from the shoulder. The breast was alright. Scollie had on an undershirt, and this the witness said, he did not think was burned any. There was drawers on the legs, but nothing on the feet, and they were charred. The chest was covered with a heavy growth of hair, apparently not singed. The hands were in a kind of rigor mortis state. After viewing the remains he returned to his shop, and got a casket in which he put the remains and brought it back to his store. After keeping it there a short time he buried it.

He had made a search for the head, poking with a stick in the ashes, because he did not think the fire was hot enough to burn it entirely up. He was unsuccessful in his search. He could not remember who pointed out the spot where the body had lain. It was covered with blankets and the latter were partly burned.

On the first day of June he had exhumed the body in the presence of Detective Murray, the county magistrate and several others. It was the same casket, and the body was covered with the same clothing. The stump was the same except more decomposed.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Cross-examined by Mr. Stratton witness said body had lain in barn probably four hours. The entrance of shed was open to everybody. There was nothing that he could see around the neck that would lead him to believe that the head had been severed. From what he saw he came to the conclusion that the head had been burned off. Stump had the appearance of a sharpened lead pencil; larger part being charred to the point. He could feel the bone. He had examined the clothing pretty carefully, not too closely. He was not in a suspicious frame of mind when he examined the body at first. Before he put the body in casket he became suspicious. He examined the garments closely but found no trace of blood on any parts of them. He would say on his oath that no part of the hair on the breast was singed. The two shoulders were apparently all right—he did not examine back of them. The arms were not folded. Appeared in same position as taken from the fire. The left leg was drawn up, and both feet were missing—at least one was totally gone and the other almost totally. The feet and head had received the heat of the fire worst. The fact that he found no traces of the head in the ashes confirmed the suspicions he had had. The spot pointed out to him as the place where Scollie had lain, was open and easy of access to anybody.

In his warehouse the body was not seen by any but the relatives of the deceased. It was in the warehouse about 24 hours and the coffin lid was screwed down. In answer to a question witness said the abdomen had not burst. He had seen Scollie in life and judging from the body he was a strong, powerful man. Mr. Gray paid a portion of the burial expenses, and Scollie's sister the balance.

RE-EXAMINED.

To Crown Attorney Wood—Gray paid $25 of the expenses. He thought the charred part of the stump was a quarter of an inch deep. There was about 6 inches of the bone protruding—part bone and part flesh. He lifted the body by the bone, assisting with one hand under the shoulders. The bone did not give way nor come off.

Both feet were burned—one more than the other but he didn't know which. The toes and instep were gone.

JOHN GRAHAM WEIR.

HE HELPED TO RAISE DAVID SCOLLIE'S REMAINS FROM THE DEBRIS IN THE CELLAR.

Mr. John Graham Weir was the next witness put on the stand. He was once the employer of old David Scollie, the supposed murdered man. He said he lived in Otonabee about one mile and a half from Gray's house in a southerly direction. He described the roads leading from the Gray's place. Gray's house was set in from the west corner of the lot about 100 yards and about 40 feet from the road. He first heard of the fire about 7 o'clock on the morning of the fire. He drove over and found Mr. Burnham, Mr. Bowie, Mr. Gervin, and David Lawrence surrounding the ruins. He couldn't positively fix the date of this occasion. He saw the body in the fire and he at once asked Burnham if they couldn't get Scollie out. Burnham said there was no use trying until the fire burned out. They threw water on the burning coals, and witness got a spade and started to dig the debris away. While he was thus engaged a man named John Hunter came along and by this time he had exposed the mattrass upon which the body lay. They lifted this up and carried it out. There was nothing between the mattrass and the floor. The mattrass lay about a foot and half below the foundation wall. Nothing about the body was disturbed in taking it out. Outside the body was viewed by those present. Witness and those present removed part of the blankets, socks, etc.

Witness said the body was lying on its back. The hands were folded across the body over the blankets below the stomach. The blanket was tucked in close around the shoulders and body on both sides all the way down. They searched for the head. Then he examined the neck and he at once formed the opinion that the head had been cut off. The stump was a little longer behind than in front. The blankets were folded close around the stump and were not burned. He looked at the feet and a portion of one foot was burned. He stayed near the body until it was carried to the barn. It was lying on a straw mattrass about the size of the body. He corroborated the former witness' testimony regarding the hair on the chest. He did not know what portion of the house Scollie slept in. Mr. Wood asked witness if it was possible for a body to fall from the upper story and be in the position that he found Scollie when he dug the debris away. Mr. Stratton objected, but it was overruled.

Witness replied that be didn't think it possible.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Cross examined by Mr. Stratton, witness said be did not see the body after it was taken to the barn. He didn't recollect saying to Mr. LaBelle on the occasion of a farmers' picnic that he (the witness) believed Scollie would come to such an end. He did not go to the fire with a preconceived idea that murder had been committed. He came to the conclusion that murder had been done, when he placed the body on the bank and saw the nice position it had been resting in. As soon as he saw the neck he thought that the head was cut off. He was not surprised that the head could not be found. In fact, he never thought much about the head. Judging from the position of the body he would naturally suppose that the head would not be entirely consumed. When he saw the body it was entirely covered over with burning boards, sticks, coals and ashes. Up to the neck, over the shoulders there were a blanket and two quilts piled up. Under these there were two shirts. Then came the body, the straw ticks and then the boards.

He was not any more firmly convinced now than then that murder had been committed. He was firmly convinced then.

The ashes and coals around the stump gave it the appearance of being charred. He was not sure that it was in reality charred very much. He could not say whether or not there was any flesh on the neck bone. He did not examine the neck very thoroughly.

It appeared to him that the ceiling had fallen on the body before the fire reached it. The body was partly covered with plaster. He could not say whether or not one foot was missing in its entirety.

Witness said he believed that his evidence at the inquest was true. He couldn't exactly fix the time when he reached the Gray's that morning, but he thought it was between 7 and 8 a.m. He had never been in Gray's house and did not know the location of the room in which Scollie was supposed to sleep that night. He was positive in his own mind that it could not have fallen nine feet without being displaced from the mattress.

Witness was rigidly cross examined, but the balance of his evidence was not shaken.

RE EXAMINED.

To Mr. Wood he said the body was two or three feet from the wall. There was more fire near the middle of the body than at the extremities. The body was laying in the end of the house near the woodshed. The fire at the eastern part of the building was the hottest, the wind blowing it from the body.

ZACHIAS BURNHAM.

MCGREGOR AWOKE HIM ON THAT FATAL MORNING AND TOLD HIM THAT SCOLLIE WAS BURNED TO DEATH.

Zachias Burnham was the third witness examined. He deposed that he lived in Otonabee, his house being situated about 130 yards from the Grays. The house of McGregor's was 140 rods from Grays Stewarts house was nearer to the Gray's than McGregor's. About 3 o'clock on the morning of the fire he was told that Gray's house was burning down. He went over and found the house pretty well on fire; the west end was just catching. He did not know what portion of the house Scollie was sleeping in. When he reached the fire he found McGregor and his (the witness') son there. He did nothing at all, but stood around to see if the wind would blow the flames on the barn.

He saw something like a body in the flames and he went over to Burnham's. When he came back in the morning. Mr. LaBelle was there and they all threw water on the remains. He was there when the body was taken out. It was closely wrapped in blankets with the arms and hands sticking out. He didn't examine the body very particularly. There was a shirt and a pair of drawers on the body. He did not see the head—it was gone entirely. He had not examined the neck.

Beside the clothing the body was covered with plaster. Where the head should be there was no more debris than around other parts of the body. The intensity of the fire around the body seemed equal. He thought there was only one chance in 1,000 for a man falling from the upper story to retain the position on the mattrass the body was in. The fire seemed to be most strong in the northwest portion.

He thought it would not take more than 2 or 3 minutes for a person to go from Gray's to his house.

CROSS-EXAMINED.

Cross-examined the witness said he had stepped off the distance between Gray's and his place. Mr. McGregor called him that morning about 20 minutes to three o'clock. He didn't hurry over for Mr. McGregor said to him "Gray's house is burned down and David Scollie is burned to death." He didn't see Mr. McGregor so he couldn't say whether he was excited or not. Mr. McGregor shouted the alarm to him. When he reached Gray's the east end of the roof had fallen in and the inside of the walls were a mass of flames. He was told that Scollie was sleeping in the south western room up stairs. When he got there the flames were climbing around the windows of the room. At this time he did not know whether the floor of this room had fallen. The body was not found in the room below the room in which deceased was sleeping, but in the partially dug out cellar in the north west side of the room. He didn't know who told him the room Scollie was sleeping in. He could see the interior of the house when he got there. It was a common strip house—a house that would burn easily. It was a very cold and stormy night. He didn't see anything of Mrs. Gray or the children.

RE-EXAMINED.

To Mr. Wood witness said the body was found under the portion of the house burned last, and the wind was blowing the flames away from it.

HENRY GIRVIN.

HE ALSO ASSISTED IN RESCUING THE BODY AND GIVES IMPORTANT CORROBORATIVE EVIDENCE.

Henry Girvin was the next witness. He happened along the morning of the Scollie fire about 8 or 9 o'clock. Messrs. Weir, Hunter and others were there. Mr. Weir was busy getting the body out. He helped. The body was pulled up, laid on the bank, and somebody removed the clothing from the breast. He described the clothes the same as other witnesses. The hair on the breast was uninjured. There was no head on the body and he did not examine the stump.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Cross-examined he said he didn't notice if the feet were missing.

DAVID LAWRENCE.

ANOTHER WITNESS WHO HELPED IN REMOVING THE REMAINS—THE BLACKENED STUMP.

The next witness was David Lawrence who worked for Mr. Burnham in 1894. He went to the fire about 8 o'clock and set to work throwing water on the coals. After wetting the vicinity where the body lay, it was taken out. The body was lying just as if Scollie had gone to sleep wrapped in a blanket. He corroborated former witness as to the position of the limbs. Under the body was part of a straw mattrass. He didn't know what was under the mattrass. The cloth was burned but the straw was left. After the body was taken out he noticed the head was gone, the wrist burned and one foot gone. The socks were on the feet. He didn't pay any particular attention to the body. The stump of the neck was blackened. Apart from the clothing on the body there was the ashes, plaster and debris. It all seemed to be just as it had fallen. The fire was about equal all round the body, if anything a little deeper where the head ought to have been. The head was toward the stone wall; the feet toward the center of the building.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Cross-examined the witness said he paid very little attention to the stump. He couldn't describe the bone, beyond that it had a charred appearance. There was nothing that lead him to believe that the head was cut off. There was a foot of plaster, perhaps more, in depth, around the neck. The hole of debris he was dug out of was probably two feet deep. There was fire and coals where the head should have been. He didn't hunt for the head. He had seen Weir and the others shovel the debris from the body. The only part visible was right about the stomach where the bed clothes showed. The body was not on a level with the foundation wall. It was between two and three feet lower. He couldn't say whether ground was more depressed at the head than in other parts.

ROBERT MITCHELL.

ONE OF THE MEMBERS OF THE CORONER'S JURY AT THE SCOLLIE INQUEST GIVES EVIDENCE.

Robert Mitchell who lives in Otonabee. was one of the Coroner's Jury which inquired into the death of Scollie, and he was next placed in the witness box and described the clothing on the body and the general appearance as he saw it. The neck looked like a slope to him he said. The hind part seemed longer while the surface had a roasted appearance. The hair on the breast was quite natural with the exception of three or four inches. He was not cross-examined.

EDWARD McDONALD,

VISITED THE GRAY'S BARN AND FOUND BLOOD SPOTS ON THE PARTITION AND A PITCH FORK.

Edward McDonald said he lived in Ashburnham, half a mile from Gray's. He went to the Gray's the Saturday evening following the fire, accompanied by some boys. He saw finger marks in blood on the partition in the barn, and blood on the handle of a pitchfork in a barrel. The blood marks were dark red. He couldn't tell from the appearance of the blood how long it had been there. He said nothing about these marks at the time, but afterwards told Detective Murray about it.

CROSS EXAMINED.

Cross-examined witness said be didn't ask if the Gray's had been killing pigs a few weeks before. He learned that they had later on. He didn't tell "Detective" Weir about the blood marks.

WILLIAM McGREGOR,

GRAY'S BROTHER-IN-LAW ON THE STAND—HE UNDERGOES A RIGID AND TEDIOUS CROSS-EXAMINATION.

A hush spread over the court room when the name of William McGregor was called. His evidence was listened to with breathless attention. He told the following story.

On the morning of Friday, February 22, 1894, about 2.45, I heard some children shaking my windows, and my wife let them in. They said the whole part of Gray's house was in flames. I looked over and could see the windows of Gray's and saw no fire. I went down and met Mrs. Gray carrying a bundle. She said Scollie was in the house. When I got there I kicked in the front door. The kitchen part of the house was all on fire. The north end was not burning. I saw Mrs. Gray and told her I was going over to Burnham's. She told me not to go over there. But I went over and told the Burnhams that Gray's house was on fire and Scollie was burning to death.

Then I ran back to the burning house and heard Mrs. Gray yelling "Save Scollie, save Scollie." I asked her how Scollie could be saved now. She didn't answer. When I first left my house I shouted fire all the way down the road. I yelled loud enough for Scollie to hear me, as I stood as near as 100 yards to the house and yelled repeatedly.

The bundle Mrs. Gray carried was 3 or 4 feet long.

In answer to questions Mr. McGregor said Scollie must have weighed about 140 or 145 lbs in good health. He enjoyed the latter up to Christmas when he began to fail a little. Mr. McGregor saw him the night before the fire. He appeared in his usual health. Scollie slept in the end of the house which burned last; he didn't see the body when it was fonnd.

He saw into both rooms. He could see the bedstead in one room, and said to Burnham that there was Scollie's bed. It proved not to be, however, as Scollie occupied the other room. He saw the body in the barn, but made no examination.

He did not know what kind of a dress Mrs. Gray had on when he met her that night. Mrs. Gray wanted him to go down to Gray's brother's at Ivanhoe. She offered him $1.75, but he refused to take it. He telegraphed for Gray. On Sunday morning he and Gray and some others drove to the house, and witness went to dig in the debris. Gray hollered out: "Hurry up, let the old head go to hell—my horses are freezing. Some time after the fire he was in Peterborough with Gray. They often talked of the fire. The first conservation they had Gray wanted witness to clean out the cellar and build up the floor again. Witness said he had wood to cut, but if Gray would help him cut wood, he would help clean out the cellar. Gray said: "oh. never mind, I'm only working on it to keep down suspicion.

Witness had more suspicions when the day after the inquest he saw Mrs. Gray wearing a dress which was supposed to have been burned.

One day Gray said to him: "I have the smartest little woman in the world; she knew how to get rid of the d——d old brute (meaning Scollie) and it wouldn't do for me to be around.

Witness had heard Mrs. Gray call Scollie a d——d old brute on several occasions, and swear she would poison him.

Gray went out to work at the lumber camp. After the fire Gray said in speaking of Scollie, "Oh, well, I never expected to see him alive when I left for the shanties the last time."

Gray had also said the matter would have been all right if the head hadn't been missing. He didn't intimate to witness what was going to happen to the old man.

Witness knew the terms upon which Scollie went to live with the Gray's. He went to Gray's one forenoon and Scollie and the Gray's were quarrelling. Scollie was on the floor with a slate and pencil in his hand. Gray told him they were going to separate. He was going to offer Scollie $400 to leave, or he would sell out for $1200 to Scollie. They afterwards went up to Mr. Stratton's office and the agreement was read. There was no separation.

After the fire the Grays went to a house of Mr. Girvin's. Witness said the property was sold on 9th March and next day Gray went away.

In witness' house the Grays had some things. He saw Mrs. Gray's dress and two shawls, and a pair of shoes belonging to Gray. He did not see these shawls on Mrs. Gray the night of the fire. She said the boots were in the barn.

Witness said Mrs. Gray broke the window of the house with an axe, put the children out and told them to go to an outhouse and dress. The children slept in the end of the house which burned last. She said fire prevented her getting out by the door.

Witness said if Mrs. Gray had gone to Burnham's place instead of sending the children to his place any person at Burnham's could easily have saved Scollie. She lost half an hour by not going to Burnham's. When he examined the windows in Gray's house he found them apparently smashed open.

SEVERE CROSS-QUESTIONING.

Cross-examined, witness said the night before the fire he was at the opera house. He returned home, undressed and went to bed at 12 o'clock. He couldn't remember which one of the children awoke him that morning. He let the five of them in for it was bitterly cold. The children all had plenty of clothing. He met Mrs. Gray half way to the house. She said nothing to him about getting Scollie out of the house. He didn't anticipate that the house was to burn that night. Mrs. Gray told him that Scollie was in the burning building but she did not tell him in what portion of it. Witness denied that the Grays had accused him over and over again of being the cause of Scollie's death, by neglecting to rescue him. He burst open the door but done nothing more. Later on his wife came up and urged him to save old Scollie but there was no possible way of getting to him. He did all he could. There was a ladder near the barn, but it was only four feet long. Witness said his wife was screaming to save Scollie, while Mrs. Gray was smiling and happy—"much happier than she is now"—the witness added.

The roof of the kitchen fell first and the room in which Scollie slept was the last to collapse.

He had heard Gray say that he (witness) stood by and saw Scollie die. That is why he put the letter in the paper. He believed while Gray was staying at his house that Mrs. Gray killed Scollie, and that Gray was an accessory.

There was a note in the bank when the Grays left. It was for his (the witness') accommodation. In the meantime they had quarrelled. Gray and witness had fought with their fists and witness beat Gray. There was ill-feeling. Witness had told his children not to go with the Gray children. The Grays and Scollie had several ructions although Scollie took better care of the children than their parents. He had never heard Scollie complain of his treatment at the Gray's.

Witness denied that Mrs. Gray had blamed him for leading her husband to drink and for helping Gray to spend his money. When Mrs. Gray was angry she threatened other people. He didn't think she meant it when she said of Scollie: "I'll poison the d——d old brute."

The last men he left that night when be went home were Mr. Dawson and Mr. Holden.

RE-EXAMINED.

To Mr. Wood witness said be first observed that the window had been smashed when be returned from the Burnham's. He knew all the furniture in Gray's house and thought it would bring about $50 if sold at auction. The furniture was insured for $300. At the time of the fire the sewing machine was not in the house. The Grays' said it was sent off for repairs. Mr. McGregor said he had nothing to do with putting this prosecution in motion.

ADJOURNED FOR SUPPER.

When Mr. McGregor left the box it was after 6 o'clock and the investigation adjouned until 8 o'clock.

SISTER AGAINST SISTER.

Mrs. McGregor Tells of the Many Threats Mrs. Gray Made to Do Away With Scollie.

When County Magistrate Edmison ascended to the Judicial seat at 8 o'clock, the crowd in the Court Room exceeded that of the afternoon by several hundreds. Citizens learned that Mrs. McGregor was to be put on the stand and they expected to hear some damaging evidence. In this they were not disappointed. The prisoners took their seats with the same look of unconcern. Mrs. Gray did not bring her bady into Court, the experience of the afternoon, having demonstrated that the infant Gray is no respector of law courts and a most vigorous exponent of free speech.

Mrs. Mary McGregor took the stand shortly after 8 o'clock. She is a little stouter than her sister the prisoner, though of the same height. In personal appearance they are not unlike each other.

She deposed that she was the wife of Wm. McGregor and a sister of Mrs. Gray, and had lived in the vicinity of the Grays for some years. She remembered the date of the burning of the Gray's house very distinctly. She knew David Scollie. She was not at the Gray's very often. She saw Scollie the Wednesday before the fire—she passed him on the road.

She and her sister had a conversation about Scollie in the November before he died. It took place on the road to town. They were driving. Mrs. Gray said they had some trouble with Scollie about the house, and she was going to get rid of him.

Witness asked her how she was going to do this. Mrs. Gray replied that she would watch her chance and get Scollie up Fitzgerald's lane some dark night and shoot him. Witness then gave the location of the lane, It was not much frequented, especially in the winter. Witness said to Mrs. Gray, "If you do that you will never get to Heaven." Mrs. Gray replied that she would do it in such a way that some one would be blamed who knew nothing about it, and Tom, her husband would be away. She didn't give a damn as long as Tom didn't get into it.

Further than this Mrs. Gray said she would chop Scollie's head off and then burn the house and destroy all traces. She had told Tom about it and be had said better leave the place to Scollie than do that.

Witness said that on the Tuesday prior to the fire Mrs. Gray told her that the shanty lamp which Tom always gave Scollie, was not safe, and she was afraid of fire. On this occasion Scollie had a dream that an earthquake was going to come on that Tuesday and swallow him up, and that Tom was going to his brother Robert's. Witness said Scollie slept in the front room upstairs—the room nearest Peterborough.

Witness said the first she knew of the fire was when the Gray children came to the door that night. She heard them first. Gray's little girl said that Scollie had set fire to the house with the lamp. Her husband got out first and she slipped on a jacket and followed. She did't notice particularly what the Gray children had on, but one of them only had stockings on—no shoes.

Witness then gave the ages of the Gray children as well as she could remember, The oldest ones carried the three smaller ones to her house when they came. She saw the fire when she got out a little ways. She saw no light in the upstair windows. The first person she met was Mrs. Gray. Witness was lamenting because no one was around to save Scollie. She said, "Is there anyone coming to save poor Scollie." Mrs. Gray replied: "I do not want Scollie saved." Before this Mrs. Gray said: "My good house and barn are lost." She was moaning these words to herself. The witness' husband came along and told her to go home or she would be frozen, so she made for home. She was not at the fire but a few minutes before her husband returned from Mr. Burnham's.

Coming up the road Mrs. Gray told witness how her little girl had awakened in the night and smelling the smoke had tried to open the door but couldn't for the flames.

When the witness left her home she could see the front door and shutters all ablaze. That night Mrs. Gray had on her husband's jacket and an old dress and hat. Mrs. Gray said she saved Tom's boots, a dress and some buffalo robes. The last night that Scollie lived Mrs. Gray said he would not live another winter. Another time Mrs. Gray came to her about a piece in the paper and said she hoped there wasn't going to be any trial, but if there was she hoped the witness wouldn't swear against her. Witness replied that she hoped she wouldn't have to. About the 11th of July after the fire. Mrs. Gray drove Gray to the depot and he left Peterborough.

This concluded the examination in chief of Mary McGregor, Mr. Stratton asked that the cross examination be postponed until the morning. He understood that there were other witnesses—some medical evidence had to be taken.

County Crown Attorney Wood opposed this request for postponement. There would be no medical testimony put in.

Mr. Stratton submitted that the medical evidence should be put in now. If the Crown didn't the fact should weigh heavily against the prosecution. The Crown had positively not made out a case. He couldn't do justice to his clients if he was compelled to go on tonight.

Mr. Wood pressed for the continuance of the case. Mr. Stratton should have pressed his objections at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Stratton then went into the matter of the medical testimony. This testimony was used to bring the Grays back to Canada and it should be put in.

The magistrate said the Crown wasn't compelled to put this testimony in now.

The Crown and Defence argued for some time and the magistrate ruled that the case should go on.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Witness told Mr. Stratton that she had been examined in this matter before when Mr. Murray called at her house accompanied by Mr. John Graham Weir; she didn't remember the date. Murray asked her if she could give any evidence against the Grays. She didn't think at this time that her husband was suspected or charged by the Grays with Scollie's death. There was no ill feeling between them and the Grays—only a little falling out about school matters. The men weren't very good friends before Gray left for Florida.

At this juncture the infant Gray which had been brought into its mother set up an awful howling and continued it with such persistency and effect that the replies of the witness could not be heard by Court Stenographer Butcher, nor by the press reporters. The youngster did more than all of Mr. Stratton's eloquent pleading, for it caused the magistrate to adjourn the case until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

The Oddfellows at Picton wired the Peterborough baseball club to find out if they would play a match game in Picton during the big demonstration next week for a $30 silver cup. The club replied that it would go for $30 cash, but not for the cup. The Pictonites wired back not to come.

Was This the Thief?

Thursday Chief Roszel received a telegram from F. Young, Warkworth, stating that a horse and rig, driven by a stranger, answering to the description of the man who stole Mr. Mosley's horse, had put up at the Daly House, Warkworth, on Sunday night, and that the stranger left soon after driving south.

Death of Mrs. J. H. Walton.

The death of Mr. Joseph H. Walton, of Smith, occurred in Toronto Thursday afternoon, after a lingering illness. The direct cause of her death was an operation which was performed in Toronto. Deceased was in her 60th year. The funeral will take place today from the residence of Mrs. John Walton, Hunter street.

Ordained at St. Mary's.

On Sunday morning at 8.30 mass at St. Mary's church, Bathurst street, Toronto, Bishop O'Connor of Peterborough, ordained the following students to the priesthood: William McCann, Ambrose Small and Martin Whalen. The mass was celebrated by Bishop O'Connor, assisted by the Very Rev. J. J. McCann and Father Lafontaine.

Death of Mrs. Jas. F. Kerr.

The death of Mrs. James F. Kerr (nee Miss Gertie Uin), second daughter of Mrs. Hamilton Uin, occurred at West New Brighton, Staten Island, New York, last week, and the news was received by her relatives here on Saturday night. Deceased was well known in Peterborough and has many friends here who will greatly regret her sad death.

A Port Hope Woman's Sudden Death.

A despatch from Port Hope says; A neighbor's wife was taken ill about 11 o'clock Thursday night, and the husband went over to get Mrs. James Miller to wait on the sick woman. She told him not to wait for her, that she would be along shortly. He returned to his home and waited an hour and a half and then went to see the cause of the delay, and when within a hundred yards from her residence he found Mrs. Miller lying by the side of the walk dead.

The North King Aground.

A despatch from Brighton, Ont., Thursday says: Twenty minutes past two Thursday morning the schooner North King, Capt. Jerrold, while on her way from Charlotte for this port, ran aground about half a mile west of the main light. There was a dense fog also. The captain says the variation of the compass caused the accident. She is on flat rock. The steamer is not much damaged. A tug from Kingston is on the way to her assistance. Some of the passengers were landed in small boats and conveyed to Brighton station, where they took the trains to their destination.

Sold Liquor to Italians.

Friday morning Magistrate Deacon and License Inspector Short proceeded to Omemee, where a charge of illegal liquor selling against Jos. Franzee, foreman of the gang of Italians working at the G.T.R gravel pit. The inspector has been quietly working up the case for some weeks, but experienced great difficulty in getting at the facts owing to the men being intimidated by Franzee, who is also interpreter for the gang, and possibly also because they sympathize slightly with the illicit business. As we were on the point of going to press we examined a telephone message stating that Franzee had been convicted and fined $50 and costs $6.45 for selling beer, failing to pay which he will spend the next three months in jail at hard labor.—Lindsay Post.

Fire at Bobcaygeon.

The house of Mr. William Bick, which was saved only a few days ago, when the stables were burnt, was destroyed on Tuesday night. At about three o'clock in the morning, Mr. A. E. Bottum, who was sitting up with his father, noticed the blaze, and rode over on his wheel. He found the house vacant, the occupant having moved out since the last fire. It was past saving, and as no other buildings were endangered, Petries Mill being nearest, he concluded, on returning, that it would be useless to sound the alarm. As far as can be ascertained there was no insurance on the building, and it is supposed to have caught in some way from the smouldering embers of the recent fire.—Independent.

The Lady in Bloomers.

The Whitby Chronicle man evidently has the ladies' interests at heart and should be sent to Toronto to cope with Trustee Bell. He describes the first pair of bloomers he saw as follows: "We saw the new fangled bicycle girl in her bloomers, while on an excursion on Tuesday last, and were not at all shocked. If we were a woman we would not wear anything else. The costume is handsome, comfortable, suitable, cool, and imparts to its wearer a hearty, vigorous look. Women look so puny in their long, trailing, tiresome skirts that we do not wonder at their seeking a new style of dress." We heartily endorse our contem's sentiments. Of course woman likes to resemble man as closely as she can with due modesty, and we fail to see the immodesty of a woman attiring herself suitable to her occupation. We think Trustee Bell, whose strong opposition to bloomers is creating such a sensation in Toronto, is one of those cranks who think women have no rights.

Police Court Notes.

Philander G. McCargar and Robt. W. Dixon, who recently were in partnership as millers, were charged before Police Magistrate Dumble Saturday with "intent to defraud their creditors, the Sadler, Dundas & Flavelle Milling Co., limited; caused to be made a sale of their property, to wit, a carload of number one hard wheat to one J. F. McLaughlin." It is said these gentlemen purchased the wheat from the Lindsay firm and sold it afterwards to Mr. McLaughlin, and after a short time they assigned and this charge resulted. Evidence was heard and the men were committed for trial at the sitting of the next court for competent jurisdiction. The prisoners were removed to the county goal this afternoon. Bail was fixed at $1,000, in two sureties of $500 each. John Cooper was arraigned Saturday morning on the charge of vagrancy and pleaded not guilty. Cooper is the man about whom Mr. P. Mulcahey, of Otonabee, made the complaints. Evidence was taken, and Cooper was found guilty, and sent up to the Central Prison for six months.

TWO DEATHS.

Mr. Charles Brealey and Mrs. Edward Allan Pass Away.

The death of Mr. Charles Brealey, aged 72 years, of Otonabee, occurred Friday afternoon. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of his son, Mr. William Brealey, to the Little Lake Cemetery. Mr. Brealey was for many years a prominent resident of North Monaghan. He retired from farming a number of years ago and resided in Ashburnham until the death of Mrs. Brealey, when he moved to Otonabee and resided with his son. On the death of Mr. Wm. Brownscombe he was appointed lock master, which position he held until a few weeks since, when Mr. Wm. Collins was appointed to succeed him.

DEATH OF MRS. ALLAN.

Shortly after 11 o'clock Saturday morning Mrs. Edward Allan passed away rather unexpectedly, having been confined to her room three days. The deceased's maiden name was Delilah Uin and she was married over twenty years ago to Mr. Edward Allan, who died several years ago. The deceased was a much respected woman, and had kept a boarding house on Water street for many years. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. J. Downer, of Toronto, and Miss Jennie Allan, to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate mother. The funeral will take place from the late residence, 330 Water street, this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

STOLE A HORSE.

Also the Buggy from A. E. Mosley's Livery—The Thief a Stranger.

Mr. A. E. Mosley is of the opinion that he is the loser of a valuable horse, and an almost new buggy which was stolen from him on Saturday morning—at least he hired the horse and rig to a stranger for an hour, and neither have turned up yet.

Early on Saturday morning a young man, apparrently 24 years of age, called at at Mr. Mosley's livery and said he wanted to hire a horse and buggy for an hour. The turn out was got ready for him and he drove off saying that he would return soon.

About an hour afterwards one of Mr. Mosley's rigs returned and the driver said he had seen the stranger with the other rig driving furiously along the Port Hope gravel road.

The stranger never returned with the horse, and Mr. Mosley does not doubt for a moment but that the stranger hired it with the intention of stealing it. It is thought he drove to Jubilee and then drove either east or west from there. All nearby villiges were telephoned to, but without finding any trace of the thief.

The stranger's name is not known, but the following description is given: About 24 years of age; height about 5 feet, 10 inches; dark brown hair; wore a light suit of cheap gray material; dark gray, cheap wove shirt, laced in front with red lace; dark felt fedora hat.

The horse was a light gray, about fifteen hands high and the end of its tail is pure white.

The police have been notified and have sent out notices.

THE CANOE PARADE.

Many Gaily Decorated Canoes Parade the Little Lake Last Night.

Between two and three hundred people gathered at Burnham's point last night to witness the illuminated canoe parade under the auspices of the Otonabee Canoe Club. The weather was sublime and the waters of the Little Lake as smooth as a mill pond, leaving nothing to be desired for the event so far as the elements were concerned.

At 9.15 the parade commenced in earnest and some 20 canoes, all illuminated by antidiluvian Chinese lanterns and all presenting much the same appearance formed in line and headed by R. M. Roy's natty little steam launch, meandered around the lake. The spectacle was a pretty one, so far as it went, but the diminutive number of craft, the painful similarity of illumination, and the utter absence of manoeuver, was in a measure calculated to dampen the expectancy of the average observer. The canoe club, however, undoubtedly did as well as could be expected with the material at hand, and the scene was materially enhanced by a display of fireworks from Mr. Roy's yacht, "Rob Roy."

Mr. H. O. Fisk, in his yacht "Libuella," took command of the proceedings, and Mr. R. M. Roy officiated as judge. Much credit is due the latter gentleman for his fair and impartial decisions, which resulted in the following awards for the best illuminated canoes:

First prize—Mr. Chas McClelland.
Second prize—Mr. Ernest Rutherford.

The members of the club are loud in their praise of Mr. H. O. Fisk for the efficient manner in which he contributed to this event, which is the first of the kind the club have held for five or six years. It is understood that last night's parade is but the initiative step towards a series of parades on a larger and grander scale. The club also intend holding the first of a series of races on Thursday evening next.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

THE GRAYS WILL BE TRIED FOR MURDER AT THE FALL ASSIZES.

The Strongest Evidence in Possession of the Crown Will Come out at the Trial—The Theory of the Crown and What it will try to Prove—Probable Line of Defence.

WEDNESDAY at the conclusion of the cross-examination of Mrs. Mary McGregor at the preliminary hearing of the Grays the Crown rested its case and County Magistrate Edmison committed the prisoners to stand their trial for the murder of David Scollie, at the September Fall Assizes.

Mr. Stratton asked for the dismissal of the prisoners after the testimony had all been taken. He said that there was nothing to show that murder had been committed, nor that the house had been fired. Certainly there was not one iota of evidence against Thomas Gray. By holding back the medical evidence the Crown was endeavoring to sneak the case through to trial and then surprise the prisoners with unexpected evidence.

County Crown Attorney Wood said the guilt of the male prisoner rested upon the guilt of Mrs. Gray. The magistrate was not supposed to decide the guilt of either of them, but to say whether or not the evidence adduced was sufficient to send them to the grand jury. He reviewed the evidence, touching on the salient points and referring to the reasonable belief that Gray had a guilty knowledge of the deed by his statement to McGregor that he expected the old man to be dead when he returned from the shanties. There was also a strong motive for the crime.

The magistrate said he was glad it was not his duty to determine the guilt of the prisoners. He went carefully over the evidence and then committed the prisoners. Neither of the Grays cared to make a statement, and they were taken back to the jail.

MRS. McGREGOR FIRM.

SHE WAS NOT SHAKEN FROM HER EVIDENCE IN CHIEF IN THE CROSS-EXAMINATION.

Mr. Stratton at once resumed his cross-examination of Mrs. McGregor. She was questioned about the visit of Mr. Weir and Detective Murray to her house. Detective Murray said he came to see what she knew of the fire at the Grays. Witness told him she did not know very much more about it than what Mrs. Gray had told the reporter the morning of the fire. Murray asked her if she had heard Mrs. Gray threaten she would poison Scollie. She said no, and witness turned to Mr. Weir and asked him if she had said that, and he replied to her "You and the Grays were not on the best of terms." Murray then asked if Mrs. Gray had not asked her not to swear against her. Witness had told Mrs. Burnham that Mrs. Gray had asked her not to swear against her and Mrs. Burnham had told her she would have to tell all she knew about the fire. Up to the time Murray came to her house she had never told anyone, except her little girl, Maggie, that Mrs. Gray had threatened to shoot Scollie and witness told her not to do it. Up to the time Murray came her little girl was also the only one to whom she had said that Mrs. Gray had threatened to chop Scollie's head off. She might have told others of the strange dream. On another occasion Mrs. Gray spoke of Scollie when Gray had been drinking in Hogan's hotel and Scollie went in and pulled Gray out, and Mrs. Gray was mad about it and said if any man pulled her out of an hotel he would never move.

Mr. Murray and Mr. Wood were sitting between Mr. Stratton and the witness, and remarks passed between them, and Mr. Stratton again objected to Mr. Murray speaking in this way. "Mr. Murray must stop this, or I must ask that he be put out of this court."

Mr. Murray—I won't be put out of this Court, sir, and I know better than to do any such thing as you charge.

Mr. Stratton—I object to Mr. Murray saying "no" so as to guide the witness.

Mr. Murray—I did no such thing, sir, and you are somewhat fresh in this matter. This is not the first court of justice I have been in and I was never accused of such conduct before.

Mr. Wood—I had asked Mr. Murray a question and he simply answered me.

The witness continuing told of coming to town with Mr. Weir and Detective Murray to give evidence before Mr. Edmison. She remembered Mr. Weir saying "Tom (Gray) was always a mean, scoundrel," and that William James (McGregor) had always been an honest man. Mr. Weir also said "Tom was a mean scoundrel and always a liar," and told her to keep to the truth. Murray had remarked that "Tom was as much to blame as she (Mrs. Gray) if this thing happened." While her sister was living with her after the fire witness suspected that there had been something wrong, but did not know whether to think her a murderess or not.

To the Magistrate—The witness said at the time she called out "Is there no one to save Scollie" and her husband was coming from Burnham's, the fire had gained so much that no one could enter the building. When witness cried out for some one to save Scollie, Mrs. Gray said "What do you want Scollie saved for." It was not her husband who used these words. Her husband came home between eleven and twelve o'clock on the night of the fire. She had lived happy with her husband until this fire, and since William James had sometimes talked to her about her wicked sister. Her husband had ordered their children not to go with the Grays. Gray stated that McGregor could have saved Scollie if he liked and this with the note had caused the trouble between her husband and Gray. Witness had not had a meal with her sister since the 12th of July. She had few meals at her sister's, and her sister few at her place. Witness did not give any reason for the strained relations between herself and her sister, while their husbands were on friendly terms. The witness repeated the conversation she had with Mrs. Gray on November when driving into town, and she said Scollie would not live another winter, that she would chop his head off and burn him and no one would know. On the return trip she remembered that Mrs. Gray said when the trouble came Tom (Gray) would be clear of it. She could not remember what she purchased when in town.

She was being questioned as to whether she realized that her evidence tended strongly, if there had been murder, to fasten the crime on her sister, but the magistrate ruled the question as hardly proper and it was dropped.

The cross examination was continued, and it was now after 12 o'clock, and the witness had been questioned closely and in detail in regard to her several conversations. Mr. Wood objected to repetition in the cross examination, as he claimed the witness had been examined two or three times touching the same conversation. However, the examination which aimed at testing the witness' credibility and tying her down to her statements, was proceeded with.

The story of the strange dream was closely questioned. The witness said Mrs. Gray sometime after the fire said she had sent to Cameron's store for whiskey the day before the fire. Witness was sure it was whiskey, but Mrs, Gray said they sent her gin. There was no sickness that she knew of in the Gray family at the time. The next conversation she had with Mrs. Gray was in regard to her husband putting the piece in the paper, and Mrs. Gray asked her if she was willing that the letter should be published, and she had said she was. It was in connection with this that the statement came out that Mrs. Gray asked witness not to swear against her if there was any more trouble.

Lactated Food

"Saves Babies' Lives."

LACTATED FOOD is recommended and prescribed by every physician of note in Canada and the United States.

LACTATED FOOD is a sure preventive of cholera infantum, dysentery and diarrhœa. It is the only safe and pure food now on the market, and especially suited for weak and puny infants.

LACTATED FOOD is the most perfect substitute for mother's milk that physicians have ever tested.

A trial tin of this grand food has saved many an infant from death. Give it a trial mothers, during the hot weather.

THE CASE REVIEWED.

WHAT EVIDENCE IS THE CROWN HOLDING BACK—THE DEFENCE.

After the committal of the prisoners, general opinion prevailed that neither would be found guilty of murder. However, this belief generally prevails after a preliminary examination. Detective John Murray, who has had wide experience in criminal and murder cases in Canada, made the following statement to THE TIMES.

"In my experiences in criminal cases I have never known such convincing and strong evidence brough out at a preliminary hearing. Why, at the Hendershott preliminary hearing there was not nearly so much evidence and it was a much weaker case. The evidence at the Gray's hearing was several times stronger than at the Birchal hearing."

The theory of the Crown is that Scollie was killed and the house fired afterwards. The amount of debris on the body at the time he was found is in favor of the theory. The motive of the crime was the property that would come to the prisoners by Scollie's death. That arson was contemplated is sustained by the evidence of Wm. McGregor that the Gray's made out a false insurance list and insured their effects for $500. He swore these goods wouldn't sell for $50. The utterances and threats of Mrs. Gray will show that they were tired of Scollie and that his murder had been contemplated.

The Crown has held back the medical testimony which will show that the head was cut off. They will prove that Gray wasn't far away from the house on that night, and that he had no business that would call him away to his brother's, and that he was not in the habit of visiting this brother.

They will show that the axe Mrs. Gray smashed the windows with, was in the room and that it could not have been brought from the woodshed at the time the fire first started. It was in the house at the time.

THE TIMES has it on good authority that the Crown will show that Scollie was killed some hours before the house was fired.

THE DEFENCE.

The defence will prove that Scollie was a great reader and was in the habit of reading in bed with a lamp by the side of it. It will also show that on this night he had a shanty lamp which Mrs. Gray referred to as being dangerous.

It is probable that the oldest of the children will be put on the stand and will relate facts regarding how they got out of the house on the morning of the fire. It will be shown that the loss of their home was more to the Grays than what they derived from the sale of the property. That Gray was in worse circumstances after the fire than he was before it. That he gained nothing by Scollie's death and the fire.

LACK OF MONEY

Narrows the Children's Aid Society in its Its Functions.

The Children's Aid Society is in receipt of the following letter telling of a sad case which it cannot take action in on account of lack of funds. Thirty five dollars is the sum necessary, and it is to be hoped that amount will be contributed:

DEAR SIR,—I have a warrant against—— and when I went to find him I found five children and their mother in a very filthy condition with not enough clothing to cover them and utterly ignorant of anything but roughness, fighting and swearing and general lawlessness. The neighbors have notified——and myself to try if the children could be looked after and rescued from such a life as their present circumstances give promise of. These are the same people who were brought before Mr. Edmison about a year ago on a charge of abusing a girl but the order has been disregarded and the general opinion is that some of them will be murdered. Mr.——, J. P., and Mr. ———, J. P., requested me this morning to notify you of their condition at once and they would like to have the affair investigated on Monday or Tuesday, as delay we all think may be dangerous at present. The father of the children says he cannot take them from their grandfather. * * * I have not been able to find—— yet; he has the house locked and the mother and children are living in a little structure not fit for a dog. We will be greatly obliged if you will answer this and come at once as we think the case urgent. Hoping you will interest yourself in behalf of the children. etc.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH. JULY 20 1895.

Japanese statesmen are very wise if they are planning to use the Chinese war indemity in enlarging the navy. A war between Japan and Russia within the next few years is inevitable, and Japan's navy will need to be considerably larger to give her an even chance.

If that horrible wholesale murderer H. H. Holmes escape death on the scaffold in Philadelphia, he can be taken to Detroit and tried for murder there. If he be not convicted in Detroit, he can be taken to Chicago and tried for a double murder there. If the Chicago courts acquit him he can be extradited, brought over to Toronto, and tried for the double murder which was revealed yesterday. At present there doesn't seem to be a prospect that Holmes will die of old age.

Chicago is dealing with some new trolley lines, and wants the following concessions: Prohibition of overhead trolleys in the central part of the city; a three-cent fare on commutation tickets compensation to the city for the franchise granted based on gross earnings, and reservation of the option of purchasing the lines by the city at the expiration of the franchise. Unless Chicago's Council is unlike some other corporations nearer Montreal, these reasonable requirements will not be acceded to.

A curiously complicated murder trial has just ended in southern France. A box of candy was put into the post-office at Tarbes and opened by a dishonest official, who ate some of it and gave some to two other clerks. They were all stricken down with atrocious pains, and the clerk who opened the box died, undoubtedly of poison. The box was directed to a local politicain, and was traced finally to a school master in a neighboring town, a man of unblemished character and gentle manners, who had been persecuted by the politician. He was identified by the girl who sold the candy and the druggist who sold him the poison and sent to hard labor for seven years. He asserted that he never intended to poison his enemy, but merely to administer a strong purge as a joke.

The Dominion Goverment has plainly informed Manitoba that, if Separate schools are re-established by Provincial legislation, an attempt will be made to re-create them by Federal enactment. What matters it, so far as the reponsibility of the Ottawa Parliament is concerned, whether the obnoxious system is restored by Provincial authority, under threat of compulsion, or by direct interference on the part of the Dominion? The point is that an effort is to be made to force the Western Province to do something it does not want to do, and those who disapprove of the oppression, no matter what form that oppression may take, ought to say so by their votes.

President Cleveland is not the only happy father who is beside himself with joy these days. The Rev. John Hutchinson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Arlington, N.J., is sharing new-baby honors with the President. While Mr. Hutchinson was conducting the Sunday evening service, the sexton approached the pulpit and whispered something to the pastor, who immediately looked pleasant and embarrassed. He confused the number of the hymns, got mixed on the scripture lesson, omitted to have the collection taken and neglected to read the usual notices. The local papers give assurance that mother and daughter are doing well—doing better, probably, than the father did in the pulpit that night.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

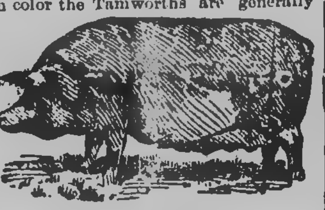
July 19.—There is absolutely no improvement in the situation, whatever way it is looked at. The latest cables have not quoted higher than 5½d for cattle, and that figure was extreme. No change has occurred in freights and the following rates still rule:—Liverpool, 42s 6d to 45s; London, 40s and Bristol and Glasgow, 45s. There were about 500 head of butchers' cattle, 275 calves and 350 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir today. The butchers were out in large numbers, but they were by far too many cattle to supply the demand, and prices continue very low. Mr. George Nicholson bought about the best lot of cattle that were on the market, 19 head, for which he paid at the rate of 4c per lb. Pretty good cattle sold at from 3¼c to 3¾c, and common dry cows at from 2½c to 3c per lb, while some of the leaner beasts and hard looking bulls were as difficult to sell at 2c per lb. It is probable that a considerable number of the cattle will not be sold today Calves were in good demand at rather better prices; good calves bring from $5 to $10 each, and common calves at $2 50 to $5 each. The supply of mutton critters was very small and anything good brought better prices, but lean, old ewes were scarcely saleable; three of these old strippers were sold in a lot for $4, or considerable less than 3c per lb. Shippers are paying about 3½c per lb for good, large sheep, and 3¼c per lb. for choice animals. Good lambs sell at about 4½c per lb, and common lambs at from 4c to 4½c. Fat hogs sell at 4½c per lb for fed hogs.

TAMWORTH SWINE.

A Short Description of the Modern English Bacon Breed.

The breed is practically unknown in this country. It is in every respect so totally unlike the kind of hog which it is the ambition of the swine breeder to produce that many will be surprised to learn that the accompanying cut is an excellent illustration of the type most popular among the English, being considered a very fine specimen of the breed.

The explanation of their popularity lies in their thin, long bodies, which supply great quantities of well-streaked bacon, the inevitable dish at every English breakfast table. Indeed, in the production of this article they are without a rival save the improved Yorkshire, which they greatly resemble in many ways.



PRIZE TAMWORTH SOW.

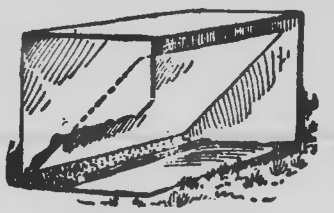
In color the Tamworths are generally a sandy red, though some are a dark gray with black spots. They are hardy and prolific and have been improved so that they are now an early-maturing breed. The long, deep sides, light shoulder and jowl make them an ideal bacon hog. The flesh is lean, pink and well-flavored.—N. Y. World.

Protect Sheep Against Grub in the Head.

Many American shepherds advise smearing the salt trough with tar, but this is seldom thorough enough. A practice to be recommended, where the flock is not too large, is to smear the noses of the sheep periodically, at least once a week, during the season of greatest activity of the fly, with a mixture of equal parts of tar and grease, or of tar and fish oil, or of tar and whale oil. Some have used whale oil alone with good results. A brush will be found convenient to apply these mixtures. A reliable authority speaks in flattering terms of the use of an ointment made as follows: Beeswax, one pound; linseed oil, one pint; carbolic acid, four ounces. Melt the wax and oil together, adding two ounces of resin to give body, then, as it is cooking, stir in the carbolic acid. The same authority mentions the use, by some breeders of choice stock, of a canvas face cover smeared with this mixture, or with one of asafetida and tallow, which may be adjusted in such a fashion as not to interfere with the sight or with grazing, and yet protect the lambs against the fly that lays the egg from which the grub hatches. Some farmers plow a few furrows in the pasture so the sheep may put their noses in the fresh earth and thus keep the fly away.—American Agriculturist.

Feeding Grit to Poultry.

Get a box about one foot square and eight or ten inches deep, remove the top, and place it inside at an angle from one corner of the bottom of the box, leaving about three quarters of an inch space from the bottom and one side, and the other side of the board about two inches from the other side to allow space to fill; or it may be filled tight, and the side of the box removed and hinged so as to open and fill. Place a strip of wood about one inch square, about two inches from the three-quarter inch space at the bottom of the box, to keep the grit in place. Bore two small holes in the bottom of the box near what is to be the top, and hang on nails so as to raise the box a few inches from the ground, to prevent the chickens from scratching dirt in. Put in the grit, oyster shells, charcoal, etc., and the fowls will have it fresh and clean, as it will drop down as they eat it. There will be no waste as when fed on the ground or in open boxes. The same arrangement may be used for feed when it is desirable to keep feed before the poultry all the time. The device is shown in the cut.—Rural New Yorker.



FEEDING GRIT TO POULTRY.

Live Stock Notes.

Of all the meats, mutton is the freest of disease.

As much as breeding and growing animals need exercise for their prosperity, the hogs for fattening need rest and quietness.

The quicker the sheep reaches maturity the less food it consumes. Early maturing sheep, therefore, means lower cost of production.

If wool is low in price it will add something to the profits of sheep husbandry. But now, as never before, mutton is the standby.

The cheapest food for hogs that we can raise is clover or grass, and in corn we have perhaps the best food for fattening that can be found.

The best thing the sheep breeder can do is to recognize that conditions affecting sheep have changed and prepare to conform to them.

As the American people come to use their brains more and their muscle less fat meat—mutton included—goes out of favor. People want flesh and not fat more and more.—Farmer's Voice.

Sows Eating Their Young.

To prevent sows eating their pigs, give the sow two to three lbs. of salt pork (cut in pieces half an inch thick) immediately after farrowing, provided there are any signs of trouble that way. This has proved a sure remedy in many cases, we having had letters from thirteen farmers to this effect since the subject was mentioned in our veterinary department recently. Feeding sows mostly on wheat middlings for about two weeks before foaling often avoids this trouble. Fresh beef may be used instead of salt pork, and raw potatoes may be fed with both. Give soppy or cooling food just before parturition.—American Agriculturist.

Unsound Horses in France.

The French law enumerates the various forms of unsoundness to which a horse is liable, and provides that an animal found to be suffering from any of these within nine days after its sale may be returned to the seller. Such a law in this country would do much to protect buyers, and it would also be welcome to the reputable men who are engaged in selling horses.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

THE SUN IS ALWAYS SHINING.

If storm clouds gather on life's way,
  No use to fret about it;
In other climes the sun still shines;
  'Twere foolishness to doubt it;
And though it be so dark that we
  Can see no silver lining,
This truth we know, for it is so,
  The sun is always shining.

And if the night falls dark and drear,
  Take courage in believing
That morning light will soon appear;
  There is no use in grieving.
And though sometimes we cannot see
  "The cloud with silver lining,"
We know 'tis true, in other blue,
  Somewhere the sun is shining.

The orb of day sails on its way,
  The storms are all below it;
It needs no sage to turn the page,
  And read this truth—we know it!
Then let us bear of life our share,
  And try to cease repining;
This truth we know, through joy or woe;
  God's sun is always shining.

MONTREAL, July 19.—Archbishop Langevin, of St. Boniface, Man., and Bishop Gravel, of Nicolet, were both in the city today. The former has adopted the watchword "No Surrender" in the school question, and says there can be no compromise as far as he is concerned.

Mgr. Gravel made the following statement to the press: "It is not true that there was ever any intention of asking Rome to influence the Privy Council, and that this was to be done through Cardinal Vaugham. Cardinal Ledochowski, at the time of my visit to Rome, asked me what the Vatican could do in the matter, and suggested that it should call the attention of the British Government to this matter, and that this might be done through Cardinal Vaughan, as Cardinal Ledochowski was not acquainted with the British Ministers. You may rest assured,' concluded his Lordship of Nicolet, "that there never was any idea of influencing the judges or of having any relation with them, and that Rome never so acts. What I had suggested was that the then Colonial Minister in London be reminded of the engagements made by the Colonial Minister of 1869, when promises and engagements were made with the Manitoba Catholics of those days. The honor of the British Crown was at stake in the matter, and we wanted Rome to tell the Baitish Government that. On my return from Rome last January I found that my clergy were not quite acquainted with the true state of affairs, and for the purpose of informing them I wrote the letter. I also thought the question was finally settled by the judgement of the Privy Council, and I wanted to create a public opinion which would enable the Dominion to act in the matter and give the Catholics their rights."

SHE SPOKE ONLY TO DIE.

Belle Decker Had Been Dumb for Over a Year.

Special to The Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 19.—Belle Decker, daughter of Wickham Decker, a farmer, at Brunswick, near here, fell down stairs over a year ago, hurt her spine and lost the power of speech. The other day she startled her sister who was by her bedside by exclaiming: "I can't stand this any longer, I'm dying." She never spoke again and a few hours afterwards was dead. Physicians are unable to explain this temporary restoration of the power of speech lost for so long a time.

CANADIAN CATTLE.

The President of the British Board of Agriculture May Remove the Scheduling of Them.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 19.—Since the official information has been received from the Belgian Government that it is disposed to emove the scheduling of Canadian cattle Sir Charles Tupper wires that the new president of the British Board of Agriculture will, he expects, take some step in a ew days.

AN AURORA INQUEST.

To Enquire Into the Cause of Death of a Mrs. Smith.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 19.—It was on instructions of the Deputy Attorney General that Dr. John Caven, Dr. A. J. Johnson and Dr. Bingham went out yesterday afternoon with Detective John Murray to Aurora to examine the body of Mrs. Smith, a farmer's wife, who died on May 2 and was buried in Kettleby cemetery.

The reason for this step is that a report has gained currency in that locality that the deceased came to her death from the results of an abortion. Rumor states that Mrs. Smith called upon a Bradford medical man and, having stated that she was pregnant, asked to have an abortion performed. The doctor refused. She subsequently called in another doctor who spent a considerable part of an afternoon in her house. He called in a third doctor but very soon after the woman died.

The body was exhumed and an inquest begun. On the medical report will depend whether further proceedings will be taken or not.

GREATER THAN STEAM.

Successful Trial of the Big Electric Motor in Baltimore.

Special to The Times.

BALTIMORE, July 19.—The officials of the Belt Line Railroad are jubilant over yesterday's successful test of the giant electric motor. The result leads the authorities to believe that the days of the steam locomotive are numbered.

The electric motor left Camden station and entered the tunnel drawing 13,000 tons in the shape of twenty-three cars two banked engines, and the trip was made in five minutes, or at the rate of seventeen miles an hour. It required two steam locomotives to draw the same train afterwards. A public trial is contemplated in the near future.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 15—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference, and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

Stead Fined for Contempt of Court.

LONDON, July 19.—In the Queen's Bench, Mr. Stead, editor of the The Review of Reviews, was fined £100 and costs for contempt of court, on an application made on behalf of Jabez Balfour, who complained of an article published in The Review of Reviews, headed "Sir Roger and Jabez," and containing these words: "Another rare rogue, in the shape of Jabez Balfour, will reappear at the Old Bailey, and then we may expect to hear no more of him for some time."

Rivers-Wilson Coming.

LONDON, July 19.—Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, President of the G. T. R., leaves for Canada on Aug. 7, and Mr. Price, the vice-president, on Aug. 11. Their visit is to inaugurate reforms in that service. Some reforms have already been instituted by instructions from the new board.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

FLEECED BY THE OLD GAME.

Farmer's Sons Drop Over a Thousand in Montreal.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 19.—Three young men from the country, all sons of farmers will regret their short stay at Montreal, as they have been fleeced of several hundred dollars. It is alleged that they registered at a down town hotel and gave names as Paul Henrichon, Gilbert Martin and Hermisdas Duclos. They had in their possession the sum of $1,800, $725 and $75 respectively. They were not long at the hotel "without making some friends" who invited them to take a drink. Shortly after they had taken a few glasses of liquor they were unwise enough to divulge to their new friend the object of their visit to Montreal. Their story was as follows: They had heard of the suspension of La Banque Du Peuple and had been enstructed by their fathers to come to Montreal and see if the bills which for the most part were Banque Du Peuple, could not be exchanged as their neighbors had refused to take the bank notes. The party left home yesterday morning and arrived here shortly after 11 o'clock. Their new found friend told them that he was a broker, and would exchange all their notes for $50 commission. After consulting together the young men handed all their bills, which formed the total sum of $2,000. The so called "broker" then went into an adjoining room and returned within a few minutes with bundles, He at once opened the packages and proceeded to count the money which consisted for the most part of $5 bills of the Bank of Montreal. As the strangers appeared to be very careful in counting he offered his services, which were at first refused, but finally accepted. Every one hundred dollar package was carefully marked. When the entire amount of money had been counted and while the whole was being wrapped together in a bundle he cleverly substituted one bunble for the other. The strangers then being highly thankful to the broker for his kind services, walked away.

FIGHT WITH A COUGAR.

The Beast Had Kearney Down When His Wife Shot it Dead.

Special teo the Times.

HAZLETON, Pa., July 19.—Michael Kearney's farm is at the foot of Sugar Loaf Mountain and the woods in that vicinity are infested by wild animals of various kinds. This morning on entering his chicken coop he was pounced upon by a cougar. It alighted on his breast and tried to clutch his throat, but having had some experience in fighting wild animals, he saved his neck by thrusting his hand into the beast's mouth. Then with his disengaged hand Kearney choked the beast until it released his other hand, but he couldn't get out of the coop. Finally his wife, who was milking at the barn near by and and heard his cries, hastened to the house and secured the family rifle, with both barrels, loaded, and came to his assistance. Kearney had by this time succeeded in freeing himself and reached the outer door. The cougar, however, followed him, and with one spring knocked him down. At this stage Mrs. Kearney placed the muzzle of her weapon to the cougar's head and fired both barrels. It tumbled over dead. It measured four feet in length being the largest ever seen in that vicinity.

"MOTHER REMEMBERS."

When we wuz young we wus cunnin', I s'pose;
Least that's what mother de...res, an' she knows!
You'd laugh at the treasures she's hoarded away—
Little scuffed shoes thet wuz wore out in play;
Little white ringlets from somebody's hair,
When we wuz little an' helpless an' fair—
An' mother remembers.

Naow we air growed-up an' headstrong an' sad;
Then we wuz little an' lovin' an' glad.
The tricks thet we played an' the prizes we won,
The smart things we said an' the cute things we done,
Air things we forgit in the worry of life:
But when she kin tell 'em ter husban' er wife,
W'y mother remembers!

Up on the hill, wher' the soft breezes pass,
Little maounds rise through the long, wavin' grass;
The babies thet sleep there are dust long ago,
Wher' the sweet-scented s'rub an' the rose-bushes grow,
An' no one has thought on or mourned 'em for years;
But she saw 'em last through her heart-breakin' tears—
An' mother remembers!
—Florence E. Pratt.

A SON OF THE WILDERNESS.

By GILBERT PARKER.

Rachette told the story to Medallion and the little chemist's wife on Sunday after mass, and because he was vain of his English he forsook his own tongue and paid tribute to the Anglo-Saxon.

"Ah, she was so purty, that Norinne, when she drive through the parishes all twelve days, after the wedding, a dance every night, and her eyes and cheeks on fire all the time. And Bargon, by gosh! that Bargon, he have a pair of shoulders like a wall, and five hunder' dollars and a horse and wagon. By gosh! I say that time, 'Bargon he have put a belt round the world and buckle it tight to him—all right, ver' good,' I say to him: 'Bargon, what you do when you get ver' rich out on the Souris River?' He laugh and throw up his hands, for he have not many words any kind. And the damn little dwarf Parpan, he say: 'He will have flowers on the table and ice on the butter, and a wheel in his head.'

"And Bargon laugh and say: 'I will have plenty for my friends to eat and drink, and a ver' fine time.'

"'Good!' we all say, 'by gosh!'

"So they make the trip through twelve parish, and the fiddles go all the time, and I am what you say best man, by gosh! with Bargon, and I go all the time, and Lucette Dargois, she go with me and her brother—holy! what an eye had she in her head. As we go we sing a song joli and there is no one sing so better as Norinne:

"'C'est la belle Francoise,
Allons gai,
C'est la belle Francoise,
Qui veut se marier,
Ma luron lurette,
Qui veut se marier,
Ma luron lure.'

"Ver' good, by gosh! Norinne and Bargon they go out to the Souris and Bargon have a hunder' acre, and he put up a house and a shed not ver' big, and he carry his head high and his shoulders like a wall yes, yes. First year it is pretty good time, and Norinne's cheeks—ah, like an apple, and bimeby a baby laugh up at Bargon from Norinne's lap. I am on the Souris then at a sawmill, and on Sunday sometime I go up to see Bargon and Norinne. I think that baby is so damn funny; I laugh an pinch his nose; his name is Marie, and I say I marry him pretty quick some day. We have plenty hot cake, and beans and pork, and a little how-you-are from a jug behind the door.

"Next year it is not so good. There is a bad crop and hard times, and Bargon he owe two hunder' dollar, and he pay interest. Norinne, she do all the work, and that little Marie, there is damn funny in him, and Norinne, she keep go, go, all the time, early and late, and she get ver' thin and quiet. So I go up from the mill more times, and I bring fol-lols for that Marie, for you know I said I go to marry him some day. And when I see how Bargon shoulders stoop and his eye get dull, and there is nothing in the jug behind the door, I fetch a horn with me, and my fiddle, and, by gosh! there is happy sit-you-down. I make Bargon sing 'La Belle Francoise,' and then just before I go, I make them laugh, for I stand by the cradle and sing to that Marie:

"'Adieu, belle Francoise;
Allons gai!
Adieu, belle Francoise;
Moi, je te marierai,
Ma luron lurette,
Moi, je te marierai,
Ma luron lure.'

"So; and another year it go along, and Bargon he know that if there come bad crop it is goodby-my-lover with himself. He owe two hunder' and fifty dollar. It is the spring at Easter, and I go up to him and Norinne, for there is no mass, and Pontiac is too far away. We stand at the door and look out, and all the prairie is green, and the sun stand up high like a light on a pole, and the birds fly by ver' busy looking for the summer and the prairie flower.

"'Bargon,' I say—and I give him a horn of old rye—'here's to le bon Dieu!'

"'Le bon Dieu, and a good harvest,' he say.

"I hear some one give a long breath behind, and I look round; but, no! it is Norinne with a smile—for she never grumbles—by gosh! What pretty eyes she have in her head! She have that Marie in her arms, and I say to Bargon it is like the Madonna in the Notre Dame at Montreal. He nod his head. 'C'est le bon Dieu—it is the good God,' he say.

"Before I go I take a piece of palm—it come from the Notre Dame; it is all bless by the Pope—and I nail it to the door of the house. 'For luck,' I say. Then I laugh and speak out to the prairie; 'Come along, good summer; come along, good crop; come two hunder' and fifty dollars for Gal Bargon,' ver' quiet. I give Norinne twenty dollar, but she will not take him. 'For Marie,' then I say 'Keep it and give to Marie yourself, some day.'

"She smile at me, then she have a little tear in her eye and she nod to where Bargon stand outside, and she say: 'If this summer go wrong, it will kill him. He work and work and fret and worry for me and Marie, and sometimes he just sit and look at me and say not a word.'

"I say to her that there will be good crop, and next year we will be ver' happy. So, the time go on, and I send up a little snack of pork and molass' and [illegible], and sugar and tea, and I get a letter from Bargon bimeby, and he say that everything go right, he think, this summer. He say I must come up. It is not damn easy to go in the summer, when the mill run night and day, but I say I will go.

"When I get up to Bargon's I laugh, for all the hunder acre is ver' fine, and Bargon stand in the door and stretch out his hand, and say: 'Rachette, there is six hunder' dollar for me.' I nod my head, and fetch out a horn, and he have one, his eyes all bright like a lime kiln. He is thin and square, and his beard grow ver' thick and rough and long, and his hands are like planks. Norinne, she is ver' happy, too, and Marie bite on my finger, and I give her a sugar stick to suck.

"Bimeby Norinne say to me ver' soft: 'If a hailstorm or a hot wind come, that is the end of it all, and of my poor Gal.'

"What I do? I laugh and I ketch Marie under the arms, and I sit down and I put him on my foot, and I sing that damn funny English song—'Here We Go to Banbury Cross.' And I say: 'It will be all as happy as Marie pretty quick. Bargon he will have six hunder' dollar, and you a new dress and a hired girl to help you.'

"But all the time that day, I think about a hailstorm or a hot wind whenever I look out on that hunder acre farm. It is so beautiful, as you can guess—the wheat, the barley, the corn, the potatoes, the turnip, all green like sea water, and pigeons and wild ducks flying up and down, and the horse and the ox standing in a field ver' comfer'ble.

"We have good time that day, and go to bed all happy that night. I get up at five o'clck, and I go out. Bargon stand there looking out on his field with the horse bridle in his hand. 'The air not feel right,' he say to me. I think the same, but I say to him: 'Your head not feel right—him too soft.' He shake his head and go down to the field for his horse and ox, and hitch them up together, and go to work making a road.

"It is about ten o'clock when the damn thing come. Puff! go a hot splash of air in my face, and then I know that it is all up with Gal Bargon. A month later it is no matter, for the grain is ripe then, but now, when it is green, it is sure death to it all. I turn sick in my stomach, and a I turn round and see Norinne stand in the door, all white, and she make her hand go like that, like she push back that hot wind.

"'Where is Gal?' she say. 'I must go to him.' "'No,' I say, 'I will fetch him. You stay with Marie.' Then I go ver' quick for Gal, and I find him, his hands all shut like that! and he shake them at the sky, and he say not a word, but his face it go wild, and his eyes spin round in his head. I put my hand on his arm and say: Come home, Gal. Come home, and speak kind to Norinne and Marie.'

"I can see that hot wind lean down and twist the grain about—a damn devil thing from the Arzone desert down south. I take Gal back home, and we sit there all day, and all the nex' day and a little more, and when we look enough there is no grain on that hunder' acre farm—only a dry-up prairie, all gray and limp. My skin is bake and rough, but when I look at Gal Bargon I know that his heart is dry like a bone, and, as Parpan say that time, he have a wheel in his head. Norinne she is quiet, and she sit with her hand on his shoulder, and give him Marie to hold.

"But it is no good, it is all over. So I say: 'Let us go back to Pontiac. What is the good for to be rich? Let us be poor and happy once more.'

"And Norinne she look glad, and go' up and say: 'Yes, let us go back.' But all at once she sit down with Marie in her arms and cry—by gosh! I never see a woman cry like that.

"So we start back for Pontiac with the horse and the ox and some pork and bread and molass'. But Gal Bargon never hold up his head, but go silent, silent, and he not sleep at night. And one night he walk away on the prairie, and when he came back he have a great pain. So he lie down, and we sit by him, and he die. But once he whisper to me, and Norinne not hear: 'You say you will marry him, Rachette?' And I say 'I will.'

"'C'est le bon Dieu!'' he say at the last, but he say it with a little laugh. I think he have a wheel in his head. But bimeby, yeste'day, Norinne and Marie and I come to Pontaic."

The little chemist's wife dried her eyes, and Medallion said in French: "Poor Norinne! Poor Norinne! And so, Rachette, you are going to marry Marie, by and bye?" There was a quizzical look in Medallion's eyes.

Rachette threw up his chin a little. "I'm going to marry Norinne on New Year's Day," he said.

"By gosh! poor Norinne," said Medallion, in a queer sort of tone. "It is the way of the world," he added. "I'll wait for Marie myself." And it looks as if he meant to, for she has no better friend. And he talks to her much of Bargon, of which her mother is glad, for there is but one great love in a woman's life. All others have different names and meanings.

Cinch Bugs Swarm into Houses and Horsecars at Topeka.

Special to the Times.

TOPEKA, July 18.—Millions of cinch bugs swarmed here yesterday, penetrating houses, stores and public buildings. The street cars were overrun with them. The pests got into the ears, nostrils and mouths of passengers. It is believed they were blown into the city by a heavy wind that prevailed yesterday.

Seven Thousand Japanese Marching on Taiwanfu Island at Formosa.

Special to The Times.

HONG KONG, July 18.—Seven thousand Japanese troops have left Taututia, to attack the Black Flags at Taiwanfu, Formosa. A battle is expected next Saturday. A strong Japanese naval force will cooperate. Reports from Southern Formosa show that all is quiet there.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE IS 'HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

CUPID AND PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way '

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

SELF-SACRIFICE.

The Mother's Conception of Her Duty Was Clear and Her Purpose Firm.

Miss Stella Delaney was lost in thought.

This is a warning against venturing into unfamiliar territory. To do Stella justice, it must be said that she seldom wandered in thoughtful fields. But the present was an extraordinary occasion.

Mr. Archibald Vandermillion had asked her to become Mrs. Archibald Vandermillion, and he must have meant it, for he committed his proposal to writing and availed himself of the postal facilities in transmitting it. Mr. Vandermillion was not by nature a courageous man. He had not the nerve to propose verbally. That is why he sent a letter.

Like the dutiful daughter that she was, Stella Delaney laid the letter in her mamma's lap and asked the maternal advice. Mrs. Delaney read it carefully and then said:

"I don't think Archibald Vandermillion would suit you at all for a husband."

"Why, mamma?"

"Well, in the first place, he is old enough to be your father."

"But, mamma, girls often marry elderly men, especially if they don't show their age particularly."

"But this is precisely what Mr. Archibald Vandermillion does. He shows every day of his age. Then, again, he has led a very wild life for at least thirty years. Think of that. He was sowing wild oats fully ten years before you were born. An inexperienced girl like you could do nothing whatever in managing a man like that. He has had his own way all his life, without the least restraint from a judicious wife, and it is very strange that he should think of giving up his bachelor freedom."

"But, mamma—"

"Hear me out, Stella, love. Not for all his vast wealth, nor for the elegant establishment he could give you, would I commit my delicate daughter of nineteen years to the care of such a man as Archibald Vandermillion. I should be an unnatural mother even to think of such a sacrifice for a moment. The sort of wife he needs is one who can curb his unbridled inclinations and habits, and transform him into a useful member of society. For these reasons, Stella dear, I have resolved to marry him myself."

With the virtue of self-sacrifice upon her noble features, Mrs. Delaney swept out of the room, leaving her daughter lost in deep thought, as before remarked.—Harper's Bazar.

A Mind-Cure

An attack of hiccoughs had considerably aggravated Mr. Twiller's natural irritability.

"Can't ye do something to help me out of this?" he asked indignantly. "D'ye want to see me hiccough myself out of existence? I s'pose ye think it would be funny to think of my wrestling with a harp and a pair of wings and the hiccoughs all at once, don't ye? I s'pose ye"—but here another spasm caught him.

"What can I do?" she asked pleadingly. "I can't hold your breath for you and count nine, you know."

"No. But you can scare me, can't ye? Ye can holler 'Boo!' in my ear when I'm not expecting it, or something like that."

"Mr. Twillers," she answered freezingly, "I am surprised at you. The idea of my engaging in any such nonsense is sufficiently absurd to be worthy of you. I have someting more important than 'boo' to say to you."

"Eh?"

"I will have to have a new wrap this winter"——

"What's that?"

"And, while it is a little more expensive to start with, I have decided that sealskin will be the most economical in the end. So to-morrow you can give me a check"—

"Mary—are you insane? What does this mean?"

She looked at him in silence for a moment and then said,

"Your hiccoughs are gone, aren't they, dear?"

"Why—er—yes come to think of it, I believe they are."

"I thought," she said, "that if anything would scare you that would."—Judge.

The Spring Poet's Difficulties.

The poet sang a song of spring of zephyrs sweet and vernal, of groves that ring and brooks that sing and melodies eternal. He sang of grasses growing lush, of groves by birds invaded—then through two feet of flowing slush across the street he waded.

He sang of deep, umbrageous grots and odoriferous zephyrs, of shady spots and flower-plots and sweet and lowing heifers.

He sang of flower-burdened breeze and sweet mellifluous glory, and then went out and froze his knees—but that's another story.

The poet sang a song of spring and ode of rhythmic dizziness, of groves that ring and birds that sing and all that kind of business. He sang of showers and brooks and flowers, this wrapt poetic wizard, then roamed around for thirteen hours lost in a snowy blizzard.

He sang of daisied upland slopes and woods of glorious greenery, and trotted out all kinds of tropes to decorate his scenery. He sang how swallows fly and dip, told how the groves were ringing—and then went out and caught the grip and discontinued singing.—New York World.

BANK HAS SUSPENDED.

BANQUE DU PEUPLES CANNOT MEET PAYMENTS.

It was Shaky and Depositors Have Been Afraid of it For Some Time—It Will Effect Slightly Some Banks in Toronto.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, July 16.

A Bank du Peuple, the leading French Canadian bank in Canada, has suspended payment. It was rumored to be in a very shaky condition for some time past, Last week it was reported on the streets that the bank owed the clearing house $100,000, The rumor was true, but the other banks came into line and saved the moribund institution for the time being. A few weeks ago the stock of the bank was worth 150. Trouble arose between the manager and directors, which precipitated a run. The other chartered banks rallied to the aid of the Peuple's and produced $1,000,000 to help it through. This stopped the run temporarily, but the credit of the institution has steadily declined until the the climax came today.

BANQUE DU PEUPLE NOTES.

TORONTO, July 16.—"No," said Cashier D. R. Wilkie, of the Imperial Bank, "the suspension of the Banque du Peuple cannot affect us up here in the least."

"What about those who hold notes of that bank?"

"Those notes ought at once to go to a premium. From the time the bank suspends they bear interest. If you have any bring them down and I'll give you par for them."

The notes of the bank are secured by a Government deposit, and are a first lien on the assets. The failure has not affected other bank stocks materially.

TALK OF LYNCHING.

TWO MEN DANGEROUSLY ASSAULT A LITTLE GIRL IN HULL.

It Was a Most Dastardly Crime—Policemen are Searching for the Girls' Assailants—May be Lynched if Caught.

Special to The Times.

OTTAWA, July 16.—There is great excitement in Hull over a most atrocious crime that has been reported to the police. Yesterday a 16 year-old girl from the vicinity of Venosta, accompanied by her father, came into Hull and related the circumstances of a most vicious indecent assault upon her. She said at a late hour at night two men from that district broke into the house, and going directly to her room, assaulted her. One of them held his hands over her mouth to prevent her from shouting. They left her in an almost unconscious condition. Only her father was in the house at the time. Two policemen left Hull today for the purpose of arresting the men. There are threats of lynching if they are caught.

BIG EXPLOSION FEARED.

NO LESS THAN 80,000 POUNDS OF NITRO-GLYCERINE IN DANGER.

A Big Forest Fire is Nearing the Victoria Powder Works in British Columbia—Grave Fears Entertained.

Special to the Times.

VICTORIA, B. C., July 16.—Fierce forest fires are raging at Telegraph Bay, four miles from here, and destruction of the Victoria powder works is threatened. In the magazine are stored 80,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine, and the gravest fears are entertained that the fire will reach it. The local firemen fought it all Sunday night, being relieved in the morning by employes of the works. The assistance of the firemen was asked again in the afternoon. The magazine is a wooden building, and it was feared one of the showers of sparks would set fire to it. It has been guarded constantly. Probably an attempt will be made to remove the powder on barges. If the magazine explodes it will do great damage here.

Foot Released.

James Foot, who was a short time ago committed to Cobourg gaol, by Magistrate Brintnell, for stealing a pair of boots and who was also thought to have had something to do with the death of Mrs. Nelson, was liberated on Friday last from custody on both charges, and is again a free man. Messrs. Webb, Hooey & Hunter, of Colborne were acting for the prisoner.—Colborne Enterprise.

Horses Wanted.

Mr. W. J. Pearson, the well known horse buyer of Montreal, will visit Peterborough for another carload of good, sound horses of every description, for which he is prepared to pay the highest prices obtainable in Canada. Farmers having horses to dispose of can do no better than call on Mr. Pearson next week. He is billed for the following places: White's hotel, Peterborough, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, July 24th, 26th and 28th; Crocker's hotel, Millbrook, Thursday, July 25th.

Accident at Stony Lake.

On Wednesday last Mr. Chas. Eastwood, of Whitby, who is camped with a party at "Forest Nook," Stony Lake, met with a severe accident. It appears he had come from the store at Juniper's Island with a number of bottles, and was going up to the house with them, when he tripped and fell on top of the bottles, one of them breaking and cutting his right arm, severing one of the arteries, from which he lost a considerable quantity of blood before the bleeding could be stopped. On Thursday morning he left for his home in Whitby, very weak from loss of blood.

Lindsay Wants Them.

The Peterboro Times, in alluding to the attractions secured by the directors of the Peterboro fall fair says: Among other things it was decided to bring, as an attraction, the "menageria" of Mr. Mossom Boyd, Bobcaygeon, consisting of one buffalo, two half buffalo calves, two West Highland cows, two Mexican burrors or mules, or western nightingales, and three or four Persian fat tailed sheep. We guess not—the Lindsay Central is ahead of that as in many other respects. The "menageria," if it leaves home, will come to Lindsay, as Mr. Boyd was approached by the local directors over a month ago.—Lindsay Post.

Grand Musical Opening.

The R. S. Williams & Sons Co. Ltd., piano manufacturers, Toronto, have some of their special style pianos on exhibition at 374 Water street (the white front store) Prof. F. Wesley Bull will give some fine selections, his own compositions, each afternoon and evening, commencing this Saturday. They extend a cordial invitation to the citizens of Peterborough to call and inspect their pianos. The popular "Onieta" waltzes will be on sale. The R. S. Williams pianos are known the world over for their fine musical and lasting qualities. All intending purchasers of pianos should drop in and see and hear these very fine instruments, all the latest improvements and the finest material are used in their manufacture.

Premature Explosion.

One day last week, Mr. B. Chamberlain, of Lakefield, met with a severe accident. It appears he was engaged in splitting some hard wood and came across a very knotty piece, which resisted his efforts to break it with an axe. He procured some powder and a fuse, and after lighting it he stepped back and gave it the customary time to explode; but it did not. He stepped up to put in another charge when suddenly it exploded, the splinters flying all around, and striking Mr. Chamberlain on the face and body, one large piece striking him a severe blow on the knee. Dr. Burgess was summoned and dressed the wounds, and the patient is getting along nicely. Had the blow been received either below or above the knee, the bone would undoubtedly have been broken.

SWAM ASHORE

A Distance of one Quarter of a mile, Carrying a Basket.

Two river drivers and the camp cook crossed the Little Lake yesterday afternoon in a canoe for supplies. They secured a basket of provisions and a half dozen bottles of ale and then started across the lake to the camp.

When almost in the middle of the lake, the canoe upset and all were thrown out. The cook managed to grab the basket of provisions and holding the handle in his teeth swam ashore, a distance of a quarter of a mile. The other men took charge of the canoe and an oil coat in which the ale was wrapped. They got safely ashore, only to find that the bottles had slipped from the coat and sank. This appeared to be the worst part of the accident to them.

Several canoes put out to their assistance when the accident occurred but they refused assistance and swam ashore.

BELL AND BLOOMERS.

His Motion to Have Teachers Reported Who Wore them, Defeated.

It was not of long duration. Trustee Bell introduced his motion that the Inspector be asked to report the names of all female teachers wearing bloomers. Twice the roll had to be called because of attempts to break the quorum, and then Trustee Bell arose. He said bloomers were not moral, the teacher who wore them was not modest and he doubted if she was a lady. One half the woman who wore bloomers were prostitutes.

Dr. (Mrs.) Stowe-Gullen demanded that the trustees discuss the matter as gentlemen and the chairman told Trustee Bell to modify his language.

Trustee Roden said that were he to choose a wife he would take a nice modest girl who did not wear bloomers, and then Trustee Hambly took up the inning. With great gravity he proposed that the Inspector report those who wore pointed shoes, colored stockings, or had corns. Due regard should be given to the important phsychological effect of corns upon teachers.

This made Trustee Bell indignant and his feelings were not soothed by Trustee Gullen who defended the bloomers against the charge of immodesty.

Trustee Douglas and Hunter doubted whether the Board had a right to interfere, after which Trustee Bell said that Trustee Hambly was no gentlemen to ridicule him; he characterized him as the worst chairman the Board had ever had. The motion was finally defeated by 13 to 6, the vote being: Yeas—Bell, Douglas, Fitzgerald, Fraleigh, Lobb and Spence.

A PRESENTATION

Of an Address and Purse to the Rev. Father Collins.

On the [illegible] occasion of his removal to the parish of Brighton and Wooler, Rev. Father Collins was presented with a well filled purse and address by St. Peter's Court, Catholic Order of Foresters. There were a large number of Foresters present, and after the meeting had been opened Thursday night Bro. J. P. Bryson stepped forward and read the following address to Father Collins:—

REV. AND DEAR FATHER,—Having heard it officially announced that His Lordship had promoted you to preside over an important parish of his diocese, we, the members of St. Peter's Court, No. 225, C.O.F., desire to extend to you our most heartfelt congratulations on the well deserved promotion, and although we deeply regret your departure from our midst, still we cannot but rejoice that your unassuming, kindly manner, earnestness, charity and zeal in fulfilling the duties of a priest of God's holy church, has won the esteem of all, both young and old, as well as the approbation of our beloved Bishop. During the time that you have acted as our worthy chaplain you have given us many proofs of your unflagging zeal and disinterested energy in furthering the noble and beneficial aims of our Order. By example as well as by precept you have taught us that it is not inconsistent with the highest ideals of manhood to be ever ready to succour the needy and distressed. We take pleasure in testifying that you have by your readiness at every call of duty, no matter at what self sacrifice, and by the energy and willingness with which you always assisted us in everything relating to our spiritual and temporal welfare, won our deepest love and gratitude. In bidding you farewell we bespeak a warm place in your affections, and hope we may prove ourselves worthy of your continued confidence and esteem.

The accompanying purse we kindly beg you to accept as a trifling testimonial of our sincere regards and filial devotion.

Signed on behalf of St. Peter's Court.

JAS. BOGUE,
JAS. P. BRYSON, R S.,
A. GOUGH, Treas.

Bro. James Bogue presented the reverend father with the purses.

Addresses referring to Rev. Father Collins' many good qualities were made by Bros. Gus Gough, John O'Brien and James Bogue.

Father Collins left last evening for Brighton.

WITH THE SPORTS.

The Junior Park baseball nine journeyed to Omemee yesterday and played a match game of ball with the team of that village. A large number of spectators witnessed the match, which was a walk over for the Peterborough players.

CRICKET.

A cricket match will take place this afternoon on the P.A.A.A. grounds between the married men and single men. The game starts at 2 o'clock, when all wishing to participate should be on hand.

PROTEST AGAINST THE FIGHT.

The ministers of Austin Texas, have issued a public address urging the morally inclined element of the State to rally to their support in trying to suppress the proposed Corbett-Fitzsimmons contest at Dallas. They intend to compile exhaustive data, and submit the same to the Governor, in order to convince him that public moral sentiment demands his immediate action in their behalf.

THE BUSINESS WORLD.

DRILL, YE TARRIERS!

Rangers Must not Absent Themselves From Drill.

In the police court yesterday morning Private Redding, of Capt. Schofield's company in the 57th Battalion, appeared on the charge of absenting himself from drill without permission.

It was a test case in order to show whether a regularly enrolled member of the militia can do as he pleases in the matter of attending drill. It seems that Private Redding did not want to go to Picton on the annual outing, and asked permission of his captain to remain at home, giving as a reason that he expected friends from a distance to be in town that day. Captain Schofield would not accept this as a sufficient reason, so Private Redding went to Colonel R. W. Bell, who gave him the same answer. Private Redding thought it very hard and determined to remain in town anyway, so the night of the muster preparatory to the entrainment he was with the soldiers only in spirit. The magistrate imposed a fine of $5, without costs.

ABOUT FRUIT.

Berries Easier and of Better Quality, Cherries and Currants Higher.

The quality of the berries coming in has been much improved by the late rains. Prices, too, have come down. Both black and red raspberries are selling at from 8 to 10c.

Apples run all the way from 30 to 50 cents a peck.

Gooseberries are worth from 75c to $1 per basket.

For black currants $1.50 and $1.60 is being asked.

Red currants are higher, 75c to $1 being the ruling price.

Some cherries are still coming in at from $1 to $1.25.

Melons are higher, prices ranging from 15 to 25 each.

STREET CAR EXTENSION.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—I see by the report of the council meeting in yesterday's issue of your valuable paper, that the town clerk was instructed to write to the Street Railway Company and inform them that the extension of the road required by the agreement to be made each year, must be made.

I understand that the Company intends extending the line, and is willing to comply with the agreement in this respect, so there is no probability of any friction between the municipality and the Company on that score. But I would like to see the line extended to the Jackson Park, and the council had the opportunity to insure the extension in that direction, by allowing the Company to discontinue a portion of a line that is not profitable to them. I refer to the lower portion of Charlotte street. This proposition of the Company's is not to be heard of, and the council did right in not considering it.

The Company is bound to make an extension each year, and I think there is none that could be made more profitable than a line running near the Jackson Park. What I wish to suggest is this: Cannot the council induce the Street Railway to make this extension, by relieving the Company from making an extension next year? I think the council has the power to do this, and I am sure the citizens would favor it.

RATEPAYER.

THE BICYCLE CLUB.

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—Regarding the meeting held Wednesday evening in the interests of cycling there is no doubt plenty of room for the cyclists of Peterborough to get a move on, when little towns like Waterloo, Sarnia and Woodstock have their bicycle tracks and make them pay, and, as we see by the Wheelman, Waterloo can send out their boys 15 years of age and ride a mile in 2.37. There is no reason why Peterborough should not have as good riders as any other town, and no doubt could if they had any place fit to practice on, and proper encouragment. Last season the track was only got in shape the morning before the races, which showed all the interest the Peterborough club took in the local riders. The trouble seems to be somewhere between the Driving Park Association and some of the officers of the Peterborough Bicycle club, who seem to be working together for the purpose of speculation and nothing else, when they charge the boys for the privilege of riding on the track as well as putting them to the expense of fixing it up, and to have it cut up on July 1st by horses and rigs. The result now is they have no place fit to ride on after having bought season tickets. If the P. B. C. ever intends to hold its own with outside towns and villages, and as cycling appears to be the coming attraction it wants to get a hustle on as the National Meet for 1896 is near at hand and is a matter of no small importance. We also want to see at the August meet a number of the prizes remain in Peterborough, and by the lack of interest the P. B. C. have so far taken in the sport, it will be a long time before we have a winner here.

CITIZEN.

WHY THIS DELAY?

Editor Morning Times.

DEAR SIR,—I saw with pleasure that Councillor Sproule had successfully engineered a motion through the Council for an appropriation of $200 for public bathing houses, and when I learned that this motion had been referred to the Street and Bridge Committee to select suitable sites for the erection of these much needed bathing houses, I congratulated myself that there would soon be free bath houses in Peterborough.

You can imagine my disappointment, sir, when I found out by a perusal of the Council proceedings in your paper of yesterday, that the Street and Bridge Committee had not acted upon the matter, and now the question is shelved for another month.

Can you tell me why this delay occurred, and whether or not there is any probability of the bath houses being erected this summer?

Welcome to Ensign and Mrs. Frazer.

Great welcome meetings Sunday. Ensign and Mrs. Fraser, who have just come to take charge of Peterborough corps, will receive a grand welcome at the Salvation Army barracks. A number of officers will be present. Their names are as follows; Mrs. Adjt. Wood, Ensign Hendricks, Capts. Burrows and Kendall, Lieut. Coolen, the solo singer. Brass and string bands to the front. A wonderful time is expected. Ensign and Mrs. Fraser are well known officers, tried and faithful. We believe they are just the people for Peterborough, holy, hard working and useful, and much honored and beloved officers. We believe that every soldier and friend will give them a fiery welcome on Sunday. No one should miss seeing and hearing Ensign and Mrs. Fraser. Come one, come all. ad.

Important to Farmers' Sons.

The County Council has the privilege of nominating a student to attend the Agricultural College without the payment of any entrance or tuition fee. The student so nominated must be the son of a farmer residing within the County, and one who has lived on his parent's farm for the past two years. Applications (which must be accompanied with certificates from a clergyman and Justice of the Peace as to residence with parent and character) will be received by the undersigned.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS
Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.
$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.
Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.
It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.
It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.
Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.
WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

ANOTHER BODY FOUND.

EVIDENCE TO SHOW THAT HOLMES MURDERED MINNIE WILLIAMS.

This Knocks Out His Alibi Story—Mrs. Pietzel Identifies the Bodies of Her Daughters and Tells the Story of Her Acquaintance With Holmes.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 20. — Another appalling crime will be laid at the door of H. H. Holmes, the notorious insurance swindler and alleged murderer of the Pietzels. That Minnie Williams, of Fort Worth, Texas, met her death at the hands of Holmes there is scarcely a doubt. Late last night the police found in a stove in the three-story brick building, which was built by Holmes and in which both he and the Williams girl lived, a quantity of charred bones, buttons known to have been on a dress owned by Minnie Williams, and a partly melted portion of a watch-chain which was positively identified as having been the property of the girl. The chain was instantly recognized by C. E. Davis, who occupies a portion of the store formerly used by Holmes when he was in the drug business, as one that he had seen Miss Williams wear. Davis also claimed to recognize the buttons as those he had seen on a dress worn by Miss Williams.

FOUND BY THE POLICE.

The ghastly discovery was made late last night by a force of detectives, working under the command of Inspector Fitzpatrick, who had all day been at work searching the building from cellar to garret. The search of the house was undertaken by the police, who yesterday received a communication from the Philadelphia authorities. The building was carefully gone over, and then the dummy elevator, which ran from the top floor of the building, where Holmes had his office, to the basement, without exit on the intervening floors, was tried and worked in every possible manner. On the top floor in the room which was used by Holmes as an office, stood an immense stove, fully eight feet high and three feet in diameter with a door sufficiently large to admit of the admission of a human body into the interior. This stove had in the former examinations of the building been overlooked. Inspector Fitzpatrick opened the door and poked carelessly among the debris with his cane. Almost the first thing he turned up was a human bone badly charred.

THE OTHER SISTER, TOO.

All of the ashes and debris removed from the stove were carefully preserved and taken to the police station where more careful examination will be made of them today. The police are now of the opinion that not only Minnie Williams but her younger sister Anna and the boy Howard Pietzel met death in this house. This morning the police renewed the search of the house beginning with the basement which will be carefully dug up. They are of the opinion that they will find either the body of Anna Williams or that of Howard Pietzel before they have concluded their work.

TORONTO, July 20.—The inquest on the body of the murdered Pietzel child, Ada Alice, was resumed last evening, before Coronor Johnston and a jury.

The principal witness was Mrs. Pietzel, who arrived from Chicago Thursday evening for the purpose of identifying the two bodies found in the St. Vincent street house.

HER SAD STORY.

It took the unfortunate woman fully ninety minutes to tell her sad story, and her manner throughout showed her to be thoroughly broken down by the awful tragedy.

The first time Mr. Pietzel met Holmes was some time in 1893, in Chicago. She and her husband were at the time in a restaurant, and the latter went out and brought Holmes in. In January, 1894, she again saw him, shortly after he and her husband went to Texas. At St. Louis again, in June or July, 1894, she saw Holmes again. After the Philadelphia trouble, in about September of that year, Holmes come to St. Louis, where the witness was.

Mrs. Pietzel says she saw an account of her husband's death, but shortly after got a letter signed by him saying he was coming home. Holmes came instead, and in answer to her request to see her husband, said: "If you don't want to get into trouble you had better keep quiet."

THE BODY IDENTIFED.

Lawyer Howe and Holmes, accompanied by her daughter Alice, went to Philadelphia to identify the dead body. Alice did identify it, the money was paid to Howe, who gave it all to witness, except his $2,500 fee. Witness also got $500 for expenses, and Holmes got $500 to pay on a real estate transaction he said he and her husband had on hand in Forth Worth. Witness got a note for this latter sum, but never got any money back.

Holmes brought Alice back as far as Indianapolis, and told me I had better go to my parents in Illinois, and that he would take Nellie and Howard to Indianapolis and send the three to school. Witness, with Dessie and the baby, went to Galva, Ills., thence to Chicago, and thence to Detroit.

COME TO TORONTO.

From Detroit they left for Toronto on October 18, where they were met by Holmes, who took them to the Union hotel. They remained here until the 25th, when they went to Ogdensburg. Holmes was continually telling her she would meet her husband soon, but she never saw him. He said the children were in Indianapolis. While in Toronto Holmes said he was going to furnish a house here, and when it was ready she could see her husband, who was in Montreal.

Mrs. Pietzel then proceeded to tell of her experience in Toronto and Ogdensburg, the particulars of which have already appeared in the papers.

THE BODIES RECOGNIZED.

Mrs. Pietzel went on to say that she had been at the morgue and identified the bodies of the two girls, Alice and Nellie. One she knew by her teeth and hair, and the other by her hair only. Witness also identified the egg-shaped ornament as having belonged to Nellie.

DR. CAVEN TESTIFIES.

Dr. John Caven read his report of the post-mortem examination on the body of Alice Pietzel. No sign of violence could be found, but the body was badly decomposed. The two stomachs had not yet been analyzed. Witness was at the morgue when Mrs. Pietzel identified the remains.

Dr. Harrington corroborated the above evidence.

A lad named William Macdonald, of 7 Russell street, who lived in the cottage after Holmes moved out, testified to finding the egg-shaped ornament in a satchel in a small cupboard in an upstairs bedroom. The enquiry was then adjourned until Wednesday evening next at the Morgue.

A crowd of people hung about the morgue all day yesterday in the hope of seeing the unfortunate woman, Mrs. Pietzel, who was expected to visit that building for the purpose of indentifying the remains lying on the marble slabs within.

About 3 o'clock Drs. Caven, Bingham and Harrington arrived to prepare the bodies and make them as presentable as possible for the mother's eyes. A post mortem had already been made upon the remains of Etta Alice, and her long hair lay in a pail of water on the slab with Nellies body.

THE MOTHER ARRIVES.

About 4.30 p.m. Detective Geyer and Cuddy, accompanied by Mrs. Pietzel drew up at the gruesome building in a closed carriage. The woman waited awhile in an adjoining room until the preparations were completed.

When everything was ready everybody withdrew. The two officers, one on each side of the stricken lady conducted her into the presence of the two murdered girls

"Be as brave as you can," said Geyer, "it will soon be over."

In an almost fainting condition Mrs. Pietzel staggered into the room and as the awful sight met her gaze she shuddered and took a step backward. She recovered in a moment however, and stepped up to the slab on which the body of Alice lay. Her tears fell fast and when the first passionate outburst had somewhat subsided Detective Geyer picked up the hair taken from Nellie's head.

"Oh, my God, that's Nellie's hair," she cried.

"Yes, that is Alice's hair also."

THE TEETH ALSO.

The weeping woman was then led to the slab on which the head of Alice rested. The cotton shroud was lifted up, and at the first glance the woman recognized the teeth, emitting a most awful shriek of despair and anguish. This was all, and at once Mrs. Pietzel was escorted to her carriage and driven rapidly to the hotel.

A MATTER OF FORM.

An inquest on the body of Nellie Pietzel was opened by Coroner Orr at the morgue last evening. The jury viewed the body, and were then dismissed until called on, the coroner saying it was merely a formal enquiry in connection with the other inquest now being held.

HOWE WILL SETTLE.

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—The long haired and rather eccentric individual who appeared with a mysterious alibi at the office of Lawyer Shoemaker day before yesterday has turned out to be a harmless lunatic, who is a spiritualist and felt moved to come forward.

Holmes is said to be at work on another statement, to be issued shortly, and people are wondering what new myth his ingenious brain will evolve. Information received here announces that Hatch is a veritable person and that he is supposed to be in Chicago, but was not in Toronto at the time when the Pietzel children were murdered.

District Attorney Graham says in concluding his official statement:—In conclusion, I wish to say that it is my design to have Holmes tried for murder, and if it shall appear that his conviction can be readily secured at Toronto I will arrange for his being sent there for trial, and withdraw all objection to his removal, otherwise I will see what can be done with him here on the charge of murdering Pietzel. In the event of his being taken to Toronto and securing an acquittal, I will endeavor to so arrange matters that he may be returned here at least for sentence on the charge of conspiracy, and very likely to answer the charge of murder in relation to Pietzel.

Mr. G. Fouse, head of the Fidelity Insurance Company, says they will not try to recover the money which Holmes defrauded them of.

"Have any overtures been made to you to settle the case?" was asked.

"Yes, sir; there were."

"Who made them and how much money was offered?" Mr. Fouse was next asked.

"Howe's counsel made the overtures, and the company was offered $2,500 to settle the case."

"Did that include Holmes in the arrangement or merely Howe?"

"Only Howe's name was mentioned at the time."

"When and to whom were the overtures made?"

The offer of money was made within the last six weeks to Mr. Barlow, who was our counsel in the case. Mr. Barlow is now special assistant district attorney and I would suggest that you see him and learn what he has to say about the offer of money."

Mr. Barlow was seen, and when asked in regard to the matter, replied that he never received any overtures to settle the case. When told that Mr. Fouse had made a statement to that effect, Mr. Barlow replied;

"Well, if Mr. Fouse says so, I have nothing further to say."

Mrs. Carrie A. Pitezel left Saturday evening for her parents' home in Galva, Ill. She was accompanied as far as Detroit by Detective Geyer, who goes to that city to continue his search for the remains of the boy, Howard. Mrs. Pitezel was in a very weakened condition as a result of the nervous strain upon her during Friday afternoon and evening. She remained in her room at the Rossin Saturday up to five o'clock, when she was taken by Detectives Geyer and Cuddy to witness the burial of the remains of her daughters, which took place at St. James' cemetery. Undertaker B. D. Humphrey conducted the funeral, which was very quiet, only a few being present. The burial service was read at the grave.

The discovery of the bones in a Chicago house, which had been rented by Holmes' and which the authorities there say they will be able to prove are the remains of Minnie Williams, completely destroys the alibi which Holmes, through his counsel, has been setting up.

Mrs. Howard, Holmes' third wife, who was with him when he murdered the Pitesel girls in October last, Assistant District Attorney Barlow and Barrister Moon, counsel for Holmes, are expected in Toronto before the next sitting of the inquest. Mrs. Howard and Moon will spend their time in working up a defence for Holmes.

AN AWFUL DEATH

Was That Which Ended the Life of Patrick Ready Near St. Kits.

Special to the Times.

ST. CATHARINES, July 20. — Patrick, Ready, aged 22, worked as a farm hand for Mrs. Moot, near here, and was engaged drawing in hay, using a wagon with a rack with iron uprights. He took a large load into the barn, and, not thinking of the iron uprights, attempted to slide to the ground, when one of them pierced him near the hip, impaling him and coming out near his mouth. The poor fellow screamed fearfully, and as soon as possible he was taken off the stake. He died at midnight.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. FIREBUGS UNDER ARREST

THEY MAKE A BUSINESS OF FIRING PREMISES.

Are Thought to Have Been Mixed up With the Big Toronto Fires—Professional Incendiarism Their Business.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 20.

THE local police authorities made what is thought to be two very important arrests here last evening when C. Jenkins, an electrician for the Montreal and Parker Island railway, and John Haynes, bookkeeper for Boyd, Gillies & Co., were taken into custody.

The premises of Boyd, Gillies & Co., were set on fire a few days ago.

It is believed that the couple are members of a gang of incendiaries which has been operating in Toronto and New York besides Montreal. Their scheme is said to be very simple. They make arrangements with the owners of the place desired to be burnt, and on the understanding that they get a good share of the insurance money set the fire.

HOW THEY CAUSED FIRES.

THEY MIXED SULPHURIC ACID AND METHALATED SPIRITS.

MONTREAL, July 20.—The arrest of the two men last evening, who gave their names as John Hyynes, bookkeeper, and Charles Jenkins, electrician, charged with arson and who are part of a supposed gang of firebugs, was a most important one. For the last two months Crown Prosecutor Quinn and Detective Carpenter have been silently working on a clue that they received from the States, and that part of a gang of firebugs had transferred their practices to Canada. Numerous fires occurred among the prominent business houses in the city, in which some $160,000 insurance was involved, but in each and every instance an accidental verdict was returned by the fire commissioners, yet, strange to say, all originated in a most mysterious way.

One Sunday morning about two months ago, just before church time, fire broke out in the wholesale stationery warehouse of Boyd, Gillies & Co., on St. Sulpice street, just opposite Notre Dame Cathedral. The place was totally destroyed. Detective Carpenter picked up a faint clue from this fire and has been working steadily on it ever since, when he came to the conclusion that there was sufficient evidence to warrant an arrest. Hayes, it appears, was for a short time engaged as bookkeeper with Boyd, Gillies & Co. and Jenkins with the Park Island Railway as electrician. The modus operendi of the pair, in conjunction with others now being shadowed, was, it is claimed, to put one of the gang into a business house and on ascertaining the firm's standing, to approach its weakest member with a proposal to show him a way out of his difficulties.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION.

Apparently it acted like a charm and spontaneous combustion was the inevitable verdict rendered by the fire commissioners when the premises were burned down. In reality it was due to sulphuric acid placed in such a position to an alarm clock worked by methylated spirits, which at a certain time would drop down and allow the two acids to come in contact. Result, instantaneous combustion and total ruin if the brigade was not on hand promptly. The fluid of a deeply, darkish color was found in Jenkins' valise when arrested, a teaspoonful of which dropped on an ordinary flooring would be sufficient to set a building ablaze.

Detective Carpenter said that he was not in a position at present to say that the prisoners were connected with any of the big fires in Toronto, but he had been told that they were operating in that city as well as in Montreal and other places. Several more arrests are expected, but those connected with the case are very cautious about what they say. It was stated this morning that the gang has very extended ramifications. The two prisoners were arraigned before the Police Magistrate this morning.

HAYNES SAYS IT IS FALSE.

Haynes was arraigned in the Police Court this morning before Judge Desnoyer, and the charge having been read, he said in a clear distinct voice. "It is absolutely false." R. D. McGibbon, his lawyer, made application for bail, but Mr. Quinn opposed this on the ground that the Crown was in possession of facts which pointed to an organized gang of firebugs, and to allow Haynes out on bail would afford him an opportunity of communicating with the gang. As the charge was a direct one of setting fire to Boyd, Gillies & Co.'s premises, his Honor refused bail. The prisoner was remanded until Monday at two o'clock. Although Jenkins was not arraigned Detective Carpenter told a reporter that he was under arrest. It is rumored that Mr. Boyd who departed for England a week ago did so in order to escape arrest as he undoubtedly knew that arrests were to be made. It is said he will be arrested in Liverpool. Jenkins, it is stated, will turn Queen's evidence, which accounts for his not being arraigned this morning.

TORONTO FIRES.

NEWS OF THE ARREST WAS NEWS INDEED TO STARK—SOME STORIES.

The news of the arrest in Montreal of these two men and the statement that they are suspected of being members of a gang of professional incendiaries who, among other cities, worked their schemes here, has had the effect of recalling public attention to the long list of appalling fires which have visited this city during the year.

The supposition that the deeds were done by outside professionals who were impelled by motives of gain is quite new here and does not meet with much favor from those who know most about the investigations which have been made.

Inspector Stark read the dispatches from Montreal.

"We know absolutely nothing of any such scheme or people. It is news to me to hear that outsiders were ever suspected of having a hand in the fires. But, of course, such a thing is possible. We know nothing of a great many things we should know.

POOR RESULTS.

"The fact is we have given a very great deal of attention to these fires and with rather curious results. Apart from the three or four particularly large blazes, there have been very many fires in stables, and many horses have been cremated. We are morally sure that these in many cases were the results of carelessness and in others of criminal deliberation on the part of interested people. This latter case-

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 22 1895.

The Kentucky way of dealing with the social evil is to lash the fallen women on their bare backs with hickory whips, But the fallen men—the newspapers omit to tell the treatment meted to them.

Leprosy is increasing in Iceland in an alarming manner, according to the Jesuit missionary, Father Sveinsson. Last year a Danish physician, sent by the Government, examined one-third of the island and found 141 lepers.

A heavy shower of diminutive toads little larger than potatoe bugs fell at Farmington, Me., a few days ago, during what the people there call a "cloudburst." Thousands of the creatures fell in the town and the neighboring fields.

Five short autograph poems by Robert Burns were sold recently in London for $490; three long letters for $370, and three short ones for $105; at the same time seven letters of Sir Walter Scott were sold for about $27.50 apiece.

Ontario has nothing but scorn for its alleged representatives who declined to vote one way or the other on the resolution of the member for North Simcoe. Electors in this Province can esteem men who, as the result of an error of judgment, vote the wrong way, but they have nothing but contempt for the cowards who are afraid to go on record either one way or the other.

A new law reducing the length of residence necessary in order to get a divorce to seven months has just gone into force in Yankton, S. D. It is related that many attorneys of that city have recently been visited by a hustling young man from the East, who propose to furnish them with divorce clients for a liberal percentage. He intends to make a close canvass in the East, extolling the attractions and conveniences of Yankton and its divorce accommodations. and drumming for clients.

Little more of conquest seems left for the bicycle. Even the wild redskin and fiery cayuse have been subdued. Two Indians on horseback were cutting up capers in Pendleton, Or., last week and broke several city ordinances in a few minutes. Marshall Mens started to arrest them, and the Indians put spurs to their horses and started for the prairie. The marshall is an expert bicyclist, and he mounted his wheel, and with one hand grasping the handle-bar and the other clutching his gun, he put after the fleeing redskins. Before he had reached the city limits he had winged one, and a few hundred yards farther he caught up with the other one and brought him back in triumph.

Russia, which we, in this free and untrammelled western continent are accustomed to look upon as the home of the most tyrannical despotism, has some institutions which would delight the heart of the average Canadian. The state bank advances money at 4½ per cent. per annum on all kinds of goods up to two-thirds of their value, and accepts money on deposit at 1½ per cent. To assist the grain trade recently, the Government bought largely from the producers, and is now the largest grain holder in the country. The absorption of private railway lines has almost been completed. Besides this the state has acquired a monopoly of of the manufacture of spirits and the control of the retail liquor trade,and is about to take control of the sugar and wine, and possibly the coal trade. The Czar is giving his subjects a paternal Government with a vengeance,

AN INTERESTING CEREMONY.

Inauguration of the Presiding Officer of the House of Commons.

In the confirmation of the House of Lords of the election of a Speaker of the English Parliament, the most striking portion of the ceremony is witnessed, when it forms, as it usually does, a part of the proceedings of the opening of Parliament. The day following the election the House of Commons meets again. The Lords are also in session. The commoners sit silent, and the stranger looks on in wonder, vainly endeavoring to ascertain what is their purpose in coming together. Presently he notices a rush of attendants to the door leading from the inner lobby to the chamber proper. The Sergeant-at-arms, dressed after the manner of the Speaker, without the wig or gown, an old-fashioned sheathed sword dangling by his side, carries a golden key. In an instant he locks the door with an alacrity which suggests the possibility of an attempt to storm the parliamentary citadel. Then is a tapping. Once it is ignored; twice it is ignored; it is repeated a third time, and the Sergeant-at-arms shouts, "Who's there?"

"Black Rod," comes the reply. Three times the question is repeated and three times the same answer is given.

"Enter Black Rod," says the Sergeant, as he throws open the door.

Black Rod enters. He is a peculiar little man, of a pleasing rotundity of person, and a becoming gravity of demeanor. "Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod" is his full title. He is an officer of the crown, whose duty it is to wait upon the peers while in session. It is his duty, also, to take charge of any peer arrested for any crime against the Lords or on any charge upon which impeachment is attempted. In his right hand he carries a black rod, upon the top of which rests a golden lion. Everything about him is black except the few scattered hairs which peep out from under an old-fashioned wig.

Slowly and sedately Black Rod walks up the floor of the House.

"Her Majesty demands the presence of her faithful Commoners," he says. Then he bows to the Speaker, and the Speaker bows in return. Solemnly the Speaker descends from his chair and proceeds down the floor of the House. Black Rod, still facing him and still bowing, moves backward toward the door. A ludicrous touch is given to the proceedings by the manner in which he casts his eye over his shoulders, as if to assure himself that he will not meet with any dangerous obstruction. The members follow the Speaker, and the procession passes through the chamber and inner and outer lobbies. A number of policemen scattered about the building now yell themselves hoarse, "Make way for Black Rod." Across the tessellated floor of the House the procession moves, through the lobby leading to the peers, and now it has reached its destination.

When Black Rod enters he announces: "Her Majesty's faithful Commoners wait upon your lordships." The election of the new speaker is announced and a hope is expressed that he will be acceptable to Her Majesty, whereupon the Lord Chancellor assures the Commoners of Her Majesty's gracious pleasure, and extends her congratulations to both House and the Speaker. Then the Queen's speech is read; the Commoners return to their places, and an adjournment is taken till evening. When the House comes together again the acceptance of the address is formally moved and seconded by two supporters of the Ministry of the day, while an amendment is moved by some leader of the Opposition. This is the first shot in the battle which is to be waged for six or seven months. The day begins in peace and harmony; it ends in fierce and angry debate. Thus rapidly is the scene ever shifting on the parliamentary stage of Great Britain.

Austere Lady—Madame, your child is annoying me with its attention! I wish you would keep it to yourself.

Mother (suppressing her anger)—Oh! you must excuse him. He thinks you are his grandmother, and he is very fond of her.—Puck.

Blunt Criticism.

President Kruger evidently has no music in his soul—if a story going the rounds in South Africa be true. At a social gathering gven in his honor some time ago, one of Bloemfontein's sweetest lady singers gave an artistic rendering of a popular song. The lady of the house, turning to "Oom Paul," who was probably pining for a pipe, asked, "How did your Honor like that?" The president bluntly replied, "I go into the veld when I want to hear the she-wolf scream!"—Washington Gazette.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

CURRANTS AND GOOSEBERRIES.

They Come Early in the [illegible] When There Is No Other Substitute.

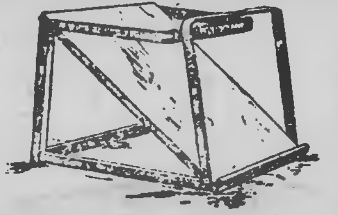
Since the advent of the currant worm these fine fruits have been much neglected. No others are so highly relished. They come early when there is no substitute for them. For canning they have no superior. They can be raised easily and cheaply, are a sure crop, will come into bearing the second year, and always bring a good price on the market.

I came past a number of gardens to-day. In all of these were currant and gooseberry bushes, but not a single hill that would produce even fair berries. The grass and weeds were abundant and some of the bushes had I think 200 canes in the hill. I never saw a currant or gooseberry bush thinned enough unless grown by a specialist. My finest fruit is gathered from those hills that have a single stalk, and if planted three feet apart will outyield any other method of thinning.

I raise from cuttings, rooting them in beds and planting nothing but well rooted plants. I plant four feet apart and plow them two years. No suckers are allowed to grow. When the bush is formed the new growth is well clipped each year. I would as soon think of leaving my hair unclipped as my bushes. It will take but fifteen minutes to clip enough for one family's use. It makes finer berries, easier picking, and the bushes look so much neater. Some plow their bushes every year but I do not after the second. Yesterday I tried to dig into a patch five years old, and though the bushes are four feet apart, to force up a spadeful of dirt would break hundreds of roots. I am sure plowing would injure them. I keep them heavily mulched, turning the mulch over if it gets weedy. This can be quickly done with a fork. For worms I use paris green or london purple. I can save twenty bushels of gooseberries in twenty minutes with a good sprayer. I begin as soon as the worms come. I give my patches a good dressing of unleached wood ashes every third year and keep them constantly mulched with coarse stable manure. With such treatment I think a patch will last with undiminished yield for twenty-five years.—American Agriculturist.

A Transplanting Stand.

No insignificant part of garden work is the transplanting of small plants from boxes, where they have been started early, to the soil of the garden where they are to find a permanent home. With a "dibber" one can cut individual plants from a box with very little disturbance of the earth and the roots, provided the box is tipped up at an angle of forty-five degrees or so. Better than holding the box tilted in this position with one hand, while the other cuts out the plant, is the use of such a transplanting stand as is figured in the cut, which holds the box of plants at the desired angle, and is also provided with handles so that the whole can be picked up and carried handily, the box when thus carried being in a horizontal position. A half hour's work in the tool shop should provide this very convenient article.



Spraying Apple Trees.

As to spraying apple trees, all depends on what they are to be sprayed for. If for the scab, which of late has proved so damaging to the apple crop, they should be sprayed twice before the leaf buds open; and with Bordeaux mixture. If they are to be sprayed to destroy the codling moth, this should be done soon after the blossoms fall, and with Bordeaux mixture, adding about two pounds of London purple to 800 gallons of the water; mixing the purple first in a small dish into a thin paste, before putting it into the tank of water. London purple is better than Paris green, for the reason that when mixed into the water, it does not settle as Paris green does. Once spraying thoroughly for the codling moth, if well done, will do, except when a rain follows the spraying very soon, in which case it should be repeated. A light spray, just enough to wet every part of the tree, is all-sufficient.

Horticultural Notes.

Probably nine-tenths of the apple orchards of New York State are in sod, and many of them are meadows. Of course they are failing.

Whenever we all get down to managing an orchard as carefully as we manage other crops we shall reduce failure to the minimum. Everything that grows must have care except a weed.

Go slow on novelties in seeds and plants. Try a few each year as an experiment, to learn their value, but never rely on them for your whole crop. Some may prove desirable to grow, while others may be valueless with you. Order your seeds in the winter.

To plant strawberries rapidly and well, says an exchange, shove a straight-bladed spade into the crevice, draw out the spade and firm the soil by stepping on each side of the plant. An acre and a half was thus planted by one boy and a man in three days, without loss of a single plant. They had to dig the plants and mark the ground, and averaged eight hours per day.

Some do not mulch because it is "too much trouble." I saw strawberries begging for customers last season at seventy-five cents per crate, because they were dirty. Had they been clean they would have brought $2. Figuring at 100 crates per acre (small enough), the loss is $125. Mulching would not cost over $10 per acre. Besides, mulching increases the crop. It keeps the land moist in dry weather. It does not pay to grow strawberries without mulching them. The sooner it is done the better.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

MAY PROROGUE TO-DAY.

PARLIAMENT DIVIDED AS TO WHEN WALLACE SHOULD RESIGN.

The House Will Prorogue To-Day if the Railway Bill Does Not Prove a Snag—What Tupper Says of Wallace.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 19.—Sir Richard Cartwright started in today after Hon. N. Clarke Wallace's scalp. He moved the adjournment of the House in order to try and get it. In view of the statement of the Controller during last night's debate, denouncing and repudiating the Government's policy on the Manitoba school question, he contended that the Controller could not consistently remain in the Government. It was, in his opinion, contrary to British practice and precedent.

A LIMIT TO WALLACE.

Sir Charles H. Tupper admitted the importance of the question raised, but objected to the manner in which it had been brought before the notice of the House. Had proper notice been given there would have been an opportunity to look up British precedents. Neither could Sir Richard's statement of facts be accepted as correct. It was incorrect to state that the controller denounced and repudiated the Government's policy. Ample authority could be had to justify the Controller in his course politically. Throughout the whole discussion on this great and burning question, a discussion to which Sir Richard had not contributed so much as an expression of a single opinion, the concensus of views was the hope that the question might never come to be decided by the House at all. If, however, it should become necessary, as it will become necessary, if legislation does not take place in the province, to introduce such a measure in this House, then the Controller of Customs would either have to support it and vote for it or retire.

DIVERGENT VIEWS.

Mr. Mills thought the controller's position anomalous and inconsistent, while Mr. Davin declared it all right. Not being a member of the Cabinet, Mr. Wallace had no responsibitity. Mr Casey was astonished to learn that Mr. Wallace had no ministerial authority.

Mr Devine said Mr. Wallace had accused the Roman Catholic Bishops of "practices which the common law of Canada not only forbids but punishes." He would like to know if the Government endorsed such language.

Mr. Martin and Mr. McCarthy both declared Manitoba would never recede from her present position. The latter said on so important an issue the constitution demanded united action on the part of the Government.

After Mr. Dickey had supported the Conservative view of Mr. Wallace's course Sir Richard withdrew his motion.

PROROGATION ON SATURDAY.

Mr. Foster asked Mr. Laurier to agree to prorogation on Saturday. There was only one other Government measure to go through, and that was a bill respecting the Hudson Bay railroad. It was only of a technical character. Mr. Laurier was suspicious. He agreed on prorogation on Saturday, reserving the right to change his mind when he saw this bill.

The debate on the bill providing for the branding of cheese for export was adjourned. The bill will probably go over.

Dr. Sproule asked if in view of the change of Government in England another attempt to have the cattle embargo removed would be made. Mr. Ouimet replied that negotiations were in progress.

AN INDIAN CAMPAIGN.

Wyoming's Militia to Get Ready to Move at at a Moment's Notice.

Special to the Times.

LANDER, Wyo., July 19.—Governor Richards has telegraphed General Sheldon, commander of Company B, W.N.G., to place his company under arms subject to orders at a moment's notice. He has ordered to procure saddles and pack horses for the command in readiness for a campaign against the Indians in Jackson's Hole, if necessary.

SHE SPOKE ONLY TO DIE.

Belle Decker Had Been Dumb for Over a Year.

Special to The Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., July 19.—Belle Decker, daughter of Wickham Decker, a farmer, at Brunswick, near here, fell down stairs over a year ago, hurt her spine and lost the power of speech. The other day she startled her sister who was by her bedside by exclaiming: "I can't stand this any longer, I'm dying." She never spoke again and a few hours afterwards was dead. Physicians are unable to explain this temporary restoration of the power of speech lost for so long a time.

THE OCEAN'S WONDERS.

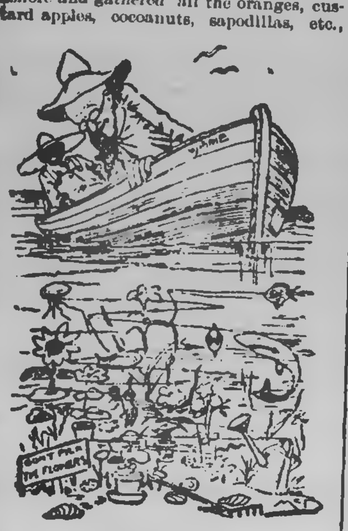
Bill Nye Describes His Trip Through a Sea Garden.

One of the most charming trips about Nassau or the Bahamas is a sail over the sea gardens, where all below you there is a wilderness of coral and submarine growth three to ten fathoms, but with a water glass perfectly visible. It is a perfect marvel of rainbow coloring of animal, vegetable and mineral growth.

You sail out a few miles from Nassau and then anchor your catboat, get into a glass-bottom rowboat and slowly drift in delightful indolence over the vast marine conservatory, while in and out among the coral caves the beautiful angel fish, the humming bird fish or the rainbow fish softly floats like a healthy dream.

Sixteen shillings will pay for the trip, and you may take the day for it if you want to do so.

We sailed over to Hog Island, went ashore and gathered all the oranges, custard apples, cocoanuts, sapodillas, etc., that we could eat during the day; then we sailed on for the sea gardens, where we anchored and took to the glass-bottom boat.



THE SEA GARDENS.

We had a colored diver, and whenever we saw a bouquet growing on the bottom of the sea that pleased us he would go down and pluck it for us so that we would not get our feet wet. You cannot, gentle reader, imagine how funny he looked under the glass bottom of our boat, strolling about in the vasty deep gathering sea fans and all sorts of things for us.

Once he got hold of a sea fan nearly a yard in diameter and a soft heliotrope in color, but it was grown to the bottom of the ocean so firmly that, though he braced himself and lifted till he was black in the face, he could not get it. He mo[illegible] the huge coral boulder on which [illegible] it grew, but looking up at us shoo[illegible] his head, and I motioned for him to leave it, for I feared that he might mar the bottom of the sea and let the water out mayhap.

After a half hour I thought I would note the bouquet and fragrance of our ocean plants. I shall always regret it. The sea fan after a half hour in the air smells like—everything! It smells like Lazarus when his sister objected to the opening of his tomb.

If you pluck the fuana of the sea, do not carry it in your trunk, for you will be stopped at quarantine and subjected to annoying delays.

One of the queer sights here in the tropics is the jewfish. I do not know why he is called the jewfish. No one seems to know unless it be that wherever you find him you will note that he seems to own that block and the adjoining one also.

He attains a weight of 600 pounds sometimes and is good for food. He does not rise to the fly, however, and is not a game fish. In fact, when the fisherman wants him, he goes down and gently puts the hook in his mouth while the partner in the boat hauls away. It is very exciting. It is about as sportsmanlike as it is to move a county seat by putting a bent pin under the county when it sits down.

Sharks are very plentiful all the way from here up to Long Branch and even to Nantucket. The leopard shark is a mean, low coyote of the sea, and will eat a little child that never did a wrong to any one quicker than he will a lovely lady old with black hose. The leopard shark has a low, retreating forehead, like that of the codfish ball, and will often sit up till a late hour of the night in order to eat a Welsh rarebit from Swansea. The shark swims with great indolence until he hears the gong for dinner, and then the eye cannot follow his motions. He darts like a streak of delayed lightning that is trying to make up time.

Sometimes a leopard shark will spring full length into the air and land on the deck of a low sailboat. Our pilot had a visit of that kind once off Ocean Grove. He says he would rather go boating with a total stranger than be joined that way by a leopard shark.

The first thing to do with a shark is to cut off his tail; then he will die. But he does not rely on his head so much. He places no more dependence on his brains than a national financier. But if you cut off his tail he soon dies.

N. B.—While cutting off the shark's tail it is always a good plan to see that he does not bite you.

When a shark gets a man in his mouth he cannot reconsider even if he would like to do so, for the teeth point inward, and, like a boat constrictor, he may choke to death, but he cannot even by joint resolution move to reconsider.

I have an uncle who was last seen entering a shark off New Zealand twenty-seven years ago, and we all fear the worst regarding him. He was a man who always tried to get home for the holidays, and it has been so long now we felt almost certain that he has been delayed by something he had not calculated on. Twenty-seven times we have waited by the yuletide for him, and twenty-seven times he has not come.

BILL NYE.

Easy to Guess the Correct Size.

"I want to git a collar fer my husband," said the hardfaced woman, "and I declare I have plumb forgot the size. I gin'ly buy all his collars and ties fer him, too."

"Ah!" said the astute clerk. "Then you probably want about a thirteen and a half or fourteen."

"Yes, that's right but I don't see how you guessed it so easy."

"Oh, I have noticed that a man who lets his wife buy all his haberdashery for him usually has a neck of about that size."—Cincinnati Tribune.

A Clever One.

Daisy—Did the Count say he loved you?

Madge—Oh, fiddlesticks! no. That's why I accepted him. He was so honest about it.

GREATER THAN STEAM.

Successful Trial of the Big Electric Motor in Baltimore.

Special to The Times.

BALTIMORE, July 19.—The officials of the Belt Line Railroad are jubilant over yesterday's successful test of the giant electric motor. The result leads the authorities to believe that the days of the steam locomotive are numbered.

The electric motor left Camden station and entered the tunnel drawing 13,000 tons in the shape of twenty-three cars two banked engines, and the trip was made in five minutes, or at the rate of seventeen miles an hour. It required two steam locomotives to draw the same train afterwards. A public trial is contemplated in the near future.

FLEECED BY THE OLD GAME.

Farmer's Sons Drop Over a Thousand in Montreal.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 19.—Three young men from the country, all sons of farmers will regret their short stay at Montreal, as they have been fleeced of several hundred dollars. It is alleged that they registered at a down town hotel and gave names as Paul Henrichon, Gilbert Martin and Hermisdas Ducloe. They had in their possession the sum of $1,800, $725 and $75 respectively. They were not long at the hotel "without making some friends" who invited them to take a drink. Shortly after they had taken a few glasses of liquor they were unwise enough to divulge to their new friend the object of their visit to Montreal. Their story was as follows: They had heard of the suspension of La Banque Du Peuple and had been enstructed by their fathers to come to Montreal and see if the bills which for the most part were Banque Du Peuple, could not be exchanged as their neighbors had refused to take the bank notes. The party left home yesterday morning and arrived here shortly after 11 o'clock. Their new found friend told them that he was a broker, and would exchange all their notes for $50 commission. After consulting together the young men handed all their bills, which formed the total sum of $2,000, The so called "broker" then went into an adjo'ning room and returned within a few minutes with bundles, He at once opened the packages and proceeded to count the money which consisted for the most part of $5 bills of the Bank of Montreal. As the strangers appeared to be very careful in counting he offered his services, which were at first refused, but finally accepted. Every one hundred dollar package was carefully marked. When the entire amount of money had been counted and while the whole was being wrapped together in a bundle he cleverly substituted one bunble for the other, then being highly thank[illegible] the strangers [illegible] to the broker for his kind services [illegible] walked away.

W[illegible] Torrance of Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, July 19.—John Fraser Torrance, a wealthy mining operator, committed suicide yesterday. The cause of the act is not known. He was a nephew of Sir A. Galt. Torrance was a cousin of Mr. George W. Torrance of Toronto.

Unsisterly Words.

Two little sisters who were very fond of each other, and generally quite happy together, were playing "keep house and go visiting." The elder sister was the housekeeper, and she bustled merrily about, spreading the table and arranging the little tea set upon it, meanwhile chatting with little Anna, who, for the time, was "a very fine lady from the city."

Just as the preparations were completed, and she as about ot summon her guest to the miniature repast, Anna quietly climbed int a large easy chair, and rocking slowly back and forth, she said:

"I don't want to play any more."

Not noticing the sudden pallor of the sweet little face, the sister angrily retorted:

"I'll never play with you again as long as I live!"

And she never did. She went to her little bed alone that night and lay with a heavy, aching heart, longing for the morning to come, that she might put her arms around her little sister's neck and tell her she was sorry. The morning came, but Anna was dangerously ill. Her parents had watched over her through the weary night, and were alarmed for her safety. Her sister was allowed just to see her, but she must not speak The poor child grew worse and worse, and in a few days she died. The last words she ever heard from that loving but petulant sister was that bitter, angry sentence.

The San Francisco Cremation Society has recently completed what it calls a Columbarium, intended for the ashes of the cremated dead. The structure is fireproof, of Romanesque design, and has 1,000 tiny rooms destined to hold urns containing the ashes of incinerated persons.

Friday—Lucky or Unlucky?

There are some persons who believe that death and destruction stalk abroad on Friday, and who have any number of facts at hand to prove their position. Well, here is an array of facts from which almost anything, pro or con, might be proven:

Lee surrendered on Friday.
Moscow was burned on Friday.
Washington was born on Friday.
Shakespeare was born on Friday.
America was discovered on Friday.
Richmond was evacuated on Friday.
The Bastile was destroyed on Friday.
The Mayflower was landed on Friday.
Queen Victoria was married on Friday.
King Charles I. was beheaded on Friday.
Fort Sumpter was bombarded on Friday.
Napoleon Bonaparte was born on Friday.
Julius Caesar was assassinated on Friday.
The battle of Marengo was fought on Friday.
The battle of Waterloo was fought on Friday.
Joan of Arc was burned at the stake on Friday.
The battle of New Orleans was fought on Friday.
The Declaration of Independence was signed on Friday.

The Queen's Photographs.

The manager of one of the best known photographic establishments in London says that photographs of the queen sell better than those of any other celebrity in the world. Enormous numbers of these are bought by Americans every year. The Prince of Wales has been more frequently photographed than any other member of the royal family, and for his royal highness' portrait there is an incessant demand.

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

CUPID AND PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. PETERBOROUGH, JULY 22 1895.

Tired women need to have their blood purified and enriched by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will give them strength and health.

FIREBUGS UNDER ARREST

clusion is based on the fact that the animals burned were often well insured and had been rather poor stock owing to the great decline in the value of horseflesh. It is well known that in times of depression the number of incendiary fires run away up. People are pinched for money and see in arson a quick method of getting ready cash from insurance companies who are considered well able to stand the loss.

VERY SUSPICIOUS.

"We have encountered cases where the circumstances were exceedingly suspicious but what is the use of going into court with suspicious? None whatever. There is no end to the curious facts which come to our knowledge in looking into these matters. We had quite recently a case in which a young girl admitted having started several fires which, however, did little or no harm. She clearly did not act with any motive of gain and it appears to be simply an example of a young girl, as they often do at certain periods of their lives, acting under strange impulses or whims with no apparent foundation or motive. Not very long ago we ran across another girl, a domestic, who unaccountably became possessed of a desire to mystify and alarm the people of the house. The door bell was rung by some queer compound of mystery and invisibility and peculiar things kept happening until the establishment was in a gentle uproar.

A SERVANT GIRL'S TRICK.

"One night some one, presumed at the time to be a burglar, entered the parlor and spat tobacco juice all over a large mirror. After some time it was noticed that the door bell never rang except when the girl was in the pantry. It was also discovered that the bell wire passed through the pantry, and suspicion fell on her at once. She was interviewed by the detectives, and eventually admitted that she herself was the mystery. The supposed tobacco juice was not tobacco juice, but a saturated solution of pound cake which she had obtained from the cupboard and chewed up herself. This is only one case of very many. The people would not believe the true stories which could be told of matters which we learn from various sources.

Going back to the fire question, the Inspector said horses were now so cheap that people could hardly give them away, and some men were only too willing to sacrifice them for the sake of the insurance money.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

IS A FAKE CONGRESS.

TORONTONIANS ARE DISAPPOINTED WITH THE PAN-AMERICAN GATHERING.

The Promised Thousands of Delegates Failed To Materialize, and Most of the Great and Celebrated Speakers as Well—Archbishop Ireland Cannot Attend.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 20.

At a quarter to eight last night people were turned away from the Massey Music Hall into which 7,000 had crowded to hear Archbishop Ireland speak. Everybody was disappointed save Rev. S. G. Smith. He must have smiled with Secretary Sherin when he saw those Torontonians fill up that hall to hear men who, he knew six hours before, were not coming. In fact last night was the cap to a series of disappointments which appear to have attached themselves to the Congress and remind Torontonians of King Dodds' "four days of solid enjoyment."

DELEGATES WHO NEVER CAME.

The people of Toronto were induced to give money to bring the Pan Americans here because according to Secretary Sherin some 10,000 delegates would be brought, among them men of the standing and mental calibre of ex President Harrison and Archbishop Ireland. Where those delegates have put themselves is a matter which is troubling the brains of many Toronto business men who looked forward to their arrival in the hope that money might be spent. Not four hundred have arrived and the men of world wide fame are like the chosen, few in number. It looks as if the promoters of the Congress find the speakers, Toronto gives the audience and together with the railways furnishes the funds. The Congress opened under the brightest of auspices. It had the support of all classes of the community and it appeared as if the sessions were going to be crowded.

A SORRY SPECTACLE.

What is the spectacle the next day? Two hundred people attend one meeting, eight attend another, and the management has resource to false pretences to fill the hall, because as the President cynically said, "He knew they would not have otherwise come." The Pan-American Congress deals with religion and education; at least its speakers do. Torontonians will fail to see either religion or education in the conduct of men who tricked them as they were tricked last night.

How does President Rev. Dr. S. G. Smith account for it? Here is his apology: "I call you to a severer test than is usually put to an audience. It will only be by your generosity that we shall escape censure. Hon. Dr. Montague is detained at Ottawa by his official duties. Archbishop Ireland has not yet arrived. Till today I expected Archbishop Ireland to be here. I had his most definite and positive promise, his pledge of faith as earnest as any man can give to another. The responsibility does not rest on the officers of the Pan-American Congress."

Having read the telegram, Dr. Smith contined, "I don't know what these unforseen circumstances are. I can only say in the words of my inaugural address: 'There are certain ethical and emotional circumstances that govern the conduct of some people that cannot be understood by other people in different circumstances."

AN EXTRAORDINARY STATEMENT.

Then came an extraordinary statement: "It has been intimated to me that it was on account of something that Father Ryan or the Archbishop of Toronto had done or had failed to do that Archbishop Ireland is not here. I know this is utterly false. Neither on Father Ryan nor on the Roman Catholics of Toronto can the slightest stigma rest."

The audience laughed and applauded when it heard that apology. It was a big audience and a good natured one, and it was amused at the manner in which it had been taken in. It thoroughly understood that the responsibility for the trick rested upon the management of the Congress, but it did not understand the "certain ethical and emotional circumstances" which permit a clergyman to lend himself to a stratagem which was more worthy of a street fakir.

THE FEATURE WAS A SONG.

After the president's apology Dr. H. W. Bennett, of Akron, Ohio, spoke on "Christianity and Labor." He was followed by the Hon. A. B. Stickney, president of the Chicago & Western railway, who read a paper on "A New Field for Educational Work," and Mrs. Lydia von Finklestein Mountford, of New York, closed the session with an address on American Christianity. The best event of the evening was the solo rendered by Miss Ella Ronan, who sang "Thy Will be Done" in suberb style. The audience justly showed its appreciation by tremendous applause.

Father Ryan expressed his regret at the disappointment and congratulated the audience upon their self control. He was loudly cheered by the immense crowd, who thoroughly understood that no responsibility rested upon him.

BILL DOOLAN'S ROMANCE.

Robbed a Teacher on a Train and Fell in Love With Her.

Special to The Times.

PERRY, Okla., July 20.—When Bill Dalton, Bill Doolan and other members of their band of outlaws held up a train near Gainesville, Texas, two years ago, Doolan, Winchester in hand, went through the passenger coaches and robbed the passengers. In one of the cars was Miss Belle Bailey, who was on her way to Parcell to teach school. Doolan was attracted by her and inquired where she was going.

Soon after Miss Bailey had taken charge of the school, a stranger appeared at Parcell. He gave his name as Bellard and began paying attentions to Miss Bailey. Some of her friends warned her to keep away from the man, but she refused to send him away. He would go away occasionally for a week or two, but always returned to see the girl.

One day "Bellard" was at Miss Bailey's school when Dan Spears, a deputy United States marshal, rode up. He recognized "Bullard" as Doolan, and started to draw his revolver, but the outlaw drew his first and forced the officer to dismount and handcuffed him. Then he said that he had wanted to reform, but the deputies would not let him.

Miss Bailey, who witnessed the incident, cried out to her admirer:

"Who and what are you?"

"I'm Bill Doolan, the much read about outlaw," was the quick response.

Six months later Miss Bailey left her school and has not been heard of since. Since then Doolan has been making every effort to secure leniency from the authorities. It is believed that Miss Bailey is with him as his wife and is working for his reformation.

The Duke of Connaught Sure.

LONDON, July 20.—It is regarded as a certainty that the Duke of Connaught will be the new commander in chief in succession to the Duke of Cambridge.

IT IS TALKED ABOUT.

The Baby Prince said to be Deaf and Dumb—Sensational Rumor in London.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 20.—A report has been circulated that has caused the greatest kind of sensation in society. It is to the effect that the Duke and Duchess of York's baby, Prince Edward, is deaf and dumb.

It is impossible to ascertain what amount of truth there is in the report. The baby is a little over a year old and is stout and well formed. His photographs do not exhibit a trace of mental defect, but the report of this calamity is bruited widely as a fact.

PRIVATELY DISCUSSED.

Montreal Physicians Beginning Largely to Prescribe a New Remedy.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 15—There is still a good deal of talk here among all classes over the recent despatches which appeared in so many Canadian papers, relative to the cure of Mr. G. H. Kent, of Ottawa, from Bright's disease. Although the merits of the case have not been openly discussed at any of the meetings of the medical society, there has been a good deal of private conference, and the impression which the report of the recovery has made is evidenced in the fact that a good many physicians have prescribed Dodd's Kidney Pills in their private practice. No higher testimony than this could be given to any remedy, the reluctance of medical men to admit any good in proprietary medicines being well known.

£10,000 TO £1.

The Immense Odds Given on a Horse Race by Prince Francis of Teck.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 20.—Prince Francis of Teck, whose reckless plunging on the turf, has long been notorious, has finally landed into a scrape. Although he and his family are poor, he recently bet £10,000 to £1 with a well known bookmaker on a horse which was generally regarded as an absolute certainty. The horse lost and the prince was unable to pay. A great scandal followed in clubdom, and finally the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and Prince Adolphus of Teck, who married the daughter of the Duke of Westminster, paid the £10,000 and Prince Francis will be sent to India.

GOOD SWEET BREAD

is most important when health is concerned. Why is Bates; bread the best? Because it is made from home brewed yeast, and No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat. It will keep moist and sweet longer than any other bread. Walter Bates, manufacturer and proprietor, 654 Stewart street.

Public Meeting Tonight.

Mayor Kendry has issued a general invitation to citizens to attend a public gathering in the council chambers tonight when a presentation of an address will be made to Mr. Charles McGill, the new general manager of the Ontario bank. No doubt there will be a large attendance at this pleasant function, as Mr. McGill is deservedly popular and universally respected by the citizens of Peterborough.

Lost All By Fire.

Mr. Wm. Germyn, of Dunsford, met with a serious loss on Monday evening, in the destruction of his residence by fire. It appears that the children were upstairs and played with matches. It was about six o'clock when flames were noticed issuing from the roof. It was quite impossible to get upstairs then, and only a very few things were got out down stairs. All their clothing but what they stood in was destroyed. The store was not burned.

Walked From Toronto.

A man who gave the name of James O'Donnell, residing on King street east, Toronto, said he had walked from there, intending to work on the Trent canal, which is being constructed in this vicinity, says a Victoria road despatch. From what he says it is supposed that he drank heavily on the way out, and when found here was in a dangerous state of exhaustion, The villagers have endeavored to revive the stranger. Medical aid has been provided, but he is gradually sinking. He is a man about 55 years of age, and says he has relatives. Rev. J. W. Shier would like to hear from his friends.

Lives Saved.

On Monday, while an American, a Mr. Rochell, of Rochester, N. Y., and his wife were fishing in Rice Lake, their boat was capsized and they were thrown into the water. It appears that the gentleman's attention had been attracted for a moment to something on the shore and his wife is supposed to have taken a fainting spell and toppled over into the water. This caused the boat to capsize. The two struggled in the water for an hour, clinging to the boat for life. The fish lines and hooks had caught in the lady's clothing and kept her from sinking. Two fishermen, Mr. John Hogg and his son happened to be going along in their boat and saw the drowning party and promptly rescued them from a watery grave. Mr. Rochelle presented each of the fishermen with $10 for their gallant rescue.

CUT THE TROLLEY WIRE.

TROUBLE BETWEEN THE STREET RAILWAY AND THE CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC CO.

President Bradburn Resents the High-handed Tactics of the Latter and Prevents Them From Using His Line By Cutting the Feed Wire.

On Saturday morning on Charlotte street, President T. E. Bradburn, of the street railway company, directed a lineman to cut the feed trolley wire. West of where the cut was made there stood on the street railway track a new car belonging to the Canadian General Electric Company and east of the cut was one of the street railway company's cars. Had the feed wire not been cut, the large car of the electric company would have shunted the smaller car of the railway company all over the line, as General Manager Stephens, of the electric company, said he would do, but President Bradburn shut off the current above the spot where the new big car stood, and blocked the track up to the live wire with one of his cars. The attempt of the electric company to use the street railway company's tracks was thereby frustrated, and after an hour's time the new car was slowly moved out of the way. This little scene is likely the beginning of a legal war between the two companies,

There is an agreement between the Street Railway and the Canadian General Electric Company which provides that the latter can try any new cars manufactured by them, over the tracks of the former, providing that these trials do not interfere with the traffic of the street railway. On Saturday morning the Electric Company called President Bradburn up by telephone and stated that they wanted to try a car. President Bradburn replied that it was a busy day with the railway, that the trial would interfere with regular traffic and refused to allow the trial.

A few minutes afterwards President Bradburn was called up again. This time Manager Stephens was at the 'phone, and he told Mr. Bradburn in plain words that the Electric Company had an agreem[illegible]ent with the street railway compan[illegible] new cars on its tracks and he [illegible] to try make a trial that morni[illegible] proposed to the permission of th[illegible]g with or without This put Mr [illegible] the street railway. he imme[illegible] Bradburn on his mettle and with[illegible]iately consulted his solicitor [illegible] the result that he repaired to Charlotte street with a lineman and cut the wire. The Electric Company's car was forced back by the falling wire and part of the top pole apparatus was broken, but no serious damage was done the car, as it was loaded on a flat car for shipment on Saturday afternoon.

President Bradburn was seen by THE TIMES last night and when asked the cause of the trouble made the following statement:—

"The agreement specifies that the company shall use our tracks but must not interfere with traffic. Several Saturdays ago the Electric Works desired to try a car, and although the understanding was that they should not come on George street, they waited until our car had made the turn and then sent their car forward and down the line and finally ran it up George street. Near the central switch their car broke down and blocked our tracks for some time. Passengers in our cars had to be transferred around this car, causing them considerable annoyance. They had to crowbar their car back to the works which caused us further annoyance.

"On Friday they put out another car for trial and it grounded so badly that it blew out our limit switch at the power station so often that we found it necessary to keep one man standing by to push it in. In the hour that this car was out it caused more injury to our generator than would occurr in 6 month's use. This was likely to happen again and it being Saturday, when traffic is heavier, I didn't want to take the chances of having our cars blocked and causing the public any inconvenience, so refused to allow the trial.

"I consider that Mr. Stephens acted in a very high-handed manner," continued Mr. Bradburn. "He was going to put that car out at at any cost, and I was determined that the trial should not be made. I felt that I was acting in the interest of public convenience, and I know the terms of the agreement quite as thoroughly as the manager of the Electric Works."

THE TIMES telephoned Manager Stephens last night and asked him for a statement, but he said he had nothing to say. He characterized the incident as a "trivial matter."

While the Electric Company's car was at the crossing Chief Roszel happened along and ordered the obstruction to be removed. He gave Mr. Stephens five minutes in which to get the car out of the way. When the five minutes were up the car was still there, and for nearly an hour afterwards. The manager will be summoned to appear before the police magistrate on a charge of obstructing the street.

GRAND ORANGE LODGE

Will Meet at Halifax the End of this Month—A Hot Time,

The Grand Orange Lodge will meet at Halifax at the end of this month. The meeting will be of unusual interest. The promise made by the Dominion Government to apply coercive legislation voluntarily re-establishing Separate schools, will no doubt lead to a heated discussion. It is possible, too, that the contest for the office of Grand Sovereign between N. Clarke Wallace and E. F. Clarke, begun at Lindsay last year, will be renewed at the coming meeting.

HE MADE THREATS,

And His Family Thought It Safer to Have Him Confined.

The police were called upon yesterday to take a hand in a very unfortunate case.

The head of a family on King street was injured sometime ago in the head, and since then has acted very queerly, exhibiting every sign of mental derangement. For several years at times he has had these peculiar turns, but only recently did his condition become dangerous. During the past few months, however, he has had periods of violent insanity, and in this state he made threats against his family that caused them to fear him. These periods have been very frequent the past few weeks, and for their own safety his family decided to have him taken in charge by the police. Accordingly an information was laid, and last night officers Stewart and Adams drove to King street in a cab, and took the unfortunate man into custody.

The man was injured in the head about 5 years ago and since then has been very much changed in conduct and manner. Before the accident he was very industrious and a kind husband and father. Recently his family have at times feared for their lives. He was quite rational when taken in custody last night and quite agreed with the officers and his family that it was best for him to be locked up.

It is thought by the medical gentlemen who have attended him that a portion of the skull is pressing against the brain and an operation will be performed upon him.

Haying is about over and will not amount to more than half the average crop. The housing of fall grain has been going on all week, and the reports give a fairly good crop with short straw. The yield however, is very irregular, depending upon the soil and general surroundings. Some farms have had splendid fields of grain and others adjoining, very poor crops.

The mass chorus for the proposed choir meet will rehearse on next Tuesday in the Y.M.C.A. Hall at half past eight. This will be a very important meeting and every member is required to be present. Also any wishing to join can do so then. The whole program will be gone through. Mr. Winter will be here and conduct the rehearsal.

It may not be generally known that new milk cans when exposed to the rays of the sun will rapidly cause a fire. A farmer near Peterborough recently discovered that the platform about a well on his grounds was on fire. It was noticed and extinguished, but to the surprise of the family it was found next day to be burning in the same place. For some time they were at a loss to discover the reason, but it was afterwards found that the action of the sun's rays on the new milk can which had been left standing on the platform was the cause.

HINTS FOR HOUSEKEEPERS.

Changes in the Fruit and Vegetable Market.

New potatoes are coming in plentifully. They dropped to 75 cents a bushel Saturday. This had the effect of making old stock easier. In a few days last year's crop will be unsaleable at any price.

Raspberries are still worth 8 to 10 cents. Black currants will not likely fall below their present price, $1.50 to $1.60 a basket.

Gooseberries are selling at 75 cents to $1 a basket.

Melons are quoted at from 15 to 20 cents each.

Apples run all the way from 30 to 50 cents a peck. They will be lower in a few days.

PTE. HAYHURST OF HAMILTON WINS THE QUEEN'S PRIZE.

A Member of the 13th Battalion of Hamilton Wins the Blue Riband, the Gold Badge and two Hundred and Fifty Pounds in Cash.

Special to the Times.

BISLEY CAMP, July 20.—Pte. Hayhurst of the 13th Battalion and Boyd of the 3rd Lanarkshires tied at 279 each for first place in the Queen's Prize competition.

Three shots each at the 900 yards were to decide the tie. Boyd put in 3 and made 9. Hayhurst's first was an outer, and the hearts of his comrades beat anxiously. His next was a good inner and his third another, making him 10. The outburst of cheering was checked for a moment when it was learned that Boyd protested the last shot, claiming it was a miss. The inner, however, was confirmed, and with a wild shout the Canadians seized upon the winner to bear him to camp, the hero of Bisley.

Pte. Hayhurst thus captures the gold medal, the gold badge and £250.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

HOLMES' MANY VICTIMS.

EIGHT MURDERS NOW ASCRIBED TO THIS MONSTER.

Chicago Police After Him for a Capital Crime—His Wife Will Prove Many of His Statements to be False.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 22.—The Pietzel inquest will be resumed on Wednesday evening, and it is expected before that time Holmes' wife No. 3, generally known as "Mrs. Howard," will appear on the scene here with Lawyer Moon, whom the accused has retained for his defence. Assistant District Attorney Barlow, of Philadelphia, is also expected. "Mrs. Howard" was Holmes' companion when he, Mrs. Pietzel and the two murdered children were all here last October.

TWO MORE MISSING

AND HOLMES IS CREDITED WITH THEIR MURDER—HIS GAS SWINDLE.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 22.—Mrs. Holmes No. 3, or "Mrs. Howard" as she is better known, is now living in Wilmette, Ill. On Saturday she appeared in the city at the house where the police were searching for evidence of the murder of the Williams girls and made inquiries as to whether or not Holmes had done anything with the property before his last arrest. She found that he had. She declared herself penniless and made a fruitless effort to dispose of a diamond ring which Holmes had once given to her.

The story of the discovery of the bones of the Williams girls is now somewhat discredited. What were supposed to have been charred ribs of a human being were subjected to a chemical test by Dr. C. P. Stringfield, who pronounced them fire clay. It is now generally believed that they formed a part of the stove in which they were found. The jeweler, who at first identified some jewelry found in the stove as having once belonged to Minnie Williams has practically retracted. Patrick Quinlan, the janitor who made the discovery, left for Elgin last Monday to look for work, but he is being brought back by the police to testify in the matter. The detectives here are following up the investigation steadily.

EXPLOSION OF GAS.

During the search in the 63rd street house a bottle of carbolic acid was found in a closet, and three men who were digging in the cellar were seriously damaged by an explosion of gas found in a small well which they encountered. One of the investigators lit a match and a terrific explosion ensued which created tremendous excitement in the vicinity and caused bad injuries to three of the diggers. It is now supposed that this apparatus is a relic of the Holmes Gas Co. swindle. Holmes fitted up a tank in the cellar and secretly connected it with the gas main on the street. He filled the tank with water and, having gathered in intending shareholders in the new scheme, added some chemicals and then turned on the gas. It bubbled through the water and burned on top. Holmes is said to have netted $15,000 by this plan.

TWO PEOPLE MISSING.

The revelation of Holmes' many crimes has set people wondering what has become of a Mrs. Conner and her daughter, both of whom were last seen in the company of Holmes in this city two years ago. I. L. Conner came with his wife and daughter from Davenport, Ia., in 1889. He met Holmes and became mixed up in his jewelry swindles. Conner afterwards became convinced of his wife's unfaithfulness to him and left her, and she and Holmes became partners in crime. Suddenly she and the daughter both disappeared, and from that hour no trace of her has ever been found. Recent developments have favored the theory that they were murdered by Holmes to avoid the risk of his betrayal.

CHICAGO WANTS HOLMES.

DETECTIVES OF THE WINDY CITY BELIEVE THAT THEY CAN CONVICT HIM THERE.

CHICAGO, July 22.—It is the intention of the Chicago police to make every effort to have H. H. Holmes, the insurance swindler, brought here to answer the charge of having murdered the Williams sisters. The local officers are convinced that the murder of the Williams girls was the first committed by Holmes, and they argue that in consequence he should be required to stand trial for it first. They also insist that they will be able to produce evidence that he did murder the sisters. The police are by no means convinced by the analysis made by the doctors Saturday that the substance found in the big stove in Holmes office was fire clay and not human bones. They say that fire clay would not become brittle in any kind of heat. Whereas a portion of that found in the stove crumbled in the hands of Detective Fitzpatrick.

HAS GEYER THE PROOF?

It has developed that the substance upon which the first report of the finding of the bones of Minnie Williams was hinged was in the hands of Detective Geyer, of Philadelphia. It was said that he visited Chicago a week ago, and when he left carried with him positive proof that a body had been burned in the big stove in Holmes' office. It was also learned yesterday that Detective Geyer would come to Chicago after he completes his search for the remains of Howard Pietzel in Detroit, and will co-operate with the Chicago officers in whatever may be done here afterwards.

In police circles it was said this morning that the only hope of convicting Holmes was in Chicago. It was said that the Philadelphia authorities could convict him of nothing more serious than insurance swindling, and that the Canadian authorities would not go to the expense of extraditing and trying him. In the event that Detective Geyer fails to locate the body of Howard Pietzel in Detroit, everything will depend on the work of the Chicago police.

COST THIS MAN $1,400 AND HIS WIFE.

No work was done in the basement of the Englewood house Sunday, but 25 men will be put to work in the morning digging it up. The work that has thus far been done in this direction has been without system and it is just as likely as not that evidences of a crime may have been more deeply buried, as that one might have disclosed.

The tank in which the explosion took place Saturday has been filled with water and it will require the services of a fire engine to pump it out before the investigation can proceed. Clarence A. Phillips, now in the grocery business, says he helped to build the tank in the Holmes house which exploded Saturday. It was first used, he said, in glass bending experiments and later in experiments in making illuminating gas. Phillips' acquaintance with Holmes cost him $1,400 and his wife.

GEYER IN DETROIT.

DETROIT, Mich., July 22.—Detective Geyer, of Philadelphia, is in the city and will make further efforts to find the body of Howard Pietzel. Geyer has all along held that the boy was murdered in Detroit and has several clues but what they are he is not yet ready to tell.

MRS. HOLMES' STORY.

SHE GOES BACK ON HER HUSBAND AND WILL TELL ALL SHE KNOWS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 22.—Mrs. Holmes, the wife of the accused murderer and insurance swindler, left here for Philadelphia yesterday at the instance of the prosecuting attorney of that city. Mrs. Holmes herself would not talk, but her most intimate friend, to whom she confided her purpose, did talk last night. This person says Mrs. Holmes has forsaken her husband. This person was told by Mrs. Holmes that the assertion of Holmes that he was in Toronto, but was absent with his wife when the Pietzel children disappeared, is not true; that wherever Holmes was at that time he was not with Mrs. Holmes. Moreover, Mrs. Holmes says she was with Holmes in Chicago at the time Mrs. Williams disappeared. This intimate friend of Mrs. Holmes believes she will tell all she knows about her husband and be a strong witness in prosecuting him.

END OF THE SESSION.

MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT DRAW PAY AND GO HOME.

The Governor-General's Speech From the Throne—The Hudson Bay Railway Bill Passed by the Senate.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 22.—The Senate this morning passed the Hudson Bay railway bill after striking out a clause giving the company an extension of time for the completion of the line. A motion proposed by Senator Scott to make the paying of the subsidy conditional on the operation of the road was defeated by a vote of 11 to 6. As the bill stands it simply re-arranges the subsidy already voted, making one-half payable on the completion of the first half of the road and the other half on the completion of the remainder of the line.

This afternoon the ceremony of prorogation, which was postponed on Saturday owing to the delay in the Upper Chamber, was held. Following is the speech from the throne:

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate, Gentlemen of the House of Commons.

In bringing this session of Parliament to a conclusion I have to congratulate you on the industry and zeal which have marked your labors. The necessary legislation having been passed the treaty of commerce with France, from which favorable commercial results may be expected, will, as soon as ratified, be put into force by Parliament. The negotiations with Newfoundland, to which reference was made at the opening of the session, I regret to say, have not resulted in any agreement for the present. The reply of the Provincial Legislature of Manitoba to the remedial order issued by my Government on the 31st March last was considered to be of such a character as to justify postponement of further action until next session. I am pleased to observe the grant of Parliament in aid of the fund contributed by the Canadian people for the benefit of the family of the late Hon. Sir John Thompson. The amendments which have been made to the law relating to the civil service will, it is believed, result in an increased efficiency and economy. The legislation of the session will, I trust, lead to an improved administration of criminal law to the advancement of commerce and the extension of railway and telegraphic communication.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons—I thank you for the liberal provision which you have made for the service for the current year.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate, gentlemen of the House of Commons—In relieving you from your duties, I venture to express the hope that you will find among the people you represent a continuance of that prosperity which marked the opening year.

HIS LORDSHIP'S SENSITIVENESS.

Lotta Addis' Husband Could not Stand the Sting of a Wasp.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Lord Sholto Douglas, son of the Marquis of Queensbury who recently married Lottie Addis, a music hall singer, brought suit today against the "Wasp" for $5,000 damages. Lord Douglas alleges libel in a recent article attacking his character.

FOOLED THE PETREL.

Erie Fishermen with the Aid of the Fog Escape Detection.

Special to the Times.

ERIE, July 22.—Erie fishermen went out yesterday and under cover of the fog lifted their nets without being discovered by the Canadian cruiser Petrel. The fishermen who had their nets confiscated Friday will send lawyers and representatives to Washington shortly to protest against the seizure.

SHORTIS' INSANITY.

Evidence in That Direction Obtained in His Case.

Special too the Times.

MONTREAL, July 22.—A special from Ireland says that Judge [illegible] is making good progress with the examination of witnesses in the Shortis case. The commission appointed by Judge Belanger to take evidence here with reference to the sanity or insanity of the Valleyfield murderer has examined a large number of Waterford's leading citizens. Those that have been heard all agree that C. T. V. Shortis is insane. They go farther, and say that he was known here as a regular madman. Shortis, it has been adduced, had many relatives who died insane in the Clonmel Asylum. The plea of insanity, the lawyers for the defence claim, is fully proved. More witnesses were to be heard, and their evidence is expected to be similar to that already given.

A SHIP GOES DOWN.

LOSS OF THE MARIA P., WITH 148 LIVES.

A Terrible Collision Occured in the Gulf of Spezzia Between the Steamers Ortigia and Maria P.—The Horror of the Accident Was Heightened by the Darkness.

Special to The Times.

LA SPEZZIA, Italy, July 22.—A terrible accident, resulting in the loss of 148 lives, occurred near the mouth of the Gulf of Spezzia today. At 1.30 o'clock this morning the steamers Ortigia and Maria P. ran into each other and the latter vessel was so badly damaged that she sank in a very short time. The Maria P. had on board in addition to her crew 178 passengers bound from Naples for the River Platte, by far the larger part of whom were emigrants. The night was pitch dark when the collision occurred and the scene on board the sinking steamer almost defies description. Most of the passengers were asleep in their bunks at the time and were awakened by the crashing of the steamer's plates, deck beams and planks. From the report of the disaster received here it is impossible to determine whether any attempt was made by the Maria P. to clear away and launch her small boats, but judging from the accounts given by her excited survivors it is surmised that the steamer went down too quickly to allow this being done, though one boat got away. The blackness of the night added to the terror of those on board, and it is understood that some of the passengers, crazed with fear, jumped overboard. The Ortigia on her previous voyage collided in the same spot with a French steamer, and this fact adds strength to the morning's disaster. Admiral Morin, Minister of Marine, has ordered and inquiry to be made into the affair to place the responsibility. The Maria P. was a schooner-rigged iron screw steamer of 722 gross and [illegible] net tons. She was built in Sunderland in 1886 and was 175 feet long, 27 feet 1 inch beam and 19 feet 8 inches depth of hold. She had five compartments. Her engines were of the compound type. She was owned by Marini Brichetto and her hailing port was Genoa.

The collision occurred off Isola del Tino. The Ortigia left Genoa at 9 o'clock last night. The Maria P. was bound for Genoa, where the emigrants on board of her were to be trans-shipped to the steamer Sud America, which was to convey them to the River Plate. It was learned this afternoon that the lookout man on the Ortigia saw nothing of the other steamer until it was too late to avert a collision. The bow of the Ortigia shows a rent four yards long just above the water line. Captain Ferrara was the master of the Maria P. Later information is to the effect that all her passengers were immigrants.

FIGHTING IN CUBA.

Insurgents Furiously Attack Spanish Troops Commanded by Gen. Cumpos.

Special to the Times.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 22.—The rebel leader, Alfonso Goulet, was killed and the insurgent chief, Miguel Gongore, was mortally wounded in the battle which was fought a few days ago, near Veguita, a town situated between Manzanilla and Bayamo. The Cuban leader, Rabi, was also killed in the battle fought between Manzanillo and Bayamo.

HAVANA, July 22.—Further details have been made public of the recent battle between insurgents and Government troops between Manzanillo and Bayamo. Captain General Martinez Campos left Manzanillo for Bayamo with 1,000 troops. On July 13th this force was ambushed by 7,000 insurgents near Valensuela. The Spanish forces were under the actual command of Brig. General Santocildes, who was the military commander of the Manzanillo district. The Spanish troops fought bravely, again and again repelling the fierce charges of the rebels. It was thought that the principal object of the attack was to capture General Campos. The troops formed a hollow square about him, thoroughly determined that he would not be taken unless it was over their dead bodies. The battle lasted seven hours. During one of the charges Gen. Santocildes was killed. Gen. Campos then took command of the troops and finally succeeded in defeating the rebels. The insurgents left 500 dead and wounded on the field. Among the dead were the leaders Rabi and Moncada. The Government loss was 72 killed, including two officers and a number wounded.

MADRID, July 22.—A report received from Havana states that Gen. Navarro, with 2,000 men, has arrived at Bayamo, and relieved Captain-General Campos, who was in a critical position in that city. Col. Aldane, with a battalion, is expected to arrive at Bayamo very shortly. A decisive battle is imminent.

PARIS, July 22.—The Temps has a Madrid despatch saying that official advices confirm the report of a desperate fight between Cuban insurgents and the escort of Capt. General Martinez Campos between Manzanillo and Bayamo. The young Spanish soldiers displayed desperate valor. They formed a square around the Capt.-General, and repelled the fiery charges made by the rebel calvary. Gen. Santocildes was killed while heading a charge to cover the column's retreat. Gen. Campos then directed the retreat with brilliant intrepidity. He brought in all the wounded and checked the furious attacks of the insurgents, who maintained their pursuit to Bayamo. Upon arriving at Bayamo, Gen. Campos telegraphed to Generals Valdes and Navaro, to hasten from Santiago de Cuba and Holguin with their respective forces of 1,300 and 1,500 men. Letters from Gen. Campos report that the rebellion is gaining ground in the central provinces, owing to the rains paralysing the movements of the Spanish troops. During June there were 2,900 cases of yellow fever among the troops. Of those attacked 163 died.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquires with regard to a Canadian Discovery.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Postmortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys, and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

MENTION THIS PAPER.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 23 1895.

A new law reducing the length of residence necessary in order to get a divorce to seven months has just gone into force in Yankton, South Dakota. It is related that many attorneys of that city have recently been visited by a hustling young man from the East, who propose to furnish them with divorce clients for a liberal percentage. He intends to make a close canvass in the East, extolling the attractions and conveniences of Yankton and its divorce accommodations, and drumming for clients.

Several members opposed the resolution declaring against any attempt to coerce Manitoba, either now or in January next, on the plea that they desire to give the Dominion Government time to negotiate with the Provincial Government. Do these members know what "negotiation" means in this case? It means an attempt to force the Prairie Province into adopting a distasteful policy by means of the threat that, if the Province does not act, the Federal power will. Is not that coercion? Is it not quite as grave a wrong to frighten a community into putting bonds on itself as to put the bonds on by the aid of an outside power?

LEAVE THEM ALONE.

Newspapers can afford to leave that husband and wife who are accused of murder in Peterboro' County to the judge and jury.

The fact that the prisoners have five young children is not a circumstance to be considered in connection with their case. It is enough that they are prisoners, whose guilt is yet to be proved. Public journals have no right to usurp the functions of judge and jury, especially if the Grays are thrown upon the resources of their poverty for a defence against B. B. Oslers, Q. C. and the medical experts which the wealth of the Crown can secure.

THE NORTH ZONE RAILWAY.

In return for the Dominion subsidy the Hudson Bay Railway agrees to transport free for the Government all men, supplies and mails.

This might be something of a compensation to the public treasury were there Government supplies, men or mail to be carried, but as a usual thing Arctic explorers do not venture into Hudson Bay to get their mail, and the Polar bears, the walruses and the Esquimaux do not carry on an extensive correspondence with this part of the country; so that it is not easy to see just what advantage there can be in spending several million dollars to provide for the carriage of mail matter that does not exist.

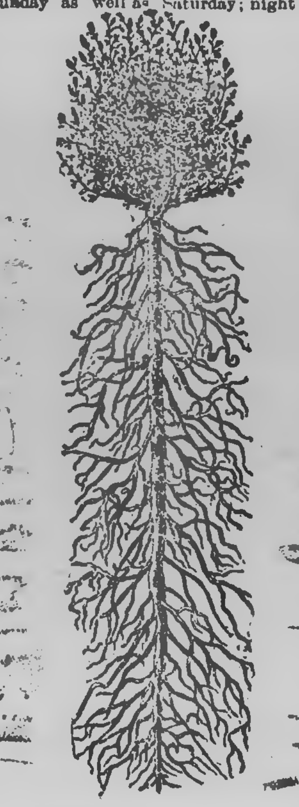
Nor is there a sufficient quantity of Government supplies to be transported to require more than one train an hour. If the Government were desirous of creating a hot weather capital in the ice-bound regions and erecting a summer house for Parliament in order that extra sessions could be held, the free transportation of members and sessional employes would be some compensation for the heavy bonus the country is asked to give; but otherwise it is difficult to see why people in this part of Canada should be asked to yield up their hard-earned dollars to build a railway for the benefit of a few promoters, and possibly the next crank who is seized with a desire to capture the North Pole.

That lightning does sometimes strike twice in the same place is proven in the case of a windmill in Bates county, Mo., which was last week struck by a bolt in exactly the spot where it was similarly struck three years ago.

THE SILENT SUBSOILER.

The Roots of the Alfalfa Plant Strike as Much as Twenty Feet Deep.

There are some silent subsoilers that do their work with ease, and, in their way, as effectually as any team or plow ever hitched, although in some lands use of a subsoil plow is essential to the best beginning of such work. The clover plant is righteously famed as one of these, and alfalfa is its superior. Its roots work Sunday as well as Saturday; night and day; they strike five, ten, fifteen or twenty feet deep, making innumerable perforations, while storing up nitrogen, and when these roots decay they leave not only a generous supply of fertility for any desired crop, but millions of openings into which the airs and rains of heaven find their way, and help to constitute an unfailing reservoir of wealth, upon which the husbandman can draw with little fear of protest or over drafts.



AN ALFALFA PLANT AND ITS ROOTS.

"Its long, heavy roots disturb the subsoil, push and crowd the earth this way and that, thus constituting a gigantic subsoiler. These roots become an immense magazine of fertility. As soon as cut, they begin to decay and liberate the vast reservoir of fertilizing matter below the plow, to be drawn upon by other crops for years to come."

Firming the Soil.

The great mistake that people often make in preparing the soil for setting plants is to leave it too loose. This is especially the case with boxes and flats, on the greenhouse bench, and in frames. Plants set in such loose soil usually wilt badly when first set, and they never grow so well as when set in compacted soil into which the plant can only be crowded with some effort. Another mistake, which becomes apparent at this time, is growing the seedlings in excessively rich soil. Thus grown they have only little root, and consequently they will wilt more and receive a greater check when transplanted than when their roots are larger, owing to the less fertile soil. Soil made from decayed sods is good for these purposes, as it contains plant fibre enough to bind the soil well to the roots. A proportionately large admixture of clay also serves to make the soil adhere well to the roots. I like a rather stiff and only moderately rich soil for the cold frames in which to harden off tomato and similar plants. When ready for going out in the open ground, the plants can then be taken up with a spade, and all the soil as cut out in square blocks will firmly stick to the roots and be set out with the plants, so that the latter are but little affected by the transfer. Of course, even then we must see to it that the soil is firmly pressed around the blocks containing the plants. It can be done by tramping down with the feet.

Mother (suppressing her anger)—Oh! you must excuse him. He thinks you are his grandmother, and he is very fond of her.—Puck.

A CHOCORUA EPISODE.

By John Albee.

AUTHOR OF "PROSE IDYLS," "POEMS," ETC.

(Copyright 1895.)

New Hampshire has of late gained an unenviable notoriety for its numerous abandoned farms. Like many supposed misfortunes it is turning out a blessing; three of these are already apparent. It has offered surprising bargains to city dwellers in search of summer homes in the most picturesque region of New England; then it has benefited the families who remained on their farms in giving them more opportunities to dispose of their produce and labor with less competition, and lastly, forests are growing up over these abandoned lands to make good the devastations of the lumber companies.

There is nothing that gives one such a feeling of sadness, mingled with romantic interest, as to come upon the sight of one of these abandoned homes. Sometimes the buildings remain, but in ruins; more often they have been removed or torn down, and there is the uncovered cellar, trees growing in it; the remains of the chimney stack, the well, now covered or filled up with stones. But beyond all other signs of dissolution and abandonment, affecting alike to sentiment and memory, are the forsaken flowers once cultivated in the yards and still living on, in spite of neglect and encroaching grass or wild shrubbery. They bloom perennially, and some kinds even increase.

These abandoned farms are usually widely separated; but along the old "North Division road" in Chocorua, directly under the wonderful peak of Mt. Chocorua, there are fourteen farms, not one of which is now occupied. A few buildings are left and the ancient schoolhouse, in which thirty children used to cipher out of Daboll's arithmetic and Webster's speller. Each of these old farms has its rustic history, pathetic, uneventful or amusing. From them sprang a small, local poet, one college valedictorian, and several pulic men with short histories. The would-be statesman is not allowed to become great in New Hampshire. When that is imminent he moves to Boston or Ohio.

The present historian has busied himself for several past summers in recovering some of the incidents connected with these fourteen abandoned farms. Thus far he has succeeded in learning several worthy of relation; one of these he heard with many details here omitted, from a very aged man, himself having acted a certain part in it.

In the little red schoolhouse just spoken of, Lucy Winn, the daughter of a farmer in an adjoining town, taught school for several seasons. She was only eighteen when she began to teach, a comely, country maiden, rather better educated than was common, but excessively shy and modest.

The blush never left her cheeks during the hours of school; and when her day of fatiguing and often harassing labor was over it was succeeded by an extreme pallor. Her pupils were of all ages, from those learning their letters to young men and women of her own age, and two or three men older, for it used to be the custom in country districts for boys and girls to continue in school until almost or quite men and women, especially in the winter term, when there was little else to do.

Lucy loved her small A, B, C pupils, and her older ones were fond of her, and one of them, Sylvanus Waldron, was too fond. His attentions were open and bold, and they often annoyed her to desperation, as she was conscious of the increased flush in her face whenever he asked any question or recited a lesson, and she was aware that the whole school observed it. Besides she had a lover, with whom she was well pleased, although the decisive word had not yet been spoken. He was called Ensign Goff. He was six feet two in his stockings, a stalwart, frank, noble-hearted young man, who carried the flag in the militia company to which he belonged, where he got his title of Ensign, by which he was always called, and of which he was rather proud. It was his habit to spend every Sunday evening with Lucy, and he seldom saw her at any other time. Usually she had recovered her strength and her color by the rest of a Saturday afternoon and the Sabbath. But toward the end of the term this became difficult and infrequent. Her relations with Sylvanus Waldron were more and more distressing to her; he persisted in his attentions in and out of school, walked home with her whenever the chance offered and often joined her on her way to the schoolhouse in the morning. She was afraid to have an open quarrel with him or to demand his dismissal from school, for the trouble it would bring upon herself and the gossip of the neighborhood. She could bring no direct charge against him save a personal one. It was true that he seldom had his lessons and took a cowardly advantage of his belief that she would not dare to reprove or punish him. Lucy comforted herself in the thought that she had only a little while longer to endure her situation and that she would never again teach that school.

The Ensign noticed the change in Lucy toward the end of the term.

"What has become of your color?" he inquired one evening. "Are you ill? Does anything worry you?"

"I can't bear," he said in a soft tone, "to see you so pale."

This brought back a little pink to her face, but she did not answer.

"I think," said the Ensign, after one of those silences in which congenial souls seem to come nearer than through speech, "I think you have taught public schools long enough—long enough, and—well, how would you like a small private one, with just a single pupil, a dull boy, but willing to learn and, faith, he thinks he is already in love with his teacher? Did you know it, Lucy?"

Lucy hung her head and turned her face, now red as a rose, away from the Ensign.

"I don't know," at length she murmured; "I have one such already."

"What!" exclaimed the Ensign, and straightening himself up as if about to strike somebody.

"What is it you say? I thought the way was clear between us. Well, good bye, Lucy. I dare say you have found a better man; strange, though, I didn't know of it before. Good luck to him and you. But I have loved you well and truly, Lucy, and it has done me a world of good. It has made a man of me, and taller by an inch, so my friends say. Now I shall feel small enough. Good bye."

He stepped quickly toward the door; but Lucy interrupted him, took his hands and hid her face on his shoulder.

FATAL END OF A JOKE.

F. Rodgers, of Niagara Falls, Pitchforked by A Frightened Companion,

Special to the Times.

NIAGARA, Ont., July 20.—Last evening Frank Rodgers lost his life while playing a practical joke on an Italian employed by Mr. Havens as a farm hand. The two young men were cocking hay when Rodgers left the field and going to the house returned with a sheet intending to frighten the Italian who has a mortal fear of ghosts. Enveloping himself in the sheet he hid behind a cock of hay and as the Italian came along suddenly sprang at him. The Italian nearly being frightened to death quickly thrust his pitchfork into Rodgers' eyes inflicting fatal injuries from which he died almost immediately. Nothing has been done with the Italian.

BOWELL WILL TOUR.

The Premier Intends to Go West During the Next Six Months.

Special to the times.

OTTAWA, July 20.—Sir Mackenzie Bowell will make a tour of the West during recess, going to the Coast.

In the House this morning Sir Charles Tupper, replying to "Joe" Martin, said that neither he nor Sir John Thompson had received a cent for their services in connection with the Behring Sea arbitration.

The House went into committee on the Hudson's Bay railway resolution. It was strongly opposed by White, of Cardwell. Opposition was also offered by Martin, who declared that the proposed route of the Hudson's Bay railway was a low, swampy country that would never be fit for settlement and required no railways.

CHASED THE YANKS.

Canadian Officials Make a Raid on Fish Pirates in Crane Lake.

Special to the Times.

DULUTH, Minn., July 20.—A report comes from Crane Lake of the encounter between American citizens employed by the Arion Fish Company with headquarters at that place, and Canadian officials. The trouble arose over the Canadians taking up and confiscating the nets set by the fish company in Namekon Lake, on the ground that they were placed in Canadian waters. Eight men belonging to the Arion Company started out in search of their nets, when suddenly three boats filled with Canadian officials darted out from behind an island and pursued them. The little steamer May Carter, on her way to Crane Lake, came along and Captain Hayes put on all steam to rescue the fishermen. In the excitement the Carter struck one of the Canadian boats, smashing it in pieces and spilling four of the officials into the water. Three of the fishermen also fell overboard, but no one was drowned. The Carter picked up all the fishermen except H. E. Finke, Emil Emie and William Sims, who were captured by the Canadian officials and taken to Fort Francis.

INQUIRING THE CAUSE.

Inquest in the Street Railway Fatality Continued—Conversations Repeated.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 20.—At the General Hospital last night Coronor Aikins continued the inquest into the trolley smash at Blantyre avenue. Mr. W. Lount appeared in the interest of the Toronto Street Railway Company, and Assistant Superintendent E. McKenzie, accompanied by Stenographer Lear, was also present. For the Crown there appeared Mr. Maw, of Dewart, Raney & Maw; for the parents of the deceased boys, Mr. John Gibson, of Robinson, O'Brien & Gibson; and on behalf of Motorman Graham, Mr. J. A. McIntosh, of Clute, McIntosh & McCrimmon. Mr. Henry O'Brien, Q. C., superintendent of the Sackville street Mission, was also present.

Robert J. McCannell, 106 Queen street east, is a teacher in the Sackville street Mission, and he testified that no one person had charge of the cars. Heard no instructions given at the Woodbine. The children were singing, and after passing the toll gate speed was slackened. To Mr. Lount, he said the children quieted down after passing Walter street.

Miss Mary Shaw, 350 Sackville street, another Mission school teacher, said that at one of the switches she heard a man on the west bound car say, "You will pass a car on the Norway siding." When the Lalla Rookh came in sight it was as far from them as the hospital door is from Gerrard street. At Walter street she heard Graham talking to the motorman on the siding, and noticed the words, "two or three minutes. At the Woodbine she heard Graham say to the motorman on the proceding car, "Tell the other cars I'll follow you up."

Joseph Scott of 32 Regent avenue, also of the picnic party testified that the conductor of the trailer said, referring to the motorman, "He is a most careless driver. He was told to wait on the Norway switch five minutes." Another motorman, named Fellows, who came up from the Park said, "If he had not run into you, I should, because I didn't know you were there." He heard no instructions given to the motorman, either at the Woodbine or the first switch.

Henry Cobly, residing at the Cobley cottage said the Scarboro cars generally ran carefully, but he had four or five times his year seen cars meet on the same line. When this has happened one of the cars has been an excursion car. Mr. Cobley's son corroborated him, and said Toronto and Scarboro' cars ran at about the same speed.

The inquest will be continued next Tuesday, when it is expected Motorman Graham will testify.

The Baby Prince said to be Deaf and Dumb—Sensational Rumor in London.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 20.—A report has been circulated that has caused the greatest kind of sensation in society. It is to the effect that the Duke and Duchess of York's baby, Prince Edward, is deaf and dumb.

It is impossible to ascertain what amount of truth there is in the report. The baby is a little over a year old and is stout and well formed. His photographs do not exhibit a trace of mental defect, but the report of this calamity is bruited widely as a fact.

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

CUPID AND PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

THE HOUSEHOLD PLANTS.

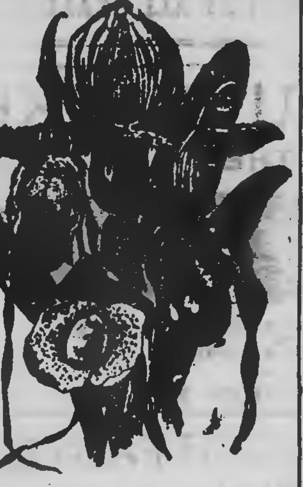
Four Varieties of the Orchid Which Any-one Can Raise Without Difficulty.

Nature is now at her best. The trees are covered with tender leaves, the grass is green in the meadows, the birds are singing their summer canticles and bees and butterflies are seeking honeyed sweets among the flowers. This is the month for flowers, and it is also a month when from the shelter of sunny green-houses we remove our treasures to the open air, confident that no cutting wind or chilly night will mar their beauty.

Of all household plants the tenderest, perhaps, are orchids. It is only recently that they have become in any degree popular, owing to their great cost, but for a decade past they have been grown by many florists and are now within reach of nearly all. Some very rare ones cost hundreds of dollars, but the price in general varies from one to fifteen dollars, the greater number costing three and five dollars apiece. This sounds extravagant, but it is not in reality, for a careful woman will gather the seed, and thus indefinitely increase her collection.

Orchids are air plants, parasites. They are found in all tropical countries, growing on the old wood of the forest trees, giving them a many-colored glory which alone they could never attain. Nothing is more beautiful than when walking through a tropical forest, with live-oaks, palms and myrtles growing thickly together, to come upon some grand old oak with a rubber tree growing in a cleft of the trunk, and the gnarled branches almost hidden by purple, red, yellow and white orchids; some standing out boldly, a single blossom on a wiry green stem, others following the line of a branch in rows of delicate mauve blooms with a darker purple centre, and nearby a veritable cascade of delicate white flowers, a dozen or more on a single drooping vine-like stem, and, framing all, like a delicate veil, the beautiful Spanish moss (white man's shroud, the Indians called it), stretching from branch to branch and from tree to tree, as far as the eye can reach.

Our illustration shows four varieties of an orchid which any one who can raise a geranium will find no difficulty in growing. The flower affords a curious field of observation. The odd pouch, or labellum, and the variously-colored petals, sometimes invisible, again drooping in long spirals, are arranged for the best accomplishment of a definite object. The foliage, rich green, or beautifully mottled, always presents a pleasing aspect, but the crowning glory of the cypripedium is its period of bloom. If left on the plant the flowers will last in perfect condition from two to three months, and even when cut and put in water they will remain perfect for at least a month. The common name for the cypripedium is Venus' Slipper, from Cypris, one of the names of Venus and pes, pedis, the Latin for a foot. This name, in English, is sometimes applied to the "lady's slipper" which furnishes a cauterant tincture, but this latter is a very different flower, and is more correctly named "the balsam." Our illustration was drawn from a group of four distinct varieties. The leaves were plain green and spotted green. The uppermost flower had a dorsal petal of bluish white heavily veined with green and dark red; the two horizontal petals were green with maroon spots, and were edged with a species of furze. The pouch, which is almost closed, is shaded from a deep brown at the lip to a pale green at the base of the cup. The flower on the right hand is of shaded green throughout, save for the interior of the cup, which is a delicate mauve spotted with maroon and purple and flecked with light yellow. On the left is a flower of a red variety. It is of a high art shade of old rose, streaked with green and a darker tint of the same color, the cup being yellow on the inside, throwing the dark spots into high relief.



FOUR CYPRIPEDIUMS.

The fourth flower in the group is almost white, tinted with a greyish green, except at the edges. The lateral petals almost enclose the pouch, which is pale yellow near its opening, and the entire blossom is spotted with a rich purple.

The general treatment for orchids is to give them an abundance of heat and water during the development of the pseudo-bulb; when this is full grown, as little water as possible till the buds appear, then more heat and more moisture, with only a little shade from the heat of the sun. Orchids vary so much that each individual one needs special directions, which can be obtained when they are purchased.

For Semi-Dress Occasions.

Taffetas are very much in vogue for semi-dress occasions. Some are shown in changeable effects with fine stripes and chine figures between the stripes. Some others are of plaid, often a fine line of black on a colored ground covered with chine flowers. Many of the favorite taffetas are small checks, never larger than half an inch; they also come in glace and chenille effects and in a rainbow, chine, Watteau, pointille and Persian patterns. Somewhat akin to them are the Pompadour, Bengalines and foulards with ombré grounds; then there are gros de Londres in brocaded stripes and quite novel three-toned effects, and duchesse silks and satins in every imaginable color. These silks are rivaled by the dainty figured Habutai silks in checks, stripes and plaids, and Shauntungs delicately printed in monochrome and in mixed tints.

Black and white in combination are much seen; but the stripes are closer and narrower than during the winter season. One novelty in this particular is the trimming of white muslins with black lace, and this gives an enlivening touch to the dead white which is so unbecoming to the majority of people. It is quite a fad to finish a bodice with a large black velvet bow placed where the yoke and arm's eye join.

AN AWFUL DEATH

Was That Which Ended the Life of Patrick Ready Near St. Kits.

Special to the Times.

ST. CATHARINES, July 20. — Patrick, Ready, aged 22, worked as a farm hand for Mrs. Moot, near here, and was engaged drawing in hay, using a wagon with a rack with iron uprights. He took a large load into the barn, and, not thinking of the iron uprights, attempted to slide to the ground, when one of them pierced him near the hip, impaling him and coming out near his mouth. The poor fellow screamed fearfully, and as soon as possible he was taken off the stake. He died at midnight.

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

Avoid substitutes; accept genuine only, with buff-wrapper and yellow label.

DISGRACE KILLED HIM.

"HERMIT" HYAMS DIED OF A BROKEN HEART.

He Never Recovered From a Complete Prostration Which Followed the Arrest of His Nephews, Harry and Dallas Hyams.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 22.

SOLOMON Y. Hyams, known for years as the "hermit" of the Gilsey House, was privately buried in Woodlawn cemetery Saturday after a brief service, which was held over the body at the Church of the Transfiguration in East Twenty ninth street.

Mr. Hyams had been, during the latter years of his life, a great sufferer from rheumatism. To gain relief he went to Hot Springs, Virginia, and about two weeks ago, where his death occurred very suddenly. His brother, Chapman H. Hyams, the banker, of New Orleans, brought the body on to New York for burial, in accordance, it is said, with the expressed wish of the dead.

"Sol Hyams," as he was called, was born in Florida about fifty years ago. Early in life he came to this city to seek his fortune. His tastes led him into Wall street, where it is said he was associated from time to time with such heavy weights of finance as Woerishoffer, Cammack and others. He retired from business about 20 years ago with a comfortable fortune, and took up his abode at the Gilsey house, where he resided until within a short time of his death.

THE GILSEY HOUSE HERMIT.

Hyams was a peculiar man and very difficult to become acquainted with. He had few friends, and these were mostly of old standing. He spent his time upon one of the blue-cushioned settees in the corridor of the Gilsey house, and would not stir from there sometimes during the entire day and evening, except to get his meals. On such occasions he would seem to be oblivious of the outside world. Visitors to the hotel frequently remarked the saturnine visage and crouching figure of the man, which was always to be seen upon a particular settee, and gradually he came to be known as the Gilsey house "hermit."

THE CROWNING SORROW.

The crowning sorrow of his life, and the blow which had probably more to do than illness with his sudden and untimely death, was the disgrace brought upon an old and honorable family by his two nephews, Harry P. and Dallus T. Hyams, whose trial for murder in Toronto is still fresh in the public mind. These two men were charged with having murdered "Willie" Wells, of Toronto, in order to get an insurance of $30,000 on the latter's life. The trial resulted in a disagreement, the jury standing ten to two for acquittal.

Mr. Hyams left no stone unturned to secure for his relatives the best legal talent available, much as he was prostrated by the disgrace involved in the accusation. It was due to the efforts of himself that his brother, Chapman H. Hyams, that the services of former Assistant District Attorney Francis L. Wellman were secured for the defence.

It is said that Solomon Hyams never recovered from the blow of his nephew's disgrace, and that from the day of their arrest his health visibly declined.

BEWARE OF SKINS.

An Important Caution with Regard to the Eating of Fruit.

Fruit skins carry germs and are no more intended for human sustenance than potato skins, melon rinds or pea pods. The bloom of the peach is a luxuriant growth of microbes, that of grape only less so; and when these skins are taken into the stomach they find most favorable conditions for their lively and rapid development which cause the decay of the fruit before it is possible to digest it. This is the reason many persons think they cannot eat raw fruit. If they would in all cases discard the skin they could derive only good from the fruit itself. Nature provides the skin for the protection of the fruit from the multitude of germs which are ever ready to attack it, as is evidenced when the skin is bruised or broken in any way. The microbes at once begin their work of decay, and the fruit is unfit for food. Children are chief offenders in respect to this rule and should be carefully cautioned. A daintiness as to the condition of fruit should also be cultivated, to prevent its being eaten unripe, or too old, on the verge of decay. Remember that it is sweet and ripe fruit, in prime condition, only that is recommnded.—Farmers' Voice.

church on shore. Representatives from churches of all denominations have visited them, interested them and made them welcome in the pews of any churches they prefer. Entertainments are also arranged for the boat people, and the attendance is usually good.

For their own amusement the persons who are huddled together for the winter go visiting at each other's boats and have parties of all descriptions. In the hulls of unloaded boats are great spaces that make excellent dancing halls, the music being furnished either by accordions or organs, which some of the more prosperous persons have on board.

Interiorly the homes differ as much as could be expected where every "building" is almost precisely like its fellows. Some are snug, cosy, clean, inviting; others show signs of want, lack of care and general neglect. Nearly all have something in the way of decoration, if it is only a chromo off a peach can or a wreath left over from the Christmas season.

All are provided with nearly all the provisions necessary for the winter, the occupants buying only the perishable things required from day to day. Above all, each is a home, wandering though it be, and the hearts of those within it warm to the word with a sincerity which is beautiful to see.

FELL DOWN A PRECIPICE.

A Lady Drops 50 Feet and Miraculously Escapes Death.

Special to the Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 22.—Mrs. Graham, of 935 Clinton street, Buffalo, accompanied by Mrs. Auer, 354 of North Division street, also of Buffalo were visiting the sights at the Falls this afternoon and when the two ladies were in front of the Clifton House barns, about 200 feet south of the carriage bridge viewing the Falls from this point, Mrs. Graham noticed a shumac tree and reaching over the government pipe fence to pick a bunch of shumac the pipe gave way at the joint with her weight and she fell headlong over the precipice striking on a pile of rubbish which covered the rugged rocks fifty feet below, and which no doubt saved her from being badly mangled. Her companion seemed to be paralyzed with the accident. Joe Hogue, solicitor for the Niagara Falls Park railway at the carriage bridge station, who saw her go over, ran out on the bridge and where the lady was lying and noticing one of the bridge guy wires was anchored near where she was, slid down the guy wire to her assistance and found and bleeding profusely from a bad scalp wound on the back of her head. He stifled the flow and prepared her for removal. A dozen men descended the precipice by the Maid of the Mist landing, carried her to the water's edge and rowed her to the landing, thence up the incline to the Park side inn, where Dr. McGarry was in waiting. The woman is completely prostrated but the doctor, from hasty examination, thinks no bones are broken. Her hands, arms and limbs are lacerated, hip badly bruised and numerous scratches. The doctor has hopes of her recovery, if she is not injured internally.

SHE WAS UNCONSCIOUS

MONTREAL'S ALLEGED FIREBUGS,

Pens Valued at $2,000 Found in a Warehouse.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 22.—The only new fact which has leaked out in connection with the arrest of Haynes and Jenkins, charged with arson, is that a lot of pens, valued at $2,000 and taken from the warehouse of Boyd, Gillies & Co. the day before the fire, have been found in the warehouse where they were stored by Haynes. The warehouse receipt has also been found.

To Arrest the Bank Directors.

St. John's, Nfld., July 22.—Warrants for the arrest of the directors of the defunct Union Bank, on charges perferred by the official liquidators of the bank, were issued Saturday by Judge Conroy, but the actual arrests have been deferred until today in order that the accused may secure bondsmen.

Nervous Prostration

It is now a well established fact in medical science that nervousness is due to impure blood. Therefore the true way to cure nervousness is by purifying and enriching the blood. The great blood purifier is Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this letter:

"For the last two years I have been a great sufferer with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart. I was weak in my limbs and had smothered sensations. At last my physician advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did, and I am happy to say that I am now strong and well. I am still using Hood's Sarsaparilla and would not be without it. I recommend it to all who are suffering with nervous prostration and palpitation of the heart." MRS. DALTON, 56 Alice St., Toronto, Ontario. Get Hood's, because

Death of N. S. Ridout.

Norman Stuart Ridout, C. S. M., of the Royal Military College, Kingston, and second son of the late Donald C. Ridout, of Toronto, while on service at St. Anne's Quebec, met with an accident on Saturday which immediately resulted in death. Mr. Ridout was in his 21st year, and was popularly known both in Toronto, Kingston, Lakefield and Peterborough.

Arrested For Theft.

A married lady reported at the police station late last night that she had seen a man on Rink street robbing another man and that she saw him take a watch. Officer McGinty accompanied the woman to Rink street when she pointed out the man and he was arrested and placed in the cells. He gave his name as York. A silver watch was found on his person and this the man claimed was given to him by another man. The party from whom the watch is supposed to have been stolen could not be found.

A Narrow Escape.

On Saturday last, while Mr. Peter Cairns, one of the employees in Howry & Sons' saw mill, was working behind a large pulley he heard the bolt snap and jumped aside just in time to avoid a blow on the head that would almost inevitably have caused instant death. He was not, however, quick enough to escape uninjured, for one of the ends of the broad leather belt struck him on both legs below the knees, slightly bruising the skin of the left and breaking the larger of the two bones in the right, besides terribly lacerating the flesh at the side of the calf. He was at once carried by four men to the McArthur house, where he boards, and placed under the care of Dr. Graham, who states that his patient is doing well.—Gazette.

The Boys Came Back.

Two well known young men of Peterborough, having grown tired of the town and with enlarged ideas of the joys of city life, gathered together all their spare coin and hied themselves away to Toronto last week to seek fame and fortune. They searched in vain for work the first few days after arriving in the Queen city and by this time their finances dwindled down to 0. For two days they went without anything to eat, and then driven to desperation they took off their collars, cuffs and neckties and disposed of them to a Jew for 20 cents. This provided them with a good meal, and without losing any more time they boarded a freight train and came to Peterborough. When they crawled from under the trucks on Saturday morning no one recognized them and indeed, it was no wonder, for they were covered with soot from head to foot. They sneaked home by the back streets, and now think that Peterborough is quite large enough for them.

Hard On Our Baseballists.

The Lindsay Post speaks as follows concerning a game of baseball which took place there on Friday last: "Yesterday the game of baseball announced for five o'clock between the Lindsay boys and the socalled Lifford team did not start until half past five, some of the Lindsay boys being late. The opposition team comprised four players from Lifford, four from Peterborough and one from 'Varsity team, Toronto. * * * Just here Lytle, the greatest 'kicker' that ever set a foot on a diamond, thought it was about time to gain a little notoriety and began to let off steam for fear of bursting a valve, afterwards leaving the field for the sole purpose of killing time and having the boys all know him the next time he comes to town. It took some time to coax him back, and had it not been for the gentlemen they were playing with, and the good nature of their umpire, they would have lost the game as it stood. However, after a time he came back and went to bat, reaching first on a safe hit, where he died, McGill being put out on second base. * * * Here the kickers claimed the game, although they had had an extra innings and were not willing to play any longer. They were offered big money to stay over and play a game today, but they refused to do so. The umpire then decided the game a draw on account of darkness.

MR. McGILL HONORED.

PRESENTED WITH AN ILLUMINATED ADDRESS BY THE CITIZENS.

A Public Meeting Last Night at Which Citizens and Business Men Pay their Respects to Mr. McGill and Congratulate Him Upon His Recent Promotion.

Last night the council chamber was well filled with representative citizens and business men, the occasion being the presentation of a beautiful engrossed address to Mr. Charles McGill, the recently appointed general manager of the Ontario Bank. The meeting was called by the Mayor who issued a general invitation to citizens to be present, thus affording them an opportunity to pay their respects to an honored citizen and to extend to him their hearty congratulations upon his deserved promotion, to wish him success in his new and more responsible duties, and to express their deep regret that by reason of his increased business responsibilities he will not be able to spend as much of his time in Peterborough as heretofore. Among those present were:

Mayor Kendry, Rev. W. R. Young, Rev. J. C. Davidson, Mr. Peter Hamilton, of the Board of Education; Mr. B. Shortly, president of the Board of Trade; Mr. D. W. Dumble, P. M.; Mr. E. B. Edwards, Town Solicitor; Councillor Cahill, Ex-councillor T. Kelly, Mr. Alex. Elliott, Mr. W. H. Hill, Mr. R. S. Davidson, Ex-councillor E. H. D. Hall, Mr. Richard Hall, Mr. W. H. Robertson, Mr. James Stevenson, M. P.; Mr. J. B. McKee, Dr. Caldwell, Mr. H. Hartley, Mr. S. R. Armstrong, Town Clerk; Mr. A. P. Poussette, Mr. C. W. Sawers, Mr. George Schofield, Mr. A. E. Dixon, Mr. Robert Fair, ex-President of the Board of Trade; Mr. John Crane, Mr. C. LeBrun, Mr. Hazlett, Mr. J. Carnegie, Mr. Campbell, of the Bank of Toronto; Mr. Taylor, manager of the Bank of Montreal; Councillor Mills, Mr. F. Dobbin and others.

Mr. McGill was greeted with applause when he entered the council chamber. He was escorted to a seat by Mayor Kendry, who immediately called the meeting to order in the following words:

GENTLEMEN,—The object of this meeting is to do honor to one of our leading citizens upon the occasion of his promotion to a high and responsible position, and without further remarks, I will call upon Secretary D. W. Dumble to read the address.

Mr. Dumble then read the address, which was as follows:

To Charles McGill, Esquire.

The citizens of Peterborough desire to extend to you their heartiest congratulations upon your appointment to the position of General Manager of the Ontario Bank, a position which it is felt you are eminently qualified to fill. We have long admired your administrative ability, and have recognized the qualities which mark the successful banker and business man. It is not therefore a matter of surprise to us that your eminent abilities have been recognized and your sphere of usefulness enlarged, or that you have been called to assume the most important position in the management of your bank. We entertain the assurance, and sincerely hope, that the success which has marked your management of the important interest under your direction here may be but an augury of future and greater success in the larger and more important field of labor to which you have been called.

We greatly appreciate your efforts on behalf of Peterborough. You have taken a kindly and active interest in our local enterprises since you came among us, and by your co-operation and advice have helped many an undertaking to a successful issue.

In your public positions we believe you have been actuated solely by a desire for the public good, and we take this opportunity of expressing our entire satisfaction with the manner in which your duty has been performed, and while regretting your removal we would express the hope that you will continue to take an interest in the progress of Peterborough and all connected with the town.

It is with great pleasure that we refer to your kind and genial disposition, and your uniform courtesy which have made our business relations at all times pleasant and agreeable.

Permit us in conclusion to wish Mrs. McGill and yourself many years of happiness and usefulness in your new position, and to assure you that you have no warmer friends than are to be found among the citizens of Peterborough.

Represented by the bodies on whose behalf and by whose direction we sign our names.

EDW. PEARSE, JAMES KENDRY,
Chairman of Board of Mayor.
Town Commissioners.
DR. GEORGE BURNHAM,
Chairman of the Board of FREDERICK BRENNAN, M.D, Education.
Chairman of the Separate
School Board. B. SHORTLY,
President of the Board of Trade.

Peterborough, July 22, 1895.

At the conclusion Mayor Kendry presented Mr. McGill with the beautifully engrossed address, which was handsomely framed, and artistically lettered, also containing an excellent view of George street in colors. The address was presented on behalf of the whole of the citizens of Peterborough.

MR. McGILL'S REPLY.

Mr. McGill modestly replied, expressing his deep sense of appreciation of the honor done him. He said:

Mr. Chairman and citizens of Peterborough,—I thank you very much for this beautiful address and your kind remarks in reference to my new position in Toronto. You have spoke very complimentary of my interest in the institutions of Peterborough, and I feel more so than I deserve. In regard to my position as treasurer I will say that when I took hold of it 8 years ago, the town had a surplus, and I leave the position with the treasury still enjoying a surplus. There is not a town in Canada with better financial standing than Peterborough and the debentures of the town are as good as any in Canada. If I had money to invest I would not want any better or safer investment than in Peterborough. I thank the Council and the Mayor for their kind consideration towards me as town treasurer, and as to the other institutions represented here tonight and who have signed this address to me, while I have not been so closely identified with them, I know they are my friends. I am sorry to leave Peterborough and all my warm friends here. I accepted my new position after a short consideration, and having taken hold of it I intend to go on with it, although I have had my doubts about leaving so many pleasant associations for the 15 years I have spent here have been the happiest of my life. I have found a high sense of honor among the citizens of Peterborough and this has undoubtedly helped towards my success here. I do not propose to leave Peterborough right away, (applause) although I can not be here as heretofore. I thank you for your kind reference to Mrs. McGill. I have thought that if I was ever in a position to retire, I know no better place, nor no place where I would like so well to come and live as Peterborough. I have taken a great interest in the institutions of the town and the curling club, and I will say that this interest will ever continue." Mr. McGill's remarks were heartily applauded.

In rising to call upon the next speaker, Mr. D. W. Dumble, the mayor said he would be voicing the sentiments of the citizens, if he moved that the headquarters of the Ontario bank be transferred to Peterborough, (applause).

MR. D. W. DUMBLE.

Mr. Dumble said he had often thought it very peculiar that people's virtues came to light and were most appreciated after they were gone; that blessings were more fully realized when they took their flight. He believed the citizens recognized Mr. McGill as a man of worth, and evidently the directors of the bank did so as well. It kept Peterborough busy furnishing bank managers and responsible men for Toronto, but there was still good stock left, and after a while, if the demand kept up, Peterborough would have a colony in Toronto. (Applause.) The people in Peterborough were all loyal. When a citizen gained advancement the whole town rejoiced, and it was so in this instance. It was said outside that the people of Peterborough hung together; it was better than hanging apart. (Laughter.) Mr. McGill would perhaps find it necessary to ultimately remove to Toronto. The citizens would greatly regret this severance of social and business relations. Mr. McGill had ever been genial and accommodating in the bank. The farmer from the remotest parts had met at Mr. McGill's hands, the same degree of courtesy as the wealthiest man in town. He was sure those characteristic's that had won him success in Peterborough would not leave him in Toronto. He joined with the citizens of Peterborough in wishing Mr. McGill prosperity and success in Toronto.

MR. HAZLITT.

Mr. Hazlitt was the next speaker. He heartily endorsed all that had been said and done in shewing respect to Mr. McGill. He dwelt on Mr. McGill's uniform courtesy and kindness, and in this respect he said Mr. McGill had few equals. On this occasion all felt the truth of Mr. Dumble's remark that blessings are not fully valued until they were gone. He fully endorsed the well wishes voiced on the auspicious occasion of Mr. McGill's advancement.

COUNCILLOR CAHILL.

Councillor Cahill said he was a proof that the poor man received as good treatment from McGill as the man dressed in broadcloth. (laughter). He was glad to have this opportunity of paying his tribute of respect and to express his deep sorrow at Mr. McGill's departure. As a member of the Council and as chairman of the Finance Committee, he had been brought in business contact with Mr. McGill and he could say that the latter had always had the interest of the town at heart. He had rendered the town invaluable service—services that but few were able to appreciate. While personally sorry to see him leave, he rejoiced in his good luck and wished him every success. He hoped Mr. McGill would find it pleasing to spend the autumn of his days in Peterborough.

MR. RICHARD HALL.

Mr. Richard Hall said it afforded him the greatest pleasure to offer Mr. McGill his congratulations upon his promotion and to express his sorrow that he was leaving. He spoke feelingly of their relations and said they had been of the nature of brothers. Mr. McGill had been of great benefit to Peterborough and the citizens, he felt, were sorry to lose him. He sincerely hoped the day was not far distant when Mr. McGill would return and make Peterborough his permanent home.

MR. JAMES STEVENSON, M. P.

Mr. James Stevenson, M.P. said that when he heard of Mr. McGill's promotion he felt sorry on behalf of the town and glad for Mr. McGill. Peterborough had every reason to feel proud of Mr. McGill, and the citizens never could feel too thankful to him. The benefits of his work for Peterborough as regards the establishment of the parks, would be enjoyed by generations to come. Peterborough should feel it a great honor that Mr. McGill had been promoted to a position of this nature. He had risen from the ranks and citizens should feel proud. He had done everything that a citizen could do for Peterborough. As a rule bankers were apt to stick too close to bank affairs and take no interest in public affairs. Mr. McGill had taken the opposite course and the bank and the town had benefited thereby. He had not the slightest doubt that Mr. McGill would make a success of the Ontario bank. He had a hard task and great responsibilities but he had the grit and the ability to succeed.

REV. J. C. DAVIDSON.

Rev. J. C. Davidson was glad of an opportunity to express warm gratitude for Mr. McGill's great kindness to church interests. He felt that Mr. McGill would leave strengthened by this expression of solid backing of the citizens of Peterborough. He took it that Mr. McGill had the belief that he would make a success and there was nothing so necessary to success as the confidence of success. Peterborough would watch his future and wish him success.

REV. W. R. YOUNG.

Rev. W. R. Young said he responded heartily to pay his respect to Mr. McGill. His relations with the latter had been that of a pastor and he didn't know whether it was right for a pastor to say too much of a complimentary nature because he didn't know how much of this kind of thing Mr. McGill could stand. (Laughter.) All felt that Mr. McGill had done much for Peterborough. He spoke of the loyalty of citizens to their town and to themselves and of their confidence in the future of Peterborough. He hoped Mr. McGill's future would be brighter and more successful than his career in Peterborough had been—a fuller measure of success than this wish meant, could not be expressed.

MR. PETER HAMILTON.

There are always periods of meetings and partings in this life, said Mr. Hamilton. All were glad to learn of Mr. McGill's promotion. He had been one of the first to become acquainted with him and he had always found him attentive to business and careful. Mr. McGill always appeared to think it was necessary to work at his business, and give it his fullest attention to make a success of it. The speaker thought Mr. McGill was one of those who would always find room at the top. It had always been a great pleasure to him to do business with Mr. McGill, who had, in his opinion, commenced a new era of banking in Peterborough. As a citizen and public man, Mr. McGill had gone out of his way to do things for the town and help along public enterprises. It afforded him great pleasure to congratulate him upon his promotion—the recognition of his abilities. No doubt he would succeed in placing the Ontario Bank at the head of the financial institutions of the Dominion.

MR. A. P. POUSSETTE.

Mr. Poussette, solicitor of the Ontario bank, said that as the oldest officer of the bank, having acted as its solicitor since 1873, he took great pleasure in congratulating Mr. McGill upon his promotion. His relations with him had always been most pleasant. The only complaint he had was that Mr. McGill had never given him very much to do, which, of course, was in the interest of the bank, though possibly it made him a little poorer (laughter). His close connection with the bank gave him a chance to judge of Mr. McGill's abilities as a banker, and he would say that it would be difficult to find a man in Canada better qualified for the position of general manager than Mr. McGill. He was sure there were very few who knew him but who would regret his departure, and, speaking personally, while he rejoiced in Mr. McGill's success, he regretted his departure.

OTHER SPEAKERS.

Other speakers who were hearty in their congratulations and who endorsed all that had been said were, Mr. Carnegie, Mr. Campbell, of the Bank of Toronto; Mr. Taylor, of the Bank of Montreal; Mr. Roper, Mayor Kendry, Mr. B. Shortly, Mr. R. S. Davidson, Town Solicitor Edwards. Mr. D. Belleghem, Mr. W. H. Robertson and Mr. F. Dobbin.

At the conclusion of the speaking, the large meeting sang in excellent voice "He's a jolly good fellow," and three rousing cheers were given for Mr. McGill, the new general manager of the Bank of Ontario.

EDITORS' DAY MEETINGS.

Addresses on the Press and it's Influence for Good and Bad.

Rev. Prof. Clark presided yesterday at the editors' meeting of the Pan-American Congress. Rev. Arthur Edwards, D. D., editor of the Northwestern Advocate, delivered an address upon "Reform and Printors' Ink." Mr. Edwards has been for 31 years editor of the Advocate, and he doesn't think much of the newspaper of today. Most of his address was devoted to regret of obscene publications, and the trash that filled the average newspaper.

Mrs. Peterson then sung "Bonnie Doon" with much feeling and Rev. A. C. Courtice editor of the Christian Guardian, read a paper on "Subjective and Objective Methods of Reform."

"Is it not true that we are overgoverned and missgoverned already?" demanded Mr. Courtice, and applause greeted his opening. The better organization of labor he dwelt upon as bringing us nearer to the millennium. Education and religion must not decry one another, but have mutual confidence.

Major J. B. Merwin, editor of the American Journal of Education, at St. Louis spoke upon "The Press as an Educational Factor." In his introductory remarks he defended woman from the characterization that she was a side issue, and instanced Queen Victoria as the most magnificent example of womanhood on earth.

"Education and the press march hand in hand," said Major Merwin, "encouraging and aiding each other."

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

Tired women need to have their blood purified and enriched by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It will give them strength and health.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly clense them, and they may easily become dangerous coveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

WILL HOLMES CONFESS?

HIS NERVE DESERTED HIM WHEN HE FACED HIS WIFE.

A Dramatic Interview in the Philadelphia Prison—His Wife Renounces the Perpetrator of so Many Crimes and Will Testify Against Him.

Special to the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 23.—For the first time since the tremendous revelations of the past fortnight "Mrs. Howard," wife No. 3 confronted Holmes yesterday in the office of District Attorney Graham. About 10 a.m. the prisoner was brought up from Moyamensing Prison and led into the District Attorney's office. He looked the picture of terror and appeared to be laboring under the belief that some new calamity was impending. His face was pale as snow and his defiance and self possession had both vanished.

He seated himself in an easy chair and after an awkward pause began a reiteration of his former elaborate statement as to his movements during the last year. He had got nicely under way when wife No. 3 was ushered in and Holmes almost collapsed. No words of greeting passed between them, and after a few minutes the prisoner resumed his story. For fully two hours Gray and his assistant, Mr. Barlow, plied Holmes with questions and with a few exceptions he gave them the same details as have already been given. He firmly adhered to the statement that Howard Pietzel is alive or at least was never murdered by him.

Holmes is reported to have admitted that Mrs. Connor, about whom so much has been said in the Chicago dispatches is dead, but nothing was revealed as to the fate of her 12 year old daughter.

A WARRANT FOR HIM IN CHICAGO.

HOLMES TO BE FORMALLY CHARGED WITH THE MURDER OF MRS. CONNOR.

CHICAGO, July 23.—H. H. Holmes will be charged with the crime of murder in the city of Chicago today. A warrant for the arrest on that charge will be sworn out by A. Minier, nephew of Julia L. Connor, of Muscatine, Iowa. Holmes will be charged in the warrant with having murdered Mrs. Connor some time between the first of August and the first of November, 1892. The warrant will be placed in the hands of Inspector Fitzpatrick by Minier, and while it cannot be served at the present time it will be acted upon the instant that Holmes is freed from the charges pending against him in Philadelphia. That Mrs. J. L. Connor is dead is certain, Holmes yesterday admitted that the woman was no more, but as usual, he tried to shift the blame on someone else.

Almost equally certain is it that Mrs. Connor's daughter Gertrude is not in the land of the living. Holmes says he does not know what has become of her, and that in itself is practically an admission that she has been made away with.

The fact that Holmes admits Mrs. Connor's death is not known to the authorities in Philadelphia. He made the admission yesterday to a man who, with District Attorney Graham, was closeted with him in the Moyamensing penitentiary. This is his statement, that Mrs. Connor got into trouble, and a Chicago doctor performed an operation. The job was a bungling one, and the woman died. This is the first light shed on the case since Mrs. Connor disappeared in 1893.

MRS. HOLMES' HOME.

WILMETTE, Ill., July 23.—Mrs. Holmes, or Howard, is well known here and is popularly credited with being no accomplice of the arch criminal in his murder schemes though she is believed to have known much about his swindling operations. She is an active member of the Church of England and lives with her little daughter, her old mother and a weak minded brother in a brick house near the First Congregational church. This building was one of Holmes operations and is covered with all sorts of liens and mortgages which are more or less valid.

HOLMES' CURIOUS HOUSE.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 23.—The Holmes house was invaded today by a little army of police, newspaper men and as many curious outsiders as could obtain permission, and the place was searched from top to bottom. It was found to be a mass of passages, closets, curiously contrived doors and windows, and all arranged with electrical wires. Nothing of a startling nature was discovered.

HOLMES AS A HYPNOTIST.

HE WANTED TO USE DETECTIVE CRAWFORD AS A SUBJECT.

CHICAGO, July 23.—Mrs. Pietzel's story of how Holmes hypnotized her has received singular confirmation through Detective Crawford, of Philadelphia. He is the officer who arrested Holmes in Boston for the murder of Pietzel and took him to Philadelphia. In the party at the time was the Mrs. Howard-Holmes, of Franklin, Ind., and Dessie Pietzel.

Holmes said to Crawford while they were on the train:

"Let me hypnotize you."

The detective asked what for.

"So that I can escape. I will give you $500 if you will let me do it. I know how to hypnotize. I learned how from a professor whom I met in the west. It will be worth your while to let me try it."

Crawford refused but Holmes renewed the offer several times before reaching Philadelphia and offering to pledge the word of his wife and mother that the money should be paid to Crawford if he let him escape in that manner.

The last clutch which it seems Holmes got on Pietzel before the latter's life insurance was taken out was the Terre Haute forgery. Pietzel appeared there on Oct. 1, 1893, and under the name of Robt. Jones, attempted to pass a check for $10,000, but the bogus character of the signature was discovered and Jones, or Pietzel, thrown into jail. He then confessed that his name was Pietzel, that he was in the employ of H. H. Holmes, and H. S. Campbell, (a mythical personage used by Holmes in his business,) and that the check had come to him through them. Holmes was sent for and he came to Terre Haute. He claimed that the check had come to him through some Michigan persons with whom he had lumber deals, and that if it was a forgery he would quickly have straightened it out. He so imposed on the authorities that they released Pietzel under a small bail. The bond being secured by Holmes, the two immediately left the city, and Terre Haute found out later that the bond was as bogus as the check. No attempt was made to bring the men back, as no trace of them could be found.

MET A WATERY GRAVE.

Sad Drowning of Professor Magee of Toronto.

Special to the Times.

BURLINGTON, July 23.—A sad drowning accident occurred on Hamilton Bay this afternoon. Dr. Magee of Toronto University, was visiting Mr. Parks, also of Toronto University and then went out for a sail, accompanied by Mr. Park's younger brother. When about a mile from the Brant House they all went in for a swim. When about 50 yards from the boat Magee called for help and on Parks' going to his assistance they both sank under the water and finally got separated. Parks and his brother got ashore but the former fainted from exhaustion. On the alarm being given several boats went to try and recover the body but darkness set in and will not likely be found tonight. Grappling irons will be got from the city and search kept up. Prof. Magee was a most promising member of the University staff and resided with his mother on Sussex avenue, Toronto.

UNIONISTS WIN FIVE.

They Capture that Many Seats From the Liberals.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 23.—At 4 o'clock this afternoon the following was the result of the elections: Conservatives, 306, Unionists 54, total 360; Liberals 122, McCarthyites, 56, Parnellites 9, Labor 2; total opposition 189.

The Unionists are found by today's reports to have captured five Liberal seats, and the Parnellites to have captured one from the McCarthyites, in East Wicklow. John Dillon, who is already a member for Mayo, unsuccessfully contested South Rosecommon against Hayden.

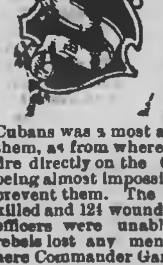
Fierce Encounter near Santiago—Spanish Troops Under Campos Whipped by Fearless and Desperate Rebels—Inhabitants Fleeing for Safety.

Special to the Times.



SANTIAGO, De Cube, via Key West, Fla., July 23,—There was an encounter between the rebels under Victoriano Garcia and the Spaniards under General Garcia Navarra, at a a place called El Avispero, 16 miles from this city. The Spaniards had a very hard time, as the position taken by the Cubans was a most advantageous one for them, as from where they were they could fire directly on the Government troops, it being almost impossible for the soldiers to prevent them. The Spanish had about 25 killed and 124 wounded. The Government officers were unable to ascertain if the rebels lost any men. It is publicly said here Commander Garcia and Capt. Lessaille have been committing all kinds of atrocites in the district of Guantanamo, even murdering men and women. Gen. Salcedo has had two or three slight engagements with the rebels in Yatteras. The insurgents had six killed and a few wounded. The Spaniards had two officers dangerously wounded, 2 soldiers killed and 5 wounded.

GEN. CAMPOS DENOUNCED.

MADRID, July 23.—The newspapers here display ill-humor at the action of Gen. Martinez Campos in frequently exposing himself in the engagements with Cuban insurgents. The papers also condemn lenient policy of General Campos and his leaning towards Cuban autonmy. The public shares largely in the views of the press and all ask that the Government adopt stern and decisive measures for the suppression of insurrection. There is a popular idea backed by the military journals that the Government send Generals Weyler and Polavigа to co-operate with General Campos. Both of these generals were noted for their severity in the past Cuban rebellions. If General Campos makes no opposition they may be sent to Cuba.

FLEEING FOR SAFETY.

The people of Guantanamo are coming to this city by hundreds for safety. They rumor here that on the 9th inst. three men landed on the Daiquiribeach. It is said the three men are veterans of the ten years war, and one of them a prominent leader. On the 9th inst. a column of 250 soldiers attacked the insurgent camp of Los Melores Gibera, where, according to Spanish reports rebels lost nine killed and two wounded. The Spaniards don't mention their loss in the engagement.

CAMPOS ESCAPE.

LONDON, July 24.—The Times will print a Havana despatch saying that according to information from insurgent sources Gen. Campos' force was completely destroyed in a battle near Bayamo. Gen. Campos and half a dozen others of his best mounted officers alone escaped. Gen. Campos was wounded. The report of the capture of Antonio Maceo, the insurgent chief, according to the same authority, is not true. The officers with Gen. Campos, the despatch says, display much discontent over his conduct of operations.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 23.—The Western Packing Company's horse meat canning factory at Linton has begun operations. The plant is equipped with about $10,000 worth of machinery for slaughtering, packing and shipping meat.

The first batch of horses was shipped here from Arlington. Ten were killed on Friday as a starter. Railroad companies have been asked to make a rate on canned horse meat in carload lots to the East at $1 per hundred. Special rates have been quoted on live horses from Idaho and Arizona to Portland.

GUINNESS BEATEN.

The Winner of the Diamond Sculls Defeated by Vivian Nickalls.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 23.—Vivian Nickalls today won the Wingfield sculls, beating the Hon. Rupert Guinness by six lengths and thus retaining the amateur championship of the Thames. Guinness was leading at Hammersmith bridge, but he caught a crab and sprained his wrist.

BETRAYAL AND DEATH.

THE SAD STORY SURROUNDING THE DEATH OF MISS JAMES.

An Inquest Will Determine Whether or Not Death Was Caused by a Criminal Operation—Dr. Lehman's Story.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 23.—The story of the death of Miss Sarah James at 49 Bellevue avenue, referred to yesterday, promises to be replete with sad details. Her father is Walton James, a farmer who lives near Utica P.O., in the Township of Uxbridge, and she has been employed as a school teacher at Corbetton, Grey County, until the beginning of the present holidays. While there she met a young farmer named Albert Somerville, of Banda, an affection sprung up between them and it was finally settled that they were to be married. When her school closed she went for a fortnight to Somerville's home, and she then left and came to Toronto. On July 9 she appeared at the house of Mrs. Doherty, 49 Bellevue avenue, and said that she had been advised to come there for a week or two to rest and recover her health, which was not in good condition. She did not mend, however, and matters became so serious that on Saturday Mrs. Doherty telegraphed for the girl's mother and for young Somerville. Both came at once and remained until her death, which took place yesterday forenoon.

A DANGEROUS STATEMENT.

The matter reached the ears of the police through George Hewson, 71 Palmerston avenue, a friend of the James family who had been called in before Miss James died.

In a conversation with Somerville, so he alleges, the latter stated that he had paid $40 to a doctor presumably to produce an abortion, and if he had done the job properly no trouble would have arisen. This statement was repeated to Inspector Johnson and the police interfered just in time to prevent the removal of the body for burial.

Coroner Johnson was notified and he issued a warrant for an inquest. After this the deceased was removed to Edmund J. Humphrey's undertaking establishment at 407 Queen street west.

PAINS IN HER ABDOMEN.

Dr. Lehman, who had attended the young woman in her last illness, states that she called on him a week ago Wednesday complaining of pains in her abdomen. He at first suspected inflammation and prescribed accordingly, but on the following Tuesday he had grown suspicious and on being closely questioned she admitted that she was pregnant and that she thought the infant was dead. Dr. E. E. King was called in consultation and it was decided that to save the girl's life an operation was necessary. On Wednesday this was done but it did not avail. The doctor inclined to the belief that noxious drugs had been administered by some one. He had never seen or heard of the lady until her first visit to him as mentioned above.

DR. LEHMAN RECOMMENDED THE HOUSE.

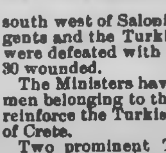
Mrs. Doherty states that her new lodger complained of having taken ill on the train and told her that Dr. Lehman had recommended the house as a suitable one in which to board. Mrs. Doherty grew suspicious and persuaded Miss James to tell all. The mother was telegraphed for and then, at the girl's request, Somerville was summoned too.

THIS LOOKS LIKE WAR.

AN ORDER THAT 20,000 GOVERNMENT TROOPS MOBILIZE AT MONASTIR.

The War Cloud in the East—Third Army Corps Ordered Out—A Recent Encounter Resulted Disastrously for the Insurgents.

Special to the Times.



CONSTANTINOPLE, July 23.—It is announced that 20,000 men belonging to the Third Army Corps have been ordered to mobilize at Monastir, Macedonia. It is reported that in an encounter at Uskup, one hundred miles south west of Salonica, between the insurgents and the Turkish troops, the former were defeated with a loss of 30 killed and 30 wounded.

The Ministers have decided to send 3,000 men belonging to the Fifth Army Corps to reinforce the Turkish troops on the Island of Crete.

Two prominent Turkish officers have been exiled to Damascus for expressing themselves in favor of Sultan Murad, who was deposed from the throne in favor of his brother, the present Sultan, Abdul-Hamid, in 1876. In the reply of the Porte to the suggestions of the powers regarding reform in Armenia, it is understood that the former makes several concessions, but objects to the proposed system of control.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquires with regard to a Canadian Discovery.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Postmortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys, and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been affected through this agency.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 24 1895.

He called on her. Her first words made
Sweet hope into his bosom creep,
She turned to him and softly said:
"My little brother is asleep."

The narrow escape from capture of the Commander-in-Chief of the Spanish forces in Cuba is a striking indication of the strength of the Cuban insurrection.

The Summerside Journal has a leading editorial on Adam's First Wife. We haven't read the article, but suppose the writer is endeavoring to show that though Eve was the original New Woman she didn't wear bloomers.

Two great Irish measures are foreshadowed in recent speeches by Messrs. Balfour and Chamberlain. One will take away twenty-three members from Ireland, and the other will reduce her share of the taxation. We in Canada would welcome such a bargain with enthusiasm. If some Moses will generously lead us completely out of the wilderness of taxation he can have the whole House of Commons in exchange. And no questions asked.

The most serious danger to the Home Rule cause is found in the threat made by Chamberlain to introduce a measure taking away twenty-three seats from Ireland and giving them to England. If this bill is adopted Ireland will never be able, of her own strength, to secure even a modified form of self-government. She will have to depend for success on her ability to convince English constituencies of the justice of her cause.

Another of the great scandals unearthed by opposition nosers has been exploded. It has been discovered that the cabinet ministers paid out of their own pockets $300 for the flowers they sent to Sir John Thompson's funeral, and that these flowers were not included in the general lot furnished by the undertaker, and billed at $1,900. But there still remains the sensation lead pencil scandal and the shining of Mr. Cockburn's shoes.

In an evil moment Mrs. Pitezel consented to be a praty to an insurance fraud, and if ever woman was punished in this world for wrong doing, unfortunate Mrs. Pitezel is that woman. Her husband—a bad man, but her beloved—was murdered; her children were torn from her and kept separate from her many months, and then murdered. For months she was dragged hither and thither about the country, quieted by the promise of seeing her husband and children, and always in imminent danger of sharing their horrible fate. As that poor woman stood in the morgue in Toronto yesterday, identifying the poor remains of her murdered children, she compelled the pity of even callous, matter of fact detectives. Her sin has found her out, and her punishment has been terrible

The fight between Turkish troops and Macedonian insurgents, in which five hundred Turks are reported to have been killed, in a serious thing in more senses than one. If the facts are not exaggerated, the Macedonian rebels must have gained a strength that will endanger the 'peace of what remains of the Turkish Empire, and whatever does this is always liable to draw other countries into the conflict. Russia did not altogether give up the idea of getting to Constantinople when the powers at Berlin robbed her of the fruit of her last conquest of Turkey, and the Bulgarian excitement and this Macedonian rising might easily be used as an excuse for another whack at the Sick Man's inheritance.

WHY THEY PAINT THEIR FACES.

Apache Legend which Accounts for the Red Man's Ceremonial Custom.

"'Why do Indians paint their faces?' I have asked that queston of hundreds of red men, and have received but one answer. Of all the tribes that I have visited but one has a legend accounting for the hideous decorations that are to be seen on the faces of Indians under all ceremonial circumstances.

"I was sitting at a camp fire in a village of Jacarilla Apaches one night listening to the stories and the legends that were being told, when I propounded the old question again, hardly expecting even the usual expression of ignorance that hides so many of the thoughts of the Indians. To my surprise, however, I received the answer that I least expected, says a writer in the St. Louis Globe-Democart. An old fellow who had sat all the evening listening to the stories without changing his attitude grunted and straightened up as he heard the question. Proceeding with all due solemnity, he told the following legend:

"'Long ago, when men were weak and animals were big and strong, a chief of the red men who lived in these mountains went out to get a deer, for his people were hungry. After walking all day he saw a deer and shot at it, but the arrow was turned aside and wounded a mountain lion, which was also after deer. When the lion felt the sting of the arrow he jumped up and bounded after the man, who ran for his life. He was almost exhausted, and, when he felt his strength give way, he fell to the ground, calling on the big bear, who, you know, is the grandfather of men, to save him. The big bear heard the call and saw that to save the man he had to act quickly, so he scratched his foot and sprinkled his blood over the man.

"'Now, you know, no animal will eat of the bear or taste of his blood. So when the lion reached the man he smelled the blood and turned away, but as he did so his foot scraped the face of the man, leaving the marks of his claws on the bloody face. When the man found that he was uninjured, he was so thankful that he left the blood to dry on his face and never washed it all, but left it until it peeled off. Were the claws of the lion scraped it off there were marks that turned brown in the sun, and where the blood stayed on it was lighter You know all men paint their faces that way with blood and scrape it off in streaks when they hunt or go to war.'"

WILDCATS CAPTURED.

An East Luther Farmer Traps Two Fine Specimens in the Great Marsh.

Wildcats have been creating havoc for some months past in the vicinity of the great marsh in East Luther, says the Orangeville Advertiser. The depredations of two of them were very suddenly stopped one night recently, when a neighboring farmer placed a couple of traps on the carcass of a dead horse, and some hours later found them occupied by two large wildcats, a male and a female. The male was of extraordinary size, measuring about 5¼ feet from tip to tip, but was so ferocious that he could not be taken alive. The other was secured in a box, and was uninjured, except where the jaws of the trap had closed on her leg.

A Colossal Bottle.

At the Bordeaux exhibition, which will be opened shortly, will be seen the largest bottle ever made. It will be no less than 35 metres, or nearly 115 feet high, and it will represent a bottle of tonic bitters. To the Bordeaux exhibition it will be what the Eiffel Tower was to the Paris Exhibition of 1889. The bottle will be in the centre of the grounds, and people will be admitted to the interior. Two enormous doors will give access to the ground floor, where there will be a large refreshment room. Leading to the first, second and third floors there will be two spacious staircases, each of 100 steps. They will end about half-way up, after which there is to be a winding staircase leading to the neck of the bottle, at the top of which there will be a terrace, with room for thirty-five people upon it, whence a fine view of the exhibition grounds and the city will be obtained. The whole will be surmounted by a kiosque in the guise of a cork, which will afford a shelter from the sun or rain.

A Charge to Keep.

Mrs. Poorman—It has been a hard winter, ma'am. My three grown girls have been very little help to me. The poor things are not strong enough to do washing, and they haven't clothes good enough to apply for any other work.

District Visitor—But you say they have rich relatives; don't they look after them?

A good meal for six persons. Joint roasted, and vegetables and pudding cooked for less than 1 cent.

All put in same time and taken out same time, giving a severe letting alone requiring no attention; can be absent for 3½ hours; on your return you will find a nice cooked dinner, and no odor.

So many small dishes can be cooked over it while you enjoy the light, such as oysters, ham and eggs, porridge, water boiled, tea and coffee made, steak broiled, etc., make the lamp very desirable and without an equal for the sick room or for warming the baby's food, and when not used for cooking, a beautiful lamp for the drawing room. Great step saver making the cooking a pleasure.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment. When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

JUST BE GLAD.

O, heart of mine, we shouldn't
Worry so!
What we've missed of calm we couldn't
Have, you know!
What we've met of stormy pain,
And of sorrow's driving rain,
We can better meet again,
If it blow.

We have erred in that dark hour
We have known,
When the tears fell with the shower,
All alone—
Were not shine and shower blent,
As the gracious Master meant?
Let us temper our content
With His own.

For we know, not every morrow
Can be sad;
So forgetting all the sorrow
We have had,
Let us fold away our fears,
And put by our foolish tears,
And through all the coming years
Just be glad.

THE PHANTOM BALAKLAVA.

By VERE V. HUNT.

"You may talk about your orthodox ghosts who haunt ancient castles, wailing and groaning, and carrying flaming lights from window to window for apparently no earthly, or rather unearthly, purpose save that of terrifying out of his wits some poor hind bearing home a bewildered brain after staying too long with 'John Barleycorn' in the village inn, but for something that has forever baffled me and made me often wonder whether I was dreaming or awake, commend me to what I saw, or thought I saw, the night before Balaklava, Oct. 25, 1854."

And my father threw himself back in his armchair before the fire in the smoking-room grate as he took a long whiff of a newly lighted cigar and gazed dreamily into the flames that were crackling up the chimney.

The subject of conversation had drifted from the battlefields of yesterday, in Abyssinia and Zululand, to those of thirty years before, when the tall, heavy forms before us of my father and his old comrades in arms, Sir Langley Fetherstone and Colonel Elmhurst, with their grey, bristling mustaches, their still erect gait, their unconsciously imperative style and their solemn and grave deportment, were as light as my own, Aubrey's, or Bob F[illegible]herstone's that night as we sat around listening to the stories of the hot days when our fathers were men as young as we.

"Hand me my memory, Aubrey," said my father, pointing to the huge cavalry sabre that hung over the mantelpiece—The sword that had waved over the now iron-gray head, that then was chestnut, as its owner with a shout of defiance bore down upon the ranks of the Muscovites on the wintry plains of the Crimea.

My father drew the sword fr[illegible] [illegible]n its scabbard and lovingly surve[illegible] the glittering blade.

"Old 'never-failed-me'!" he said. "Do you see the dint in its edge, Lang? Got that crossing the Alma off the helmet of a Russian cuirassier. I sent the blow through steel and skull together. There is another! Got that the 25th of October from the commander of the Cossacks that charged the left flank of the 'heavies.' He struck at me, I parried, there is the mark."

"And then?" said Sir Langley.

"I swept it round and caught him across the throat," answered my father abstractedly. "I saw his body afterward when it was turned over to his relatives, for he was a noble, a grand duke I believe. The same angry frown was upon his handsome features as just before my steel entered his jugular. And here is another—but there! If I once got started telling anecdotes of every experience that old blade went through in my hands I would stay talking until morning. Put it up again, Vic. I love to handle it whenever I settle down to tell a story of the old days. It, as it were, inspires me, by bringing back the events of bygone years to my mind as if they but happened yesterday."

Seeing that we were all watching him in anticipation he again took some whiffs of his cigar and commenced:

"It was the night before the never-to-be-forgotten 25th of October. We were close to the Russian lines, our pickets being almost within hailing distance of the enemy.

"I was riding out to inspect the sentries stationed along the Grodno road. It was a wet, cold night, and I clasped my great coat close about me, and spurred my charger along the muddy road. As I reached the side of the valley I drew him in quickly as I heard a distant rumble, like the moving of some parks of heavy ordnance at the extreme end. I listened. All was still again. An occasional stray shot from the outposts, a distant challenge of a sentry, a light here and there peering through the murky mist from the doomed city, and between it and us a large, uneven mass of something indistinguishable that marked out the Russian lines.

"I rode on. I arrived at the station of the sentry, and as I did so some smart firing broke out toward the rear. Our pickets were evidently being driven in, and I sent the sentry back to hasten up the supports. He never returned. I subsequently heard that he had gone on with the re-enforcements he had been sent to summon, and been captured.

"I stayed cursing his delay for over half an hour. When I again heard the same rumbling noise I looked up the valley. All was dark, but the rumble seemed to be advancing at terrific pace. As it was coming from our lines, I thought it might be a night attack. Although, how cavalry could be of any service at such an hour, on such a night, I failed to see. But it is the soldier's duty to obey first, and to form his opinion afterward, and I eagerly awaited the oncoming of the force.

"A white streak appeared 200 feet away, the noise crashed upon me with full force, and in an instant I saw the charging ranks and the wild, eager forms of the soldiers seated on their foaming, galloping steeds. Forms, did I say? Yes, forms only! Forms pale and shadowy. Horse and man alike woven, as it were, out of the mist. On they came, icy breezes rushing with them as they swept by. My horse plunged and reared frantically. To save myself from being dismounted I sprang from his back into the snow, and, prancing and snorting, he made off towards our lines, giving rise to the subsequent rumor of my death.

"As I turned I saw the form of Louis Nolan. He was sitting half round in his saddle, his sword hanging from his wrist, his forage cap in his hand, which he was waving exultingly. His face was partially turned from me toward the ranks, but not a word passed the open mouth, with the ashen hue on the lips, though I

MONTREAL'S ALLEGED FIREBUGS,

Pens Valued at $2,000 Found in a Warehouse.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 22.—The only new fact which has leaked out in connection with the arrest of Haynes and Jenkins, charged with arson, is that a lot of pens, valued at $2,000 and taken from the warehouse of Boyd, Gillies & Co. the day before the fire, have been found in the warehouse where they were stored by Haynes. The warehouse receipt has also been found.

SHORTIS' INSANITY.

Evidence In That Direction Obtained in His Case.

Special teo the Times.

MONTREAL, July 22.—A special from Ireland says that Judge Dugas is making good progress with the examination of witnesses in the Shortis case. The commission appointed by Judge Belanger to take evidence here with reference to the sanity or insanity of the Valleyfield murderer has examined a large number of Waterford's leading citizens. Those that have been heard all agree that C. T. V. Shortis is insane. They go farther, and say that he was known here as a regular madman. Shortis, it has been adduced, had many relatives who died insane in the Clonmel Asylum. The plea of insanity, the lawyers for the defence claim, is fully proved. More witnesses were to be heard, and their evidence is expected to be similar to that already given.

FELL DOWN A PRECIPICE.

A Lady Drops 50 Feet and Miraculously Escapes Death.

Special to the Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, July 22.—Mrs. Graham, of 935 Clinton street, Buffalo, accompanied by Mrs. Auer, 354 of North Division street, also of Buffalo were visiting the sights at the Falls this afternoon and when the two ladies were in front of the Clifton House barns, about 200 feet south of the carriage bridge viewing the Falls from this point, Mrs. Graham noticed a shumac tree and reaching over the government pipe fence to pick a bunch of shumac the pipe gave way at the joint with her weight and she fell headlong over the precipice striking on a pile of rubbish which covered the rugged rocks fifty feet below, and which no doubt saved her from being badly mangled. Her companion seemed to be paralyzed with the accident. Joe Hogue, solicitor for the Niagara Falls Park railway at the carriage bridge station, who saw her go over, ran out on the bridge and where the lady was lying and noticing one of the bridge guy wires was anchored ne[illegible] where she was, slid down the guy wi[illegible] to her assistance and found and bleeding pr[illegible]fusely from a bad scalp wound on th[illegible] the flow [illegible] back of her head. He stifled dose[illegible] and prepared her for removal. A [illegible] men descended the precipice by the [illegible]aid of the Mist landing, carried her to the water's edge and rowed her to the landing, thence up the incline to the Park side inn, where Dr. McGarry was in waiting. The woman is completely prostrated but the doctor, from hasty examination, thinks no bones are broken. Her hands, arms and limbs are lacerated, hip badly bruised and numerous scratches. The doctor has hopes of her recovery, if she is not injured internally.

SHE WAS U[illegible]CONSCIOUS

FIGHTING IN CUBA.

Insurgents Furiously Attack Spanish Troops Commanded by Gen. Campos.

Special to the Times.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, July 22.—The rebel leader, Alfonso Goulet, was killed and the insurgent chief, Miguel Gongore, was mortally wounded in the battle which was fought a few days ago, near Veguita, a town situated between Manzanilla and Bayamo. The Cuban leader, Rabi, was also killed in the battle fought between Manzanillo and Bayamo.

HAVANA, July 22—Further details have been made public of the recent battle between insurgents and Government troops between Manzanillo and Bayamo. Captain General Martinez Campos left Manzanillo for Bayamo with 1,000 troops. On July 13th this force was ambushed by 7,000 insurgents near Valenzuela. The Spanish forces were under the actual command of Brig. General Santocildes, who was the military commander of the Manzanillo district. The Spanish troops fought bravely, again and again repelling the fierce charges of the rebels. It was thought that the principal object of the attack was to capture General Campos. The troops formed a hollow square about him, thoroughly determined that he would not be taken unless it was over their dead bodies. The battle lasted seven hours. During one of the charges Gen. Santocildes was killed. Gen. Campos then took command of the troops and finally succeeded in defeating the rebels. The insurgents left 500 dead and wounded on the field. Among the dead were the leaders Rabi and Moncada. The Government loss was 72 killed, including two officers and a number wounded.

MADRID, July 22.—A report received from Havana states that Gen. Navarro, with 2,000 men, has arrived at Bayamo, and relieved Captain-General Campos, who was in a critical position in that city. Col. Aldane, with a battalion, is expected to arrive at Bayamo very shortly. A decisive battle is imminent.

PARIS, July 22.—The Temps has a Madrid despatch saying that official advices confirm the report of a desperate fight between Cuban insurgents and the escort of Capt. General Martinez Campos between Manzinillo and Bayamo. The young Spanish soldiers displayed desperate valor. They formed a square around the Capt. General, and repelled the fiery charges made by the rebel calvary. Gen. Santocildes was killed while heading a charge to cover the column's retreat. Gen. Campos then directed the retreat with brilliant intrepidity. He brought in all the wounded and checked the furious attacks of the insurgents, who maintained their pursuit to Bayamo. Upon arriving at Bayamo, Gen. Campos telegraphed to Generals Valdes and Navaro, to hasten from Santiago de Cuba and Holguin with their respective forces of 1,300 and 1,500 men. Letters from Gen. Campos report that the rebellion is gaining ground in the central provinces, owing to the rains paralyzing the movements of the Spanish troops. During June there were 2,500 cases of yellow fever among the troops. Of these attacked 104 died.

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

GREAT SAVING BY PURCHASING THE LARGER SIZES

FOR GROWING GIRLS.

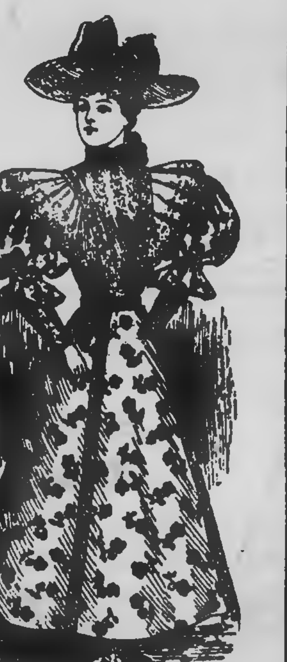
THE TASK OF GOWNING A GROWING GIRL IS EMBARRASSING.

Hints to Mothers That Will Considerably Lighten the Burden—The Unlimited Possibilities Which Chambray Offers—Careful Consideration is Necessary.

Long before the summer flowers are in bloom the school girl begins to count upon the happy weeks of "sweet doing nothing" which will come with the long midsummer vacation, and if she be an up-to-date young woman, as in all probability she is, she will also begin to consider the question of her summer outfit. The school girls of this advanced age are not at all the meek and submissive "bread and butter misses" that their mothers were before them; on the contrary, they are apt to have some very pronounced opinions of their own upon most subjects, while upon the subject of dress they are generally quite as au fait as their elders. But the task of gowning a growing girl is more embarrassing than she herself imagines. Indeed, only the perplexed mother who must deal with the problem knows how very difficult it is to dress gracefully the daughter who has reached the awkward age that stands midway between childhood and womanhood. With a plethoric purse and a good dressmaker at one's command the burden is considerably lightened, if it be not altogether removed; but it is upon the mother of limited means, who has only her own ingenuity and her own busy fingers to rely upon, that it falls with severest weight.

The unlimited possibilities which chambray offers for artistic development have long commended it for summer wear to women of refined tastes. Fine and delicate as silk, possessing excellent draping qualities, and being sufficiently durable to last two or three seasons with ordinarily careful usage, this dainty fabric is eminently suitable for young girls' gowns, since it is both light of texture and more tastefully patterned than the familiar gingham. The pretty dress portrayed in our illustration is modeled in this attractive material, the design being printed in a cool shade of moss green upon a paler green ground. A vest of fine linen embroidery enclosed within bands of insertion—which are again outlined with bretelles of embroidery—constitutes the decoration of the round bodice, which is finished at the waist line with a draped belt of moss green satin ornamented with diminutive collar to correspond. The full sleeve is conformed to the arm above the elbow with a band of insertion, while the deep cuff is of the all-over embroidery. The large Leghorn garden hat is trimmed simply with satin ribbon in both shades of green.

For the picnics and outings that are so dear to the heart of every healthy, happy girl—and to which she looks forward with eager expectancy for many months previous to the summer holidays—the thoughtful mother will provide gowns that are at once pretty and serviceable. The thin muslins and summer silks in which the writer of the summer novel delights to array her heroines upon such occasions, while theoretically charming, are utterly inappropriate; and for the young girl who has not yet outgrown the desire to enjoy herself in the old childish ways would be worse than useless, since they would most assuredly be reduced to tatters, fit only for the rag bag, long ere the day was over.



In the making of a young girl's garments careful consideration of her physical shortcomings is absolutely necessary, since a disregard of such matters is sure to result in bitter humiliation to the girl herself. Older people do not always realise how sensitive children are to ridicule, nor how much mental suffering is occasioned by inappropriate dressing.

Girls whose disproportionate length of limb renders their appearance awkward and ungainly should be graduated into frocks of seemly length as soon as possible, even though it be a year or two in advance of the usual age for such a change, since nothing can be gained by prolonging the period of short-skirted discomfort. The angularities that disfigure so many undeveloped maidens may be successfully concealed beneath pretty full waists, puffed sleeves, wide berthas and other dainty accessories while undue stoutness is likewise amenable to considerate treatment. It should be remembered also, in selecting materials, that stripes, diminutive patterns and perpendicular decorations add apparent length and slenderness to the figure, while Bayadere bars, huge plaids and trimmings applied around have a contrary effect.

Dress enters so extensively into all the affairs of human life that no one, least of all a woman, can afford to ignore its demands; and the wise mother, while in no sense fostering her young daughter's vanity, will impress upon her the absolute necessity for careful attention to detail in this all-important matter.

Bodices laced in the back are another of this season's novelties. These, also, are more becoming to slender figures than to stout ones, but women who are really thin should avoid them. They have the disadvantage of being very inconvenient to fasten and loosen.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

DISGRACE KILLED HIM.

"HERMIT" HYAMS DIED OF A BROKEN HEART.

He Never Recovered From a Complete Prostration Which Followed the Arrest of His Nephews, Harry and Dallas Hyams.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 22.

SOLOMON Y. Hyams, known for years as the "hermit" of the Gilsey House, was privately buried in Woodlawn cemetery Saturday after a brief service, which was held over the body at the Church of the Transfiguration in East Twenty ninth street.

Mr. Hyams had been, during the latter years of his life, a great sufferer from rheumatism. To gain relief he went to Hot Springs, Virginia, and about two weeks ago, where his death occurred very suddenly. His brother, Chapman H. Hyams, the banker, of New Orleans, brought the body on to New York for burial, in accordance, it is said, with the expressed wish of the dead.

"Sol Hyams," as he was called, was born in Florida about fifty years ago. Early in life he came to this city to seek his fortune. His tastes led him into Wall street, where it is said he was associated from time to time with such heavy weights of finance as Woerishoffer, Cammack and others. He retired from business about 20 years ago with a comfortable fortune, and took up his abode at the Gilsey house, where he resided until within a short time of his death.

THE GILSEY HOUSE HERMIT.

Hyams was a peculiar man and very difficult to become acquainted with. He had few friends, and these were mostly of old standing. He spent his time upon one of the blue-cushioned settees in the corridor of the Gilsey house, and would not stir from there sometimes during the entire day and evening, except to get his meals. On such occasions he would seem to be oblivious of the outside world. Visitors to the hotel frequently remarked the saturnine visage and crouching figure of the man, which was always to be seen upon a particular settee, and gradually he came to be known as the Gilsey house "hermit."

THE CROWNING SORROW.

The crowning sorrow of his life, and the blow which had probably more to do than illness with his sudden and untimely death, was the disgrace brought upon an old and honorable family by his two nephews, Harry P. and Dallus T. Hyams, whose trial for murder in Toronto is still fresh in the public mind. These two men were charged with having murdered "Willie" Wells, of Toronto, in order to get an insurance of $30,000 on the latter's life. The trial resulted in a disagreement, the jury standing ten to two for acquittal.

Mr. Hyams left no stone unturned to secure for his relatives the best legal talent available, much as he was prostrated by the disgrace involved in the accusation. It was due to the efforts of himself that his brother, Chapman H. Hyams, that the services of former Assistant District Attorney Francis L. Wellman were secured for the defence.

It is said that Solomon Hyams never recovered from the blow of his nephew's disgrace, and that from the day of their arrest his health visibly declined.

HIS LORDSHIP'S SENSITIVENESS.

Lotta Addis' Husband Could not Stand the Sting of a Wasp.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—Lord Sholto Douglas, son of the Marquis of Queensbury who recently married Lottie Addis, a music hall singer, brought suit today against the "Wasp" for $5,000 damages. Lord Douglas alleges libel in a recent article attacking his character.

FOOLED THE PETREL.

Erie Fishermen with the Aid of the Fog Escape Detection.

Special to the Times.

ERIE, July 22.—Erie fishermen went out yesterday and under cover of the fog lifted their nets without being discovered by the Canadian cruiser Petrel. The fishermen who had their nets confiscated Friday will send lawyers and representatives to Washington shortly to protest against the seizure.

DON'T THINK SUICIDE A SIN.

Flippant Letter Left by a Man Who Killed Himself.

Special to the Times.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 23.—An unknown man, whose name is thought to be Frank Rogers, committed suicide here today and made merry over his act. In a vest pocket memorandum book, a note, correctly spelled and well written, was found in which he said:

"I really see no use in trying the struggle against fate. I think I will shuffle off this mortal coil and see how a pair of wings will affect my equilib. What a nice subject my stiff will be for a doctor? Is a man a coward who ends his own existence? Some say so, but just try and see. Is it a sin to do so? I do not think so, in some cases—this one, for instance. Will see you later, say about judgment day. Will that suit? Well, that is all."

He had evidently signed his name and address to the note and then erased it. On the top of the next page of the note book bas written in the Morse telegragh alphabet: "My name is Mud." His home was evidently New York.

"LYNCH THE UMPIRE."

Crowd at Quincy, Ill., Try to Avenge Adverse Decisions.

Special to the times.

QUINCY, Ill., July 23.—At the close of Saturday's Peoria Quincy game some one yelled "Lynch the umpire!" and in an instant 500 men rushed upon the diamond. The Peoria players surrounded the umpire, Frank Heath, of Pontiac, Ill., and with their bats held the crowd off until the police arrived. Several blows landed on Heath, but they were not of a serious character. The management had expected trouble because of Heath's decisions against the home team for the past two days have been the talk of the town, and a dozen police officers were detailed to attend the game today. But for their presence, Heath would have been roughly handled and probably killed. The officers escorted him to his hotel amid flying missiles, cushions, hoots and jeers. Several of the officers were struck by stones and one lady was knocked down. Friends took her away before it could be learned how badly she was injured.

Shakespeare's Young Men.

There are between twenty and thirty young men in the non-historical plays, and an examination of their peculiarities and characteristics enables us to form some conception of Shakespeare's own ideal of young manhood.

In the first place, it is noticeable what physical perfection they are all supposed to have. The poet's young hero should, as a general thing, "laugh merrily," like Valentine, "eat and drink heartily, walk manfully, and only look sad when his purse is empty." He should be able to "climb walls with Romeo, wrestle like Orlando, fence and fight pirates like Hamlet, or swim through the stormy waves like Ferdinand; and he should enjoy doing it."

Further, Shakespeare seems to lay stress on the young man's "being natural, unaffected, as if to him affectation indicated a weakness somewhere in the man's character." Indeed, no characteristic of Shakespeare's is more conspicuous than his thorough openness and honesty—his contempt for everything that savors of affectation or sham. Note his repeated sharp hits at false hair and paint in women, at foppery and aping of foreign fashions in men, at the small conceit of travelers who came home, as Rosalind says, "to lisp and wear strange suits, disable all the benefits of their own country, and be out of love with their nativity," who have seen much, yet have nothing from it worth the getting. He has the same dislike for the affected and artificial style of the day in speech and writing. How he delights to show it up in his earliest plays no less than in the later ones. How he gradually freed himself from the rhetorical conceits and mannerisms of the time—the excessive playing upon words, the running of a metaphor into the ground, so to speak, the overindulgence in classical allusions, and the like. How he pricks all swollen pretense and pomposity! How he burlesques the ranting of the actor, and the extravagance of the dramatist who furnishes him with the fictitious passion to tear in tatters! His dislike for Puritans, which crops out in a few passages, appears to have been due to their canting ways rather than their peculiar tenets.

Again, Shakespeare "seems to value very highly a decided capacity for friendship between men." This is also eminently characteristic of the man. As a friend he himself must have been capable of measureless personal devotion. The first 126 sonnets, most of which are addressed to one and the same friend—a man, not a woman—would suffice to prove this, if we had nothing else from his pen. But we have also the striking pictures of manly friendship in the plays; and some of these—for instance, that of Antonio and Bassanio, of Brutus and Cassius, of Hamlet and Horatio—are perhaps unsurpassed by any of his delineations of the love of man and woman.

A New Substitute for Gold.

A French technical paper, the Journal de l'Horlogerie, declares that a new amalgam has been discovered which is a wonderful substitute for gold. It consists of ninety-four parts of copper to six parts of antimony. The copper is melted and the antimony is then added. Once the two metals are sufficiently fused together, a little magnesium and carbonate of lime are added to increase the density of the material. The product can be drawn, wrought and soldered, just like gold, which it almost exactly resembles on being polished. Even when exposed to the action of ammoniacal salts of nitrous vapors it preserves its color. The cost of making it is about a 25 cents a pound avoirdupois.

KENTS'

STRANGE INFATUATION.

A Married Woman Elopes With a Young Girl.

Special to the Times.

SALT LAKE, Utah, July 23.—Salt Lake has developed an elopement affair which rivals the famous Alice Mitchell and Fred Ward affair. On Thursday Mrs. Bowden, the young and handsome wife of an electrician, abandoned her home, husband and baby and went away with a good looking 17 year old girl, named Edith Horn, and the two took lodgings together. They remained in seclusion and eluded the husband and officers till Sunday, when they were located, and Bowden forced his wife to accompany him home. The women are completely infatuated with each other and declare they cannot be kept apart. Both parties belong to old families here, and the singular affection has created quite a sensation.

ROBBED AND MURDERED.

A Buffalo Man Killed and Thrown into the Canal.

Special to The Times.

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 23.—The body of John Cotter of Albama street was fished out of the canal this morning and a stab discovered in the groin. One of the pants pockets was turned inside out. It appears a case of robbery and murder. Cotter was a laborer in good health and had been missing since Saturday night. The police are working on the case.

SWEPT INTO ETERNITY.

The Terrible Effects of a Cyclone in New Mexico.

Special to the Times.

DEMING, N.M., July 23.—A terrible cyclone visited New Mexico today and the town of Silver City is said to be almost totally destroyed and rumors are that 30 people have been killed. Reports cannot yet be verified as all communication with the town is cut off. Couriers from the surrounding country have gone to get details but it will be hard for them to reach Silver City as all bridges have been demolished.

Ask for a Warship.

COLON, Col., July 23.—In view of the report that Ecuador is threatening to invade Colombia, the garrison of Panama is being reinforced. The United States Consul has telegraphed to Washington asking that a United States warship be sent to protect American interests.

Smith and Burge Matched.

LONDON, July 23.—Dick Burge and Jem Smith have signed articles to fight 20 rounds in London for £200 a side.

If we were continuing in business it would be foolishness to sell stocks at less than wholesale prices.

We're going out of business, and rapidity in closing our stock is more value to us than present profits.

Because we think the plan a good one we're selling direct to the consumer, though a large wholesale concern.

Police Court Notes.

In the police court yesterday the magistrate advised that the charge of obstructing the street against Superintendent Stephens, of the Electric Works, be withdrawn, as there was clearly no intention to obstruct the street. Accordingly the charge was withdrawn. John Clancy charged with assaulting Mrs. Frank Anthony said that he did so in self defence, and the evidence bore him out. He was fully exonerated and discharged. James York arrested the night previous for stealing a watch, stated that he took the timepiece from a drunken man, whom he was trying to wake up, and that he intended handing it to the police. He was discharged. The watch awaits an owner.

A Thoughtless Practice.

Do the people who make it a practice to go into fruit stores eat whatever they take a fancy to, ever consider how mean their action is? The fruit dealer does not care to quarrel with a customer or friend over a banana or a few berries. Yet in the aggregate the fruit lost by a large dealer through this petty pilfering makes a considerable item, and is one of the two chief reasons for the unremunerativeness of the fruit business, the other being the large amount of waste. And thus dealers are compelled to stand by and see their profit eaten up by customers who with the coolest impudence consume fruit which they have no idea of paying for, before the eyes of the owner, meanwhile chatting affably.

Banque du Peuple.

The Banque du Peuple will be able, it is thought, to pay off their circulation inside of sixty days. After this a fund will be accumulated for the payment of depositors, Mr. A. De Martigny, cashier of the Jacques Cartier Bank, and Mr. Warwick Chipman, of the Montreal Clearing House, will take hold of the bank's affairs. This move was decided upon at the recent meeting of the directors. Mr. De Martigny has stated that it would probably be a matter of six weeks before a statement could be prepared. Even when this is done, however, the two gentlemen's work will not be completed, as they have arranged to devote three months' of their time to the management of the bank's affairs. The depositors and stockholders, both French and English, seem well pleased with the choice of the directors, and every confidence is expressed in the two gentlemen's ability to do the best possible service for the depositors and stockholders.

SHAVES WITHOUT RAZORS.

A Clever Swindle to Victimize Druggists and Others.

Several druggists in the province have been victimized by a new confidence game, and have thereby lost several regular customers. The trick is worked this way: A well dressed man carrying a small gripsack goes into a drug store and introduces himself as an agent for a shaving stone, which would remove hair without the aid of a razor, soap or water. The druggist agrees to take a dozen of the wonderful stones, to be paid for at any time after a fourth of the lot have been sold.

Half an hour later a young man saunters in and after drinking a glass of soda water spies the shaving stones and buys one. A few minutes later two men come in together and carelessly buy a stone each. Later on the agent reappears, buys soda water, tells of his wonderful success with other druggists, and collects $3.

As a beard remover the stone was a success, and as a skin remover it is a wonder. A customer told a druggist this in pretty warm language and exhibited one side of his face, which resembled a raw beefsteak. After explaining matters as best he could and examining one of the shaving stones the druggists decided they were made out of quicklime. The first three purchasers were evidently confederates of the agent.

SHE WAS A LADY.

So the Hotel Register Proclaimed and Jonas Substantiated it.

A short, broad backed young man with hair the color of a parsnip and the honest sunburn of the cornfield on his face and hands, walked into the Snowden House one night last week, and wrote on the register in a large and scrawly hand:

"Jonas Bebee and lady, Pontypool."

"She's your wife, I suppose?" queried the clerk as he looked at the record.

"You bet! Bin my birdie since 9 o'clock this morning."

"Then you'd better put her down as your wife."

"Jess as you say," replied Jonas, and he took the pen and made the entry to read:

"Jonas Bebee and wife, who is a lady."

"She's a lady, is she?" growled the clerk as he scanned the new record.

"You kin bet your last dollar she is," heartily exclaimed the new made husband "Yes, sir, you kin gamble your last shilling that she's a lady from tip to toe. Is that entry all right now?"

"Yes, it'll do, I guess.

"Then gimme a room, and a durned good one, too, and we want beefsteak and 'tatters for supper. Yes, sir, she's a real lady, Sarah is, and that's how I cum to fall in love with her. Took her to a picnic and while every other blamed woman ate punkin pie out of their hands, she put hern on a chip and used a sliver fur a spoon! You bet, she's a lady, and if you ketch her putting a knife in her mouth at the table, I'll slap two dollars on to the bill and never say a word."

WITH THE SPORTS.

A meeting of the officers and members of the Peterborough Bicycle Club will be held in the Catholic Association rooms over the G.T.R. telegraph office tomorrow (Thursday) evening at eight o'clock for the purpose of considering and deciding upon the best means for advancing the local and general interests of bicycling. All wheelmen whether club members or not are urgently requested to be present.

ALEX. GIBSON,
President.

Today's game of lacrosse in Port Hope between the Ontarios of that town and our own Athletics, promises to be one of the fastest matches of the season and the trip should be taken by every lacrosse enthusiast. The team will be the best sent out of Peterborough this year, comprising the pick of the club. It is to be hoped the admirers of the team will go along in force.

With regard to a despatch regarding the information of a syndicate to manufacture bicycles which would retail at $30 a piece the Buffalo Cycle Company writes the A. D. Fisher Company, of Toronto, who are their Canadian agents, as follows;

"We are in receipt of your favor 15th inst., enclosing clipping in regard to our having purchased a new plant, etc. The item refers to an article in the Express, which is entirely erroneous except as to the mention of purchase of planing mill property. This we have done, as you know we are so badly crowded here it has been a matter of impossibility for us to turn out anything like the number of wheels we could have disposed of. The new property while built for a planing mill is a magnificent building, both in proportion and construction, and with a few alterations will make a model bicycle manufactory. We have ample vacant property in connection with the building to extend our business very largely, and you can rest assured that we will be prepared next year to furnish Envoy and Fleetwing wheels of the highest possible grade in much greater quantities than we have ever been able to do before.

"So far as the statement of a syndicate having been formed for the purchase of 400,000 bicycles, would say, this is a joke that has been going through the papers over here for a considerable length of time and so far as the price of $16.00 each is concerned, you know very well that the bare material entering into the construction of a wheel, regardless of quality, cannot be purchased for the price. You also know that labor cost in building wheels is a very large item to be taken into consideration.

"So far as our having made contract with any syndicate whatever for the manufacture of wheels for them, would say that it is untrue. We have not made a single contract of this character nor will we do so. We are getting 'hot shot' from all sections of the country in regard to this newspaper article."

The A. D. Fisher Company explained that the first cost to manufacture is greater than the estimated retail price of $30, even in the lowest grade of wheels manufacured, regardless of quality, but that it is possible to build a juvenile 24 inch wheel for less money. Mr. Fisher states that his company have been quoted prices already on 1899 wheels, and that according to the quotations received there will be little change, if any, in the present prices next year.

Encourage the lacrosse boys by going to Port Hope with them today. Excursion rate 75 cents.

A return fare of 75 cents has been arranged for all who care to accompany the Athletic Lacrosse team to Port Hope. The train leaves at 12.10.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

Bargain day in raspberries, watermelons, peaches, bananas, cucumbers and tomatoes at J. B. Oke's. Telephone 304.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking of his beauties. He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. Sale room, 45 Yonge-st., and 45 King street west is most important when health is concerned. Why is Bates; bread the best? Because it is made from home brewed yeast, and No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat. It will keep moist and sweet longer than any other bread. Walter Bates, manufacturer and proprietor, 654 Stewart street.

GOOD SWEET BREAD

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 102 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

ARE TERROR STRICKEN.

GOMEZ'S THREAT TO DESTROY THE PLANTATIONS.

Gomez's Good Generalship—300 Spaniards Under Sanchez Badly Routed—Messenger Hanged by the Spanish Officers—Outrages by Soldiers.

Special to the Times.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA July 24.—On the 12th instant an encounter took place in Cacoa, District of Manzillo, between Spanish troops, under Commander Sanchez, with 300 men, and the rebel leader, Rabi, with 800 followers. Commander Sanchez learned where Rabbi was encamped and sent a messenger to Col. Aimaz, notifying him of the location. The messenger was caught by the rebels, and after his despatches were read he was hanged. The rebels then sent a taunting message to Sanchez, informing him of the fate of his messenger. Sanchez and his men lost no time in moving on the rebel camp, and a severe battle followed. It ended in another terrible defeat for the Spaniards. They were routed and put to flight after many were killed and wounded Maximo Gomez has Puerto Principi beseiged, not allowing any one to enter with provisions. On the 13th inst. the insurgents caught a milkman who had been previously notified not to carry milk to the city, and he was hanged by the order of Gomez. The country people of the district are as the soldiers are committing many outrages. The owners of sugar plantations in the Camaguay district were about to begin to grind cane when they received orders from Gomez to postpone operations. The order was accompanied by the threat that if it was not obeyed he would set fire to the plantations and hang the employes. The latter became afraid, and all left their places. They had no money to pay their fares to Puerto Principi and his Government, fearing that they would join the rebels, bought them tickets to the city. The health of the city continues very bad. During the first fortnight of the present month there were four hundred deaths, many of them caused by yellow fever. The disease has also developed among the soldiers in the country. This was unexpected, as it is generally confined to the ports. The military hospital is crowded with sick soldiers, and the hospitals or infirmaries in the country are also crowded.

STRICKEN WITH TERROR

GOMEZ'S SUPERIOR SKILL.

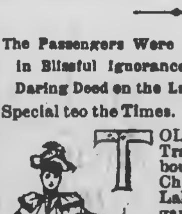
LONDON, July 24.—The Times commenting on the situation in Cuba will say: "At every turn Gomez has outgeneralled the Spaniards. The troops have suffered harrassing attacks from the insurgents and still more from the climate. It is no wonder that the Spanish officers are discontented over their leader's generalship, although it is deplorable that they do not keep their dissatisfaction to themselves Unless they can capture the rebel chiefs it is unlikely that the disastrous struggle will be indefinitely postponed. The Times expresses sympathy with the inhabitants who, it says, have but two good reasons for profound dissatisfaction with Spain. The paper urges that reasonable concessions be made by Spain to moderate Cuban autonomists."

NERVY TRAIN ROBBERS.

THEY RODE OUT OF A BUSH, RIFLED THE SAFE AND RODE AWAY.

The Passengers Were Left Undisturbed and in Blissful Ignorance of the Hold-up—A Daring Deed on the Lake Shore Road.

Special teo the Times.



TOLEDO, O., July 24.—Train No. 37, the westbound New York and Chicago express on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad, was held up by six masked men at 12.30 this morning at a lonely place in the woods known as Reece Siding, between Archibald and Striker, Ohio., ten miles west of Wauseon. The train stops there to let the eastern express pass.

The latter train was approaching when the robbery took place. The robbers were mounted and rode out of the woods, which are dense and close to the track.

Conductor Darling, who was standing near one of the coaches, was ordered inside at the point of a revolver. Admission to the express car was secured, and the messenger was forced to open the safe.

The robbers were evidently entirely famillar with the train, and it is thought employees of the road or of the express company were implicated either as principals or confederates. It was undoubtedly known to the band that there was a large sum of money in the safe. The amount reported to have been obtained by them is $8 000. but it is believed that a much larger sum was taken.

No attempt was made to molest the passengers, none of whom knew anything of the occurrence. When the thieves had secured the contents of the safe they rode quietly away. The country is being scoured.

DISASTROUS WASHOUT.

Houses Wrecked at El Paso, Texas, Yesterday.

Special to the Times.

EL PASO, Texas, July 24.—Silver City, N.M., was visited Sunday by the most disastrous washout in its history. The town is located on the side of a hill and in a gulch. A cloud burst above it and almost without warning a tremendous avalanche of water swept over the town from several points. Probably half the business part of the place was washed away, and in the main street sand and debris were piled up to the windows of the houses. The post office building was destroyed and the Tremont, Timmer and Broadway hotels were wrecked.

HOUSES TUMBLED DOWN

all over the town. Gillette & Son lost $12,000 worth of stock. Buildings were washed away and five miles of the Sante Fe track was torn up. The loss is estimated at $150,000. Silver City has 3,000 inhabitants. No lives are reported lost.

CRAIG'S ROAD DISASTER.

Verdict as to the Cause of the Fatal Collision.

Special to the Times.

QUEBEC, July 24.—The coroner's verdict in the Craig's Road accident was rendered at half past four o'clock this afternoon. The verdict was drafted in French and the following is a synopsis of the original: "That the deaths occurring at Craig's Road, County of Levis, on July the 19th were due to a shock to the nervous system of deceased, caused by the collision of two trains of the Grand Trunk Railway Co. of Canada, running in the same direction.

"Further, the jury is of opinion that said collision is due to the carelessness and incompetency of the employees of said company then in charge of one of said trains, nameyl, the train driver, by Engineer McLeod.

"Moreover the jury shares the opinion that the 'block system' as enforced on certain railway lines would enforce security to passengers if applied to the Grand Trunk Ry. Co. of Canada.

"The employees of the Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada should be made to undergo an examination for color blindness once a year.

"Furthermore, the jury regrets that it has been duly established by evidence that Driver McLeod in charge of Conductor McCabe's train, supplied himself with a quart of beer at Arthabaska station, this being strictly against the company's rules."

SOMERVILLE IN JAIL.

HE WAS ARRESTED PENDING THE CORONER'S INVESTIGATION.

Thought to be the Man who Led Miss James to Ruin and Then Induced Her to Undergo the Operation Which Caused Her Death.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 24.—Albert Somerville, who is generally regarded as the seducer of Sarah James, the school teacher, upon whom an inquest was held yesterday, was taken into custody by Detective Slemin at 3 o'clock this morning at the village of Creemore, Simcoe County, and was brought back to Toronto. He will be retained as a material witness, whose presence is required at the resumed inquest tomorrow evening. Slemin first went to Banda, Somerville's parents reside, and was there told that the young man was at Creemore, He at once set out for that place and roused him from his bed to begin a compulsory journey to Toronto.

THE ONLY CHANCE LEFT HER.

Dr. Edmund King, who was called in for consultation and who participated in the operation of removing the body of the dead child, states that this step was a last resort. An operation gave the unfortunate girl another chance for life. To leave her alone meant her death in 33 hours.

"Upon what charge is Somerville held?" a reporter asked Inspector Stark.

"Simply as a material witness," said the inspector.

"Is he under arrest?"

"Well he is detained," said the Inspector.

"Could he leave if he wished?"

"Oh, no," said the Inspector, smiling.

The inquest will be held in St. Andrew's hall, instead of in No. 3 police station as at first announced.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquires with regard to a Canadian Discovery.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Postmortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys, and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

CANADA AND BELGIUM.

A Direct Steamship Line Between the Two Countries.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 24.—J. G. Macquall, agent for the Belgium Steamship Company, had an interview this morning with Bowell, Foster and Ouimet with reference to the establishment of a direct steamship line between Canadian and French and Belgian ports. The tender of this company is the lowest, and it is believed the contract will be entered into at once and a service to Montreal commenced this summer.

Troops Will be Sent out.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The Secretary of the Interior has requested the Secretary of War to send troops to the scene of the Indian disturbances in Wyoming, and it is understood that the request will be granted as soon as the official papers are received by the Secretary of War, and that troops will be ordered out instantly to the vicinity of the trouble.

A Brantford Child Drowned.

BRANTFORD, July 24.—The body of Agnes the two year old daughter of Frank Clark, was found lying in the Grand River last evening in front of her father's door. No one saw her fall into the water, but it is supposed she was playing on the embankment at the spot indicated and fell over into the water, which though very shallow was sufficient to drown her.

Fatal Trial of a Hotchkiss Gun.

TOULON, July 24.—Further particulars regarding the accident at a gun trial yesterday at Bouvines show that Admiral Chateauminois, Lieut. Espinassy and another officer and several sailors were watching the trials of Hotchkiss guns, when a charge exploded while it was being inserted in the breach of the piece. Lieut. Espinassy's jaw was blown off and he was otherwise wounded. One sailor was killed and the admiral and the third officer present, as well as several sailors were slightly injured.

Escaped from a Burning Theatre.

BONN, July 24.—The Reichshaller Theatre was burned last night. The audience escaped and only one person was injured.

Montague Goes East.

OTTAWA, July 24.—Hon. Dr. Montague left for the Maritime Provinces this morning on a holiday trip.

HIS SPIRIT BROKEN.

HOLMES HAS LOST ALL NERVE SINCE HIS WIFE RENOUNCED HIM.

Connor Disappears After Saying His Evidence Would Hang the Fiend—A Chicago Man Who Built a Mysterious Furnace for the Fiend.

Special to the Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 24.—Detective Geyer will arrive from Detroit today to institute a thorough search for the trunk in which Holmes is believed to have removed the body of Howard Pietzel to Detroit.

The trunk so far seems to have baffled all the local detectives. It has been traced to the Union Depot, but no record can be found of it there and it is the opinion of the police that the trunk did not leave the city by train.

The expressman who took it to the depot left it at the baggage room door, but he did not see Holmes get a check for it, nor was he asked to help in taking the trunk in the depot.

Holmes appeared to be excited and it is believed the taking of the trunk to the depot was merely for the purpose of removing it from the hotel and that some person besides Holmes removed the trunk to the country and buried it.

The theory, however, cannot be confirmed by the testimony of any expressman.

HIS WIFE AGAINST HIM.

HOLMES COMPLETELY BROKEN DOWN IN SPIRIT TODAY.

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—The prison authorities said today that H. H. Holmes, the swindler and suspected murderer, was completely broken in spirit. Up to today he had hoped that the woman with whom he is said to have allied himself in Franklin, Ind., would stand by him, but she now says she will testify against him.

Thomas A. Fahey, counsel for Mrs. Pietzel received a letter yesterday from her father, who lives in Galva, Ill. The father says he believes that Holmes murdered the Pietzel children, and that a certain lawyer had a hand in doing away with Alice Pietzel.

Mr. Fahey denies that Mrs. Pietzel was an accomplice of Holmes in his swindling operations.

"Mrs. Pietzel," he says, "was under the influence of this man Holmes. She was controlled by him; my opinion is, that the woman is as innocent as a babe in the matter.

HOLMES' FURNACES.

HE HAD TWO BUILT TO USE IN HIS CHICAGO PLACES.

CHICAGO, July 24.—A member of a firm which manufacturers large oil burning furnaces was found yesterday, who was engaged by Holmes to adjust an oil burner to a furnace which he had built in the cellar that is now under investigation at Sixty-third street.

Holmes exhibited the furnace with reluctance. A burner was finally fitted to it, producing a temperature of 3,000 degrees. Holmes afterwards erected a similar furnace in a shed at 65th street, which has disappeared.

It is thought Holmes used one of these furnaces to dispose of his victims.

HOLMES IN A CELLAR.

STRANGE DOINGS IN A HOUSE HE OCCUPIED IN CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, July 24.—A new clue has been found by the detectives in the Holmes case They learned yesterday that in 1891, Holmes bought a house at 7,409 Honore street, from a man named Coe, and occupied it for a year.

It is reported that strange doings went on there. Every night, it is said, Holmes went into the basement, where he had stored a large amount of lumber, and worked for hours on some mysterious contrivance. After a year there Holmes rented his place and moved to Wilmette.

The police will make an investigation of the premises today.

CONNOR GOES AWAY.

SAYS HE KNOWS ENOUGH TO SEND HOLMES TO THE GALLOWS.

CHICAGO, July 24.—I. L. Connor, a former intimate friend of Holmes, who has had a jewellery store yesterday and left town within three hours. It is not known where he went.

He said yesterday: "If I should divulge all I know about Holmes I think he would feel the hangman's rope about his neck."

Connor was the husband of the woman whose nephew yesterday swore out a warrant charging Holmes with his aunt's murder. Connor has since remarried.

TO PULL DOWN HIS "CASTLE."

THE ONLY WAY OF CONTINUING THE SEARCH FOR TOMBS.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Within a few days the big brick block on the corner of 63rd and Wallace streets, where H. H. Holmes or Herman Mudgett carried on his crimes will probably lie in ruins.

When that is accomplished it is expected that the tombs of Minnie Williams, her sister Inn, Mrs. Julia L. Connor, and Gertrude Connor will be revealed.

In making a search of the building above the basement, the detectives found themselves baffled at nearly every step by the peculiar construction.

ALL HIS PRETTY ONES.

The Five Children of a Manitoba Farmer Lost in Lake Dauphin.

Special to the Times.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 24.—The five children of Alexander Bereh, a farmer of the Lake Dauphin district, near Winnipeg, were drowned Monday. The children, ranging in age from 5 to 15 years, went to the lake shore to bathe. Finding an old boat they pushed out into the lake. A stiff breeze carried the boat out. The children had no oars and could not get back. The high waves filled the boat; the children hung on to the boat until they were exhausted, when one by one they let go and disappeared. The parents and several neighbors were witnesses of the drowning, but not having a boat were unable to go to the rescue.

In the inventory of Prof. John Stuart Blackie's estate the copyrights of his works only amount to $426.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 25 1895.

A saloon-keeper in New-York is charged with issuing bogus advertisements for "help wanted" in order to induce poor men out of employment to come to his place and spend their money for drink A meaner sort of swindle could hardly be imagined.

The Mohammedans of northwestern China have broken out in insurrection against the Imperial Government. They were in insurrection some 30 years ago and were never conquered, the revolt finally dying out as much from lack of opposition as any thing else. Chinese authority over the Mohammedans of this region has been little more than a name since that time.

That old and esteemed friend of the reading public, the European war-cloud, has re-appeared, and demands attention. He has been long in retirement having withdrawn from active life owing to sheer over-work. In pristine vigor, however, he returns to give assurance that war may break out any day, and deluge Europe with blood. But the war-cloud, like the cry of wolf, arouses no uneasiness, because he has threatened us so long. Weary of waiting, Canada has taken up the Manitoba school question, which satisfies every local craving for blood, and keeps the politicians employed. It is absolutely necessary that some public issue of the kind be kept alive, or the taxpayers might fall to discussing the merits of the politicians themselves, which would be disastrous—to the politicians. The murder of an ex-Premier in Bulgaria is certainly a disquieting occurrence, and may lead to trouble, but let us hope the best. When the oft-predicted war comes in Europe, it will probably originate in some unexpected quarter, while the eyes of the prophets are steadily fixed on the Balkans.

MANITOBA WILL NOT RECEDE.

The Winnipeg Tribune says Manitoba will not recede no matter to what recourse she may be put to defend her position.

This is the answer of Premier Greenway to the expression of hope by Premier Bowell and Finance Minister Foster that the Province would relieve the Dominion from embarrassment by re-establishing Separate schools by Provincial enactment

When Parliament meets in January the school question will be in precisely the same position that it was when forty Ontario Conservative members balked on being brought face to face with it at the session just closed.

GREENWAY CAN DO NOTHING.

There is a great deal of foolish theorizing about what Greenway would do for Laurier if his friends were in power, and what he will not do for Bowell when his enemies are in power.

Greenway is merely the representative of a province which accepts his services on its own terms. He is powerful in the strength of its desires. His power ceases when he ceases to serve those desires.

The Manitoba Government depends for life upon the favor of people who care no more for Laurier than they do for Bowell. Greenway is probably in accord with public opinion, which opposes a compromise to oblige Mackenie Bowell, and he would have to be in accord with the public opinion which would oppose a compromise to oblige Wilfrid Laurier. The talk is that the school question is the work of the politicians, but the truth is, that it is the work of the people.

A MAIDEN SOLILOQUY.

A yacht can lay over on a tack
And hold her nose in the spray,
But a girl wouldn't relish such sport as that,
Because she's not built that way!

A girl can reach, as well as a yacht,
And run for an (oyster) bay;
But she cannot carry a spinnaker boom
Because she's not built that way!

A girl, like a yacht, can luff and fill,
And at times she can stop in stays;
But she cannot carry a baby-jib
Because she's not built that way!

A yacht can stand ten miles on a leg,
And can make her cables pay,
But a girl can hardly hold out so long
Because she's not built that way!

A yacht can hug up a sea-girt shore
And salute the flagship May,
But a girl would much rather hug her beau
Because she is built that way.

The Old Man Was Canny.

A Durham miner, aged seventy-three, visited a Newcastle lawyer (a bachelor) for the purpose of making his will. The old man's property consisted of two small cottages, which had cost him $150, and a little furniture.

The lawyer having asked his client how he wished to dispose of his property, the latter replied: "Ma old woman hes to hev all so long as she's my widdow. Efter that ma beairns gets all."

"What age is your old woman?" asked the lawyer.

"Seventy-two," replied the miner.

"And how long have you and your wife been married?" asked the lawyer.

"Over fifty years," replied the miner.

Thereupon the laywer suggested to his client that he should give the wife the interest during her life, whether she continued a widow or otherwise.

"Hinney, aa wipnot; aa'll hev ma aan way," said the miner.

"But surely," replied the lawyer, "you don't expect your old woman, now seventy-two years old, would marry again after your death?"

The miner, looking the lawyer full in the face, answered with much solemnity: "Wey, hinney, thor's nae knaaning what young cheps like yourself will de for money."—Pearson's Weekly.

The Tables Turned.

"Henry," said Mrs. Meekins, as she put the finishing touches to her toilet preparatory to a bicycle ride, "I dislike to hurt your feelings."

"Do you, my dear?"

"Certainly, but I can't wear the neckties that you bought for me. They are simply outrageous combinations of color. There is one thing that a man should never undertake, and that is to select his wife's cravats and sus-penders."—Washington Star.

Makes All the Difference.

Mother-in-law (severely)—I'll have you to understand that my daughter was raised with some regard to religion and morality! It is better you two should separate now, if the pleasures of the gaming table appeal more to you than your home.

Jack Potts—Well, mother, the ninety I won last night puts me some three hundred ahead of the game.

Mother-in-Law (playfully)—You naughty, naughty boy!—Puck.

Santa's Remarks.

Rev. M. Wilgus—Aud did you ever see Santa Claus, Tommy?

Tommy—Yes, sir. I seen him last year when he come into my room to fill up my stocking. He was a fat man with white whiskers, and he kinder wabbled in his walk, and his breath smelled like cloves.

And Mr. Figg, who had been telling the minister how he "played Santa" a year ago, smiled a sort of sickly smile.—Philadelphia Record.

Method in Their Madness.

The Mede—Seemeth not to thee, O Persian! that we Medes and Persians are chumps for having laws that can never be changed?

The Persian—Not on thy life, O Mede! For we know just how to get around these old laws; whereas, if we should change them, we would have to pay a lot of lawyers to discover holes in the new ones.—Judge.

Hard Times.

Old Woman (to undertaker)—Bad weather for us poor folk, sir, but very good for the likes of you. Undertaker (sadly)—Weather, indeed! What's the good of a cold winter to me, when we've got the new Sanitary Committee down our way? Would you believe it, lady, we had 197 less deaths last year in consequence! Call that business?

could see a blaze in the glistening eyes. On they came, hussars, lancers, dragoons, with all the pomp and glory and magnificence of war mingled with the mystery of the world unknown. There rode Major Halket. His proud, handsome face set firmly and unflinchingly, his sword clinched in his hand, as it was found next day when they raised his body from the blood-soaked soil. Then came Lord Fitzgibbon. You knew him, Lang, and so did I, since as children we played together in the green woods of Mount Shannon. He was pointing a shadowy finger ahead, and his attitude was as if he was calling to his hussars following close behind. As he dashed by he recognized me, and a sad, oh! what a sad smile, flitted across the pallid face for an instant as he tossed a last farewell to me, in his careless, boyish style, and disappeared into the mist. Next came Pigott, the Lovelace of the Seventeenth. The same serene light in those eyes that had broken many a maiden's heart in the drawing-rooms of Belgravia. And Hackett—Hackett of the Fifth—"the saint," as we of the First Royals used to call him, that upright, God-fearing, great-hearted man, whose name was called on the muster roll of heaven ere the sun set next day. His eyes were now fixed on the murky sky above, his face bore the calm, assured, expectant look that Jerome must have worn at the stake. He was galloping far in advance of his men, as if anxious to obtain his recompense. In a flash he disappeared into the dark

The gusts of icy winds accompanying the rush of the phantoms were now declining in their force, the rumbling noise that had risen to the roar of a temptest during their progress past was now quieting down. As the last line of charging horse passed from my sight I saw a shadowy lieutenant of the Guards beside me. He pointed in the direction whither they had gone, a scornful smile was on his spectral face. His hollow voice echoed tauntingly in my ear:

"'So Major Hurst, of the First Royals, prefers discretion to valor because he belongs to the heavy and not to the light brigade!'

"I aimed a blow at my traducer, but my hand only struck into the empty air.

"He laughed a mocking laugh, and again pointing down the valley said, 'Go!'

"The warm nose of my horse, who had returned, was pressing against my hand.

"'I will show you that at least one of the "heavies" can do as well as the men of the light brigade!' I cried, jumping into the saddle and galloping off after the vanished cavalry. I felt like one bereft of his senses. I galloped on and on in the dark until I saw again the white streak approaching me in a contrary direction and the rumbling echoing in the rear. A second and it burst upon my sight. But what a change! Horses, riderless, terrified, wounded, maddened with excitement. Not a single form of soldier passed. Riderless horses! Riderless horses! Riderless horses! Here and there opaque spots upon the shadowy saddles, showing where human blood had rushed down. I drew aside from the apparent stampede of ghostly steeds and waited. Then I saw another white streak approaching. It came nearer! It was upon me! The fur caps, the long riding coats, the leggings, the long lances, and, above all, the superb horsemanship displayed told me that they were the Cossacks of the czar. But their faces were as rigid as the dead. Instead of their habitual yells, in victory or defeat, not a sound escaped from the tightly closed lips. As I gazed like a man walking in his sleep I saw one of the silent host bearing full upon me, his lance in rest, his cold, dead eyes holding me transfixed so that I could not move a limb. I felt my charger tremble beneath me, but he never made an effort to break away. A moment more and a pang shot through my heart. Then all seemed dark, save for an occasional star shooting by. The stars increased in number; then more and more, until they formed a disk like the full moon, that again was transfigured into a sun, whose intense light almost blinded me. I struggled to place my hands over my eyes, and as I did so I heard a voice above me say:

"'He's coming to. My! but it was a close call.'

"I opened my eyes, I was lying swathed in blankets in the tent of one of the boys of the Ninety-third. My limbs and body were tingling from recent friction, and five bearded faces were peering anxiously into my half-opened eyes.

"I recognized Heathcoate. Poor Heathcoate that was afterward killed at Delhi, just after being gazetted as colonel for his gallant corps.

"'Why, old man,' he said, joyfully, 'you were near saving the Russians a job! I found you lying stiff and stark near the Grodno road, as our boys came along to help the Twenty-sixth drive back the attack on the outposts. We brought you here and have had a big job getting you round. It's a wonder you are not minus toes and fingers, but there's only the tip of your ear frozen.'

"'And,' added my father, touching the uneven surface of his left ear, 'there is the mark where the Russian frost bit me,' but the vision I saw that night is, in view of the events of the following day, far more indelibly implanted in my memory."

The Whistling or Musical Tree.

The musical tree is a native of the West Indies, growing abundantly on all the islands of that group except Jamaica. It has a very peculiarly shaped pod which is split open along the edge, and the wind whistling through thousands of these shell-like pods produces the sound which gives the tree its name. A species of acacia, which grows very abundantly in the Soudan, is also called the "whistling tree," for similar reasons.

Sweeping Without Dust.

A Peterboro' merchant says: "I sweep my floor without raising a bit of dust. The brooms are dipped in coal oil before sweeping. The odor is unpleasant at first, but a few minutes' airing serves to remedy that evil. The oil takes up every particle of dust and leaves the floor as clean as when first laid. I have been using the oil in this way for six months and am satisfied that the scheme is good."

The Bridegrooms of Berlin.

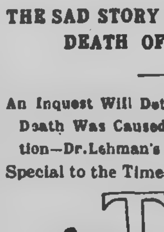
The marriage statistics for 1896, which are just out, show that the Nestor of bridegrooms at Berlin during that year was a widower aged eighty-three, whose bride had arrived at the age of three score years and three. Nine men, all widowers over seventy, married again in the same year. At the other end of the line stand forty-four girls, aged sixteen, who married men of various ages, the youngest bachelor being just nineteen.

BETRAYAL AND DEATH.

THE SAD STORY SURROUNDING THE DEATH OF MISS JAMES.

An Inquest Will Determine Whether or Not Death Was Caused by a Criminal Operation—Dr. Lehman's Story.

Special to the Times.



TORONTO, July 23.—The story of the death of Miss Sarah James at 49 Bellevue avenue, referred to yesterday, promises to be replete with sad details. Her father is Walton James, a farmer who lives near Utica P.O., in the Township of Uxbridge, and she has been employed as a school teacher at Corbetton, Grey County, until the beginning of the present holidays. While there she met a young farmer named Albert Somerville, of Banda, an affection sprung up between them and it was finally settled that they were to be married. When her school closed she went for a fortnight to Somerville's home, and she then left and came to Toronto. On July 9 she appeared at the house of Mrs. Doherty, 49 Bellevue avenue, and said that she had been advised to come there for a week or two to rest and recover her health, which was not in good condition. She did not mend, however, and matters became so serious that on Saturday Mrs. Doherty telegraphed for the girl's mother and for young Somerville. Both came at once and remained until her death, which took place yesterday forenoon.

A DANGEROUS STATEMENT.

The matter reached the ears of the police through George Hewson, 71 Palmerston avenue, a friend of the James family who had been called in before Miss James died.

In a conversation with Somerville, so he alleges, the latter stated that he had paid $40 to a doctor presumably to produce an abortion, and if he had done the job properly no trouble would have arisen. This statement was repeated to Inspector Johnson and the police interfered just in time to prevent the removal of the body for burial.

Coroner Johnson was notified and he issued a warrant for an inquest. After this the deceased was removed to Edmund J. Humphrey's undertaking establishment at 407 Queen street west.

PAINS IN HER ABDOMEN.

Dr. Lehman, who had attended the young woman in her last illness, states that she called on him a week ago Wednesday complaining of pains in her abdomen. He at first suspected inflammation and prescribed accordingly, but on the following Tuesday he had grown suspicious and on being closely questioned she admitted that she was pregnant and that she thought the infant was dead. Dr. E. E. King was called in consultation and it was decided that to save the girl's life an operation was necessary. On Wednesday this was done but it did not avail. The doctor inclined to the belief that noxious drugs had been administered by some one. He had never seen or heard of the lady until her first visit to him as mentioned above.

DR. LEHMAN RECOMMENDED THE HOUSE.

Mrs. Doherty states that her new lodger complained of having taken ill on the train and told her that Dr. Lehman had recommended the house as a suitable one in which to board. Mrs. Doherty grew suspicious and persuaded Miss James to tell all. The mother was telegraphed for and then, at the girl's request, Somerville was summoned too,

Special rates have been quoted on live horses from Idaho and Arizona to Portland.

MET A WATERY GRAVE.

Sad Drowning of Professor Magee of Toronto.

Special to the Times.

BURLINGTON, July 23.—A sad drowning accident occurred on Hamilton Bay this afternoon. Dr. Magee of Toronto University, was visiting Mr. Parks, also of Toronto University and then went out for a sail, accompanied by Mr. Park's younger brother. When about a mile from the Brant House they all went in for a swim. When about 50 yards from the boat Magee called for help and on Parks' going to his assistance they both sank under the water and finally got separated. Parks and his brother got ashore but the former fainted from exhaustion. On the alarm being given several boats went to try and recover the body but darkness set in and will not likely be found tonight. Grappling irons will be got from the city and search kept up. Prof. Magee was a most promising member of the University staff and resided with his mother on Sussex avenue, Toronto.

CUPID AND PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

SMOKING IN THE HOUS

ONE ROOM AT LEAST SHOULD BE FREE FROM ITS ODOR.

Women Tolerate the Fumes of Tobacco Because the Men of Their Hearts and Homes Like to Smoke, But They Would Much [illegible] Smoke.

Women have various degrees of liking for the fumes of tobacco smoke. To some it is utterly reprehensible; others have a certain tolerance for it, while the majority will tell a man that they either like it, that they are really fond of the fumes of a good cigar, or that they have been "seasoned" and do not mind smoke. If the majority of women were to be truthful about the matter men would find that they have only a certain educated tolerance for it, based upon the knowledge that the men of their hearts and homes like to smoke, and so they put up with it as well as they can. In short, women tolerate tobacco smoke, for the most part, because they feel they have to. As a matter of fact the fumes of any cigar, no matter how good the brand, can be nothing else than instinctively distasteful to the sensitive organism of any woman. Women have a charming way of hiding their feelings in this matter, but the feeling is there just the same. All things being equal, that is, if the average wife knew her husband would be just as happy and contented without smoking as with it, she would prefer him without the smoking.

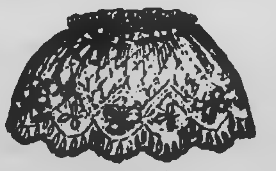
This being so, and it only admits of a fancied denial, it becomes men to regulate their smoking in the house. A man's idea of a home is a place where one room is the same as another, so far as his comfort is concerned. And women, as a rule, have never interposed any strenuous objection to this mental picture of man. A very charming woman not long ago struck the keynote of the whole situation as it is most conducive to the fullest happiness when she said: "I want my husband to feel that he and his friends can smoke in any room in this house save one, our bed-chamber. That I want to keep free from the cigar." To many, particularly so to well-bred persons, it may seem strange that any word of comment should be necessary on the subject of men smoking in the bed-chambers of their homes. Yet its strangeness does not rob the matter of the necessity of it. The vast majority of men would not think of smoking in a bed-chamber. At the same time it is well sometimes to write to the minority. "A gentleman, surely, would not do it," said a woman recently, and yet when she went over the list of her friends she found that she knew one or two of her them who had mentioned the fact to her that their husbands did smoke in their sleeping apartments. And she was compelled to confess that she esteemed these men in the light of gentlemen.

It is unfortunate when the fumes of tobacco are so offensive to a woman that she cannot tolerate her husband's smoking at home. For if there is one place and one time above all others when and where a man enjoys his cigar it is in his home after dinner, the hour which is truly the man's hour. But every woman has a right to ask of her husband that the fumes of tobacco shall be excluded from her room. It is not too much to ask; it is no more than any man will concede to his wife. The cause for the request upon the part of the one or the concession upon the part of the other should never rise. But where it does arise, or exists, the right of the wife is as plain and indisputable as the error of the husband is palpable. No man, with the best wishes of his wife at heart, will ever introduce the fumes of tobacco into a bed-chamber occupied by his wife as well as by himself. There should be one room in the house where a woman has the benefit of her own instinctive preferences.

A Simple Lamp Shade.

To make a pretty lace shade for an ordinary sewing lamp, a yard of cream-colored lace edging, ten inches wide, and three yards of narrow pink satin ribbon will be required.

First sew the ends of the lace together; then thread one end of the ribbon into a tape needle and run it in and out through the meshes of the lace about an inch from the upper edge, draw it up enough to make it fit easily over the globe, and tie it in a double bow with short ends.



LAMP SHADE.

Make the rest of the ribbon into little bows, and tack them on at regular intervals around the shade.

A lining of thin, pink silk would make the shade still prettier, but for unskilled fingers it might be a little difficult to arrange.

Dining-Room Etiquette.

The woman who accepts an invitation to a dinner or a lunch party and neglects to answer it, or, if accepted, neglects to appear or send an apology, is either ill-bred or uninformed as to the common usages of society.

Only the most extraordinary circumstances can justify ones being late to a formal dinner or luncheon. On the other hand, do not put in an appearance an hour before the time appointed, as, presumably, the hostess will not be in readiness to receive you. Ten or fifteen minutes in advance of the hour is quite enough. Ladies may remove their hats or not at a luncheon, but the present fashion is in favor of keeping them on.

It is suggested that a multiplicity of knives, forks, spoons and small plates on the dinner table, especially if guests are present who are accustomed to dining simply at home, savors of vulgarity. It is better, in such cases, to bring fresh supplies of these articles as each course is served. Otherwise embarrassment is apt to ensue, and this is a sure foe to enjoyment.

Summer Comforts.

Window screens of black mosquito netting, when the wire screens cost more than one can well afford.

Piazza shades made of striped awning cloth fastened on a stout brass rod by means of dress rings. These curtains can easily be pushed to one side when desired.

A strong, serviceable hammock, swung on the piazza or between trees, and furnished with a couple of big downy pillows covered with bright plaided gingham.

A folding piazza chair covered with canvas, that can be made into a couch if desired. This should also be furnished with at least two down pillows and an afghan.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

ROBBED AND MURDERED.

A Buffalo Man Killed and Thrown into the Canal.

Special to The Times.

BUFFALO, N.Y., July 23.—The body of John Cotter of Albama street was fished out of the canal this morning and a stab discovered in the groin. One of the pants pockets was turned inside out. It appears a case of robbery and murder. Cotter was a laborer in good health and had been missing since Saturday night. The police are working on the case.

SWEPT INTO ETERNITY.

The Terrible Effects of a Cyclone in New Mexico.

Special to the Times.

DEMING, N.M., July 23.—A terrible cyclone visited New Mexico today and the town of Silver City is said to be almost totally destroyed and rumors are that 30 people have been killed. Reports cannot yet be verified as all communication with the town is cut off. Couriers from the surrounding country have gone to get details but it will be hard for them to reach Silver City as all bridges have been demolished.

STRANGE INFATUATION.

A Married Woman Elopes With a Young Girl.

Special to the Times.

SALT LAKE, Utah, July 23.—Salt Lake has developed an elopement affair which rivals the famous Alice Mitchell and Fred Ward affair. On Thursday Mrs. Bowden, the young and handsome wife of an electrician, abandoned her home, husband and baby and went away with a good looking 17 year old girl, named Edith Horn, and the two took lodgings together. They remained in seclusion and eluded the husband and officers till Sunday, when they were located, and Bowden forced his wife to accompany him home. The women are completely infatuated with each other and declare they cannot be kept apart. Both parties belong to old families here, and the singular affection has created quite a sensation.

"LYNCH THE UMPIRE."

Crowd at Quincy, Ill., Try to Avenge Adverse Decisions.

Special to the times.

QUINCY, Ill., July 23.—At the close of Saturday's Peoria-Quincy game some one yelled "Lynch the umpire!" and in an instant 500 men rushed upon the diamond. The Peoria players surrounded the umpire, Frank Heath, of Pontiac, Ill., and with their bats held the crowd off until the police arrived. Several blows landed on Heath, but they were not of a serious character. The management had expected trouble because of Heath's decisions against the home team for the past two days have been the talk of the town, and a dozen police officers were detailed to attend the game today. But for their presence, Heath would have been roughly handled and probably killed. The officers escorted him to his hotel amid flying missiles, cushions, hoots and jeers. Several of the officers were struck by stones and one lady was knocked down. Friends took her away before it could be learned how badly she was injured.

DON'T THINK SUICIDE A SIN.

Flippant Letter Left by a Man Who Killed Himself.

Special to the Times.

TOPEKA, Kan., July 23.—An unknown man, whose name is thought to be Frank Rogers, committed suicide here today and made merry over his act. In a vest pocket memorandum book, a note, correctly spelled and well written, was found in which he said:

"I really see no use in trying the struggle against fate. I think I will shuffle off this mortal coil and see how a pair of wings will affect my equilib. What a nice subject my stiff will be for a doctor! Is a man a coward who ends his own existence? Some say so, but just try and see. Is it a sin to do so? I do not think so, in some cases—this one, for instance. Will see you later, say about judgment day. Will that suit? Well, that is all."

He had evidently signed his name and address to the note and then erased it. On the top of the next page of the note book has written in the Morse telegragh alphabet: "My name is Mud." His home was evidently New York.

Now as Strong as Ever.

"My wife and myself have used Hood's Sarsaparilla and we have also given it to our children. It has strengthened us and has relieved me of lame back. I am now feeling as strong as I ever did."—David McGeorge, caretaker Colt Institute, Galt, Ont.

Hood's Pills cure biliousness.

Durant's Trial Began.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23.—The trial of Wm. Henry Theodore Durant for the murder of Blanche Lamont, in a Baptist church last April, began yesterday. At the conclusion he was tried for the murder of Minnie Williams, committed in the same edifice.

A COMPLETE FAILURE

Is the Apple Crop in the Vicinity of London.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 24.—The Free Press says: "The apple crop in this district is an almost complete failure and the biggest orchards we have will not yield five bushels all told. The frosts between the 12th and 21st of May just caught the blossom as it was setting and destroyed the prospects of fruit. Farmers here will have to buy their apples this season and will have to look to some outside source for a supply."

TO PREVENT COLLISIONS AT SEA.

A New York Electrician has Invented a Compass That Will Give Warning.

P. P. O'Brien, a New York electrican, has invented a compass which he says will avert all danger of collisions at sea.

"There is one thing connected with my invention," he said to a New York World reporter, "which I cannot make public. That is the component parts of a chemical fluid which is placed in the base of the compass. This fluid, by the way, will go a long way towards proving that in the very near future chemistry will play a very important part in the work of utilizing the enormous forces of electricity.

"It is only three years ago that I made a recipe, if it may be called such, of this fluid. I had known something of the action of electricity on certain chemicals, and in the course of my experiments with my compass I made several fluids, all of different strengths. One day, with several friends, I went to Lake Mahopac to test the compass. The affair worked perfectly when the contents of one of the bottles was used, very badly with others, and again not at all with some.

"I was delighted when I found that the compass was a success with one of the mixtures. One of my friends casually asked me how the contents of that bottle differed from the others. Then I realized that I had made a fatal error. I had not marked the bottle, and was as much at sea about it as my friend. That was three years ago. I set to work at once to rectify my mistake and spent several thousand dollars in having the contents of that bottle analyzed, but all to no purpose. Perseverance pays, however, for sevral months ago I succeeded in getting a formula for the successful mixture.

"The compass is about two and one-half inches in diameter and three inches high. Under the needle is a strip of metal. Beneath the face of the compass is a saucer, in which the chemical I spoke of is placed. The whole is connected electrically with an enlarged horseshoe magnet 10 feet long made of soft iron bars 12 inches wide. The poles of the magnet are connected by wire with the ship's dynamo, thus giving us the electrical power.

"The moment a ship enters the magnetic field of the vessel which carries my compass, which I calculate at six miles, the needle of the compass is deflected in the direction of that ship. In turning it passes over the metal plate on the face, and as it does so it closes an electric circuit which sets alarm bells ringing, telling of the approach of the other vessel.

"When I first brought my compass to the notice of shipping men the cry was at once raised that the magnet would seriously affect the ship's steering compass. Such is not the fact, for this can be protected in the way usually adopted in all steel and iron ships. This is done by laying narrow strips of brass, flush with the deck, around the compass. These strips act as a fence, as it were, against all magnetic influences on board.

"I was on the steamer La Gascogne six years ago, looking at the compass. Suddenly I noticed the needle shake and turn half way around. Capt. Santelli, who was near me at the time, and of whom I asked an explanation of the matter, pointed to a steamer four miles off. 'That steamer,' said he, 'is loaded either with steel rails or canned goods. It has deflected our needle by magnetic attraction.' That set me to thinking, and my magnet is the result.

"Two weeks ago I made an appointment with certain persons connected with the Navy Department, and before going I decided to make a final test of the magnet and compass. With a couple of friends we hired a tug. We steamed up, down and across the bay, the magnet and compass working perfectly all the time.

"I am not at liberty to tell whom I saw in Washington, or what was said, but I do not think that I violate any confidences when I say that this summer experiments will be made in rough water on a vessel furnished by the navy. More than that I cannot say at present.

"Friends have advised me to part with my invention for a lump sum offered by a syndicate of local steamship men, but I refused thinking that the Government can put it to better use, as it will not seek to monopolize it, but will aid in placing it on the ships of every nation. Of course, I am selfish enough to believe it will be better for me in the end."

IT DIDN'T WORK.

How W. Raymond McIntyre of Toronto, Attempted a Swindle.

Special to The Times.

ROCHESTER, July 24.—A tall young man, with smooth face, who said his name was W. Raymond McIntyre, and that he was engaged in establishing branch offices for the firm of McIntyre Bros., importers of jewelry, of Toronto, walked into a leading jewelry store here yesterday, and after displaying a business card of this supposed firm, he jollied the proprietor several minutes, and said he would purchase a watch, "just for a joke, hoping you will return the compliment when you are in want of goods," and picked out a timepiece valued at $150. He then discovered that he had only $28 with him and tendered a cheque in payment for the rest. He had a card printed showing office rooms in the Power block. The Rochester jeweler said he would take down the number of the watch. He then quietly despatched a boy to the Power building and found the rooms were unoccupied. He then refused to accept the cheque, and the Canadian disappeared before an officer could be called.

AILSA AND BRITANNIA.

The Two Crack British Yachts Racing In Dublin Bay.

Special to the Times.

KINGSTON, Dublin Bay, July 24.—Ailsa and Britannia started at 10.30 this morning in the regatta of the Royal Irish Yacht Club. The breeze was light. Niagara and Dakota started at noon in the race for the 20 raters under the auspices of the same club.

FISHED UP TWO INFANTS.

Remarkable Catch of an Angler at a Summer Resort in Ohio.

Special to the Times.

DAYTON, O., July 24.—Charles Rhoden, while fishing Monday in the Miami, near Idylwild, a summer resort, pulled ashore a water-soaked and heavily laden coffee sack instead of a German carp which he declared to his companion was tugging at his line.

The sack contained the dead and decomposed bodies of two female infants, evidently twins. The head of one of the infants had been severed and was immersed in mud in one corner of the sack.

The coroner, who subsequently took charge of the bodies, is of the opinion that the babes were fully developed at birth, and that the bodies had been in the water for about two weeks. The sack also contained a stone weighing about ten pounds.

Listen To Reason J. A. S. & CO.

If we were continuing in business it would be foolishness to sell stocks at less than wholesale prices.

We're going out of business, and rapidity in closing our stock is more value to us than present profits.

Because we think the plan a good one we're selling direct to the consumer, though a large wholesale concern.

Weak, Tired, Nervous

Women, who seem to be all worn out, will find in purified blood, made rich and healthy by Hood's Sarsaparilla, permanent relief and strength. The following is from a well known nurse:

"I have suffered for years with female complaints and kidney troubles and I have had a great deal of medical advice during that time, but have received little, or no benefit. A friend advised me to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and I began to use it, together with Hood's Pills. I have realized more benefit from these medicines than from anything else I have ever taken. From my personal experience I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be a most complete blood purifier." MRS. C. CROMPTON, 71 Cumberland St., Toronto, Ontario.

After a New Trial.

Mr. Joseph Hooper, father of the unfortunate young man imprisoned for life on the charge of attempting to drown his wife, was in town this week soliciting signatures to a petition for a new trial. In Port Hope thirteen hundred signatures were obtained, and judging from the way the old gentleman was received in Cobourg we surmise our town will do even better than that.—Cobourg Post.

He "Worked" Peterborough.

Cannington Gleaner.—A man named James Arthur Stewart tramped into town on Friday evening. He is a nephew of Sir Francis Hincks, and at one time was manager of the old Upper Canada Bank. In the days of his prosperity he was the friend of Sir John Macdonald, Hon. Geo. Brown, Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, Hon. D. Arcy McGee, Hon. Edward Blake, and other prominent statesmen, but his love of strong drink was to much for him, and now he is just an ordinary common every day tramp. He was "dead broke" when he struck this town, but some kind friends supplied him with a few shillings and on Saturday afternoon he started out to tramp to Lindsay.

Stewart reached Peterborough some days ago and told the same story. He "worked" the newspaper offices and the banks, while nearly every law office in town was favored with a call. He managed to collect a good handful of shillings, and then left town.

SMALL FRUITS.

Raspberries Still Cheap—Apples and New Potatoes Lower.

Raspberries were easy again yesterday and retailed at from 7 to 9 cts. A good many pails came in, but from 3 to 8c. a pound was asked for them. They were dear at that price. Black raspberries retailed as high as 10c. a box.

Gooseberries are beginning to get scarce. They are selling at $1 a basket.

Apples are easier and can be had at from 20 to 30c. a peck, or from $1.75 to $3 a barrel.

New potatoes are also down. Yesterday they ranged at from 60 to 75c. a bushel. Thimble berries are 11c. a quart.

Tomatoes are still 5c. a pound and rather scarce.

Blueberries are worth $1.25 per basket.

PORT HOPE WINS.

But It Was in the Close Score of Two Goals to One.

The Athletics were defeated at Port Hope yesterday in one of the most hotly contested lacrosse matches of the season, and although the Athletics did not come off victorious, the members have good reason to feel proud of the splendid showing they made yesterday, for it was undoubtedly the best game ever put up by any of the lacrosse teams from Peterborough that have at different times crossed sticks with the Ontarios.

The Athletics left Peterborough at 12 o'clock accompanied by nearly 100 citizens who went along to see the match and encourage the home players by their presence. The team was composed of the following: Dobbin, goal; Boland, point; Lynch, cover point; Brown, Thompson and Joe McDonough, defence field; Tom McDonough, centre; Rubidge, Hickey and Galley, home field; Lipsett, outside home; and Jack McDonough, inside home.

About 600 people witnessed the game in Port Hope. The Ontarios had on their team the two White brothers, and this was their main strength. Port Hope secured the first and second goals, and then Peterborough scored. Peterborough clearly scored again, but it was not allowed. This would have made the score 2 to 2. On the home team Dobbin, Lipsett, McDonough and Thompson did some splendid work. Dobbin stopped a straight throw for goal in a manner that was loudly applauded. Lipsett checked White of the Ontarios in good style. The home team was weak in defense work and in this the Ontario's had a great advantage in the White brothers, who were veritable stone walls.

THE CHOIR MEET IS OFF.

Owing to the Inability to Secure Railroad Rates it is Cancelled.

The big choir meet which it was proposed to hold in Peterborough, has been given up, owing to the management not being able to secure such rates on the railroads as would have induced a large attendance. Prof. Winters has written the following letter to the press, in regard to the matter.

Editor Morning Times.

Peterborough, July 17th, 1895,

Dear sir,—Will you kindly announce through your columns that on account of the high railway rates agreed upon by both companies, I have been compelled to cancel our proposed choir gathering here on August 1st.

As neither Collingwood or Peterborough is a business centre, I was given to understand that we would be given rural district rates for our party, the same as last year for Sarnia, but on account of some agreement between the companies they now class our gathering as a demonstration and can only give us rates accordingly, which as we learned by experience at a meeting in London, last week, are practically prohibitive, as very often there are three or four members of the same family belonging to a choir, so that if the head of the family is called upon to pay high rates for a trip all cannot go, and when several members of a choir remain at home, the whole choir steps out.

From the replies received and coming in we would have had a party of 2,000 and a chorus of between five and eight hundred voices.

Am sorry the hitch has occurred and hope that at some future time we may get low rates for our party.

Thanking the musicians of Peterborough for their hearty cooperation and the press for the use of their columns in working up the project, I am

Respectfully yours,
Chas. A. Winter
Secretary.

THE CONGRESS OVER.

End of the Big Pan-American Gathering in Toronto.

Self congratulatory were the closing addresses at the Pan-American Congress. The first paper read was that of Rev. Henry Caroll, editor of the New York Independent, who spoke on the religious development of the United States. Having said that the absence of a State church is a matter of thankfulness, he proceeded to show how the church is entering into the lives of the citizens. There is not a necessity of mankind that it does not provide for, its missionary work is constantly increasing, it has taken up problems of municipal government. The church membership increased 42 per cent. during the ten years preceding 1891, which was 17 per cent. more than the increase of the population.

Rev. Dr. Sims pleaded for money, and stated that $200 was wanted, after which Mrs. Charles Henrotin, of Chicago, ex-Vice-President of the Women's Board of the World's Fair, spoke on "The Educational Value of Women's Clubs." She brought the house down by saying that the new woman was mentioned in the Bible, which contained a passage about Eve "in breeches." Therefore the bloomer woman is not "new." She told Toronto women to get to work and take their boys off the streets, and predicted that woman's reign is coming. Rev. Rc. Rogers moved a host of resolutions of thanks to every one and everybody connected with the congress including committees, choirs railroads and so on.

W. B. McMurrich and O. A. Howland, M.P.P., Dr. Carus, Secretary Sherin and President Smith congratulated the people on the success of the Congress. A committee was named to fix the next place of meeting.

Secretary Sherin said the Congress would not have been held here had it not been for the inducements held out by the railway companies.

"I think the world is fifty years ahead for the work of this Pan American Congress," said Arthur H. Wright, a Buffalo delegate today.

"It was a fine gathering. I never saw so many great broad minded, intellectual men gathered together on one platform before. Bringing Jew and Gentile, Protestant and Catholic together in this way must be of immense advantage to them all. I was surprised at the strictures of the press of Toronto. The small, carping spirit your papers showed here would not be tolerated a minute in an American city."

"It's hard to say whether this congress will become an annual affair or not," said Secretary Sherin in reply to a question. "It's one thing to pass a resolution and another to get men who understand such a gathering to take hold of it and advance the money necessary to carry it through. If you find a man with experience and funds it could be made a permanent success. Otherwise it cannot."

STRUCK ON THE HEAD.

James Dicks Injured by a Falling Belt Stick at the Electric Works.

Mr. James Dicks, a young man working at the Electric Works, and who resides on Patterson street, met with a serious accident yesterday which might have resulted fatally.

Dicks was working at a planing machine when a fellow workman who was shifting a belt with a belt stick, let it fall, and the heavy end struck Dicks on the head. In the end of the stick were several heavy bolts, and these tore a large wound in his head. Dicks had both hands employed at the time and could not ward off the falling stick in time.

Dr. King dressed the wound and Dicks is doing as well as can be expected.

No blame attaches to the workman who let the stick fall, as it was wrenched from his hand quite unexpectedly and the same thing might easily happen to anyone.

A young girl who was operating an insulator cutter at the Works yesterday had the end of a finger taken off in the machine.

ANOTHER GRASS FIRE.

A Residence Endangered by Burning Grass in Auburn.

Residents of Auburn were out fighting grass fires last night and thereby saved several residences from catching fire.

Between 7 and 8 o'clock the fire alarm sounded and the brigade went out to Auburn where they found that the grass was on fire surrounding the residence of Mrs. Robert Hamilton, and was burning the fences and lawn. In a few minutes the house would have caught and would doubtless been consumed.

The dry weather has caused everything in the way of vegetation to dry up, and a match thrown carelessly in the patch of grass will start a blaze. Citizens are cautioned to be very careful about throwing anything burning into the streets, such as matches, lighted cigars, or even ashes containing burning coals.

Trial by jury is itself being put on trial, says the Globe. In cases which have received considerable publicity it is almost impossible to get twelve intelligent men who have not read the particulars. Newspaper readers being practically excluded from jury service in case of any notoriety, the chances are high that a proportion or a majority of the jurymen chosen will be very unlikely to be of sufficient mentality to sift evidence and draw sound conclusions.

The hissing of the British flag at the Christian Endeavour convention at Boston was not what one would expect from Christian Endeavourers. Under the heading, "Englishmen Hissed," the Boston Post states that when Canada was called upon to respond to the roll call the delegates displayed their national flag and sang a C. E. song. No sooner were the last words uttered than there was a storm of hisses. It was not at all creditable to the city of culture.

HE NEVER CAME BACK

And the Fashion Plates Have Not Appeared as Yet.

At least one dressmaker in this town would like to know the whereabouts of an urbane gentleman who has been taking subscriptions for a very handsome set of fashion plates. On June 25th the gentleman in question called upon the lady.

He was a slight built young man, about five feet six inches tall, apparently about 22 years old. He wore a Prince Albert coat and light trousers, fashionably creased, while his hands were encased in tan gloves, somewhat the worse of wear. She subscribed for the plates, which were to begin coming July 1. The time passed and the plates did not make their appearance.

Then she got anxious and looked at the receipt she had for her money. It was a duplicate form in red, and thus it read:

No. 95. 211 King St. West,
Toronto, June, 1895.
Received from Mrs. ——— the sum of seventy cents.
Tolette's balance of 1895.
$ c 70. LAMON BROS.
per

A glance into the directory revealed the fact that 211 King street west was Government House grounds, and the subscriber has resigned all hope of hearing from Lamon Bros. She says the fashion plates would have been extra value for the money, but she doesn't expect to get them now, and she wonders how many other dressmakers paid similar sums, from which they have received no benefit.

WITH THE SPORTS.

The race met at Cobourg ended after a most successful two days' sport. Furioso won the 2.50 trot or pace, Jimmie Mack the 2.20 event, and Beefeater again won the ⅞-mile run.

The Eastern League standing shows that Toronto has lost an even half hundred games out of 72 played. They won 22, the same number the Springfield team has lost.

The C. W. A. Racing Board bulletin is as follows:

Sanctions issued—July 24, C.P. R. picnic, Galt; July 25, Order of Railway Conductors, Ottawa; July 26, Brantford Recreation Association; July 27, Island Track Association; August 8, Star Club, Dresden; August 16, Compbellford; August 22, Petrolea meet; Sept. 4, 5 and 6, Dundas County Fair.

The 25 mile, class A, championship has been awarded to the Chatham meet on August 7. The Montreal Exhibition track has been measured, and certificate filed with the board. F. C. Anderson, of Napanee, has been declared eligible for the novice class; previous classification was an error. Dr. Kerr, John Leuty, F. Clifford, and W. Ellis have filed evidence to show that the unsanctioned races in which they competed in were not for cash prizes. Professional edict removed, and their suspension for unsanctioned riding will terminate August 5. Transfers to class B—E. Stevens and — Leroux, for competing at Valleyfield with R. Jaffray, a class B. man.

Suspensions—R. Jaffray, Montreal, for competing in class A unsanctioned races at Valleyfield, until September 5; Stevens and Leroux, until August 5; Harold Fraser, Brockville, until August 5, for competing in a novice race when not eligible: Harold Cooke, Montreal, for competing under an assumed name; suspension to terminate June 30, 1896; H. Morin and J. B. Morris, for competing at a Sunday race, on July 14, at Royal Park, Montreal, suspension will terminate September 5. Professionals—J. Sullivan, Cumnock; E. Jackson, Alma; and W. Reilley, of Drayton, are reported to have ridden at an unsanctioned race at Alma for a purse of money. They are suspended until August 5, and then classed as professionals.

For the benefit of those who are misinformed, the board desires it to be understood that no race except a race limited to riders from one club will be considered a "closed" race. All other track races are provided for in the rules, and sanction must be obtained.

GOOD SWEET BREAD

is most important when health is concerned. Why is Bates; bread the best? Because it is made from home brewed yeast, and No. 1 hard Manitoba wheat. It will keep moist and sweet longer than any other bread. Walter Bates, manufacturer and proprietor, 654 Stewart street.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC,

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

BIG PROFITS ON SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.
It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.
It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.
Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.
WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives tha; will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

TO EXTRADITE HOLMES.

THE CROWN TRYING TO GET HIM BEFORE CHICAGO DOES.

The Warrant to be Sent to Philadelphia at Once—A Verdict of Wilful Murder—Connors Says he Knows all About the Castle.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 25.—Crown Attorney Dewart today consulted Mr. J. R. Cartwright, Deputy Attorney General, and laid before him the request for the extradition of Holmes. The application will be made as quickly as the necessary formalities can be complied with, and will be pressed upon the United States authorities as earnestly as possible.

The warrant will be sent at once to Philadelphia, and the authorities there will hold Holmes upon the charge of the double murder in Toronto, and the Canadian warrant being served first should take precedence over the one which seems likely to be issued from Chicago.

During the time in which that warrant holds good, the depositions will be prepared and sent on to Philadelphia, and then the application for the surrender of Holmes will be urged upon the United States.

Toronto has the strongest case of all, and it is believed that Holmes and his friends will endeavor to have him removed to Chicago for trial, where by the use of money and taking advantage of the laxity of the law, the case could be prolonged indefinitely. Hence Toronto wants Holmes that there may be no delay in his trial here.

CONNOR AGAIN.

ANOTHER STORY OF WHAT HE SAID—KNOWS THE "CASTLE."

ASSUMPTION, Ill., July 25.—I. L. Connor, whose divorced wife Julia is supposed to have been murdered by Holmes, has been keeping a jewellery store here for two months. He has married a second time.

He said yesterday: "I think Holmes is one of the smoothest men I ever met. I was in partnership with him in a drug store in Chicago. If I should tell all I know about Holmes it would hang him. I have seen him do things that no other man on earth could or would do."

Connor said he was well acquainted with the Holmes building at 63rd and Wallace streets, Chicago, where murder clues are being found. He knows all the secret chambers and vaults, and went through them several times.

He was also acquainted with B. F. Pietzel and Minnie Williams.

Connor with his wife left for Chicago yesterday.

HOLMES A NOTARY.

HE ACTED AS SUCH WHEN MINNIE WILLIAMS DEEDED HIM PROPERTY.

CHICAGO, July 25.—A man who gave his name as Capps, and said he was an attorney from Texas, inquired yesterday afternoon, at the county clerk's office if the record showed that Harry H. Holmes was a notary public. The list of notaries showed his name, and that he had been qualified as such July 24, 1894.

Attorney Capps wanted to find out if the signature of Holmes on the county clerk's books was the same as one on the deed. Minnie Williams according to Capp's story had signed a deed, in which she had appeared before Holmes, and which he had signed as a notary. After examining Holmes' signature in the records, Capps pronounced them the same.

Capps refused to say for what purpose he wished the information.

VERDICT, MURDER.

MORE TESTIMONY AS TO THE FIEND'S FRAUD.

"That Alice Pietzel came to her death on or about the 26th day of October, at the city of Toronto, and that H. H. Holmes, alias Mudgett, alias Howell, alias Howard, did; on or about the day last aforesaid, at the said city of Toronto, unlawfully, wilfully, and with malice aforethought, did kill and murder her the said Alice Pietzel, contrary to the peace of our Sovereign Lady the Queen, her Crown and dignity."

Such is the verdict which the coroner's jury empanelled to enquire the causes of Alice Pietzel's death rendered last night after ten minutes spent in formulating it.

Coroner Johnson at once issued his warrant for the apprehension of Holmes and proceedings will be taken at once to have him extradited. Crown Attorney Dewart stated last night that the question of expenses would not be considered by the Crown in so serious a case, despite certain remarks which have been made. He himself will lay the matter before the Attorney General's department, and efforts to secure Holmes will be made at once.

THE LAST OF THE EVIDENCE.

Albert Lowe, the book-keeper at the Albion Hotel, last night identified photographs of the Pietzel girls, and said they registered at the Albion under the names Alice and Nellie Canning. He could not identify the photo of Holmes as the man with them, but it bore some slight resemblance.

Dr. S. E. McCully said that Holmes was in his office last October, and gave him his card and requested him to form a partnership either in Detroit or Cincinnati, but the offer was declined.

I. Ambrust, the tenant of 16 St. Vincent street, testified that he had found in the cellar a few days after the bodies were exhumed a piece of a white waist and a hair ribbon sticking to one of the boards. He said, too, that he had found some remnants of clothing and straw in the parlor chimney shortly after he came to the house.

Some other witnesses were called, but none responded and it was believed that this was sufficient. The coroner then delivered his charge to the jury.

OWENS AND QUINLAN.

THE TWO TOOLS OF HOLMES DISCOVERED BY THE DETECTIVES.

CHICAGO, July 25.—The two men, Joe Owens of Bluffton, Ohio, and Patrick Quinlan, of Evanstone, have been found, who were janitors of Holmes building where Holmes lived when in the city.

Both of these men were employed at the Holmes building in 1893, the year the Williams girls are supposed to have been murdered. Owens was the regular janitor of the building, while Quinlan was a sort of jack of all trades, turning his hand to any kind of work which came up for him to do, and Holmes, with his many queer schemes, kept him constantly busy.

Quinlan will say nothing of the case, but Owens talked freely.

In regard to the mysterious box which by many was supposed to have been used by Holmes as a receptacle for the bodies of the Williams girls, Owens said: "I helped Holmes and Pietzel to carry the trunk from the depot in August, 1893, about the middle of the month. In November, 1893, in conversation with me about the insurance, Holmes told me he wanted to keep the Williams girl in hiding, as he did not want her to be seen by any of the insurance people, and that he could telegraph and get $10,000 any time.

HELPED HOLMES IN FRAUD.

"About the last of November or the 1st of December, 1893, I assisted Holmes to establish the firm of Campbell, Yates & Co., for the purpose of getting insurance on the building at the southwest corner of 53rd and Wallace streets, which insurance he received about November, 1893. Holmes came to me and instructed me to represent to the insurance companies that I was the secretary of the company, which I did, and I also took an affidavit to that effect. I also represented that I had met Yates and received stock from him.

"He also instructed me to make the statement then that I had met Minnie R. Williams, which I did. He induced me to make these statements by promising me my back wages and by his hypnotizing ways. While I was with him I ways always under his control. I never knew the Connor woman. I had heard of her, but never met either her or the Williams girl. I never saw any woman around the place. Pietzel was the man who hired me and I met Holmes one day in the basement."

PERHAPS A CHILD'S BONES.

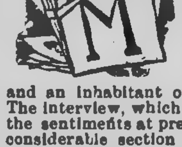
The bones found this morning are believed by the Central Station detectives to be those of Gertrude Conner, the daughter of Mrs. Julia L. Connor, who is now believed to have been one of Holmes' victims. Mother and daughter disappeared about the same time. This afternoon the workmen came upon another deposit of lime under the rotten stairway which was used as a secret means of ingress to the cellar. Only one bone was found here, and it was pronounced by a physician who examined it to be a part of the middle portion of the foot,

PROPHECY ON POLITICS.

THE CABINET TO FALL, THEN A MINISTRY UNDER LAURIER.

Coalition of Laurier and Chapleau to Follow—Ontario Men to Bolt On Remedial Legislation—Elections to Be Held Early In March Next.

Special to the Times.



MONTREAL, July 25.—A French comic paper, Le Canard, published here, prints this week an imaginary interview between its correspondent, Ladebauche and an inhabitant of the unseen world. The interview, which is given below voices the sentiments at present entertained by a considerable section of the French Canadian population of the Province of Quebec. The questions and answers are as follows:

"How long will the Bowell Ministry last?"

"One hundred and fifty-seven and a half days."

"Will there be a session in January?"

"Yes."

"What will happen at the commencement?"

"Mr. Laurier will ask Mr. Foster if his Government has prepared the remedial measure. Mr. Foster will reply that he has a bill prepared. As that bill will not be satisfactory to the Catholics of the Northwest, Mr. Lariviere will present a motion of want of confidence in a Government which is neither flesh nor fish."

"Will the Government be beaten on this motion?"

"No."

"Will it resign?"

"Yes."

"When will it resign?"

"About the end of January."

"On what question?"

"On the School question. There will be quarrels in the ministry. Clarke, Wallace, Montague and Haggart will fool the Catholics, Bowell will laugh in his sleeve; but it will be a sick laugh. He will become serious enough when he sees his Protestant colleagues bolt. They will not go on all fours, and the Orange shop will jump."

"When will we have general elections?"

"The first week of March."

"Which party will come out ahead?"

"I have already answered that question."

"How will Mr. Curran vote on the school question?"

"He will not vote at all. He will have a seat on the bench for a Christmas box."

"Who will represent his division in the next parliament?"

"McShane. Worse luck."

"Will Mr. Angers get another judgeship."

"Yes; under the coalition ministry."

"What is that coalition ministy"

"The second Cabinet which shall be formed after the fall of Bowell."

"What will be the first?"

"Laurier's."

"Will that last long?"

"No. Difficulties will be made by the Orangemen and P.P.A.'s in Ontario."

"Who will organize the coalition ministry?"

"Chapleau and Laurier for the French sections."

"Will the school question be settled then?"

"No."

"When will it be settled?"

"Never."

The interview concludes by prophesying that the supporters of the "doomed government" will begin to feather their nests while they may. Mr. "Bob" White will secure the Montreal Customs collectorship, which has been vacant for over two years. Places in the Senate will be filled up, and so on.

McGEE'S BODY FOUND.

Dynamite Cartridges Used to Dislodge it from the Bottom of the Bay.

Special to the Times.

HAMILTON, July 25.—The body of Prof. McGee was found this morning shortly before eight o'clock, near the northern shore, close to where he went down. Dynamite cartridges were exploded last night without apparent effect, but no doubt they dislodged the body and allowed it to be moved by the current.

The body was brought to this city from Burlington this morning, and after being embalmed at the undertaker's was removed to the residence of Professor Parke's father No 164 Stinson street. From that address the funeral will take place at 2.30 p.m. tomorrow, the interment being in the family plot at Hamilton cemetery, where Dr. McGee's father was buried four years ago.

A MISSIONS OUTRAGE.

METHODIST AND CATHOLIC MISSIONS IN CHINA DESTROYED BY RIOTERS.

The Occupants Mobbed and Ill-Treated—Even the Women Were Not Free From Molestation—A Cowardly Attack.

Special to the Times.

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 25.—The steamer Empress of India, from Hong Kong, brings news of the attack made on the foreign missions in China a few weeks ago. The Chung King correspondent of the North China Daily News tells the story as follows: A riot occurred at the premises of the Canadian Methodist Mission, their hospital, dispensary and chapel being looted and burned. Although the mob was kept at bay for an hour or two, and although the soldiers' barracks were about five minutes' walk away, no attention was paid to the requests for assistance. After resting for the night the mob began again the next day, and when the day was ending nothing remained of the eleven places of worship of the Protestant and Roman Catholic missions.

SIMPLY A MOCK PRETENCE.

In every case the officials made a mock pretence of protecting or flatly refused. All took the cue from the Viceroy, who has been degraded, and seemed to think nothing worse could befall him. His hostility to foreigners has been notorious for several years, and he seems to have intended to give a parting hit as he was about to leave. Even when the flames were bursting out of the premises of the Roman Catholic mission, a stone's throw away, he did not lift a finger to help, merely remarking that this was a calamity for his successors to attend to.

SUFFERED GREAT INDIGNITIES.

Mothers with their little ones climbed over the back walls and for hours hid in the dirty holes. When discovered there were cases where ransoms were paid by both foreigners and native Christians. There were cases of flight from one mission to another only to be mobbed and compelled to flee again. The leaders of the American Methodist Episcopal church climbed over a wall to a neighbor's and remained for 12 hours in a dirty little loft, watching the destruction of their property. Some of the Canadian Methodist missionaries who sought protection at the soldier's barracks were driven out, one of the women with her little ones being kicked by the brutal soldiers. At length all took refuge at the Yamen of the district magistrate.

BRITONS THERE!

Their Presence in Trinidad Causing Much Excitement in Rio Janerio—Protest to the British Legation.

Special to The Times.

RIO JANEIRO, July 25.—There is excitement in this city over the occupation of the Island of Trinidad by the British. The Government has dispatched two notes of emphatic protest to the British legation, quoting the order of the British Admiralty of 1782 by virtue of which Trinidad was evacuated by the British and restored to Portugal.

BRITAIN WILL DISCUSS IT.

LONDON, July 25.—Referring to the statement that Brazil had formally protested against Great Britain's claim to the Island of Trinidad a person in authority was questioned on the subject says that the British title to that Island dates from the year 1700 when possession was taken of it without any objection on the part of Portugal. It was added that hitherto Brazil has not advanced any claim to the Island of Trinidad; but the Britsh Government is ready to discuss any representation which Brazil may wish to make on the subject.

MR. DAVIN WILL MARRY.

The Member for Assiniboia Chooses a Bride—Vice Regal Notes.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 25.—Local politicians had a sensation sprung on them today, when an authentic announcement of the coming marriage of Nicholas Flood Davin, M. P., for Assiniboia, was given out.

This morning Mr. Davin bought a marriage license at a leading agency here. His bride to be is a Mrs. Reed, with whom he has lodged during the past session.

A special from Renfrew says 10,000 people welcomed Lord and Lady Aberdeen at Renfrew this morning. Two addresses were presented to the Governor General and one to her Excellency previous to the opening of the new creamery and Aberdeen Park.

IN A BURNING HOTEL.

Panic Among the Guests—Two French Canadians Badly Burned.

Special to the Times.

SALEM, Mass., July 25.—Two French-Canadians were badly burned in the Warren House early this morning. The police saw smoke issuing from the third-storey window of the house and sounded an alarm. Before the department arrived the wildest excitement prevailed, the occupants running about the corridors endeavouring to escape. All were half dressed, women as well as men making no attempt to get their clothes. All got out in safety except two French-Canadians, who were found in a three-storey room, lying on the floor, shockingly burned. Both were taken to the hospital.

The proprietor of the house, Henry Clay, says the men came from Montreal ten days ago, and, although they had boarded with him since then, he had not learned their names. He said that whenever he asked them for their names they began talking on some other subject. At the hospital one man gave his name as Alphone Archambault, the other one refusing to give his name. The hospital surgeons are unable to tell whether they will recover.

Again Tries to Suicide.

BUFFALO, July 25.—Frankie Robinette, who claims to be the wife of T. C. Robinette, of Toronto, but who is known to be not mentally sound, tried a second attempt at suicide within the year. The first attempt was on her person and the second was made by jumping off Bird Island Pier late yesterday afternoon. She was taken out, and after much trouble resuscitated. She now lies in the hospital, and her recovery is deemed probable.

MENTION THIS PAPER.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 24 1895.

Attorney-General Sifton, of Manitoba, has been appointed a Q. C. by the Ottawa Government. Is this to be construed as a holding out of the olive branch to the Prairie Province?

Chicago, it is suggested, should erect a statue to the recently deceased Mrs. O'Leary, because—as an exchange puts it—she was the woman that milked the cow that kicked the lamp, that started the fire, that swept the town, that rose from the ashes, that furnished the foundation for one of the most marvellous cities in the world. And if not to Mrs. O'Leary, why not to the cow?

The United States Government is inspecting the ocean liners, the New York, Paris and St. Louis, with a view to determining their capability of being transformed from merchant steamships to auxiliary cruisers in the event of war. The C. P. R. Pacific line of Empresses were built for that especial purpose, and other British ships are constructed on the same principle. English foresight is sometimes preferable to American enterprise.

The church fair, the bazaar, the concert and all those other little devices to stimulate contributions to church funds are likely to be superseded, if the plan of a New Yorker is adopted. His scheme is to use life insurance as a basis of paying church debts; the plan being in effect that, say, a score of members of any congregation insure their lives for the benefit of their church, which pays the premiums. When an insured member dies, or the time limit of endowment expires, the money reverts to the church. It is unnecessary to add that the originator of his scheme is a thoroughly disinterested insurance agent.

POOR BULGARIA.

Whether he had any hand in the event or not, it is not going too far to say that Prince Ferdinand hoped the assassination of Stambuloff would be pleasing to Russia. Hence his policy since the dastardly attack. It is very likely that Russia is pleased at the removal of the unflinching defender of Bulgarian independence. But the princely tool, having been used, can now be cast aside. Besides, it is impossible for any manly man not to feel disgust with the Coburg man-milliner who sits on the throne of Bulgaria. It is given out that the Czar will no longer recognize Ferdinand as ruler of Bulgaria.

So strong is the feeling throughout Europe that Ferdinand should not be permitted to reign that already there are candidates for the succession, among them being an Anglo-German princeling, Adolphus of Teck. He would be a strong candidate with both Germany and England, and, for that reason, would suit Turkey, though the Czar undoubtedly would prefer a Russianized prince. All the world will rejoice to learn that Ferdinand is not to reap the reward of his cowardice.

Turkey is menacing Bulgaria on the other hand. The Macedonian rebels have won a victory and the Porte is complaining to the Powers of the assistance given to the Macedonians by Bulgarians. This will give the Powers the desired opportunity to interfere and recast the destiny of the little Balkan principality. The scenes at the grave of Stambuloff, the one strong man that Bulgaria possessed, have lost the Bulgarians the sympathy of the world. There is a widespread impression that they are not capable of governing themselves.

HIS BEST EFFORT.

He had written essays critical, and digests analytical,
His articles poetical were very widely read;
He's indited tales of mystery, of travel, love and history,
And his scientific treatises light o'er the land had shed.

He wrote about photography, geography, stenography,
He's finished a biography of some distinguished man;
His books upon geometery and mystic trigonometry
Were everywhere admitted to be on progressive plan.

His tracts on modern sciences, mechanical appliances,
Hydraulics, steam and railroads were indulgently received;
His writings on morality were of superior quality,
And were publicly commended, if they weren't quite believed.

Then his verses so poetical, abstruse and theoretical,
Delighted those who patronized the poet as a fad,
But the manuscript he thought the best,
Was a shrewdly written, wisely worded, winning business ad!

ALL THE MAID'S FAULT.

The Bride and Bridegroom Found That She Had Guarded Their Secret too Well.

A well-to-do young Philadelphian, of a somewhat sensitive disposition, left for Florida recently on his honeymoon. He registered with his bride, who was accompanied by her maid, at one of St. Augustine's palace hotels. The young couple thought they would feel much more at ease if the fact that they were but recently wed was kept a secret, they agreeing that their actions should in no way afford a clue to curious or inquisitive people. So they earnestly admonished the maid not to tell any one that they had just been married, warning her of the consequences if the fact should become known about the hotel.

Everything went along smoothly for three days, and then the young couple suddenly discovered to their dismay that they were being closely scrutinized by every guest in the house. In the dining-room scornful looks were cast at them by the ladies, and there was no mistaking the fact that they were the subject of considerable comment, which they felt certain was uncomplimentary. They held a consultation, and called the maid. She was closely questioned as to whether she had answered any queries concerning them, and, after a good deal of fencing, finally blurted out: "They kept telling me that you were just married, and I got mad, and told them they were liars, that you weren't married at all!"—Philadelphia Record.

"There she is."

The speaker, a tall bronzed man in the sixties, leaned forward in his saddle as he spoke, and pointed out to his companion a vague and indistinct object that had just loomed up on the edge of the distant horizon.

The vast prairie, like a restless and troubled sea, rose and fell away from them on all sides, and save for the peculiar object that had just dawned on their vision there was nothing else visible to the eyes of the father and son, except the vast dome of the sky overhead, flecked by the moving panorama of fleecy clouds.

Months before the daughter, who was the pride and solace of the old man's life, had gone East on a visit, and to-day the father and son had ridden out on the prairie in hopes that they might in advance catch a first glimpse of the form they both loved so well.

Ten minutes, then twenty, then thirty passed by, and the old man gazed with kindling eyes at the prairie wagon that now, plain to the view, was slowly drawing nearer. But this was not what had first claimed their attention, and as father and son put spurs to their horses the old man turned to the younger, his eyes glad with the light of expectation and impatience, as he exclaimed:

"I knew her at once, Jim, even before the prairie wagon came in sight. What a lucky thing it was that I wrote her to be sure to wear her matinee hat!"—Harper's Bazar.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment. When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

The animal appeared to be a well-grown nine or ten months' shoat of the Essex breed with the usual broad back, chubby neck and short legs, but from the tip of his nose to the end of his tail he was bristling with as perfect fresh green grass as the finest lawn [illegible] to produce.

The exhibitor from time to time clipped a stray [illegible] from the hog's [illegible] tion. I am willing to testify on oath that it was the genuine article and no mistake and the more I gazed the more the wonder grew that one short hog should wear so strange a hue till finally my curiosity got the better of my [illegible] and I chipped in with some other fellows and got the man to let us in to the [illegible] [illegible] the exhibitor as he began to spray the animated grass plot with a small rubber [illegible] which he held [illegible] his hand [illegible] step behind here and take a close look at the hog. Mind how you [illegible], though or you may break him all up. Seems to be pretty good [illegible] 'twixt him and the grass, don't there? Yes. Well that's just it. Grass grows in dirt and nowhere else so all you've got to do is to get enough of it to stick to a hog and he'll [illegible] about as good a lawn as you'd find anywhere [illegible].

"That's the straight [illegible], of course, there is a good deal more to it before you can work up such an article as this here. In the [illegible] you have got to get the right kind of a hog. I generally use a Berkshire or an Essex because they are good and broad and you can feed 'em [illegible] time. The next step is to get the right kind of soil.

"Now [illegible] ant hills, but this is an old dodge borrowed from the East Indian jugglers, who can make a mango sprout and grow six or seven feet in as many minutes. Scientists [illegible] acid in earth [illegible] this acid as freely generated by the ant. Pour a cupful of hot water over a [illegible] of the insects and it will become as sour as vinegar.

"[illegible] short so that he [illegible], and that's about all. I plant my seed, which sprout and come up in about a week's time, for I haven't [illegible] up to the juggler's minute performances yet. So there's your hog as big as life and as green as grass.

"I have several hogs which I use at different [illegible]. Sometimes, too, I vary the monotony by planting small, low-growing flowers instead of grass and once I rigged up a vagary with a sprig of smilax for the tail, [illegible] pansies running between. But that did not go very well. The fake was too obvious, and I lost trade by it. Since then I have [illegible] entirely [illegible] grass, which seems to go somehow, perhaps owing to the general greenness of the public."

The Baker's Dozen.

A baker's dozen is either thirteen or fourteen, according to the size of the loaves. Bakers in ancient times were kept under rigid scrutiny of the authorities and were made liable to heavy penalties for any infringement of the laws governing quality and weight. Therefore, in selling, to be on the safe side, they threw in an extra loaf of the larger size, or two loaves of the smaller size, so that a dozen consisted of thirteen or fourteen [illegible] King John to the time of Edward [illegible] not later, the profit of the baker was strictly [illegible] legislative enactment, allowance being made to him for his labor, the cost of fuel, the wear and tear of his oven, the services of his assistants, the expense [illegible] of yeast, candles and wood, and for the [illegible] and it was a serious offence, attended by forfeiture and punishment, for a baker to be found selling loaves of any other size. For th[illegible] each lo[illegible] and th[illegible] motes [illegible] more [illegible] man of [illegible] regulat[illegible] also, a[illegible] loaves [illegible] the o[illegible] and duly examined as to quantity and weight [illegible] in favor of the baker [illegible] always be made while the bread was hot and [illegible] retail he was particularly forbidden to sell it anywhere except in such a market as was [illegible] to [illegible] being Tuesdays and [illegible] were, in some instances, [illegible] from house to [illegible] or female retailers [illegible] purchasing their bread [illegible] privileged [illegible] being, apparently, the limit of their legitimate profits, though [illegible] been a custom at one period for the baker to give in addition to each regrater who dealt with him sixpence every Monday morning [illegible] upon the first part sold of a commodity, and three pence as [illegible], or hand money, upon delivery on Friday, of the last [illegible].

THE BRAVEST OF BATTLES.

The bravest battle that ever was fought,
 Shall I tell you where and when?
On the maps of the world you'll find it not;
 'Twas fought by the mothers of men.

Nay, not with cannon or battle shot,
 With sword or nobler pen;
Nay, not with the eloquent word of thought
 From mouth of wonderful men.

But deep in a walled-up woman's heart—
 Of woman that would not yield,
But bravely, silently bore her part—
 Lo, there is the battle-field!

No marshalling troop, no bivouac song,
 No banner to gleam and wave!
But, oh, these battles, they last so long—
 From babyhood to the grave!

—Joaquin Miller.

THE DOG IN THE MANGER.

By MRS. E. V. WILSON.

Mrs. Miller was paring early apples for sauce. Mr. Miller, with a newspaper spread on the carpet at his feet, was scraping with a piece of glass an ax handle to a desired smoothness, while Bessie, the five-year-old daughter of the house, stood with a kitten in her arms watching her father at his work.

The sitting-room, with its brightly striped rag carpet, its splint bottomed chairs, and the new white curtains at its windows, was a cheerful looking place, and its three occupants were as comfortable appearing persons as one could wish to see.

Suddenly Mrs. Miller, with a half pared apple in one hand and holding a knife threateningly in the other, exclaimed, "If there is anything in the world I despise it's a dog in a manger, so it is!"

Mr. Miller looked up inquiringly. "Why Martha," he said, "what do you mean?"

"Just what I said," she answered sharply; "a dog in a manger; I'd like to know what else you'd call a feller that hangs around a girl keepin' every other young man away, and [illegible] hasn't courage enough to speak out and [illegible]—" Here she was interrupted by the opening of the kitchen door near her, which led to the [illegible] the while a clear, sweet voice asked if the apples were ready.

"Just about," said Mrs. Miller, deftly finishing the last one, and handing the pan containing them to the owner of the voice. This was Mrs. Miller's young sister, and a pretty picture she made with her sleeves rolled above her elbows, showing her plump, dimpled arms, her curling brown hair pushed back from her white forehead and her face rosy with the heat. Little drops of perspiration stood round her lips, and as she wiped them away with her blue checked apron, she said: "I guess I'll make a pie as well as the sauce; the men always like pie." She looked at her sister interrogatively.

"Of course, if you want to," said Mrs. Miller, "but it is so warm to bake and there's cold bread and lots of cookies."

"I don't mind the heat," the girl said laughingly as she closed the door and went singing merrily back to the kitchen.

"I can't see," said Mr. Miller, "why you are so anxious to have Lucinda marry; she's mighty nice to have around."

"I'm not anxious," retorted his wife, who was like an older edition of her pretty sister, "but I do say no man has a right to go with a girl and keep everybody else away unless he means to marry her; and I do say it's acting like 'a dog in the manger,' for here's Lucinda nearly twenty-three and might have had lots of chances if it hadn't been for him."

Mr. Miller evidently thought silence the better part, for he made no answer, but scraped away diligently at his ax handle. Presently he ran his hand up and down the surface of the wood, saying "I reckon that's about right now."

"Let me feel it, pap," said the little daughter, and she imitated his movement so earnestly that her father laughed. "I dess it's all right, pap," she said, "it's peffectly slick."

"Come on then, Bessie," he said, rising from his chair, "and we will try to finish the job before supper."

They left the room together, while Mrs. Miller cleaned up the scrapings of hickory and placed the chairs against the wall as vindictively as if the mysterious "dog in the manger" was being handled in the process.

You must not for an instant think that Mrs. Miller was an ill-natured woman, for she was not. She dearly loved the young orphan sister who had been with her for years, and really liked young Stebbins, the neighboring farmer's son of whom she had spoken so contemptuously. But her ambition had been roused by the very evident desire of a rising young physician in the vicinity to visit her sister. She had an idea that a marriage with a doctor would increase Lucinda's prospects of a happy future, and was vexed that Lucinda did not seem to share her opinions, but showed a decided preference for Joe Stebbins, the aforesaid young farmer.

Poor Joe! What anguish he would have felt if he had known the thoughts Mrs. Miller harbored of him. He was a fine, manly fellow, but had such a humble opinion of himself that he never could do himself justice. He truly loved Lucinda Hart and had repeated to himself a hundred times the very words in which he would tell of his love, but once in her presence doubts beset him, and one glance of her blue eyes rendered him dumb. Thus he was always at a disadvantage when with her.

As for Lucinda we cannot tell what her feeling for him was. She was mischievously kind at one time, and saucily cruel the next. She laughed at him to his face but quickly resented any one else doing so, and invariably defended him when her sister ridiculed or found fault with him.

A few days after the conversation we have recorded between Mr. and Mrs. Miller, Joe, in a new buggy and driving his favorite horse Prince, drove up to Mr. Miller's gate for the purpose of taking Lucinda to a picnic in the neighborhood, as had been arranged by themselves the Sunday before. From her window Lucinda saw him and leaning out she called to Bessie, who was playing in the yard, to "tell Mr. Stebbins she was not quite ready but would be in a few minutes." Bessie ran joyfully out, for she liked Joe, as she always called him, and after delivering her aunt's message begged him to take her "just a little ride."

"All right," said Joe, good naturedly. "Give me your hands," and catching her up he seated her by his side and drove off.

Bessie was delighted. She chatted gaily about any and everything, while Joe, his thoughts intent on what he wished to say to Lucinda, was silent. The child was disturbed. She did not like this silence. "Joe," she said, "what makes you so still? Don't you like me?" Then before he could answer she exclaimed, "Oh! Joe, do you know what a dog in a manger is?"

Joe laughed. "You midget," he said, "what put that in your head?"

"Why mamma said she spised 'em; they was allays round keepin' folks away," said Bessie. Joe was quick witted. The blood leaped to his face. "I deserve it," he thought, but he said, "Who was she talking to, Bessie?"

"Why to papa when he made the new ax handle and I helped him, an' it's a nice one too, Joe," said Bessie. "Joe, do you like aunt, pap says she's nice, tase she makes pie for supper, and oh, Joe, she laughed at Dr. Grey, an' mamma jess scolded her."

Joe's conscience pricked him, though his heart gave a glad bound, and he turned Prince around saying "I expect Aunt Lucinda is ready now. Let us see how fast Prince can go."

Lucinda was at the gate as they drove up, and Bessie was lifted out laughing merrily and insisting on kissing Joe goodby and telling him "not to run off with Aunt, tause she looked so nice in her new dress."

"Nice, thought Joe. "She looks like an angel," and such a feeling of unworthiness came over him that he scarcely lifted his eyes, and helped the "angel" into the buggy so awkwardly that her dress caught on the step and she almost fell into his arms.

She laughed, however, saying, "it seems I never can get into a buggy without trouble. I do wish I was not so clumsy," and Joe, without a word, seated himself by her side and drove off grim as a statue.

When they arrived at the picnic grounds they found a gay crowd assembled and Lucinda, being a universal favorite, was at once surrounded and hurried off to join in a game of croquet. And when dinner time came and the baskets were unpacked it was Lucinda who must superintend the arrangements.

Joe vainly tried to get near her. Dr. Grey was gracefully unconscious of being in anybody's way, and managed somehow to be of so much assistance in unpacking dishes and rescuing pies and cakes from perilous places, that all the girls were calling on him for advice and help. And when dinner was ready he easily succeeded in placing himself at Lucinda's side, and kept up a constant stream of laughter and jest. If sometimes Lucinda cast a glance at Joe, who was heroically devoting himself to an elderly spinster, he was ignorant of it, and Miss Golden was so flattered by his attentions that she whispered to him that she had always felt "when congenial spirits met a slight difference in age should not be considered, as the soul, knowing nothing of time, was always young."

Joe assented to the remark as he would have assented to anything she said, but he thought if his soul knew nothing of time, it was queer it should be so wretchedly tired and anxious for that particular time to end. But it ended at last and Joe was once more in the buggy with Lucinda by his side. That "impertinent puppy," as Joe inwardly called Dr. Grey, had lingered near her until Joe had gathered up the reins, when with a bow and smile he had mounted his own horse and galloped away. Now as they sped over the prairie Joe was fully determined to tell his love tale. "If she refuses me," he thought, "I can't feel much worse and it's just got to be settled. Mrs. Miller was right and I'm a coward, but I'm in for it now," and Lucinda, glancing at his face, was so startled at his determined look that she exclaimed in a half frightened voice, "Oh, Joe, what is the matter! You are so pale, are you sick?"

"No," he said sharply, "I'm not sick, I—, say, Lucinda, let's get married," and Lucinda said softly, "Well, Joe, let's." In a twinkling Joe's arm was around her and a jerk of the line brought Prince to a walk. "Do you mean it, Lucinda?" cried Joe. "Do you love me half as well as I do you?" Lucinda pushed him away.

"Of course I mean it," she said, "but there is a carriage right behind us, for mercy's sake don't let them pass us." Joe straightened up and Prince was off like a dart, while his driver waved his hand derisively at the occupants of the other carriage, now close beside them, and shouted, "No passes on this road."

Lucinda leaned back in the buggy half laughing, half crying, while Joe drove Prince with the air of a hero.

"What do you think your sister will say to us?" he said presently.

"If she had seen you to-day," said Lucinda, "I expect she would ask you how you supposed Miss Golden would feel when she found how basely you had treated her."

"Well, Lucinda," said Joe, whose bashfulness had somehow all left him, "Whenever you say Miss Golden, I shall ask after Dr. Grey's welfare," and then the simpletons laughed as if there had been something very witty said.

When they drove up to the Miller homestead, Mr. and Mrs. Miller were in the front yard watching the people going home from the picnic and Mr. Miller came forward at once, extending his hand to assist Lucinda. but Joe called out: "You look after Prince, Miller, and I'll see to Lucinda, she belongs to me now."

"Is that so?" said Mr. Miller. "Well, all I can say is you've got a nice piece of property. What do you say, Martha?"

Martha caught her breath and a fence post at the same time, and before she could speak Lucinda had slipped from Joe's grasp and was through the gate and in the house.

Then Mrs. Miller, having recovered herself, said, "Never mind, Joe, she's all right. But how in the world did you ever——"

Her husband interrupted her. "Come in, Joe," he said. "Of course you will take supper with us."

"Of course," said Mrs. Miller. "You will have to take 'pot luck,' but that's no matter; you're one of the family, now, I reckon. Here, Bessie," as the little girl came running toward them, "come and kiss your Uncle Joe."

Bessie did not understand until matters were explained, and then, while she did not object to Joe as an uncle, she protested loudly against his taking her aunt away. Joe whispered, "I will give you the nicest little colt, Bessie, for though nobody knows it, you helped me out of all my trouble," and Bessie, if she was ignorant of how she had helped, was satisfied.

Mrs. Joe Stebbins tells her husband she knows no girl ever had a proposal like hers. "Why, Joe," she says, "you frightened me; your words came like bullets."

"Well," says Joe, "they hit the mark anyway. Let's have a kiss," and, laughing, Lucinda says, "Let's."

But never has Joe said a word about Bessie's story of "the dog in the manger."

FISHED UP TWO INFANTS.

Remarkable Catch of an Angler at a Summer Resort in Ohio.

Special to the Times.

DAYTON, O., July 24.—Charles Rhoden, while fishing Monday in the Miami, near Idylwild, a summer resort, pulled ashore a water-soaked and heavily laden coffee sack instead of a German carp which he declared to his companion was tugging at his line.

The sack contained the dead and decomposed bodies of two female infants, evidently twins. The head of one of the infants had been severed and was immersed in mud in one corner of the sack.

The coroner, who subsequently took charge of the bodies, is of the opinion that the babes were fully developed at birth, and that the bodies had been in the water for about two weeks. The sack also contained a stone weighing about ten pounds.

Houses Wrecked at El Paso, Texas, Yesterday.

Special to the Times.

EL PASO, Texas, July 24.—Silver City, N.M., was visited Sunday by the most disastrous washout in its history. The town is located on the side of a hill and in a gulch. A cloud burst above it and almost without warning a tremendous avalanche of water swept over the town from several points. Probably half the business part of the place was washed away, and in the main street sand and debris were piled up to the windows of the houses. The post office building was destroyed and the Tremont, Timmer and Broadway hotels were wrecked.

HOUSES TUMBLED DOWN

all over the town. Gillette & Son lost $12,000 worth of stock. Buildings were washed away and five miles of the Sante Fe track was torn up. The loss is estimated at $150,900. Silver City has 3,000 inhabitants. No lives are reported lost.

A Brantford Child Drowned.

BRANTFORD, July 24.—The body of Agnes the two year old daughter of Frank Clark, was found lying in the Grand River last evening in front of her father's door. No one saw her fall into the water, but it is supposed she was playing on the embankment at the spot indicated and fell over into the water, which, though very shallow was sufficient to drown her.

CUPID AND PSYCHE

"THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE IS HAPPY, FRUITFUL MARRIAGE."

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

POND'S EXTRACT

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

Avoid substitutes; accept genuine only, with buff-wrapper and yellow label.

RESCUED FROM DEATH.

A Woman Driven to Suicide by a Cruel Husband.

Special to the Times.

HAMILTON, July 25.—Mrs. John Lafferty tried to end her life about nine o'clock last night by taking a large quantity of laudanum. She was detected by a neighbor, and by the efforts of her friends, assisted by Dr. Rogers, the woman is now on the way towards recovery. Mrs. Lafferty has been badly used by her husband, who is a worthless character, and has become very despondent.

IN SELF DEFENCE.

A Fatal Base Ball Game—A Blow From a Bat in the Hands of a Player.

Special to the Times.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 25.—William Castell, butcher, of Elgenburg, died this afternoon from the effects of a blow from a baseball club received at Sydenham yesterday. He interrupted a game, rushing at R. Wycott, of Odessa, at the plate. In self defence Wycott struck Castell over the forehead. A fight ensued. Castell was taken away, and some time after grew drowsy, became unconscious and died. An inquest will be held.

MURDER AT THIRTEEN YEARS.

Two Little Sons of the National Line Steward Arraigned for Slaying their Mother.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 25.—Robert and Nanthiel Coombes, aged respectively 11 and 13 years, who murdered their mother about three weeks ago by stabbing her while she was asleep and lived ten days in the house with her decomposing body, were arraigned in the Police Court this morning. The police authorities announced that they would not charge the younger brother with participation in the crime, but would call him to witness.

Nanthiel was then placed in the witness box and told of his brother's having bought the dagger with which the killing was done. He did not see his mother killed, but heard her groan and went and looked at her while she was dying. His brother admitted to him that it was he who had killed her. The magistrate committed the elder brother, Robert, and the half-witted man, Fox, who was arrested with the boys, for trial on the charge of murder and held Nathaniel as a witness.

AN EXCITED PIT.

Sudden Rise in Price at Chicago Wheat Markets.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Excitement of an intense and increasing kind prevailed in the wheat pit and Board of Trade today. In the midst of unexpected and sensational flurry wheat went soaring from 68½ to 72½ This was an advance of five cents over closing price of yesterday and bulls were in high feather. The advance was caused by higher prices abroad and a remarkable falling off in the receipts of winter wheat at receiving points.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquires with regard to a Canadian Discovery.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Postmortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys, and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

A RICH CONVICT.

W. J. Robertson Comes Out of Jail an Heir to $75,000.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 25.—An interesting young man came out of jail this morning. He is William J. Robertson, who went in six months ago a penniless pickpocket in rags and comes out today heir to $75,500, which was left him by his aunt, a Mrs. Robertson, who died recently in Toronto. The small fortune which he inherits is $32,000 in cash, and the remainder Toronto real estate. Young Robertson told a reporter this morning that he had given up the thieving business for good and was going to join his brother who runs a circus at Halifax.

An Involved Case.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—Detective Geyer arrived here from Detroit today to investigate this end of the Holmes Pietzel affair. It is believed by local officers that the missing lad Howard Pietzel was murdered here and his body taken from the Circle Park Hotel where Holmes was stopping, in a trunk. What disposition was made of the body is a mystery that Detective Geyer has come here to solve.

INDIAN TROUBLES.

Troops Called to Avert a Conflict With the Settlers.

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Orders have been sent to John O. Copping to issue the necessary orders for the movement of such troops as he shall deem necessary for carrying out the request of the Department of the Interior and to prevent a conflict between the Indians and settlers and to return the Indians to their reservations. He is also directed to proceed in person to the scene of the disturbance and to direct the operations of troops. Should he require the use of troops from the departments other than his own, he is instructed to advise Indian Department as to the special force he desires.

Assistant Secretary Reynolds, of the Interior Department, advised Governor Richards this evening that General Coppinger had been ordered to go to the scene of the Indian troubles with federal troops for the protection of the settlers. Governor Richards says he thinks a fight between the settlers and the Indians will occur before the troops can get to the ground.

BATTLE IN PROGRESS.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 25.—Advices from Gen. Stitzer to Governor Richards indicate that a battle is in progress between Indians and whites at Jackson. A telegram from the general says: "Met an Indian captain of police hurrying out with all possible speed. Saw him again last night, he says he cannot control the Indians, who will fight the settlers at noon today." Governor Richards has been advised by the Interior department that troops have been ordered to protect the settlers.

A CRANK'S CLAIM.

The Girls Were Killed by Him in the Church Belfry.

Special to the Times.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., July 25.—W. Barret, an insane waiter, gave himself up to the sheriff last night and said he was the murderer of the two girls killed in the Emanuel church. He made a rambling statement of how he had killed the two girls on the same day and carried their bodies to the belfry. He recognized a supervision in the sheriff's office as Rev. Mr. Gibson and an attache as Durrant's brother. He will be examined as to his sanity.

THANKS
Very Much.

The new "Eclipse" Baking Powder is so splendid and so cheap, (but don't put it on the same level as ordinary powders at similar prices), the result must be such an enormous demand that only a slight increased price will be needed to pay the required moderate interest on our heavy outlay.

All wide awake grocers will supply you—it won't pay you to deal with any others. A list of "Wide Awakes" later.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Weather.

Probs—Light to moderate winds; not much change in temperature.

Dr. Ryerson Coming.

Dr. G. S. Ryerson, the eye, ear and throat specialist, of Toronto, will be at the Grand Central hotel on Saturday, July 27 where those suffering with afflictions of these organs may consult him.

The Return Match.

The Ontarios, of Port Hope, will play the return match with the Athletics here on Wednesday. There is some talk of having the match at Jubilee Point, but nothing definite as to that has been decided.

He Painted the Town.

Constable Cummings, of Havelock, arrived in town last night with a prisoner who will be placed in the county gaol here today. The man, it is said, got intoxicated in Havelock yesterday and terrorized the town until arrested.

Crushed His Hand.

Bart Craig, of Ashburnham, met with an accident yesterday at the Bridge Works where he is employed. He was operating a punching machine when he got his hand in the machine and had it crushed. He may lose one finger.

A Pleasant Picnic.

The City of Peterborough carried an excursion down the river yesterday from the Presbyterian and Anglican churches, of Millbrook. A merry crowd of 200 or more was the number. On their return they filled three street cars and were conveyed to the G. T. R. station, a band playing en route.

A Case for the Childrens' Aid.

We referred last week to the loss of money by a visitor at a house in Haldimand. Mr. Robt. Thompson, of the County of Hastings, stopped over night with his friend, Mr. Hanna, miller, Vernonville, and in the morning his cash some $60, was missing. The result is that Mr. Hanna has been sent to the central prison for six months, leaving his wife and seven young children with scanty means to provide for themselves in the meantime.—Colborne Express.

Nearly Drowned.

A boy named Willie Rogers, about 14 years of age, son of the widow Rogers, nearly perished in the Trent river on Saturday last. He was bathing near a boom north of the Rathbun mill, and being unable to swim, he waded out several rods from the shore, stepping into a hole and sank. Mr. A. E. Bailey's son was in the water at the same time, and taking in the boy's situation, he went to his rescue. The boy in his struggles clutched him, and he was obliged to get away from him. In the meantime, Mr. Jas. Lynch in the employ of the Rathbun Co., who was working on the boom, hauled off his boots and without removing his clothes, plunged in to save the drowning boy. Rogers grabbed him round the neck and got his legs around his waist, and Mr. Lynch found himself in a dangerous position, when young Bailey again swam out to the assistance of both, and after a hard struggle, they succeeded in bringing Rogers ashore. He was completely exhausted and senseless, and it was several minutes before he was restored to consciousness.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking on his beauties. He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. THE CANOE RACES.

Owing to a Strong Wind Only Two Events Were Paddeld.

A large crowd of citizens gathered at Burnham's Point last night to witness the canoe races under the auspices of the Otonabee Canoe Club. The Lake was also dotted with boats.

It was unfortunate for the races that a strong wind blew down the lake which rendered it necessary for those who contested to paddle against a head wind. This caused a great many who would have otherwise entered the events, to drop out, and although all races were called, entries for only two events could be secured and in consequence only two races were contested. The winners of these were as follows:

1. Double canoe.—Members of O.C.C.—Pair of cherry paddles (to be won twice). 1. T. Connal and F. Ferguson. 2. Richardson and Browscombe.

Single canoe.—Open—Free rack, canoe insurance, and membership ticket, O.C.C. for one year (to be won twice.) 1. J. Connal. 2. Watt.

Mr. R. M. Roy acted as judge and Mr. T. Barrie, as starter. The illuminated parade did not take place after the races.

AT PICTON.

Peterborough Canton Was Royally Entertained—Home Last Night.

Peterborough Canton returned from Picton last night after a very enjoyable visit. All were loud in their praises of the generous manner in which they were entertained by the brethren of Picton.

The Canton, 24 strong, left Peterborough on Tuesday. At Campbellford they were met by Lieut. J. Ferris, who presented the boys with a box of fragrant havanas. They arrived in Belleville in time to take dinner at the Anglo American, and in the afternoon they were the guests of the brethren of Belleville who showed them around the town and looked after their comfort in generous style. The steamer Emma Ross was boarded at 3 p.m., and Picton was reached by dark.

At Picton the boys of Peterborough Canton were met by the Citizens' Band and a delegation of Oddfellows and escorted to Hotel Tecumseth where they were supped and refreshed.

In the evening they were joined by the other visiting Cantons and accompanied by the youth and beauty of Picton they were taken on a moonlight excursion by boat to Glenora and Glen Island Park. The parks were beautifully illuminated. At Glen Island they were entertained by a concert and grand hop which continued until after the midnight hour.

On Wednesday morning the boys went out to the famous sand banks and otherwise amused themselves. At 1 o'clock the Cantons formed a procession and marched through the streets to the park, where the different Cantons went through a fancy drill. A baseball game in which Kingston defeated Picton by 27 runs to 0, and other sports made up the afternoon's program.

In the evening a trade procession on a most magnificent and costly scale and which was nearly two miles long, was held. Some of the wagons must have cost over $100 and were truly fine. All the residences were illuminated while the town was fairly smothered in bunting.

At 12 o'clock the members of the Cantons went out in full dress parade and it is safe to say that very few in Picton were allowed to enjoy sweet slumber till nearly dawn.

The boys were royally entertained and left for home at 6 o'clock yesterday morning with nothing but the most pleasant impressions of Picton and her hospitable citizens.

DETECTIVES IN TOWN.

SOME THINK THEY ARE LOOKING FOR CLUES.

But They Say They are out for a Jaunt—Detective Murray Laughs at the Idea of the Wigmore Case Being Investigated—Newspaper Men on the Qui Vive.

Chief Provincial John Murray spent yesterday in Peterborough. In the morning, accompanied by Civil Engineer Innes, he went out to the Gray place and spent several hours in making measurements, which will be used as evidence at the approaching trial.

Detective Young, who is in the employ of the attorney general's department, and who is stationed permanently at Niagara Falls, arrived in town on Wednesday night. He was accompanied by several gentlemen, but whether they are detectives or not is only a matter of conjecture. Their mission here is also a matter of speculation.

It has been learned that a man claiming to be a detective, visited the local drug stores yesterday and tried to ascertain whether or not poison had been purchased at a date which was near about the time that Richard Wigmore was found dead in the Little Lake. This fact gave rise to the belief that these detectives were in town for the purpose of investigating the Wigmore case.

Detective Murray was seen by THE TIMES yesterday afternoon and when asked about the visit of these men, said that he knew nothing of their presence in town or their mission. He laughed at the mention of the Wigmore case, and disclaimed any connection with it. His sole purpose in town was to make measurements of the Gray place, and he didn't think there was anything in the rumor regarding the re-opening of the Wigmore case.

Now, Detective Murray, is chief provincial detective, and if it were true that the Wigmore case was to be re-opened he would know something about it. At the time of the discovery of Wigmore's body, an inquest was held, and a post mortem made. No signs of poison were found, nor any evidence of foul play, although the circumstances were very suspicious, and have always been regarded in that light, especially by the relatives of the dead man. In fact, the latter have been constantly urging the re-opening of the matter upon the attorney general's department.

What are the circumstances surrounding the death of Richard Wigmore:

In the fall of 1891, a young man, 28 years of age, comes to this locality from Dummer, and is seen around the Balmoral hotel in company with river drivers. He spends a little money, but not much, and neither drinks nor indulges in the numerous vices of the young man with funds.

He suddenly disappears. On the afternoon of December 31st, 1891 he went into the Croft House, stayed around there until tea time, took supper there and then went out. That was the last time that anybody remembers seeing Richard Wigmore alive. He disappeared as suddenly and as completely as though the earth had opened and swallowed him, and, naturally, his disappearance gave rise to many rumors that, in reality, had no foundation on fact. The missing man's relatives gave it out that Wigmore had considerable money in his possession at the time he disappeared, and that they fully believed he had been murdered for his money, and his body hid. It was predicted that the disappearance of the snow that then covered the ground to an unusual depth, would reveal the body of Richard Wigmore, bearing marks of violence and foul play.

On the 28th of March, 1892, Ernest LePlante discovered the body of a man in the Little Lake. It was upright in the water, the head barely appearing above the surface. When the body was taken out it was identified as that of Richard Wigmore.

The clothes were searched and a sum of money was found in the pockets, and a watch and chain. The finding of these valuables somewhat discredited the suspicion of foul play, and at the inquest there was nothing to show that Wigmore had been done away with. There was no evidence to prove that he ever carried large sums of money, and the story of his relatives regarding his possession of a large amount was uncorroborated.

The case died a natural death and very little was heard of it, until the Gray case was investigated. Then rumor became rife again that Wigmore had been murdered, and an investigation was to be made, but at the time nothing came of it. It was stated then in the Toronto papers that the Attorney-General's department had quietly had the case sifted a few months after the body was found, and that the detective in charge had been unable to find any clues that would make a case.

It is just possible that the case is to be reopened and that the detectives who were in town yesterday, are working on it. But there is nothing to warrant a conclusion of this kind, especially in the face of Detective Murray's statements and also the assertions of the detectives that they are simply on a pleasure jaunt.

Correspondence of The Times.

Owing to the recent rains in this locality during the past two weeks the crops are improving very rapidly, more especially the oat and root crop. After all the outlook for the farmer is very encouraging for the present even if the Trent Valley Canal don't go ahead.

AN EXCITING INCIDENT.

Rather an exciting scene took place on the premises of Mr. Patrick Crough one night last week. The details are as follows: While Mr. Crough was walking through his field he noticed the grain stirring about 5 or 6 paces ahead of him. It being rather dark he could not perceive what sort of an animal he had encountered, and on making a slight noise the would be intruder made some desperate bounds to a large tree which was close at hand, and, in less time than you'd say Jack Robinson was at the top of it looking down at his newly acquired friend. Mr. Crough, judging from "the nature of the beast," and the quantity of grain which was broken down came to the conclusion that it must be a bear or wild cat and at once despatched to the village for help. In a few minutes two wagon loads were on the scene armed to the teeth with cudgels, sledges, stones and muskets. In a short time His Highness came to the ground and to the disappointment of all it turned out to be a full grown racoon. A council of war was held to who should get the coon but as it was shot on Mr. Crough's farm it was concluded that he was the nearest heir. Mr. Crough accordingly shouldered the quadruped and each retired to their respective homes saying that there was one coon less in the world.

The newly organized Philharmonic Society will hold an excursion to Bobcaygeon.

There have been few arrivals of huckleberries this season, the crop in most places having suffered from the late drought.

Loud and long and general is the complaint about the inconvenience of the present mail system, all along the route from Peterborough to Belleville.

Patrick Fallon, a farmer, had a narrow escape from being killed by a train at Norwood, one day last week, the locomotive having grazed the hind end of the wagon.

Here is an interesting problem: A boy ten years old has a little sister who weighs 16 pounds and gets tired of holding her five minutes. When he gets twice as old how long will it take him to get tired of holding some one else's sister who weighs 125 pounds.

A heifer was struck by the locomotive of the mixed train coming from the west about 6 o'clock on Tuesday evening, and thrown higher than a smokestack. Strange to say it was not killed, and was alive the following morning. It took place near the culvert just south of the residence of Mr. Oliver, one mile and a half from Campbellford.—Herald.

Mrs. Dale, of Uxbridge, is the first lady we believe in Canada to whom has been granted the power of legally performing the marriage ceremony. The Government of Canada conferred this power upon the Society of Friends recently and at the last yearly meeting of that society Mrs. Dale was granted the power to perform that ceremony.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Canadian Fruit Buyers and Exporters Association in Toronto, the question of the fruit crop was discussed. The outlook for prices is not very good, and it is expected that most of the crop will have to be marketed in Canada. A letter from London was read, stating that the crop of apples in England is the best seen in years.

The same advices come from the continent of Europe and the United States. In Canada there will not be half a crop. Only the best Canadian apples will answer this year for export. The association will use every effort to prevent the export of low grade apples, as it is said the export of one barrel of bad apples spoils the price of ten good barrels.

Such has been the effects of the drought in parts of the counties of Grey and Bruce, says a correspondent, that to keep cattle from starving, farmers who have no bush land, have to cut brush to feed their stock. The townships most effected are Euphrasia, Hooland, Sullivan, Bentinck and Glenelg, in the county of Grey, and Brent, Saugeen and Bruce in the county of Bruce. The subjoined report given therewith, well to do farmers is of a very discouraging character throughout. How grateful this section should be that it so well as it is.

The stray logs of another drive belonging to the Rathbun Co. have arrived at Campbellford, and have been boomed to wait the arrival of the whole lot. The foremost drive reached Crow Bay last week, while the drive following it was in Rice Lake, and some part of it had arrived at Keene. It is expected to reach this point in about a week, when the flood gates will be opened to swell the Trent river for the easier transportation of the logs to their destination at Trenton. There are about 250,000 pieces in the two drives, and their movement during this dry weather when the water is unusually low will be a task which the river drivers will not enjoy.—Herald.

LATEST FROM DWYRES CORNER

From our own Correspondent.

During the past week a few heavy showers of rain accompanied by very severe thunder and lightning visited this part and a wonderful amount of good was the result to crops.

Mr. James Quinlan has returned home from Springford, where he has been teaching school for the past year, and was met by a hearty welcome by his friends and relatives of this part.

Mr. Garrat Cavanagh, of Penatanguishene, was the guest of Mr. John Christie on Sunday last.

Saturday evening last the Dwyres Corner football team, after being challenged by the Eighth Line team, Dummer, paid their visit to the said field but upon their arrival it was seen that their opponents wouldn't show up and after a long consultation the match was postponed.

Miss A. O'Neil, of Peterborough, is visiting friends in this part.

Mr. Francis Flood, while passing through a field of grain, was startled by observing some dark object a few hundred yards away which he took for a bear. Having no firearms he called on the following Winchester shooters—Davie Quinlan, Mick Allen, Johnie Lynch and Davies Jack, to come to his assistance, and after several shots had been fired by Mr. Davie Quinlan it was noticed that the object had not stirred. Upon closer observation it proved to be a big black stump which had been there for a number of years.

Mr. William Christie, Jr., has erected a new grist mill on the river Ouse, opposite Mr. P. Dwyre's wheel and hub factory.

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

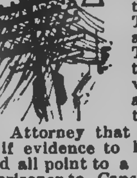
HIS TRIAL IN TORONTO.

ALMOST A CERTAINTY THAT HOLMES WILL APPEAR THERE.

The Extradition Proceedings Which Will Probably Last Two or Three Months are to be Taken at Once—More Supposed Victims.

Special to the Times.



TORONTO, July 26.—There is little now standing between Holmes and his extradition to Canada. The positive verdict against him by the Toronto coroners jury the issuing of the two warrants against him and the statement of the Philadelphia District Attorney that Toronto could have him if evidence to hang him can be adduced all point to a prompt surrender of the prisoner to Canadian justice. By all accounts the Philadelphia authorities are simply awaiting the final report of Detective Geyer, and it is more than probable that that will contain a recommedation to have Holmes placed on trial here. Proceedings for his extradition would probably last two or three months.

STILL ANOTHER.

HOLMES BELIEVED TO HAVE DONE AWAY MISS CIGRAND.

CHICAGO, July 26.—A new accusation now rests against Holmes that he made away with a Miss Cigrand, with whom he lived in the house at sixty third and Wallace streets, just before he had the Williams girl there. The girl was a stately looking blonde, about 25, and lived with Holmes something less than six months. When she went away Holmes told Jeweller Davis, as the latter claims, that he had succeeded in "marrying her off." It will be remembered that this is very much like what he told concerning the disappearance of Mrs. Conner. He said at the time that he had married her off in California. Mrs. Cigrand came to Chicago from Indiana. Holmes was not often seen with her, and on these occasions he kept aloof from his acquaintances, and introduced her to no one. Mrs. W. L. Doyle of Sixty third street knows more about this girl, it is believed, than anybody else but the Central station officers will not permit her to talk about the case.

WILL NOT BE TORN DOWN.

The building in which Holmes' Chicago crimes were probably concerted and accomplished will not be pulled down. P. R. Chandler, a broker, who hold a mortgage on it for $12,000, advanced to Holmes with which to build, was told by the building inspector that all that was necessary was to improve the upper portion. This will be done at once.

A FURNACE TO MAKE "GAS."

The remains of a furnace that was possibly used by Holmes as a crematory were unearthed in the cellar yesterday. Near them was a large heap of ashes, which are now being sifted. The man who built the furnace says that Holmes maintained great secrecy concerning its construction, and said it was to be used in his gas manufacturing experiments. As no attempt was made to make gas, this story was clearly a fabrication. The furnace had an air tight receptacle, in which could be generated a heat of 2,400 degrees Fahrenheit, and it was just long enough to contain a body.

The belief is gaining ground that Holmes' wife, who lives at the suburb of Wilmette, knows much more of the crimes of her husband than she cares to tell. She was in the police sweat box yesterday. She was closely guarded by an officer, who would not allow anyone to talk to her. Mrs. Doyle, her friend, was next called in. Before going in, she stated to a reporter that a young lady named Cigrand, who lived with Holmes just before the Williams girl, and who came to Chicago from Indiana, had mysteriously disappeared.

MRS. PIETZEL'S LUCKY ESCAPES.

Mrs. Pietzel today said she knew Holmes intended to kill her at Burlington, Vt. She went into the cellar, and found Holmes there with a part of the flooring torn up. He was digging a hole, and she says she knew it was her grave. A can, which she afterward learned contained nitro-glycerine, was on the floor beside him. When Holmes saw her he was much disconcerted and left the same day for Boston.

A PARTNER OF HOLMES

IN CUSTODY ON SUSPICION OF BEING IMPLICATDD IN SOME SWINDLES.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Geo. W. Harris, alias B. A. Ziegel, is in custody of a detective agency under suspicion of being a confederate of H. H. Holmes in his insurance swindles. Harris has passed under a string of aliases, having been also known as R. A. Simpkins and Alfred H. Post. He was chief promoter in the Taylor addition first mortgage swindles in St. Paul which caught many Chicago people. Much importance is attached to the arrest of Harris as it is believed by the police and detective agency which have him in charge that if they can run down people who were associated with Holmes in his insurance swindles, they will find those who can tell of murders which it is supposed Holmes has committed.

CONNOR BELIEVES SO.

CHICAGO, July 26.—I. L. Conner, the husband of Julia F. Conner and the father of Pearl Conner, both of whom are thought to have been murdered by Holmes, was in Chicago last night. He says he has no positive proof that Holmes killed his wife and child, but says he believes such to be the case. He does not know when the crime was committed but thinks it was done in this city.

THE NAMES WERE FORGED.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Wm. Capps, of the firm of Capps & Cantee, of Fort Worth, Texas, is in Chicago in the interest of heirs of the Williams sisters. He has obtained copies of deeds by which they transferred their property, and he claims that their names were forged. Evidence has been collected, he says, which will prove conclusively that the girls were murdered before July 12, the date appended to the deeds. He thinks they were put out of way about July 4. He has been investigating the property at Wilmette, and says that it is still in the name of Minnie Williams.

THEY WEREN'T PAUPER "STIFFS."

CHICAGO, July 26.—Thomas Freeman, agent of the Chicago Demonstrators' Association, said last night that in his opinion the bones of J. D. Holmes' "Castle" in Englewood were those of persons made away with on the premises or else those of bodies that had been shipped to Chicago. He said that all the bodies of pauper dead in the county passed through his hands, and that it would have been impossible for Holmes to have obtained a cadaver without his knowledge.

QUINLAN BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

IF HE SQUEALS ON HOLMES HE MAY IMPLICATE HIMSELF.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Pat Quinlan, the janitor in the Holmes "Castle," is in serious danger. He carried the 37 keys which opened the various doors, secret and otherwise, in the chambers of Holmes' castle. He was the factotum of Holmes. Quinlan is between two fires. If Holmes confesses, as it is said he will, he may implicate Quinlan, and if Quinlan confesses he apparently must implicate himself.

Damaging evidence against Quinlan has accumulated more rapidly in the past 24 hours than that against Holmes. Detective Norton was informed that early in the career of Quinlan with Holmes, the former kept at the castle a girl whose first name was Lizzie. She had a sister working in the restaurant connected with the castle. This Lizzie gave birth to a child, which Holmes took care of. What became of it is unknown, save to Holmes and Quinlan. The report spread about 63rd street that Quinlan was about to marry the girl. Suddenly his wife, who had not been living at the castle, appeared on the scene, Lizzie was hurried out of the city, and it is said she is now in Omaha. An effort will be made to find her. To Quinlan, it appears, were sent the orders from Philadelphia to destroy all of Holmes' papers, clothing and other articles which might aid the detectives in tracing his career.

MYSTERY OF THE WOODS.

LILY LOW, A HANDSOME GIRL, VICTIM OF A CONSPIRACY.

The Grieved Father's Serious Charge Against the Plotters—The Culprits Aimed at Robbing Him of His Fortune and Her of an Inheritance.

Special to the Times,

NEW YORK, July 26.—Three persons, two men and a woman were taken before Coroner O'Meagher this morning on suspicion of having been connected in some way in the death of Lilian Low, daughter of James Low, jr., who shot herself on Washington Heights on Tuesday. There is really little or no evidence against these persons as the girl clearly took her own life, but the circumstances surrounding her life for the past four months were so strange that the police deemed it advisable to take into custody Miss A. K. Hanson, a boarding house keeper of 103 West 58th street, Henry T. Champney, her lodger and Dr. Thos. J. Briggs of 34 West 32nd street. Dr. Briggs is the "Tommie', who wrote to the young woman from Glendale, O., and signed himself the "Big Brother of the dead girl," whom he addressed as "My Baby Cuckoo." The three were arrested last night on warrants issued by Coroner O'Meagher, who decided to arrest all persons who were alleged to have been concerned in inducing the young girl to leave her father's home. The prisoners were arraigned before Coroner O'Meagher at 11.30 and were held under $2,000 bail each to appear at the inquest at 10.30 Tuesday. They all furnished bonds.

THE VICTIM OF A CONSPIRACY.

Mr. Low made this statement today: "I have not the slightest doubt but that my daughter was the victim of some terrible conspiracy and that she was driven to suicide by these people who have gained such influence over her. They wanted to get my fortune. When I was so ill last winter I told Lily that if I died she was to have everything I possessed and I told her she could find my trunk with bonds in it and the will which I made. This was all to be hers. These people learned in some way that Lillie was to have my money and laid their plans to get her under their control. The statement made that I ill treated her and all other incidents that are stated and of all quarrels with her mother are most outrageous lies. The people first tried to blackmail my brother, Joseph T. Low, who is worth over a million. That was last winter. This scheme failed, for the conspirators evidently feared to get into trouble if they went any further. After my daughter was taken away from me, I used to hear that she was seen riding in Central Park and elsewhere with men, and that she was always wearing fine costumes. These stories were false. After they got hold of her by or whatever it was, they actually made her do a servant's work in that house, I foresaw how it would all end, and had a firm conviction all along that they would drive her to death. They worked on her weak mind, frightened her and made a slave of her. God only knows what they did not do to her, and in trying to get hold of the fortune they expected she would inherit they have killed her.

HYPNOTIC INFLUENCE

Another arrest was made in the case today by Capt. Pickett. The prisoner is Helen Hanson, a nurse in the Roosevelt Hospital, who is a niece of Amelia Hanson. She was brought to the station house but afterwards released, as she knew nothing of the circumstances leading up to Lily Low's death.

"FOR WAYS THAT ARE DARK."

A Couple of Chinamen Explode a Store of Captured Gunpowder.

Special to the Times.

TOKIO, July 26.—The most fatal disaster hitherto suffered by the Japanese in their struggles with China occurred at Keelung, in Formosa, on June 5. After the capture of the place a large number of cases of gunpowder that had fallen into the hands of the Japanese were placed in the temple under guard of a company of infantry. The following morning steps were taken to remove the powder, for the purpose of storing it in a safer place, but while the operation was in progress a terrible explosion took place, killing an officer and 26 soldiers, and wounding 120 non commissioned officers, soldiers, Japanese land transport men and Chinese coolies. Search revealed the fact that two Chinese had been the authors of the catastrophe. They were found concealed in the temple, with boring instruments and coils of mining fuse in their possession. The troops did not lynch the miscreants, as might have been expected, but marched them off quietly for trial. Their sentence is not yet announced.

CONDEMNED TO DIE.

THE SAD CASE OF AN ITALIAN GIRL IN NEW YORK.

Sentenced to Death in the Electric Chair—Protests From All Quarters Against the Sentence of Maria Barberi—The Italians Aroused.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 26.

SINCE the visit of her relatives to her in Sing Sing, Maria Barberi, condemned to death for the murder of her lover, has evinced a more cheerful disposition than during the first days of her imprisonment and she has apparently shaken off her condition of apathy.

Whether or not the Governor will be appealed to in her behalf is a question. Having taken her case to the Court of Appeals, her lawyers feel confident that the decision of the lower court will be reversed. Should the Governor make the withdrawal of this appeal a condition previous to his action in the matter, the lawyers will refuse to withdraw it.

"It will not be until we have exhausted all the legal processes that we shall call upon the Governor," said Lawyer Evans.

ITALIANS INDIGNANT.

While the Italian residents of this city are in active co operation to aid the condemned girl, the Italians of Boston have called a mass meeting to pass resolutions advocating a new trial for her. Much sympathy is expressed, and many petitions have been forwarded from that city.

From Galveston the Italo-Americans have sent the following telegram to Governor Morton:

"In the name of all Italo-Americans residing in Texas, we, assembled in mass meeting, solemnly protest against the manner in which the unfortunate Maria Barberi was defended, and state that the sentence constitutes a ferocious absurdity. The motives which moved the unhappy Maria Barberi have in themselves extenuating features, and refusing these to her is to trample upon the elementary principles of criminal law. If such a crime had been committed by an American woman they would have made a heroine of her. In executing a woman not responsible for her deed, the United States would lose the esteem and sympathy which the civilized world granted them, especially as protectors of the weaker sex. Hoping for justice and clemency. Augustus Trolse, for the committee. July 24."

FEELING IN NEW YORK.

In New York there is much feeling for the prisoner, and society women are daily signing petitions to be forwarded to the Governor.

Mr. George W. Ely, secretary of the New York Stock Exchange, said: "It would be an outrage to take this girl, who is obviously ignorant and irresponsible and to make her sacrifice to the death penalty. I cannot believe, in spite of the sentence, that it will ever be carried out."

"Do you favor pardon for her, or a commutation?" asked the reporter.

"I think," was the reply, "that she should undergo a term of imprisonment, and that her sanity should be carefully investigated."

THINKS HER INSANE.

"The girl has been, at the outset, misunderstood," said Count Alberti, Italian Vice-Consul. "Her testimony, given at the trial, was attacked without being corroborated, and the speed with which all was concluded gave no opportunity to those who would have aided her.

"I think grief and the shame of her position unbalances her mind. The dignity of the law, while it must be upheld in cases of capital offence, would not suffer were it to reverse the verdict for a poor deceived girl of the lower class, and I have really no idea that she will be executed."

HOPES FOR MERCY.

At the mission of Our Lady of the Rosary, Father Callahan, whose life has been devoted to the shelter and protection of young immigrant girls, declared the prisoner's sentence to be a most deplorable one.

"It would," said he, "be neither to the glory of God nor to the honor of man that the girls life be taken. Even as our blessed Lord showed mercy, so should this girl be spared the extreme penalty."

SIGNING PETITIONS.

In New London, Conn., petitions are being signed at the Pequet and Fort Griswold hotels.

Ex-Governor Cheney, of New Hampshire in speaking of the Barberi case, said: "I think the verdict rendered was not at all in accordance with the facts. No man should live who would treat a girl as Cataldi did this one, and I cannot see what else she had to do."

"What do you think Governor Morton ought to do."

"I would not presume to tell Governor Morton what his duty was," replied Mr. Cheney, "but I feel sure that he will at least commute the sentence of the unfortunate girl to life imprisonment if he can see his way clear to conscientiosly do so. He is not a man who would stand by and see an unjust punishment inflicted."

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquires with regard to a Canadian Discovery.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Postmortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys, and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

Will Be Tried.

KINGSTON, July 26.—R. Wrcott, who hit W. Castell with a baseball bat at Sydenham on Wednesday, is now in Kingston jail, having been arrested on a coroner's warrant, the jury at the inquest returning a verdict of manslaughter.

A Lady Charged With Forgery.

LONDON, July 26.—Lady Frances Rose Gunning, widow of the late Rev. Sir Henry Gunning, Bart., and daughter of the Rev. Hon. William Henry Spencer, was arrested in this city last evening upon an extradition warrant charging her with forgery.

There have been few arrivals of huckleberries this season, the crop in most places having suffered from the late drought.

Loud and long and general is the complaint about the inconvenience of the present mail system, all along the route from Peterborough to Belleville.

Patrick Fallon, a farmer, had a narrow escape from being killed by a train at Norwood, one day last week, the locomotive having grazed the hind end of the wagon.

Here is an interesting problem: A boy ten years old has a little sister who weighs 16 pounds and gets tired of holding her five minutes. When he gets twice as old how long will it take him to get tired of holding some one else's sister who weighs 125 pounds.

A heifer was struck by the locomotive of the mixed train coming from the west about 6 o'clock on Tuesday evening, and thrown higher than a smokestack. Strange to say it was not killed, and was alive the following morning. It took place near the culvert just south of the residence of Mr. Oliver, one mile and a half from Campbellford.—Herald.

Mrs. Dale, of Uxbridge, is the first lady we believe in Canada to whom has been granted the power of legally performing the marriage ceremony. The Government of Canada conferred this power upon the Society of Friends recently and at the last yearly meeting of that society Mrs. Dale was granted the power to perform that ceremony.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Canadian Fruit Buyers and Exporters Association in Toronto, the question of the fruit crop was discussed. The outlook for prices is not very good, and it is expected that most of the crop will have to be marketed in Canada. A letter from London was read, stating that the crop of apples in England is the best seen in years.

The same advices come from the continent of Europe and the United States. In Canada there will not be half a crop. Only the best Canadian apples will answer this year for export. The association will use every effort to prevent the export of low grade apples, as it is said the export of one barrel of bad apples spoils the price of ten good barrels.

Such has been the effects of the drought in parts of the counties of Grey and Bruce, says a correspondent, that to keep cattle from starving, farmers who have no bush land, have to cut brush to feed their stock. The townships most effected are Euphrasia, Hooland, Sullivan, Bentinck and Glenelg, in the county of Grey, and Brent, Saugeen and Bruce in the county of Bruce. The subjoined report given therewith, well to do farmers is of a very discouraging character throughout. How grateful this section should be that it so well as it is.

The stray logs of another drive belonging to the Rathbun Co. have arrived at Campbellford, and have been boomed to wait the arrival of the whole lot. The foremost drive reached Crow Bay last week, while the drive following it was in Rice Lake, and some part of it had arrived at Keene. It is expected to reach this point in about a week, when the flood gates will be opened to swell the Trent river for the easier transportation of the logs to their destination at Trenton. There are about 250,000 pieces in the two drives, and their movement during this dry weather when the water is unusually low will be a task which the river drivers will not enjoy.—Herald.

Correspondence of The Times.

Owing to the recent rains in this locality during the past two weeks the crops are improving very rapidly, more especially the oat and root crop. After all the outlook for the farmer is very encouraging for the present even if the Trent Valley Canal don't go ahead.

AN EXCITING INCIDENT.

Rather an exciting scene took place on the premises of Mr. Patrick Crough one night last week. The details are as follows: While Mr. Crough was walking through his field he noticed the grain stirring about 5 or 6 paces ahead of him. It being rather dark he could not perceive what sort of an animal he had encountered, and on making a slight noise the would be intruder made some desperate bounds to a large tree which was close at hand, and, in less time than you'd say Jack Robinson was at the top of it looking down at his newly acquired friend. Mr. Crough, judging from "the nature of the beast," and the quantity of grain which was broken down came to the conclusion that it must be a bear or wild cat and at once despatched to the village for help. In a few minutes two wagon loads were on the scene armed to the teeth with cudgels, sledges, stones and muskets. In a short time His Highness came to the ground and to the disappointment of all it turned out to be a full grown raccoon. A council of war was held to who should get the coon but as it was shot on Mr. Crough's farm it was concluded that he was the nearest heir. Mr. Crough accordingly shouldered the quadruped and each retired to their respective homes saying that there was one coon less in the world.

THE CHOIR MEET IS OFF.

Owing to the Inability to Secure Railroad Rates it is Cancelled.

The big choir meet which it was proposed to hold in Peterborough, has been given up, owing to the management not being able to secure such rates on the railroads as would have induced a large attendance. Prof. Winters has written the following letter to the press, in regard to the matter.

Editor Morning Times.

PETERBOROUGH, July 17th, 1895,

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly announce through your columns that on account of the high railway rates agreed upon by both companies, I have been compelled to cancel our proposed choir gathering here on August 1st.

As neither Collingwood or Peterborough is a business centre, I was given to understand that we would be given rural district rates for our party, the same as last year for Sarnia, but on account of some agreement between the companies they now class our gathering as a demonstration and can only give us rates accordingly, which as we learned by experience at a meeting in London, last week, are practically prohibitive, as very often there are three or four members of the same family belonging to a choir, so that if the head of the family is called upon to pay high rates for a trip all cannot go, and when several members of a choir remain at home, the whole choir steps out.

From the replies received and coming in we would have had a party of 2,000 and a chorus of between five and eight hundred voices.

Am sorry the hitch has occurred and hope that at some future time we may get low rates for our party.

Thanking the musicians of Peterborough for their hearty cooperation and the press for the use of their columns in working up the project, I am

Respectfully yours,
CHAS. A. WINTER
Secretary.

During the past week a few heavy showers of rain accompanied by very severe thunder and lightning visited this part and a wonderful amount of good was the result to crops.

Mr. James Quinlan has returned home from Springford, where he has been teaching school for the past year, and was met by a hearty welcome by his friends and relatives of this part.

Mr. Garrat Cavanagh, of Penatanguishene, was the guest of Mr. John Christie on Sunday last.

Saturday evening last the Dwyres Corner football team, after being challenged by the Eighth Line team, Dummer, paid their visit to the said field but upon their arrival it was seen that their opponents wouldn't show up and after a long consultation the match was postponed.

Miss A. O'Neil, of Peterborough, is visiting friends in our midst.

Mr. Francis Flood, while passing through a field of grain, was startled by observing some dark object a few hundred yards away which he took for a bear. Having no firearms he called on the following Winchester shooters—Davie Quinlan, Mick Allen, Johnie Lynch and Davies Jack, to come to his assistance, and after several shots had been fired by Mr. Davie Quinlan it was noticed that the object had not stirred. Upon closer observation it proved to be a big black stump which had been there for a number of years.

Their Presence in Trinidad Causing Much Excitement in Rio Janerio—Protest to the British Legation.

Special to The Times.

RIO JANEIRO, July 25.—There is excitement in this city over the occupation of the Island of Trinidad by the British. The Government has dispatched two notes of emphatic protest to the British legation, quoting the order of the British Admiralty of 1782 by virtue of which Trinidad was evacuated by the British and restored to Portugal.

BRITAIN WILL DISCUSS IT.

LONDON, July 25, — Referring to the statement that Brazil had formally protested against Great Britain's claim to the Island of Trinidad a person in authority was questioned on the subject says that the British title to that Island dates from the year 1700 when possession was taken of it without any objection on the part of Portugal. It was added that hitherto Brazil has not advanced any claim to the Island of Trinidad; but the British Government is ready to discuss any representation which Brazil may wish to make on the subject.

OTTAWA, July 25.—Local politicians had a sensation sprung on them today, when an authentic announcement of the coming marriage of Nicholas Flood Davin, M. P., for Assiniboia, was given out.

This morning Mr. Davin bought a marriage license at a leading agency here. His bride to be is a Mrs. Reed, with whom he has lodged during the past session.

McGEE'S BODY FOUND.

Dynamite Cartridges Used to Dislodge it from the Bottom of the Bay.

Special to the Times.

HAMILTON, July 25.—The body of Prof. McGee was found this morning shortly before eight o'clock, near the northern shore, close to where he went down. Dynamite cartridges were exploded last night without apparent effect, but no doubt they dislodged the body and allowed it to be moved by the current.

The body was brought to this city from Burlington this morning, and after being embalmed at the undertaker's was removed to the residence of Professor Parke's father No 164 Stinson street. From that address the funeral will take place at 2.30 p.m. tomorrow, the interment being in the family plot at Hamilton cemetery, where Dr. McGee's father was buried four years ago.

IN A BURNING HOTEL.

Panic Among the Guests—Two French Canadians Badly Burned.

Special to the Times.

SALEM, Mass., July 25.—Two French Canadians were badly burned in the Warren House early this morning. The police saw smoke issuing from the third-storey window of the house and sounded an alarm. Before the department arrived the wildest excitement prevailed, the occupants running about the corridors endeavouring to escape. All were half dressed, women as well as men making no attempt to get their clothes. All got out in safety except two French-Canadians, who were found in a three-storey room, lying on the floor, shockingly burned. Both were taken to the hospital.

The proprietor of the house, Henry Clay, says the men came from Montreal ten days ago, and, although they had boarded with him since then, he had not learned their names. He said that whenever he asked them for their names they began talking on some other subject. At the hospital one man gave his name as Alphone Archambault, the other one refusing to give his name. The hospital surgeons are unable to tell whether they will recover.

TO EXTRADITE HOLMES.

THE CROWN TRYING TO GET HIM BEFORE CHICAGO DOES.

The Warrant to be Sent to Philadelphia at Once—A Verdict of Wilful Murder—Connors Says he Knows all About the Castle.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, July 25.—Crown Attorney Dewart today consulted Mr. J. R. Cartwright, Deputy Attorney General, and laid before him the request for the extradition of Holmes. The application will be made as quickly as the necessary formalities can be complied with, and will be pressed upon the United States authorities as earnestly as possible.

The warrant will be sent at once to Philadelphia, and the authorities there will hold Holmes upon the charge of the double murder in Toronto, and the Canadian warrant being served first should take precedence over the one which seems likely to be issued from Chicago.

During the time in which that warrant holds good, the depositions will be prepared and sent on to Philadelphia, and then the application for the surrender of Holmes will be urged upon the United States.

Toronto has the strongest case of all, and it is believed that Holmes and his friends will endeavor to have him removed to Chicago for trial, where by the use of money and taking advantage of the laxity of the law, the case could be prolonged indefinitely. Hence Toronto wants Holmes that there may be no delay in his trial here.

CONNOR AGAIN.

ANOTHER STORY OF WHAT HE SAID—KNOWS THE "CASTLE."

ASSUMPTION, Ill., July 25.—I. L. Connor, whose divorced wife Julia is supposed to have been murdered by Holmes, has been keeping a jewellery store here for two months. He has married a second time.

He said yesterday: "I think Holmes is one of the smoothest men I ever met. I was in partnership with him in a drug store in Chicago. If I should tell all I know about Holmes it would hang him. I have seen him do things that no other man on earth could or would do."

Connor said he was well acquainted with the Holmes building at 63rd and Wallace streets, Chicago, where murder clues are being found. He knows all the secret chambers and vaults, and went through them several times.

He was also acquainted with B. F. Pietzel and Minnie Williams.

Connor with his wife left for Chicago yesterday.

HOLMES A NOTARY.

HE ACTED AS SUCH WHEN MINNIE WILLIAMS DEEDED HIM PROPERTY.

CHICAGO, July 25.—A man who gave his name as Capps, and said he was an attorney from Texas, inquired yesterday afternoon, at the county clerk's office if the record showed that Harry H. Holmes was a notary public. The list of notaries showed his name, and that he had been qualified as such July 24, 1894.

Attorney Capps wanted to find out if the signature of Holmes on the county clerk's books was the same as one on the deed. Minnie Williams according to Capp's story had signed a deed, in which she had appeared before Holmes, and which he had signed as a notary. After examining Holmes' signature in the records, Capps pronounced them the same.

Capps refused to say for what purpose he wished the information.

VERDICT, MURDER.

MORE TESTIMONY AS TO THE FIEND'S FRAUD.

"That Alice Pietzel came to her death on or about the 26th day of October, at the city of Toronto, and that H. H. Holmes, alias Mudgett, alias Howell, alias Howard, did; on or about the day last aforesaid, at the said city of Toronto, unlawfully, wilfully, and with malice aforethought, did kill and murder her the said Alice Pietzel, contrary to the peace of our Sovereign Lady the Queen, her Crown and dignity."

Such is the verdict which the coroner's jury empanelled to enquire the causes of Alice Pietzel's death rendered last night after ten minutes spent in formulating it.

Coroner Johnson at once issued his warrant for the apprehension of Holmes and proceedings will be taken at once to have him extradited. Crown Attorney Dewart stated last night that the question of expenses would not be considered by the Crown in so serious a case, despite certain remarks which have been made. He himself will lay the matter before the Attorney General's department, and efforts to secure Holmes will be made at once.

THE LAST OF THE EVIDENCE.

Albert Lowe, the book-keeper at the Albion Hotel, last night identified photographs of the Pietzel girls, and said they registered at the Albion under the names Alice and Nellie Canning. He could not identify the photo of Holmes as the man with them, but it bore some slight resemblance.

Dr. S. E. McCully said that Holmes was in his office last October, and gave him his card and requested him to form a partnership either in Detroit or Cincinnati, but the offer was declined.

I. Ambrust, the tenant of 16 St. Vincent street, testified that he had found in the cellar a few days after the bodies were exhumed a piece of a white waist and a hair ribbon sticking to one of the boards. He said, too, that he had found some remnants of clothing and straw in the parlor chimney shortly after he came to the house.

Some other witnesses were called, but none responded and it was believed that this was sufficient. The coroner then delivered his charge to the jury.

OWENS AND QUINLAN.

THE TWO TOOLS OF HOLMES DISCOVERED BY THE DETECTIVES,

CHICAGO, July 25.—The two men, Joe Owens of Bluffton, Ohio, and Patrick Quinlan, of Evanstone, have been found, who were janitors of Holmes building where Holmes lived when in the city.

Both of these men were employed at the Holmes building in 1893, the year the Williams girls are supposed to have been murdered. Owens was the regular janitor of the building, while Quinlan was a sort of jack of all trades, turning his hand to any kind of work which came up for him to do, and Holmes, with his many queer schemes, kept him constantly busy.

Quinlan will say nothing of the case, but Owens talked freely.

In regard to the mysterious box which by many was supposed to have been used by Holmes as a receptacle for the bodies of the Williams girls, Owens said: "I helped Holmes and Pietzel to carry the trunk from the depot in August, 1893, about the middle of the month. In November, 1893, in conversation with me about the insurance, Holmes told me he wanted to keep the Williams girl in hiding, as he did not want her to be seen by any of the insurance people, and that he could telegraph and get $10,000 any time.

HELPED HOLMES IN FRAUD.

"About the last of November or the 1st of December, 1893, I assisted Holmes to establish the firm of Campbell, Yates & Co., for the purpose of getting insurance on the building at the southwest corner of 53rd and Wallace streets, which insurance he received about November, 1893. Holmes came to me and instructed me to represent to the insurance companies that I was the secretary of the company, which I did, and I also took an affidavit to that effect. I also represented that I had met Yates and received stock from him.

"He also instructed me to make the statement then that I had met Minnie R. Williams, which I did. He induced me to make these statements by promising me my back wages and by his hypnotizing ways. While I was with him I ways always under his control. I never knew the Connor woman. I had heard of her, but never met either her or the Williams girl. I never saw any woman around the place. Pietzel was the man who hired me and I met Holmes one day in the basement."

PERHAPS A CHILD'S BONES.

The bones found this morning are believed by the Central Station detectives to be those of Gertrude Conner, the daughter of Mrs. Julia L. Connor, who is now believed to have been one of Holmes' victims. Mother and daughter disappeared about the same time. This afternoon the workmen came upon another deposit of lime under the rotten stairway which was used as a secret means of ingress to the cellar. Only one bone was found here, and it was pronounced by a physician who examined it to be a part of the middle portion of the foot,

MURDER AT THIRTEEN YEARS.

Two Little Sons of the National Line Steward Arraigned for Slaying their Mother.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 25.—Robert and Nanthiel Coombes, aged respectively 11 and 13 years, who murdered their mother about three weeks ago by stabbing her while she was asleep and lived ten days in the house with her decomposing body, were arraigned in the Police Court this morning. The police autherities announced that they would not charge the younger brother with participation in the crime, but would call him to witness.

Nanthiel was then placed in the witness box and told of his brother's having bought the dagger with which the killing was done. He did not see his mother killed, but heard her groan and went and looked at her while she was dying. His brother admitted to him that it was he who had killed her. The magistrate committed the elder brother, Robert, and the half-witted man, Fox, who was arrested with the boys, for trial on the charge of murder and held Nathaniel as a witness.

Wingle—There's only one trouble with the meals my cook gets up. Wangle—What's that? Wingle—I can't get them down.—Detroit Tribune.

Wiggs (meditatively)—Er—I wonder if an army cannon ever obtains an honorable discharge? Waggs—Nop; just gets fired.—Buffalo Courier.

Father—Didn't I see you strike your little brother? Tommy—I guess not, or you'd 'a' had me shut up in a dark closet by now.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

New Tenant—Have you janitor service in this building? Old Tenant—Well, I should say so. Every person in the house waits on him.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Mrs. Smart—Come down and I'll give you the best licking you ever had in your life. Johnny Smart (up a tree)—I wouldn't come down for two of them.—Exchange.

Madge—Yes, I really enjoy his calls. Florence—His conversation bores one terribly. Madge—Yes, but he never kicks up the rugs, dear.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Do you know the count actually addresses her in public as his treasure?" "Treasure? His English is a little off. He means his investment."—Indianapolis Journal.

Hangley Greenes—The poolrooms are closed and there is no place to gamble. Ven Digger—If it's a sure thing let's gamble they won't open again.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

She—You were behind me at the play last night, weren't you? How did you enjoy it? He—I thought it was one of the prettiest ones you ever wore.—New York Herald.

"This doesn't taste like milk; what is wrong with it?" Milkman—There's a new man filling the cans and he didn't put in enough water, but it'll be all right next time.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

"Isn't it sad," asked the young girl romantically, "to think of the roses of yester year?" "It is," said the young man, emphatically. "I have an unpaid florist's bill of $24."—Chicago Record.

There isn't as much love in engagements as in a marriage, for the reason that the parties tell how much they love when they are engaged, and after marriage they have to show it.—Atchison Globe.

Mrs. Inquisitive—Your husband must be earning more than he used to, I see you have a new sealskin jacket. Mrs. Straightface—No, indeed. He learned how to fix the gas meter.—Sound Boat's Bulletin.

Greathead—Well, there's one thing about the women folks; you never knew a woman to desert her wife. Bulgebrain—And as for that matter, you never knew a man to forsake his husband.—Boston Transcript.

Father Time glared fiercely at the woman. "No," he exclaimed, "I am not so slow as you have always tried to make people think." With which he moistened his palms and grasped his scythe yet more firmly.—Detroit Tribune

"I am sure," said the foxy-looking chap of thirty-five, "that you will pardon me for not offering my seat to one so young and strong as you." "Don't, I pray," said the lady of forty-one, with a smile, "I am quite able to stand."—New York Recorder.

Daughter—Papa, I wish you wouldn't look so fierce when young men call to see me. It frightens them. Father—How shall I look—meek? Daughter—Um—not too meek: that might scare them off, too.—New York Weekly.

"Colonel, you have killed your man, haven't you?" "Fifty of 'em, sir." "Do you ever worry about it?" "Yes, I do. If I'd just been Coroner in those days, think of the money I would have made sitting on 'em."—Atlanta Constitution.

"Let me see," said Bobbs to Dobbs, "isn't this Dobbs that we were talking about a relative of yours?" "A distant relative," said Dobbs. "Very distant?" "I should think so. He's the oldest of twelve children in our family and I'm the youngest."—Tid-Bits.

"Have you anything to say?" asked the rural Justice of the prisoner who stole the horse. "Nuthin' yer Honor." "Well, I won't lecture you this time. Actions speak louder than words, so I'll just hang you and be done with it!"—Atlanta Constitution.

"Any parlor matches, lady?" he asked, as he offered a bundle of his wares. "Not yet," answered the mother of four daughters; "but we hope to make some before spring," and she closed the door on the astonished match vender.—Detroit Free Press.

First Spirit (at the gate)—Every Lenten season I wore sackcloth and ashes. St. Peter—Wait outside until I can examine the rest of your record. Second Spirit—I always put my ashes on the front pavement. St. Peter—Come in.—New York

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

PROPHECY ON POLITICS.

THE CABINET TO FALL, THEN A MINISTRY UNDER LAURIER.

Coalition of Laurier and Chapleau to Follow—Ontario Men to Bolt On Remedial Legislation—Elections to Be Held Early in March Next.

Special to the Times,

MONTREAL, July 25.—A French comic paper, Le Canard, published here, prints this week an imaginary interview between its correspondent, Ladebauche and an inhabitant of the unseen world. The interview, which is given below voices the sentiments at present entertained by a considerable section of the French Canadian population of the Province of Quebec. The questions and answers are as follows:

"How long will the Bowell Ministry last?"

"One hundred and fifty-seven and a half days."

"Will there be a session in January?"

"Yes."

"What will happen at the commencement?"

"Mr. Laurier will ask Mr. Foster if his Government has prepared the remedial measure. Mr. Foster will reply that he has a bill prepared. As that bill will not be satisfactory to the Catholics of the Northwest, Mr. Lariviere will present a motion of want of confidence in a Government which is neither flesh nor fish."

"Will the Government be beaten on this motion?"

"No."

"Will it resign?"

"Yes."

"When will it resign?"

"About the end of January."

"On what question?"

"On the School question. There will be quarrels in the ministry. Clarke, Wallace, Montague and Haggart will fool the Catholics, Bowell will laugh in his sleeve; but it will be a sick laugh. He will become serious enough when he sees his Protestant colleagues bolt. They will not go on all fours, and the Orange shop will jump."

"When will we have general elections?"

"The first week of March."

"Which party will come out ahead?"

"I have already answered that question."

"How will Mr. Curran vote on the school question?"

"He will not vote at all. He will have a seat on the bench for a Christmas box."

"Who will represent his division in the next parliament?"

"McShane. Worse luck."

"Will Mr. Angers get another judgeship."

"Yes; under the coalition ministry."

"What is that coalition ministy"

"The second Cabinet which shall be formed after the fall of Bowell."

"What will be the first?"

"Laurier's."

"Will that last long?"

"No. Difficulties will be made by the Orangemen and P.P.A.'s in Ontario."

"Who will organize the coalition ministry?"

"Chapleau and Laurier for the French sections."

"Will the school question be settled then?"

"No."

"When will it be settled?"

"Never."

The interview concludes by prophesying that the supporters of the "doomed government" will begin to feather their nests while they may. Mr. "Bob" White will secure the Montreal Customs collectorship, which has been vacant for over two years. Places in the Senate will be filled up, and so on.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr Swayne & Son, Philadelphia, Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents

An Involved Case.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—Detective Geyer arrived here from Detroit today to investigate this end of the Holmes-Pietzel affair. It is believed by local officers that the missing lad Howard Pietzel was murdered here and his body taken from the Circle Park Hotel where Holmes was stopping, in a trunk. What disposition was made of the body is a mystery that Detective Geyer has come here to solve.

Again Tries to Suicide.

BUFFALO, July 25.—Frankie Robinette, who claims to be the wife of T. C. Robinette, of Toronto, but who is known to be not mentally sound, tried a second attempt at suicide within the year. The first attempt was on her person and the second was made by jumping off Bird Island Pier late yesterday afternoon. She was taken out, and after much trouble resucitated. She now lies in the hospital, and her recovery is deemed probable.

MENTION THIS PAPER.

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 27 1895.

The most serious danger to the Home Rule cause is found in the threat made by Chamberlain to introduce a measure taking away twenty-three seats from Ireland and giving them to England. If this bill is adopted Ireland will never be able, of her own strength, to secure even a modified form of self-government. She will have to depend for success on her ability to convince English constituencies of the justice of her cause.

Another of the great scandals unearthed by opposition nosers has been exploded. It has been discovered that the cabinet ministers paid out of their own pockets $900 for the flowers they sent to Sir John Thompson's funeral, and that these flowers were not included in the general lot furnished by the undertaker, and billed at $1,900. But there still remains the senate lead pencil scandal and the shining of Mr. Cockburn's shoes.

The fight between Turkish troops and Macedonian insurgents, in which five hundred Turks are reported to have been killed, in a serious thing in more senses than one. If the facts are not exaggerated, the Macedonian rebels must have gained a strength that will endanger the peace of what remains of the Turkish Empire, and whatever does this is always liable to draw other countries into the conflict. Russia did not altogether give up the idea of getting to Constantinople when the powers at Berlin robbed her of the fruit of her last conquest of Turkey, and the Bulgarian excitement and this Macedonian rising might easily be used as an excuse for another whack at the Sick Man's inheritance.

In an evil moment Mrs. Pitezel consented to be a praty to an insurance fraud, and if ever woman was punished in this world for wrong doing, unfortunate Mrs. Pitezel is that woman. Her husband—a bad man, but her beloved—was murdered; her children were torn from her and kept separate from her many months, and then murdered. For months she was dragged hither and thither about the country, quieted by the promise of seeing her husband and children, and always in imminent danger of sharing their horrible fate. As that poor woman stood in the morgue in Toronto yesterday, identifying the poor remains of her murdered children, she compelled the pity of even callous, matter of fact detectives. Her sin has found her out, and her punishment has been terrible

That old and esteemed friend of the reading public, the European war-cloud, has re-appeared, and demands attention. He has been long in retirement having withdrawn from active life owing to sheer over-work. In pristine vigor, however, he returns to give assurance that war may break out any day, and deluge Europe with blood. But the war-cloud, like the cry of wolf, arouses no uneasiness, because he has threatened us so long Weary of waiting, Canada has taken up the Manitoba school question, which satisfies every local craving for blood, and keeps the politicians employed. It is absolutely necessary that some public issue of the kind be kept alive, or the taxpayers might fall to discussing the merits of the politicians themselves, which would be disastrous—to the politicians. The murder of an ex-Premier in Bulgaria is certainly a disquieting occurrence, and may lead to trouble, but let us hope the best. When the oft-predicted war comes in Europe, it will probably originate in some unexpected quarter, while the eyes of the prophets are steadily fixed on the Balkans.

MANITOBA WILL NOT RECEDE.

The Winnipeg Tribune says Manitoba will not recede no matter to what recourse she may be put to defend her position.

This is the answer of Premier Greenway to the expression of hope by Premier Bowell and Finance Minister Foster that the Province would relieve the Dominion from embarrassment by re-establishing Separate schools by Provincial enactment

When Parliament meets in January the school question will be in precisely the same position that it was when forty Ontario Conservative members balked on being brought face to face with it at the session just closed.

FARMERS MARKET.

July 26.—The receipts of grain on the street market today were small, being one load of oats which sold at 39c. The receipts of hay and straw were small. There was a good demand and the market was firm, 15 loads of hay selling at $14 50 to $15 50 for new and $18 50 for old, and 5 loads of straw rt $8 to $9. The receipts of dressed hogs were small, there was a good demand and the market was firm at $6 50 to $6 75.

CHEESE MARKETS.

BROCKVILLE, July 25.—Today 3,012 boxes of cheese were boarded here, of which 510 were white and the balance colored. Sales on the board were:—197 boxes of white at 8⅛c; 190 colored at 8⅛c, market quiet.

KINGSTON, July 25.—At the meeting of the Kingston Cheese Board today 1,820 boxes of colored were offered and 1,330 sold at 8 1-16c.

BRANTFORD, July 25.—At the cheese market here today 18 factories offered 3,194 boxes. Sales:—180 boxes at 7⅞c, 175 at 7⅞c, 800 at 8c and 250 at 8 1-16c, market quiet. Four buyers were present. Next meeting will be held Thursday, Aug. 8.

MONTREAL.

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

July 26.—There has seldom been a quieter day in live stock circles. No advices were received from the other side, and shippers were doing practically nothing at the markets. There is still an easy feeling in freights. But the same figures are still ruling. Butchers have been paying about 3½c to 4c for good cattle at the markets, and few have brought over the outside figure. Medium cattle have been quoted at 3c to 3½c and culls 2½c upwards. A few sheep have been taken for shipment since the last market day at 3½c to 3¾c. Hogs are firm. There is quite a lot of range and Manitoba cattle on the way here. The shipments of cattle and sheep from Montreal for the week ending July 24 have been compiled as follows by R. Bickerdike:—

Two great Irish measures are foreshadowed in recent speeches by Messrs. Balfour and Chamberlain. One will take away twenty-three members from Ireland, and the other will reduce her share of the taxation. We in Canada would welcome such a bargain with enthusiasm. If some Moses will generously lead us completely out of the wilderness of taxation he can have the whole House of Commons in exchange. And no questions asked.

THE LIME JUICE CLUB.

REGULAR WEEKLY MEETING OF THIS CHASE SOCIETY.

The Hall of Wisdom Once More the Centre of Attraction—Large and Enthusiastic Meeting—A New Tennis Court—Death of an Honorary Member.

Three or four minutes before the time for sounding the triangle, a boy with a pair of boots five sizes too large, and a hat big enough to cover four heads of cabbage, climed the stairs and encountered the vigilent Tyler in the ante-room.

"Boy, you fly right down these stairs or I'll make a barrel of soap grease out of your body!" shouted the sentinel.

"I guess not, sir; because I've got a letter here for the President," replied the boy.

"Very well, then. You squat there on the wood pile, until I take this epistle into the Secretary, and if you try to look into the lodge room, one of the biggest kinds of ghosts will jump out and bring you such a box on the ears as you never heard tell of."

It was a note from Bro. Bob. Fife, chairman of the Committee on Internal Economy, who stated that he was unable to be present, as he was assisting Bro. Boneyard Billyjim in one of his hypnotic seances. Bro. Billyjim is a wonderful success in this line, and although he had only taken four lessons from Prof Lee, he has acquired the mesmeric art so perfectly as to be able to completely control the actions of his subject. Indeed, he himself had been mesmerized by the new Professor, and his first act was to buy Bro. Boneyard a lemonade, after which he was compelled to violently swing his arm in a circle and could not stop doing so. Indeed it was only after the Professor had received several hard swipes on the back of the neck in his efforts to relieve him from the hypnotic state that he was successful in doing so.

He concluded by asking to be excused from attending to-night's meeting, and promised to use his influence with Prof. Billyjim to have him give an exhibition before the Club. The letter concluded as follows: "The highest duty of a man is to promote the interests of this Great Club, and in securing Bro. Billyjim and his wonderful performance as an attraction to the Hall of Wisdom, I feel that I am doing good work for the Club. So go ahead and run the show through without me, to the best of your ability, not forgetting that Bro. Dickson Davidson will bear watching, and that when Bro. Croft goes to sleep he always falls off his bench to the left."

The President immediately ordered the Secretary to call off the names of the Committee on Agriculture, and requested them to proceed without delay to the Oriental Hotel and assist Brother Billyjim in his experiments.

PETITIONS.

The number of petitions for membership was fully to the average, regarding "Hon." "Colonels," and "Esquires," and one fact was particularly noticeable: nearly every applicant was careful to state that he owned a shot gun and a dog, thus saving the Investigating Committee much research and trouble. Among the petitioners was one from Mary Jane Burford, of Toronto, stated that she either wanted to join the Club or borrow thirteen shillings to pay for a winters hat.

UNDER A WEIGHT.

A letter was read from Bro. F. D. McKay and Walter Phelan, asking the Club to use its influence to have the trees removed for the Court House Park, and the same turned into a lawn tennis court. They found that it was easier to court when they went on a racquet.

"I move—," began Bro. W. Bradburn half raising from his seat, when the President motioned him to squat and said, "The Secretary will reply to the effect that the communication is placed under a four pound weight on the red table."

PASSED AWAY.

The President announced that he had received a communication from Winnipeg, giving the particulars of the death of Julius Hawstock, an honorary member of this Club, and added:

"Gentlemen, the letter states that he passed away in the softest manner, and that his last request was to have the Club notified of his departure. I did not know him personally, but I feel it safe to say that he was honest, reprehensible, industrious, cutaneous and well meaning. Perhaps he didn't cut a great figure in the world, and maybe he couldn't deliver an after dinner speech without mixing up cocked hats with gin cocktails, but what he wore he paid for, and what he had he earned by the sweat of his brow. The Secretary, assisted by the Keeper of the Password, will hang an emblem of sorrow on the knob of the inner door and keep it there for the space of fourteen days, and we will now join in singing:

Beneath this sod a brother sleeps,
To wake no more—to wake no more
Till passed the river swift and deep
He's landed on the other shore.

No pain or sorrow did he know
No words can reach him in the grave;
But up in Heaven he'll find the rest which Heaven gives even to a slave.

The song was sung, and made a deep impression on all the older members. What, therefore, was the surprise of the meeting to hear Bro. Wm. McFarlane, President of the Young's Point Liver Complaint Society, which has recently been absorbed in to the Lime Juice Club, attempt to add a chorus to the last verse by switching off on "He's a Jolly Good Fellow!"

He was immediately walked to the front, and amid expressions of indignation, he was fined eight hundred dollars and costs. He pleaded anxiety of mind about a fish story which had been told him by Bro. John Holmes, of Burleigh Falls, but it was no go, and for some weeks to come he will probably be the most sedate attendant at the Hall of Wisdom.

A PRIZE.

Bro. Weary Willie Pontica Small Bass Big Lunge Loch, who had just returned from a visit to Bro. Homes, Burleigh, arose and said he would like to utter a few remarks. Leave being granted he said he had for a year past been excited in mind over the wholesale waste in oyster cans. Every one of the millions of cans were worthless as soon as emptied of its contents, and he found them rusting in alleys, on vacant lots, beside the curbstone, and wherever he went. His philanthropic interest in the welfare of Canada, as well as his everpresent desire to encourage genius, had led him to offer a prize of one yellow dog, one boot jack and two dollars to any Canadian who would invent a way to utilize the old cans. The subject had been broached to the Club on a previous occasion, but nothing had been done to encourage the inventive faculty, and perhaps nothing would have been done but for the enthusiasm of Bro. Albert Stratton, whose active mind is ever busy with plans to better the dwellers in this great world.

REPORTS.

Butter Roach, of Keene, chairman of the committee on Astonomy, reported a riot on the sun's surface, but advised everybody to go to bed at the usual hour.

The Committee on Ways and Means reported in favor of increasing the number of political officers in the country; likewise an increase of jails and prisons.

The Commiltee on Agriculture reported that it had contracted for 500 barrels of hard cider for the use of the club, with a flavoring ot brandy thrown in, for $1 per barrel.

The Committee on Sanitary Measures could not say that a barrel of soap grease in the cellar of a house would create dampness in the parlour bedroom, but the matter was being investigated.

The Librarian reported the unmber of almanacs of the date of 1893 on hand at 2,763, and more coming in by every mail.

The remainder of the business of national importance was placed on ice, the water pail turned bottom side up, and the meeting slid down stairs, while the Harmony Club sang: "Oh! Who Would Die this Summer?"

Tired but Sleepless

Is a condition which gradually wears away the strength. Let the blood be purified and enriched by Hood's Sarsaparilla and this condition will cease.

"For two or three years I was subject to poor spells. I always felt tired, could not sleep at night and the little I could eat did not do me any good. I read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before I had finished two bottles I began to feel better and in a short time I felt all right and had gained 21 pounds in weight. I am stronger and healthier than I have ever been in my life." JOHN W. COUGHLIN, Wallaceburg, Ontario.

Importance of the Egg Trade.

The Canadian farmers, as a rule, do not pay enough attention to their poultry for their own good. A young hen is not a worthless nuisance to be left alone to pick her own living. She is valuable property, and, if properly cared for, will pay larger interest on your money and labor than the other farm stock. Increase your flock to 200 hens at once. Build a suitable house for them. It will pay you. Few are aware of the value and importance of the egg trade as a source of wealth to a nation.

The amount of business done in the United States in the egg trade exclusively will amount to over $900,000,000 each year. New York city alone consumed $12,000,000 worth in 1890, at an average price of eighteen cents a dozen. The poultry and egg business outranks any single product, except corn, raised and sold in that country.

Notwithstanding these facts, we find people who think it small business and time wasted for the farmer to give his poultry flock a little time and attention. A farmer could do a great deal worse than make poultry raising the main branch of the farm industries.

Securing Full Value.

Farmers are often lax in studying market conditions as carefully reported in the columns of the newspapers each week, and in consequence sell produce at lower prices than necessary. In this vein writes an appreciative subscriber who considers these reports especially valuable. "They often save me dollars," he writes. "I sell my farm produce each week in my best home market. Frequently the merchants endeavor to mislead by quoting the city markets lower than they really are, but they have learned that through studying your columns I am posted with the situation and cannot be deceived. Again, other farmers often hold on to their produce for rise in prices when all the conditions plainly indicate a drop, continuing in this slipshod manner and condemning their business as unprofitable. They would be puzzled to name a business that would pay under such management."—American Agriculturist.

Hints on Stacking.

In harvesting wheat, oats and flax a header can be used successfully. If the stacks are long and narrow and not tramped as in the case of oats and flax, the stacking should be done by a man standing on the ground. Wheat can be placed in larger ricks, as it does not hold much moisture. Let the stacker always stand near the middle so the stack will settle straight and the straw on the outside will hang down.

—Men's Choice Dongola Oxford Shoes, soft and comfortable, suitable for summer wear, all sizes, 6 to 10, special at	.95
—Men's Eatonia Bicycles, strictly high grade, last consignment this season, bought to sell at	$50

The Bicycles will lead in interest as a matter of course. Earlier in the season the manufacturers were independent and nothing we could do would bring the selling price below $60. Now we're in a position to dictate for the reason that their busy season is over. They can afford to work for less and we can afford to sell for less. Hence the extremely low price of FIFTY DOLLARS.

The Fatal "Forty-Six."

The sad end of the English statesman, Lord Randolph Churchill, reminds us that he was 46 yeas old, the age which seems fatal to many intellects. Thomas Hood died at the age of 46, at the very moment when he had excited the greatest expectations. The fatality at this period of life for a certain class of intellects is nearly as great as that which has rendered the age of 37 dangerous to the higher ranks of artistic genius—to Raphael to Mozart, to Burns, to Bryon. Forty-six is the grand climax of the soldier's and the statesman's life. At 46 Pitt passed away in the prime of his powers. At 46 Napoleon lost the battle of Waterloo, and ended his career. At 46 Wellington won that battle, and may be said to almost have commenced his civil career. At 47 Nelson's hour had come at Trafalgar. At the same age the active and brilliant part of Lord Palmerston's career commenced at the Foreign Office, and Mr. Disraeli exhibited his peculiarities as Minister. In literature we find that Spenser died at 46, Addison at 47, and Goldsmith at 46.

HAD TWELVE HUSBANDS.

Mrs. Blackmire's Strange Experiences With Matrimony.

Special to The Times.

LAPAZ, Ind., July 26.—The funeral service was held of Mrs. Blackmire, who enjoyed the unique record of having had 12 husbands. At the time of her death Mrs. Blackmire was 45 years of age. Her first marriage occurred when she was only 15 years old. The list of husbands are as follows: No. 1, a husband aged 15, divorced at the end of ten years: No 2, an attorney, divorced; No. 3, cruel separation; No. 4, convict from Joliette, reformed and died; Nos. 5 and 6, died within 18 months; No. 7, gambler, divorced. No. 8, prospector, fell down a well on wedding day, killed; No. 9, no record; No 10, the widow, aged 36, married J. H. Brown, druggist, first child, disappeared; No. 11. Dr. Spencer, aged, soon died; and No. 12, Mr. Blackmire divorced. The woman was still charmingly single when she died.

Cholera in Japan.

TOKIO, July 26.—There is every symptom at present of a serious epidemic of cholera in Japan. The terrible disease has made its appearance among the troops at Pescadores, Port Arthur and Chin Chow, its germs having been carried home by the returning soldiers, and already from fourteen centres of infection reports of fresh cases reach the authorities daily. Thus far the cases have only aggregated 315 and the rate of mortality has been about three per cent., but when the summer heat asserts itself a grave situation of affairs will in all probability ensue.

The Enormous Sun Arcturus.

If the earth were situated midway between the sun and Arcturus it would receive 5,198 times as much light from that star as it would from the sun! It is quite probable, moreover, that the heat of Arcturus exceeds the solar heat in the same ratio, for the spectroscope shows that, although Arcturus is surrounded with a cloak of metallic vapors proportionately far more extensive than the sun's, yet, smothered as the great star seems in some respects to be, it rivals Sirius itself in the intensity of its radiant energy. If we suppose the radiation of Arcturus to be the same per unit of surface as the sun's it follows that Arcturus exceeds the sun about 375,000 times in volume, and that its diameter is no less than 62,350,000 miles! Imagine the earth and the other planets constituting the solar system removed to Arcturus, and set revolving around it in orbits of the same forms and sizes in which they circle about the sun. Poor Mercury! For that little planet it would indeed be a jump from the frying pan into the fire, because as it rushed to perihelion Mercury would plunge more than 2,500,000 miles beneath the surface of the giant star. Venus and the earth would perhaps melt like snowflakes at the mouth of a furnace. Even far-away Neptune, the remotest member of the system, would be bathed in torrid heat.

Ireland's Patron Saint.

There were probably three Patricks in Ireland at about the same time, and facts in the life of each of them have been commingled to make the traditional life of the patron saint of Erin. Patrick, or Succat, or Succath, was of Scotch family, and having been stolen from home by the Picts served as a slave in Ireland for some years. He recovered his freedom and after a "few years' preparation" returned to Ireland as a missionary about 432 A. D. He died about 469 A. D. This Patrick was never in Rome, and probably was not a Roman Catholic. From Rome, however, came in 431 A. D. Palladius Patricius, sent by Pope Celestine, who was a Roman Catholic. The third Patrick was Senn Patraice, or Old Patrick, about whom there are various stories. There are two Latin writings attributed to St. Patrick, the Confession and the Epistle, and these are very old. But the existence of St. Patrick is not mentioned by any of the writers of the time or for many years later, so that to historians the subject is still obscure and uncertain.

Quick Work.

A few nights ago the whole garrison of Paris was mobilized without warning at an hour's notice. Directions were sent at eleven o'clock to have the men ordered out at midnight, ready for war. They were armed, provided with rations and ammunition and marched through the streets to the different railroad stations within two hours.

Often you have flowers with stems so short that there is not a dish in the house they will stay in. Then just try this scheme: Cut a piece of wide-meshed net just big enough to fit inside a jar or bowl. Fill it with water and stick the flowers in through the meshes.

BROTHERS IN TROUBLE.

THE OUELETTE BROTHERS, OF WINDSOR, GETS INTO TROUBLE ALL AT ONCE.

James M. is Shot—One Other Brother Arrested On a Charge of Smuggling Opium—Another and His Cash Box.

Special to the Times.

DETROIT, Mich., July 26.

JAMES OUELETTE, of Windsor, one of the five brothers of that name, was shot and seriously wounded by Frederick Putt, weighmaster at the Detroit Driving Park last evening, during a quarrel over an alleged debt of long standing. Putt was arrested immediately after the shooting and lodged in the county jail. Physicians and the Grace hospital ambulance were sent for at once, but owing to the long distance nearly four hours elapsed before the injured man reached the hospital.

It was a curious coincidence that three of the Ouelette brothers were in hard lines yesterday. At the track Louis J. Ouelette's cash box was attached for an alleged debt which he owes a whiskey firm. His brother D. L. Ouelette, who assisted him at the bar, was arrested on an old charge of smuggling opium, and the other brother, James M., was shot.

James has a wife and three children, living at Windsor, but they are at present on a trip up the lakes. He also was working for his brother Louis behind the bar.

GEN. CAMPOS TRAPPED.

Spain's Best General Surrounded by Maceo's Daring Rebels.

Special to the Times.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 26.—A cablegram from Key West says: A private letter received in this city last night from Havana confirms the report of Martinez Campos' defeat at the battle of Valenzuela. Of the 1,800 Spanish troops that went into the battle only 300 escaped to Rayamo, where they are surrounded by 6,000 Cubans under Maceo, Masso, Quinlin, Bandera, and Goulet. The insurgents' loss in this battle was 280 killed and wounded. General Campos is now at Bayamo seriously wounded and surrounded by the insurgents. Troops are being sent from all parts of the island to relieve him.

Catarrh in the Head

Is a dangerous disease because it is liable to result in loss of hearing or smell, or develop into consumption. Read the following:

"My wife has been a sufferer from catarrh for the past four years and the disease had gone so far that her eyesight was affected so that for nearly a year she was unable to read for more than five minutes at a time. She suffered severe pains in the head and at times was almost distracted. About Christmas, she commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and since that time has steadily improved. She has taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is on the road to a complete cure. I cannot speak too highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I cheerfully recommend it." W. H. THE RYELAND SHEEP.

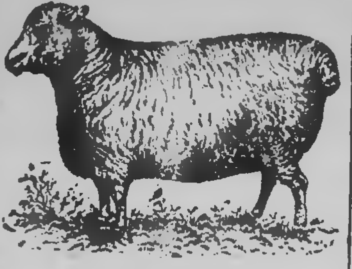
Long Ago They Stood at the Head of the Short-Wooled Breeds.

There is no other breed of sheep in England that can trace its history and origin so far back, or whose value to the sheep industry has been so continuous and sharply defined for so many centuries as the Ryeland. The accompanying illustration of a Ryeland ewe suggests the origin of the breed, as there is considerable resemblance between her and the Merino ewe. This, with the peculiar character of the wool, leads, according to William Youatt, to the suspicion that the Ryeland breed may be of foreign extraction. The Merino breed in Spain was one of those valuable gifts with which the Romans were accustomed to propitiate and enrich the people whom they conquered; they were never satisfied until they had effected both the introduction of sheep and the establishment of manufactures. It is a historical fact that ten years after the invasion of Britain by the Romans, in the year 55 B. C, the victors established a woolen factory at Winchester, and such was the character of the fabrics that they were in great estimation at Rome. It is easy to believe that these fine-wool sheep were already in the country, but it is possible that they were a benefaction from the conquerors 1960 years ago.



TYPICAL RYELAND EWE.

It is believed by Bishoff that the Herefordshire sheep, now called the Ryeland, were the woolen-bearing sheep of England [illegible] have such value and interest to the [illegible] dustry of England in the year [illegible]. [illegible] was recorded by the earliest writ[illegible] at the Ryelands stood at the head [illegible] the short-wooled breeds. Mr. Herbert, who has studied the subject, is of the opinion that the Ryelands extended through England from the Thames to the Tyne, and even intimates that the Cotswolds were produced by a cross of the Ryelands with some heavy sheep. The counties of Hereford, Shropshire, Staffordshire and Oxford sheep were only varieties of the Ryeland breed. It was the work of years, but in the evolutions of the sheep industry, a potential factor in good husbandry, the Ryelands were gradually forced to give place to a heavier, earlier-maturing sheep until conditions were reached that the heavier sheep could not supplant them. Until this time they were known as Hereford sheep; but when they were confined mainly to the southern part of the country, where it was the custom to sow great quantities of rye, and to pasture flocks thereon in the winter season, they received their significant name, Ryeland. That there were two breeds of Hereford sheep we are led to infer from the writings of William Ellis in 1747, for he shows there was "a dark-faced sheep that was much sought for by graziers and feeders in Hertfordshire," where he lived, and in other counties which were then regarded as feeding sections of England. Youatt describes the true Ryeland as a small sheep, seldom exceeding more than 14 to 16 lbs. to the quarter in the wethers, or than 10 to 13 in the ewe. They have white faces and are polled, the wool growing close to and sometimes covering the eyes. The legs are small and clean, the bone altogether light, the carcass sound and compact and peculiarly developed on the loins and haunches. The Ryeland has that form which at once bespeaks it to be patient of hunger and capable of thriving on scanty fare. It scarcely admits of a doubt that old Ryelands would endure privations of food better than any other [illegible]. Sir Joseph Banks, who was well acquainted with their constitution and hab[illegible] used to say that the Ryelands deserve[illegible] niche in the temple of fame. The weight of fleece rarely exceeded two pounds, but it possessed a degree of fineness unequaled by any other British breed. It was finer than the Southdown of one hundred years ago, but not so fine as the Saxony. The Ryeland mutton was always spoken of as of the best quality. The sheep was at its best at five or six years old.

What to do With a Profitless Field.

What to do with a profitless field is a matter of consideration by all farmers who are so unfortunate as to have such fields. The majority use these lands as pastures, upon which they turn the stock, but it will pay to aim to grow green crops on the land to be turned under. If this is done for two or three years and the land limed, it will be found that such method will restore fertility at a small cost compared with the increased value of the field.

An outlay sufficient to meet all demands and to afford the land a full proportion of plant food is not extravagance but economy, as greater profits will result when the crops are harvested.

Weight of Young Pigs.

A pig at its birth should weigh about three pounds. At the end of the first month the weight should have increased to fifteen, and it should continue to grow until at the tenth month it has attained a weight of 300 pounds. That is, if it is kept so long, but the most profitable hog is the one marketed when seven or eight months old. The cost of pork is fifty per cent. greater if made in the tenth month than in the fifth month in the food consumed. Quick returns and as quick profits should be the aim of the swine breeder.—Field and Farm.

The New Diphtheria Cure.

In obtaining the serum for the anti-toxine treatment about ten quarts is the amount drawn from each horse at one time on the average. The animals suffer no perceptible exhaustion, and are made [illegible] for other purposes. Among the twenty-five-horses now owned by the British institute is a grandson of Blair Athol.

Good Way to Test Eggs.

When four ounces of salt are dissolved in forty ounces of water, an egg a day old will sink to the bottom; one two days old will float near the top, and one five or more days will project above the surface more and more as it becomes older.

AN EXCITED PIT.

Sudden Rise in Price at Chicago Wheat Markets.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Excitement of an intense and increasing kind prevailed in the wheat pit and Board of Trade today. In the midst of unexpected and sensational flurry wheat went soaring from 68½ to 72½. This was an advance of five cents over closing price of yesterday and bulls were in high feather. The advance was caused by higher prices abroad and a remarkable falling off in the receipts of winter wheat at receiving points.

A RICH CONVICT.

W. J. Robertson Comes Out of Jail an Heir to $75,000.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 25.—An interesting young man came out of jail this morning. He is William J. Robertson, who went in six months ago a penniless pickpocket in rags and comes out today heir to $75,500, which was left him by his aunt, a Mrs. Robertson, who died recently in Toronto. The small fortune which he inherits is $32,000 in cash, and the remainder Toronto real estate. Young Robertson told a reporter this morning that he had given up the thieving business for good and was going to join his brother who runs a circus at Halifax.

INDIAN TROUBLES.

Troops Called to Avert a Conflict With the Settlers.

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Orders have been sent to John O. Copping to issue the necessary orders for the movement of such troops as he shall deem necessary for carrying out the request of the Department of the Interior and to prevent a conflict between the Indians and settlers and to return the Indians to their reservations. He is also directed to proceed in person to the scene of the disturbance and to direct the operations of troops. Should he require the use of troops from the departments other than his own, he is instructed to advise Indian Department as to the special force he desires.

Assistant Secretary Reynolds, of the Interior Department, advised Governor Richards this evening that General Coppinger had been ordered to go to the scene of the Indian troubles with federal troops for the protection of the settlers. Governor Richards says he thinks a fight between the settlers and the Indians will occur before the troops can get to the ground.

BATTLE IN PROGRESS.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 25.—Advices from Gen. Stitzer to Governor Richards indicate that a battle is in progress between Indians and whites at Jackson. A telegram from the general says: "Met an Indian captain of police hurrying out with all possible speed. Saw him again last night, he says he cannot control the Indians, who will fight the settlers at noon today." Governor Richards has been advised by the Interior department that troops have been ordered to protect the settlers.

A CRANK'S CLAIM.

The Girls Were Killed by Him in the Church Belfry.

Special to the Times.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., July 25.—W. Barret, an insane waiter, gave himself up to the sheriff last night and said he was the murderer of the two girls killed in the Emanuel church. He made a rambling statement of how he had killed the two girls on the same day and carried their bodies to the belfry. He recognized a supervision in the sheriff's office as Rev. Mr. Gibson and an attache as Durrant's brother. He will be examined as to his sanity.

Illustrating What He Meant.

Latter day speakers of English are getting to be very wordy and pompous in the use of our language, according to the distinguished linguist, Professor Whitney, and he thinks we ought to get back to the modesty and simplicity of our ancestors. This advice of Professor Whitney is no doubt timely. But in advising us not to use big words and to be clear, pure and simple in diction he employs the following words: "Avoid all polysyllabical profundity, pompous prolixity, and ventriloquial verpidity. Shun double entendre and prurient jocosity, whether obscure or apparent. In other words, speak truthfully, naturally, clearly, purely, but do not use large words."—Boston Globe.

CUPID AND PSYCHE

Every Man Who Would Know the Grand Truths; the Plain Facts; the New Discoveries of Medical Science as Applied to Married Life; Who Would Attone for Past Errors and Avoid Future Pitfalls Should Secure the Wonderful Little Book Called "Complete Manhood and How to Attain it."

"Here at last is information from a high medical source that must work wonders with this generation of men."

The book fully describes a method by which to attain full vigor and manly power.

A method by which to end all unnatural drains on the system.

To cure nervousness, lack of self control, despondency, etc.

To exchange a jaded and worn nature for one of brightness, buoyancy and power.

To cure forever effects of excesses, overwork, worry, etc.

To give full strength, developement and tone to every portion and organ of the body.

Age no barrier Failure impossible. Two thousand references.

The book is purely medical and scientific, useless to curiosity seekers, invaluable to men only who need it.

A despairing man who had applied to us, soon after wrote:

"Well, I tell you that first day is one I'll never forget. I just bubbled with joy. I wanted to hug everybody and tell them my old self had died yesterday and my new self was born to-day. Why didn't you tell me when I first wrote that I would find it this way"

And another thus:

"If you dumped a carload of gold at my feet it would not bring such gladness into my life as your method has done."

Write to the ERIE MEDICAL COMPANY, Buffalo, N.Y., and ask for the little book called "COMPLETE MANHOOD." Refer to this paper, and the company promises to send the book, in sealed envelope, without any marks, and entirely free, until it is well introduced.

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Return Match.

The Ontarios, of Port Hope, will play the return match with the Athletics here on Wednesday. There is some talk of having the match at Jubilee Point, but nothing definite as to that has been decided.

They Want Their Son.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, formerly of Napanee, now located at Picton would be grateful to any person who would give them information of their son Fred, 16 years old, who ran away from them on Tuesday last.

Crushed His Hand.

Bert Craig, of Ashburnham, met with an accident Thursday at the Bridge Works where he is employed. He was operating a punching machine when he got his hand in the machine and had it crushed. He may lose one finger.

A Pleasant Picnic.

The City of Peterborough carried an excursion down the river Thursday from the Presbyterian and Anglican churches, of Millbrook. A merry crowd of 200 or more was the number. On their return they filled three street cars and were conveyed to the G. T. R. station, a band playing en route.

Death of N. S. Ridout.

Norman Stuart Ridout, C. S. M., of the Royal Military College, Kingston, and second son of the late Donald C. Ridout, of Toronto, while on service at St. Anne's Quebec, met with an accident on Saturday which immediately resulted in death. Mr. Ridout was in his 21st year, and was popularly known both in Toronto, Kingston, Lakefield and Peterborough.

After a New Trial.

Mr. Joseph Hooper, father of the unfortunate young man imprisoned for life on the charge of attempting to drown his wife, was in town this week soliciting signatures to a petition for a new trial. In Port Hope thirteen hundred signatures were obtained, and judging from the way the old gentleman was received in Cobourg we surmise our town will do even better than that.—Cobourg Post.

Arrested For Theft.

A married lady reported at the police station late Monday night that she had seen man on Rink street robbing another man and that she saw him take a watch. Officer McGinty accompanied the woman to Rink street when she pointed out the man and he was arrested and placed in the cells. He gave his name as York. A silver watch was found on his person and this the man claimed was given to him by another man. The party from whom the watch is supposed to have been stolen could not be found.

Walked From Toronto.

A man who gave the name of James O'Donnell, residing on King street east, Toronto, said he had walked from there, intending to work on the Trent canal, which is being constructed in this vicinity, says a Victoria road despatch. From what he says it is supposed that he drank heavily on the way out, and when found here was in a dangerous state of exhaustion. The villagers have endeavored to revive the stranger. Medical aid has been provided, but he is gradually sinking. He is a man about 55 years of age, and says he has relatives. Rev. J. W. Stier would like to hear from his friends.

A Narrow Escape.

On Saturday last, while Mr. Peter Cairns, one of the employees in Howry & Sons' saw mill, was working behind a large pulley he heard the bolt snap and jumped aside just in time to avoid a blow on the head that would almost inevitably have caused instant death. He was not, however, quick enough to escape uninjured, for one of the ends of the broad leather belt struck him on both legs below the knees, slightly bruising the skin of the left and breaking the larger of the two bones in the right, besides terribly lacerating the flesh at the side of the calf. He was at once carried by four men to the McArthur house, where he boards, and placed under the care of Dr. Graham, who states that his patient is doing well.—Gazette.

Police Court Notes.

In the police court Tuesday the magistrate advised that the charge of obstructing the street against Superintendent Stephens, of the Electric Works, be withdrawn, as there was clearly no intention to obstruct the street. Accordingly the charge was withdrawn. John Clancy charged with assaulting Mrs. Frank Anthony said that he did so in self defence, and the evidence bore him out. He was fully exonerated and discharged. James York arrested the night previous for stealing a watch, stated that he took the timepiece from a drunken man, whom he was trying to wake up, and that he intended handing it to the police. He was discharged. The watch awaits an owner.

Banque du Peuple.

The Banque du Peuple will be able, it is thought, to pay off their circulation inside of sixty days. After this a fund will be accumulated for the payment of depositors, Mr. A. De Martigny, cashier of the Jacques Cartier Bank, and Mr. Warwick Chipman, of the Montreal Clearing House, will take hold of the bank's affairs. This move was decided upon at the recent meeting of the directors. Mr. De Martigny has stated that it would probably be a matter of six weeks before a statement could be prepared. Even when this is done, however, the two gentlemen's work will not be completed, as they have arranged to devote three months' of their time to the management of the bank's affairs. The depositors and stockholders, both French and English, seem well pleased with the choice of the directors, and every confidence is expressed in the two gentlemen's ability to do the best possible service for the depositors and stockholders.

The Boys Came Back.

Two well known young men of Peterborough, having grown tired of the town and with enlarged ideas of the joys of city life, gathered together all their spare coin and hied themselves away to Toronto last week to seek fame and fortune. They searched in vein for work the first few days after arriving in the Queen city and by this time their finances dwindled down to 0. For two days they went without anything to eat, and then driven to desperation they took off their collars, cuffs and neckties and disposed of them to a Jew for 20 cents. This provided them with a good meal, and without losing any more time they boarded a freight train and came to Peterborough. When they crawled from under the trucks on Saturday morning no one recognized them and indeed, it was no wonder, for they were covered with soot from head to foot. They sneaked home by the back streets, and now think that Peterborough is quite large enough for them.

GRAND ORANGE LODGE.

Will Meet at Halifax the End of this Month—A Hot Time.

The Grand Orange Lodge will meet at Halifax at the end of this month. The meeting will be of unusual interest. The promise made by the Dominion Government to apply coercive legislation voluntarily re-establishing Separate schools, will no doubt lead to a heated discussion. It is possible, too, that the contest for the office of Grand Sovereign between N. Clarke Wallace and E. F. Clarke, begun at Lindsay last year, will be renewed at the coming meeting.

ANOTHER GRASS FIRE.

A Residence Endangered by Burning Grass in Auburn.

Residents of Auburn were out fighting grass fires last night and thereby saved several residences from catching fire.

Between 7 and 8 o'clock the fire alarm sounded and the brigade went out to Auburn where they found that the grass was on fire surrounding the residence of Mrs. Robert Hamilton, and was burning the fences and lawn. In a few minutes the house would have caught and would doubtless been consumed.

The dry weather has caused everything in the way of vegetation to dry up, and a match thrown carelessly in the patch of grass will start a blaze. Citizens are cautioned to be very careful about throwing anything burning into the streets, such as matches, lighted cigars, or even ashes containing burning coals.

STRUCK ON THE HEAD.

James Dicks Injured by a Falling Belt Stick at the Electric Works.

Mr. James Dicks, a young man working at the Electric Works, and who resides on Patterson street, met with a serious accident Wednesday which might have resulted fatally.

Dicks was working at a planing machine when a fellow workman who was shifting a belt with a belt stick, let it fall, and the heavy end struck Dicks on the head. In the end of the stick were several heavy bolts, and these tore a large wound in his head. Dicks had both hands employed at the time and could not ward off the falling stick in time.

Dr. King dressed the wound and Dicks is doing as well as can be expected.

No blame attaches to the workman who let the stick fall, as it was wrenched from his hand quite unexpectedly and the same thing might easily happen to anyone.

A young girl who was operating an insulator cutter at the Works Wednesday had the end of a finger taken off in the machine.

THE CANOE RACES.

Owing to a Strong Wind Only Two Events Were Paddeld.

A large crowd of citizens gathered at Burnham's Point last night to witness the canoe races under the auspices of the Otonabee Canoe Club. The Lake was also dotted with boats.

It was unfortunate for the races that a strong wind blew down the lake which rendered it necessary for those who contested to paddle against a head wind. This caused a great many who would have otherwise entered the events, to drop out, and although all races were called, entries for only two events could be secured and in consequence only two races were contested. The winners of these were as follows:

1. Double canoe.—Members of O.C.C.—Pair of cherry paddles (to be won twice). 1. T. Connal and F. Ferguson. 2. Richardson and Browscombe.

Single canoe.—Open—Free rack, canoe insurance, and membership ticket, O.C.C. for one year (to be won twice.) 1. J. Connal. 2. Watt.

Mr. R. M. Roy acted as judge and Mr. T. Barrie, as starter. The illuminated parade did not take place after the races.

AT PICTON.

Peterborough Canton Was Royally Entertained—Home Last Night.

Peterborough Canton returned from Picton Thursday night after a very enjoyable visit. All were loud in their praises of the generous manner in which they were entertained by the brethren of Picton.

The Canton, 24 strong, left Peterborough on Tuesday. At Campbellford they were met by Lieut. J. Ferris, who presented the boys with a box of fragrant havanas. They arrived in Belleville in time to take dinner at the Anglo American, and in the afternoon they were the guests of the brethren of Belleville who showed them around the town and looked after their comfort in generous style. The steamer Emma Ross was boarded at 3 p.m., and Picton was reached by dark.

At Picton the boys of Peterborough Canton were met by the Citizens' Band and a delegation of Oddfellows and escorted to Hotel Tecumseth where they were supped and refreshed.

In the evening they were joined by the other visiting Cantons and accompanied by the youth and beauty of Picton they were taken on a moonlight excursion by boat to Glenora and Glen Island Park. The parks were beautifully illuminated. At Glen Island they were entertained by a concert and grand hop which continued until after the midnight hour.

On Wednesday morning the boys went out to the famous sand banks and otherwise amused themselves. At 1 o'clock the Cantons formed a procession and marched through the streets to the park, where the different Cantons went through a fancy drill. A baseball game in which Kingston defeated Picton by 27 runs to 0, and other sports made up the afternoon's program.

In the evening a trade procession on a most magnificent and costly scale and which was nearly two miles long, was held. Some of the wagons must have cost over $100 and were truly fine. All the residences were illuminated while the town was fairly smothered in bunting.

At 12 o'clock the members of the Cantons went out in full dress parade and it is safe to say that very few in Picton were allowed to enjoy sweet slumber till nearly dawn.

The boys were royally entertained and left for home at 6 o'clock yesterday morning with nothing but the most pleasant impressions of Picton and her hospitable citizens.

He Painted the Town.

Constable Cummings, of Havelock, arrived in town last night with a prisoner who will be placed in the county gaol here today. The man, it is said, got intoxicated in Havelock yesterday and terrorized the town until arrested.

A Case for the Childrens' Aid.

We referred last week to the loss of money by a visitor at a house in Haldimand. Mr. Robt. Thompson, of the County of Hastings, stopped over night with his friend, Mr. Hanna, miller, Vernonville, and in the morning his cash, some $60, was missing. The result is that Mr. Hanna has been sent to the central prison for six months, leaving his wife and seven young children with scanty means to provide for themselves in the meantime.—Colborne Express.

DETECTIVES IN TOWN.

SOME THINK THEY ARE LOOKING FOR CLUES.

But They Say They are out for a Jaunt—Detective Murray Laughs at the Idea of the Wigmore Case Being Investigated—Newspaper Men on the Qui Vive.

Chief Provincial John Murray spent yesterday in Peterborough. In the morning, accompanied by Civil Engineer Innes, he went out to the Gray place and spent several hours in making measurements, which will be used as evidence at the approaching trial.

Detective Young, who is in the employ of the attorney general's department, and who is stationed permanently at Niagara Falls, arrived in town on Wednesday night. He was accompanied by several gentlemen, but whether they are detectives or not is only a matter of conjecture. Their mission here is also a matter of speculation.

It has been learned that a man claiming to be a detective, visited the local drug stores yesterday and tried to ascertain whether or not poison had been purchased at a date which was near about the time that Richard Wigmore was found dead in the Little Lake. This fact gave rise to the belief that these detectives were in town for the purpose of investigating the Wigmore case.

Detective Murray was seen by THE TIMES yesterday afternoon and when asked about the visit of these men, said that he knew nothing of their presence in town or their mission. He laughed at the mention of the Wigmore case, and disclaimed any connection with it. His sole purpose in town was to make measurements of the Gray place, and he didn't think there was anything in the rumor regarding the re-opening of the Wigmore case.

Now, Detective Murray, is chief provincial detective, and if it were true that the Wigmore case was to be re-opened he would know something about it. At the time of the discovery of Wigmore's body, an inquest was held, and a post mortem made. No signs of poison were found, nor any evidence of foul play, although the circumstances were very suspicious, and have always been regarded in that light, especially by the relatives of the dead man. In fact, the latter have been constantly urging the re-opening of the matter upon the attorney general's department.

What are the circumstances surrounding the death of Richard Wigmore:

In the fall of 1891, a young man, 28 years of age, comes to this locality from Dummer, and is seen around the Balmoral hotel in company with river drivers. He spends a little money, but not much, and neither drinks nor indulges in the numerous vices of the young man with funds.

He suddenly disappears. On the afternoon of December 31st. 1891 he went into the Croft House, stayed around there until tea time, took supper there and then went out. That was the last time that anybody remembers seeing Richard Wigmore alive. He disappeared as suddenly and as completely as though the earth had opened and swallowed him, and, naturally, his disappearance gave rise to many rumors that, in reality, had no foundation on fact. The missing man's relatives gave it out that Wigmore had considerable money in his possession at the time he disappeared, and that they fully believed he had been murdered for his money, and his body hid. It was predicted that the disappearance of the snow that then covered the ground to an unusual depth, would reveal the body of Richard Wigmore, bearing marks of violence and foul play.

On the 28th of March, 1892, Ernest LePlante discovered the body of a man in the Little Lake. It was upright in the water, the head barely appearing above the surface. When the body was taken out it was identified as that of Richard Wigmore.

The clothes were searched and a sum of money was found in the pockets, and a watch and chain. The finding of these valuables somewhat discredited the suspicion of foul play, and at the inquest there was nothing to show that Wigmore had been done away with. There was no evidence to prove that he ever carried large sums of money, and the story of his relatives regarding his possession of a large amount was uncorroborated.

The case died a natural death and very little was heard of it, until the Gray case was investigated. Then rumor became rife again that Wigmore had been murdered, and an investigation was to be made, but at the time nothing came of it. It was stated then in the Toronto papers that the Attorney-General's department had quietly had the case sifted a few months after the body was found, and that the detective in charge had been unable to find any clues that would make a case.

It is just possible that the case is to be reopened and that the detectives who were in town yesterday, are working on it. But there is nothing to warrant a conclusion of this kind, especially in the face of Detective Murray's statements and also the assertions of the detectives that they are simply on a pleasure jaunt.

No trace of the man who stole Mr. A. E. Mosley's horse and buggy has yet been found.

Mr. Madden offered 8c. for selection. Mr. Cook made 8 1-6c. and Mr. Hodgson raised it to 8¼c. This was refused by all the factories, except Millbrook, which accepted.

Missing Link was given permission to sell his June cheese off the Board and an adjournment was made for one week.

SHAVES WITHOUT RAZORS.

A Clever Swindle to Victimize Druggists and Others.

Several druggists in the province have been victimized by a new confidence game, and have thereby lost several regular customers. The trick is worked this way: A well dressed man carrying a small gripsack goes into a drug store and introduces himself as an agent for a shaving stone, which would remove hair without the aid of a razor, soap or water. The druggist agrees to take a dozen of the wonderful stones, to be paid for at any time after a fourth of the lot have been sold.

Half an hour later a young man saunters in and after drinking a glass of soda water spies the shaving stones and buys one. A few minutes later two men come in together and carelessly buy a stone each. Later on the agent reappears, buys soda water, tells of his wonderful success with other druggists, and collects $3.

As a beard remover the stone was a success, and as a skin remover it is a wonder. A customer told a druggist this in pretty warm language and exhibited one side of his face, which resembled a raw beefsteak. After explaining matters as best he could and examining one of the shaving stones the druggists decided they were made out of quicklime. The first three purchasers were evidently confederates of the agent.

HE MADE THREATS.

And His Family Thought It Safer to Have Him Confined.

The police were called upon Sunday to take a hand in a very unfortunate case.

The head of a family on King street was injured sometime ago in the head, and since then has acted very queerly, exhibiting every sign of mental derangement. For several years at times he has had these peculiar turns, but only recently did his condition become dangerous. During the past few months, however, he has had periods of violent insanity, and in this state he made threats against his family that caused them to fear him. These periods have been very frequent the past few weeks, and for their own safety his family decided to have him taken in charge by the police. Accordingly an information was laid, and Sunday night officers Stewart and Adams drove to King street in a cab, and took the unfortunate man into custody.

The man was injured in the head about 5 years ago and since then has been very much changed in conduct and manner. Before the accident he was very industrious and a kind husband and father. Recently his family have at times feared for their lives. He was quite rational when taken in custody last night and quite agreed with the officers and his family that it was best for him to be locked up.

It is thought by the medical gentlemen who have attended him that a portion of the skull is pressing against the brain and an operation will be performed upon him.

PORT HOPE WINS.

But It Was in the Close Score of Two Goals to One.

The Athletics were defeated at Port Hope Wednesday in one of the most hotly contested lacrosse matches of the season, and although the Athletics did not come off victorious, the members have good reason to feel proud of the splendid showing they made yesterday, for it was undoubtedly the best game ever put up by any of the lacrosse teams from Peterborough that have at different times crossed sticks with the Ontarios.

The Athletics left Peterborough at 12 o'clock accompanied by nearly 100 citizens who went along to see the match and encourage the home players by their presence. The team was composed of the following: Dobbin, goal; Boland, point; Lynch, cover point; Brown, Thompson and Joe McDonough, defence field; Tom McDonough, centre; Rubidge, Hickey and Galley, home field; Lipsett, outside home: and Jack McDonough, inside home.

About 600 people witnessed the game in Port Hope. The Ontarios had on their team the two White brothers, and this was their main strength. Port Hope secured the first and second goals, and then Peterborough scored. Peterborough clearly scored again, but it was not allowed. This would have made the score 2 to 2. On the home team Dobbin, Lipsett, McDonough and Thompson did some splendid work. Dobbin stopped a straight throw for goal in a manner that was loudly applauded. Lipsett checked White of the Ontarios in good style. The home team was weak in defense work and in this the Ontario's had a great advantage in the White brothers, who were veritable stone walls.

Nearly Drowned.

A boy named Willie Rogers, about 14 years of age, son of the widow Rogers, nearly perished in the Trent river on Saturday last. He was bathing near a boom north of the Rathbun mill, and being unable to swim, he waded out several rods from the shore, stepping into a hole and sank. Mr. A. E. Bailey's son was in the water at the same time, and taking in the boy's situation, he went to his rescue. The boy in his struggles clutched him, and he was obliged to get away from him. In the meantime, Mr. Jas. Lynch in the employ of the Rathbun Co., who was working on the boom, hauled off his boots and without removing his clothes, plunged in to save the drowning boy. Rogers grabbed him round the neck and got his legs around his waist, and Mr. Lynch found himself in a dangerous position, when young Bailey again swam out to the assistance of both, and after a hard struggle, they succeeded in bringing Rogers ashore. He was completely exhausted and senseless, and it was several minutes before he was restored to consciousness.

Dr. Ryerson Coming.

Dr. G. S. Ryerson, the eye, ear and throat specialist, of Toronto, will be at the Grand Central hotel on Saturday, July 27 where those suffering with afflictions of these organs may consult him.

Struck by a Bolt.

Wm. Metheral, son of Mr. John Metheral, while working in the blacksmith shop at the Peter Hamilton works yesterday afternoon, was struck in the left eye by a flying piece of red hot iron from the anvil. The young man was taken to a doctor, and the injury was found to be serious. He may possibly lose the sight of the eye.

Furniture.

A large line of bedroom furniture at al prices at A. Cleggs'. Some new design in centre tables in choice woods, finel finished. Oak, Walnut, Mahogany an Curley Birch, dining room and parlor furniture a full line. Fancy odd chairs and tables. Pictures, easels, cornice poles; window shades, etc. A. Cleggs', 427 George street.

A New Fire Horse.

Councillors Phelan and Dawson of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, yesterday purchased a new horse for the fire department, to take the place of the animal which recently died. Those who have examined the new horse are loud in their praises of its soundness and fitness for the work of the department. It was bred by Mr. George Campbell, ex-M.P.

A Correction.

Rev. J. J. Rae has written THE TIMES from Stony Lake, that the item stating that he had a narrow escape from accident while boarding a Lakefield train is entirely untrue. THE TIMES simply gave additional publicity to an item that had already appeared in an evening paper, and took the correctness of the item for granted. We are glad to learn that the worthy pastor of the Charlotte Street Methodist church has not been exposed to anything endangering his life and limb.

Clarke for Grand Master.

It is now definitely settled that Mr. E. F. Clarke, will contest against Hon. N. Clarke Wallace for the Grand Sovereignty of the Orange Lodge of Canada. Mr. Clarke was a candidate last year when the Grand Lodge met in Lindsay and was defeated, but notwithstanding this, be thinks he has a chance this year, if party influence does not operate against him. Among the prominent Orangemen of Toronto, it is generally supposed that Mr. Clarke will be defeated, and it is even fully stated that the delegates from his own city will not give him a majority.

Band Concert Last Night.

The band concert in Inverlea park last night was attended by a large number of citizens. The band rendered the following delightful program:

Royal Black Knights of Ireland,

The Grand Black Chapter of British North America opens on Monday in the city of Halifax. The session promises to be the most important in the history of the institution. Their will be a change in the list of officers as Grand Master Rolf Weir intends retiring at this session. Sir Knight Weir left last evening by the C.P.R. accompanied by Police Magistrate Holland, of Port Hope and a large number of Sir Knights of Toronto who have a special car at their disposal. The Grand Orange lodge also opens at Halifax on Tuesday when it is expected that the action to be taken by the Order throughout Canada on the Manitoba school question and the Remedial Order will de discussed. The election of officers in this lodge also promises to be exciting as it is expected that Ex Mayor Clark, of Toronto, Deputy Grand Master, will oppose the Hon. N. C. Wallace for the Grand Mastership. The Toronto brethren have gone down in large numbers, it is said, to put forth the claims of the popular ex mayor. Sidney B. Weir, Deputy District Master, leaves tonight to represent Peterborough District Lodge.

NEARLY A FATALITY.

A Freight Train Strikes a Lady and Causes Her Injury.

What appeared at one time to be a fatal accident occurred to Mrs. Mason, mother of Mr. Frank Mason. The old lady who is about 82 years of age was walking on the railroad track between Argyle street and Barnardo avenue. She is deaf and slighlty dim of sight and was unaware of a freight train which was backing down the track. Fortunately she was observed by Engineer Langley and Brakeman Burton and the former after whistling several times succeeded in attracting her attention. She stepped off the track but not far enough to allow the train room to go by without hitting her. The corner of the box car hit her such a severe rap on the shoulder that it knocked her down. The train was stopped and Mrs. Mason was carried into Mayor Kendry's house. It was found that the collar bone was very badly dislocated and the shock will be the means of preventing her from leaving the house for several days, but is hoped no serious results will accrue.

WITH THE SPORTS.

When the Athletics played the Ontarios in Port Hope, nearly 600 people turned out and attended the game. This enabled the Ontarios to pay their guarantee to Peterborough and also realize a handsome balance. The Ontarios are coming to Peterborough on Wednesday, on a guarantee of a certain amount and will play the Athletics on the Driving Park grounds. The game, if it is anything like the game at Port Hope, will be a splendid exhibition of lacrosse and well worth seeing. It is to be hoped that the citizens will turn out to the match in large numbers and encourage the boys. Arrangements will be made for extra street car accommodation so that there will be no waiting at either end of the line. There should be a large attendance at the coming match. There is nothing in the report that the game is to be played at Jubilee Point.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Canadian Cricket Association was held at the Walker house last night. The meeting was unable to decide upon dates for the holding of the International and Cambridge University matches. The Englishmen have objected to the dates at first mentioned. Both the big matches will be held on the grounds of the Toronto Cricket Club.

Toronto will probably drop out of the C.L.A. series, as they find it difficult to get a team together for matches out of town.

An endeavor is being made by the managers of the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight to bring the battle off at Galveston instead of Dallas, but Fits won't consent to it. The managers say that the heat in Dallas is so intense that they cannot get men to go to work on the proposed big arena.

Relief of Derry.

The anniversary of the Relief of Derry will be celebrated in Bridgenorth this year by Victoria Lodge L.T.B. No. 56, in loyal style, by holding a grand demonstration in Kelly's grove, Bridgenorth. A number of prominent gentlemen have been invited among whom will be Bro. Newman, Grand Organizer; Rev. Mr. Clare of Bridgenorth, who will deliver stirring addresses. A procession will be formed at the park and at 2 o'clock will march through the village, after which the speeches will be held in the park. The True Blue and Orange Lodges of the district have been invited to be present, and the day promises to be one of the biggest ever held in Bridgenorth. HANDSOME NEW QUARTERS.

Opening of Mercer & Co.'s Magnificent New Premises Today.

The opening of the handsome new store premises of Messrs. Mercer & Co., will take place today. The building which this enterprising firm has just moved into, near the corner of George and Simcoe streets, has been in the hands of the carpenters, plumbers, painters and decorators for a month past, and that they have done their work well is evidenced by the neat, artistic and truely metropolitan appearance of both the exterior and interior parts of the bright new store.

Undoubtedly, the new quarters of Mercer & Co., in point of appearance, equipment, comfort and convenience are equal to any and surpassed by none in Peterborough. They are certainly a credit to the town and a great improvement to the block.

The front of the new tailoring establishment is vestibuled in plate glass and the floor is tiled in colors, forming the name "Mercer." The outside finish is of pure white, and at night a large arc light in the vestibule fairly glistens against this enamelled back ground. The windows are of sufficient depth to allow of spacious window dressing and the goods show off to special advantage.

The store has a frontage of 30 feet and a depth of 70 affording abundant room in the interior not only for the arrangement of goods, but also for comfortable passage. The impression upon entering the store, in fact, is its roominess. The shelving is finished to correspond with the outside—white enamel—while the walls are covered with a prettily designed paper of harmonious tints. The floor is of cherry stained hardwood, and the counters and numerous tables for goods, are of polished cherry.

The rear of the interior is divided into three parts. One side of the rear forms a commodious cutting room, well lighted by a window and skylight, and ornamented by a large cutting table of solid cherry. The other half, or rather one-third of the rear is a cosy compartment, carpeted, and beautified with potted plants. This pretty room would pass for a reception room, but it is intended for a fitting room. In this is spacious clothes presses for completed clothing. In the rear of this fitting room, is the office, furnished in cherry, and adjoining this is a large vault.

The ceiling is a very striking and pretty piece of work. It is metallic, of beautiful design, and is painted to harmonize with the walls. Upstairs the workrooms are on a par with the store proper, as far as plenty of light and air are concerned.

The entire premises are fitted with steam-heating pipes and lighted with electricity and gas. The lighting fixtures are very neat and add to the appearance of the whole.

For several days a large staff of employees have been busily engaged unpacking new goods and arranging them for the opening today. The windows were dressed yesterday afternoon, and last night the curtains were raised for the first time. From the outside the store presented a fine appearance and quite a crowd gathered to inspect the new goods, which were artistically displayed. Many complimentary remarks were passed.

Messrs. Mercer & Co., now have premises that will be a credit not only to their business enterprise and energy, but that will favorably impress strangers with Peterborough's progress. No doubt this step on their part will be met by the substantial appreciation of citizens in the way of increased patronage.

Mr. J. E. Belcher drew up the plans for the store, Mr. Clinkscale had charge of the alterations, Mr. Adam Hall put in the plumbing appliances, and Cook, Mitchell & Cook did the papering, painting and decorating. These gentlemen have creditably performed their various portions of the work.

As stated by THE TIMES, there is no truth in the rumor that the Wigmore case is to be reopened.

The latest thing in connection with bicycles is the bicycle wedding. They have such weddings in France, where recently a newly married couple, immediately after the ceremony which united them, started on a wedding tour on a "bicycle built for two."

The Lindsay Post says:—Contractor Onderdonk, who has the Balsam lake section of the canal in hand, will require many thousands of pounds of dynamite for rock work, and intends manufacturing it on the ground. He has engaged several experts to oversee the delicate process, and a portion of the plant required went north the other day.

Owing to a change in the law made at the last session of the legislature, the town voters' lists will be different in form this year. In cities and county towns the registration system will be in force, which will make a marked change in our system of voting. Every voter will require to register his name before hand or he will not be able to vote at provincial elections. The new order of things will prevail in cities and county towns only.

On Friday, Anderson, the youngest son of Mr. John Isbister, of Lakefield, met with a severe accident. It appears he was standing on a chair and was reaching up to a shelf to get something when he slipped and fell, falling on his right arm and breaking it just above the elbow. Medical aid was summoned, the broken member set, and the little fellow is getting along nicely.

Recently some dispicable wretch entered the old Presbyterian burial ground on lot 17, con. 2, Ops, and destroyed several of the headstones. A neat, suitable fence should at once be placed around this lot, and a few trees and shrubs planted. As at present cattle roam through it at pleasure. This is probably the oldest cemetery in the township. It was originially purchased by Mr. Thomas Ray over 50 years ago, and in it are buried some 15 or 20 of Ops early settlers.

Notice has been given that an examination of licenses as saw-log cullers will be held at Huntsville on Aug. 7th next. Intending candidates should at once communicate with the department of Crown Lands, Toronto, and forward the required fee of $4. It is not the intention to hold any further examinations this season, and candidates will therefore govern themselves accordingly. Only British subjects and bonafide residents of Canada will be examined for licenses.

The T. Eaton Co., Toronto, in deciding to supplement its Saturday half holiday by closing the store at five o'clock each day during July and August benefits its employees, demonstrates its faith in early closing, and gives that movement a substantial boom. This is practical advocacy of early closing, and the weekly half holiday, and if a few more merchants will follow the example, the Provincial Government will readily accede to the request to have one afternoon, in each week declared a legal half holiday. Who will be the first in Peterborough to set the example?

THE TRENT CANAL.

An Interesting Description of the Works and Boarding Houses.

The writer a few days ago had the privilege of a visit to, and sail on Balsam lake, a few miles from Kirkfield. It nestless down in its quiet nook, so as to give one a feeling of rest even to look at it. Mostly the water is as clear as crystal, with shoals which make it an ideal bathing ground. Here and there over the surface are beautiful little islands which add greatly to the scene. Surrounded by woods, yet here and there a picturesque cottage breaks the monotony, and on one side, stands the home of the Laidlaw Bros., a most interesting spot. The owners of this place had an eye for the beautiful, and at a great deal of expense, and great deal of planning, have succeeded in giving all those who visit Balsam lake a surprise. The chief attraction about the place are the unique stone fences which are most beautifully built. On the way between Kirkfield and the lake you may get a glimpse of the Trent Valley Canal in course of construction, and it will repay anyone unaccustomed to great public works such as this, to pay it a visit. The huge machinery required for the removing of the rock seems to be too large and unwieldly, until one examines the great beds of rock to be removed. In some places as much as twenty-five feet of solid rock, will have to be removed. Then one realizes that the machinery is quite in accord with the work to be done; and when one remembers that there are miles of such work to be done, one can't help wishing that for so much outlay there may be an adequate return, but a doubt will force itself into one's mind; outside of the employment it gives to the laboring man, and the money it sets in circulation, it will be many years before any benefit is reaped from this great undertaking. No one ought to leave the canal without paying the boarding house a visit. The sleeping apartments, capable of accommodating about 350 men, are interesting to one unaccustomed to such things. They are made up of two long, low buildings, with two rows of beds in each, and each of these rows are made up of other two rows, one above the other. If it were not for the perfect ventilation through cracks in the wall, through doors and through the many windows, one would wonder how so many men could sleep together in such a place. The beds, however, were comfortable, and everything about them neat and clean. The dining room is a building after the pattern of the sleeping apartments, long and low, but perfectly ventilated. Although men do everything in connection with this establishment, it would certainly do credit to the best housewife in our land; everything was scrupulously clean. When the writer was there the table was set for the evening meal. Although there was more tinware than china on the table, yet the most fastidious might sit down and enjoy a hearty meal from the most wholesome food. The tables were covered with shining oilcloth, the tin cups and plates were perfect mirrors, and the tables were laden with cakes, pies, bread and butter and fruit. One could not help but wonder when one saw on a board outside the house, "Board $2.50 per week," how it was possible to provide such board for such a price. Mr. Somerville, the genial manager of the boarding house, was kindness and courtesy itself, and took a pardonable pride in his establishment. He persuaded the party, of which the writer formed one, (who by the way did not need much persuasion) to sit down to a meal, which was thoroughly enjoyed, after which, through the courtesy of Mr. Schriver, the company engineer, we were shown through the well appointed offices. We then left having splendidly enjoyed our visit to the Trent Valley Canal Com.

INS AND OUTS.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

GOOD SWEET BREAD

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comperatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

HOLMES IS DEFIANT.

HE TELLS AN OFFICER THAT HE CANNOT BE CONVICTED.

Quinlan and His Wife, of Chicago, Appear to Be In Extreme Danger—More Evidence Regarding What Took Place in Holmes' Chicago Castle.

Special to the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.

THE last interview between Holmes and the District Attorney was varied by some fierce displays of temper by the former. The examination into the correctness of Holmes' numerous statements was about being finished when Mr. Graham manifested disappointment at the failure of the combined efforts to Mr. Barlow and himself to extract anything important from Holmes. Finally Mr. Graham exclaimed:

"Well, Holmes, as you still persist in refusing to tell the whereabouts of Howard Pietzel, or this individual Hatch, I will be obliged to put you on trial for the murder of Benjamin Pietzel in the Callowhill street house."

Holmes did not wilt under this terrific threat, but rather calmly answered: "Go ahead; that's right in my line."

"Yes, I will go ahead," said Mr. Graham, "and hang you for the murder of Pietzel."

HE YELLED DEFIANCE.

Holmes jumped to his feet, and fairly yelled with excitement: "I defy you to hang me for the murder of Pietzel. He may have been murdered, and he may not, but you know as well as I do that you cannot fix the crime on me, and I defy you to convict me of it. You think there is an absolute certainty of my conviction on the charge of murdering Nellie and Alice Pietzel in Toronto. Well, you are at liberty to send me there, and I am anxious to go. I can easily establish my innocence of the charge of murder there, as well as in Philadelphia. Just send me to Toronto, and see how speedily I will be set free."

With this last defiance, Holmes was led from the office by the two court officers who had brought him up from Moyamensing in the morning.

HIS "WIFE" WILL TESTIFY AGAINST.

It is stated that there will be no legal difficulties in the way of Mrs. Holmes testifying against the man she once believed to be her husband. District Attorney Graham said that the marriage between Holmes and Mrs. Howard is not binding, for she is not his legal wife, as he had others living when they were married. To offset this Mr. Shoemaker said that Holmes claims he was never married to any other woman but his present wife, and that even bigamy cannot be proved against him.

THE QUINLANS IN IT.

BIG TROUBLE BREWING FOR THE EXJANITOR AND HIS WIFE.

CHICAGO, July 27.—The Quinlan family are beginning to be more and more hemmed in by the disclosures which are daily being made, and it is now stated that the former janitor stands a good chance of being taken to Texas to answer charges of swindling. William Capps, an attorney of Fort Worth has arrived in Chicago with a warrant for Quinlan, who is charged with aiding Holmes in the many swindling schemes he perpetrated in that place. "The deeds which Holmes had to Minnie Williams' $30,000 property were undoubtedly forged," said Mr. Capps today, "and we are ready to prove it, Holmes, Quinlan and Pietzel went down there together, and, after recording these deeds, they worked people right and left. The three were confidential with each other, knew all about this swindle, and I think were all confederates in the murders."

The suspicion that little Cora Quinlan had fallen a victim to Holmes was dispelled today by the following despatch to Inspector Fitzpatrick: "Lakota, Mich. Cora Quinlan is at Johnson's, and has been for about two weeks past. (Signed) N. S. Taylor, justice of the peace."

The Johnsons referred to are the grand parents of the little girl.

HER FALSE STATEMENTS.

The searching questions of the police had the effect of forcing Mrs. Quinlan to admit that some of her statements were false. Quinlan and his wife did not appear in an at all favorable light and both will be held on the charge of swindling. Their connection with Holmes' scheme is believed to be intimate and compromising. Mrs. Quinlan was forced to admit during the examination that she had impersonated a dead woman, representing herself as the beneficiary of a fire insurance policy, in order to gain the money which went into Holmes' pocket.

The name of the girl who is among the latest to be mentioned as the victim of Holmes is Miss Wild, a Chicago girl, who has not been seen or heard from for two years. She was employed as a clerk by Holmes about two months before her disappearance in the spring of 1893. She was 16 years old then. She left her home to go to work as usual and never returned.

WAS EMILY A VICTIM?

Drs. B. J. and P. J. Cigraud are almost convinced that their cousin, Emily Cigraud, of Lafayette, Ind., is murdered. They told Inspector Fitzpatrick and Chief Badenach how their cousin went to work for Holmes as a stenographer, and how she was afterwards believed to have married to a man named Robert E. Phelps, who was interested in a fake copying business down town, of which Holmes was the brains. A careful search of the marriage records made by Clerk Salmonson fails to show any record of such a mariage in Cook county. It is the belief of the Cigraud brothers that Robert E. Phelps was no other than the swindler under an alias.

A TERRIBLE STENCH

THAT WAS NOTICED BY THE BEARDSLEYS IN THE HOLMES "CASTLE."

MUSCATINE, Ia., July 27.—Mrs. William Beardsley, of this city, says that on July 4, 1893, she and her husband rented four rooms of the second story of the "Castle" from Holmes. Shortly after they had been there she noticed a terrible stench. Holmes said it must be from dead rats in the basement.

The next day two large trunks were taken downstairs from the third story and carted away. She heard the men bringing them down, and going to the hall door met Holmes, asking him if he was moving. He replied, "I am taking a few things away now, and in a short time will take away and sell everything." After this there was no further annoyance by the stench.

HEARD STRANGE SOUNDS.

About two or three weeks later she heard many peculiar noises in Holmes' rooms. It sounded like persons running around in their stocking feet and dragging something over the floor. One morning about 1 o'clock she was awakened by smoke. She aroused her husband to find that their bed was on fire, and almost before they could help themselves the entire interior was on fire.

The day previous she had heard considerable moving upstairs, and saw Pietzel two or three times in the hallway with a strange man. For several days prior she had detected a tar smell near the air shaft, and the next day after the fire told Holmes that she thought it had been on fire.

Mrs. Beardsley is satisfied the trunks contained corpses, if not of the Williams girls, some other persons. Her husband had seen the Williams girls about the place prior to their taking up a residence in the Castle, but neither saw them after that.

WAS LIKELY CURED.

A YOUNG MAN WHO WENT TO THE "CASTLE" FOR TREATMENT FOR THE DRINK HABIT.

CHICAGO, July 27.—A local paper says that by no means the least serious of many disappearance from the Homes "Castle" was that of Peter Verrett. Peter was a short, heavy-set Frenchman, with an unquestionable thirst for strong drink. He went to the "Castle" and asked to be cured of the drink habit. He said he was heir to a fortune in Toronto, Canada. He has not been heard from since he went to the "Castle."

HUMAN HAIR AND BONES

FOUND IN THE "CASTLE" AT CHICAGO—THE SEARCH CONTINUED.

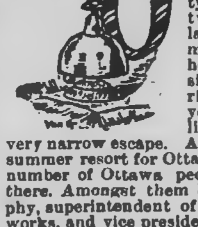
CHICAGO, July 27.—A mass of human hair clotted with blood was found today in the search of Insurance Swindler Holmes' basement. A number of bones were also found today.

FOUR WERE DROWNED.

AN APPALLING DROWNING ACCIDENT IN THE OTTAWA RIVER.

While out Boating Their Craft is Struck By a Squall and Four Drown While one is Saved—Well Known Citizen of Ottawa.

Special to the Times.



OTTAWA, July 27.—The saddest drowning accident ever known in this vicinity took place between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening at Aylmer, nine miles from here, on the Quebec side of the Ottawa river, by which four young men lost their lives and one had a very narrow escape. Aylmer is a favorite summer resort for Ottawa families, and a number of Ottawa people have cottages there. Amongst them being Geo. P. Brophy, superintendent of the Ottawa river works, and vice president of the Ottawa Electric Railway Company; the Rev. Thos. Winfield, private chaplain to his Excellency the Governor General, and at present filling the pulpit at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, during the absence of the Rev. A. T. Herridge, in England, and Edward Miall, Commissioner of Inland Revenue.

FOUR DROWNED, ONE SAVED.

About 5 o'clock in the afternoon, Alexander, aged 25, Walter, aged 20, and Edward, aged 13, sons of Mr. Brophy. George, aged 13, only child of the Rev. Mr. Winsfield, and Edward, only son of Mr. Miall, went for a sail in a canoe in Aylmer bay. Just as they reached the point of the island where two sons of Judge St. Julien were drowned a few years ago, and where a number of accidents have happened, a squall struck the canoe, and it upset, throwing the accupants into the water.

Young Miall managed to cling to the canoe, and was rescued in a very exhausted condition, but the other four were drowned Alexander, Mr. Brophy's eldest son, was a very promising young man, universally liked, and the son, Walter, has just matriculated at McGill College, Montreal. The youngest Brophy and young Winfield were boys at school.

"REV." MR. BELL'S FAMILY.

The Betrayer of Emma Hall Left Them to Depend on Charity.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 27.—Those who followed the sad story of Emma Hall, who died in Detroit last winter from the effects of an operation, may be interested in knowing that the family of the Rev. Jonathan Bell, her betrayer, who were deserted by him when he fled from justice, have been compelled to leave their home in Blackheath and at puulic expense seek refuge with relatives. In the meantime the Rev. Mr. Bell has completely disappeared and the chances are that he will never be brought to justice.

CUSTOMS OFFICER IN TROUBLE.

Mr. Bowman, of Berlin, Is Short in His Accounts.

Special to the Times.

BERLIN, July 27.—The Inspector of Customs, Boultbee, has been at this port for some days investigating the affairs of Customs Officer Bowman. It has leaked out that there is a shortage of between $3,000 and $6,000, and to make the evidence all the more damaging Mr. Bowman has left the town and is now in the United States.

The inspector's staff as usual visited Berlin last Saturday for the purpose of inspecting the office, and by their special mode of testing discovered an irregularity which prompted the inspector to make a thorough investigation, something which has not been done for more than twelve years. When the irregularity was discovered Bowman was suspended.

Mr. Bowman was also the local agent for the Standard Life Assurance Company of Edinburg, and it is understood he is about $150 short in his returns to this company.

The exact amount of the shortage in the customs will not be known until all the entries and other papers are examined.

Wanted to Marry.

MONTREAL, July 27.—Some time ago Oliver Leveille, who is under age, brought an action against his father to force the latter to consent to his son's marriage with a Miss Major, of this city. The young man alleged that he was determined to marry, and that his father's opposition arose from the fact that he wanted his boy's salary. Judge De Lorimer decided against the youth today, and advised him to await his majority.

A TERRIBLE MASSACRE.

NOT A HUMAN BEING LEFT ALIVE AT JACKSON'S HOLE.

The Indians Commit a Terrible Slaughter—Settlers Murdered in Cold Blood—This is the Story the Wires Tell, but Contradictory Reports Have Been Received.

Special to the Times.

POCATELLO, Idaho, July 27.—M. J. Gray, L. N. Tarte and Senator Hamer, of Illinois, and T. R. Hamer, of St. Anthony, all left St. Anthony Wednesday morning on a fishing trip to Jackson's Hole, taking no stock in the Indian war. Today they are back and report every man, woman and child in Jackson's Hole murdered.

A courier just returned got far into the Eaton Basin, which is the present point in danger of massacre, now that Jackson's Hole citizens are all butchered. He reports that the smoke of a large fire can be seen several miles south of Grand Teton, in the direction of Jackson's Hole. There is no doubt that the Redskins have fired every house and cabin, and by morning they will be repeating their work this side of the Teton Range in Teton Basin, and perhaps after that all down the Teton river in Idaho.

OTHER TRIBES ON THE WAR PATH.

Two hundred Utes were reported to have gone north to join the Indians in Hoback Basin early this week. Small parties of Lemhis have been slipping in daily across the Conant trail, something they have not ventured to do since the Yellowstone National Park was enlarged in 1891.

Signal fires can be seen blazing in the mountains, and it is stated that the Indians now off their reservation, have sent back the ponies taken away with them for more braves, who will doubtless slip away.

AN AGENT RESPONSIBLE.

The statement has been made here that Agent Teter is really the man who is responsible for the present troubles, as he has been in the habit of allowing the bucks to leave the reservation whenever they chose. Some say that his kindness to the red man is due to the fact that under the law the Indian off reservation draws no rations: but there is no reason why the agent cannot charge food and other supplies up to the Indians just as though they were present.

Pleasure seekers who have been spending some time in the neighborhood of the troubles are now on their return home. A band of bad Bannocks, led by a desreputable white man, left to join the reds yesterday.

MORE CONFIRMATION.

RAILWAY OFFICIALS SAY THAT NOT A SETTLER HAS ESCAPED.

OMAHA, July 27.—The news of the massacre of settlers in Jaskson's Hole is confirmed by the Union Pacific railway officials. A telegram was received last night from the superintendent at Market Lake, saying that the Indians have killed every settler and that the stock was slaughtered.

RELIGION AS A CLOAK.

HOW FREDERICK HANSON DID UP PIOUS MONTREALERS.

Went to the Y.M.C.A. and Secured Admission Into Good Circles and Then Borrowed Money and Skipped—The Y. M. C. A. Lose Several Hundred Dollars.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 27. Montreal is such an easy mark for American swindlers that scarcely a month goes by now without a dead beat carrying away the proceeds of some big swindle. The following celebrated swindlers have successfully "done up" the town recently to the extent of thousands of dollars and each one got away with the boodle, with only one exception: Phil Armour, jr., Lord Claude Hamilton, Col. De Garmo, Frank Maddox, Robert Stone, Henry Ross and Philips and now Fred Hanson. The latest Hanson, who vanished yesterday, confined his operations to the Y. M. C. A. and that association suffers to the extent of something less than a thousand dollars. He came several weeks ago with letters of introduction from the manager of the Y.M.C.A. at Woburn, Mass., to the superintendent of the Montreal Y.M.C.A. On the good connections which he soon attained here he swindled tailors and jewellers and left yesterday with all the money left in the safe of the Y.M.C.A. cafe amounting to several hundred dollars. He took the Toronto train, but has not yet been located.

CLEVELAND SUNK.

A British Steamer Sent to the Bottom off Folkestone—Seven Lives Lost.

Special to the Times.

GRAVESEND, Eng., July 27.—The British steamer Baltimore City, Capt. Graham, which recently left Hamburg for United States ports, arrived here today and reports that at 3 o'clock this morning in a dense fog off Folkestone, she heard cries for help, and lowering a lifeboat she picked up five men, who turned out to be part of the crew of the British steamer Cleveland, from the Mediterranean, which had been sunk in a collision with the British tank steamer Duffield, Captain Lowe, from Philadelphia, on June 29, for Havre, France. The Duffield is understood to have rescued five other members of the crew of the Cleveland, but seven of the sunken steamer's crew are still missing.

Smuggler Johnson's Case.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., July 27.—Dick Johnson, the La Salle fisherman who Protector Pomeroy gathered in about two months ago for illicitly pursuing his vocation, after getting fooled into confessing that he had smuggled the fish found in his possession across the line from Canada, was held by Commissioner Pound in $[illegible] bail to appear at the next United States Court to answer to the latter crime. Johnson could not furnish the collateral and was sent back to jail.

Nervous Diseases

Thousands of people suffer from a variety of Nervous Diseases, such as Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Lost Manhood, etc., that the old modes of treatment fail to cure. There is a loss of nerve force or power that cannot be restored by any medical treatment, and any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is pursuing a dangerous practice. Properly treated, these diseases can be

Positively Cured

Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Suspensory, will most assuredly do so. It is the only known power that will supply what is lacking, namely nerve force or power, impart tone and vigor to the organs and arouse to healthy action the whole nervous system. It will most assuredly cure,

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 29 1895.

THE CUBAN REVOLT.

Spanish rule in Cuba is responsible for the insurrection which is now beginning to look serious. The governing class in Cuba is composed of Spaniards, who monopolize the offices, use all patronage for their own benefit and load the population with taxation. The taxes are farmed out, and the extortion practised under this system is aggravated by the fact that the money goes to Spain and is not spent in the island. Although the population of Cuba is considerably under two millions, the country is naturally rich in resources and possibilities, and might be made one of the most prosperous and important of modern colonies. But colonies cannot be governed in the dawn of the twentieth century after the fashion which did well enough in the middle of the eighteenth. England lost half a continent a hundred and twenty years ago by unwise methods of administration, her experience should have proved a warning to every other colonial power. But Spanish rule seems to be based on the characteristic of the Bourbons, who learned nothing and forgot nothing. The consequence is that every foreigner who visits Cuba as well as every foreigner who does not, is apt to sympathize with the Cuban revolt and to feel that the system of government against which it wars is an anachronism and quite out of touch with modern conditions. Communities elsewhere which consider themselves misgoverned can regard the Cuban situation with that measure of comfortable philosophy and self-congratulation with which people look upon the misfortunes of others. It is said that the Cuban party sometimes points to Canada as the condition that the island would like to occupy. This is true of our relations with the Mother Country, which are admirable. As to our internal system, it would not be wise to admit that our politicians are a pattern to anybody, and Cuba had better fix a political standard somewhat higher than the one which warring factions here seem to consider perfection.

LAKEFIELD NEWS.

WEATHER.

A heavy rain on Sunday following the showers last week has done immense good, grass is green again and the root and grain crops will receive great benefit.

THE RIVER AND LAKES.

Summer travel is now in full swing and the boats are kept busy attending to the numerous campers. Two blocks of the Dickson Company logs are boomed up in Katchewanooka Lake and the advance guard of Gilmour's drives is reported at Buckhorn. C. Young has a good sized block of ties in Strickland's Bay and is landing them at the G. T. R. Wharf for shipment.

STEAMBOATS.

The Undine, Golden City and Mary Ellen, were inspected here last week by Messrs. Thompson and Donnelly. The Undine is towing wood for P. Young, from Deer Bay to Chemong. The Columbian resumed her weekly trips from Chemong to Lakefield last Wednesday, making the return run on Thursday when a party of about 50 including several of our citizens took in the trip. The Columbian will continue the trip weekly through August with the exception of Thursday, 15th, which is booked for an excursion from Chemong.

FISHING.

Sport has been poor near the village, but reports from Stony and Chemong lakes state that some very good takes have been made there.

MILL REPAIRS.

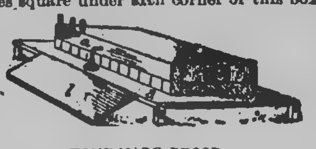
Some necessary repairs to the Trent Valley mills have been made this week, and in consequence the water has been shut out of the raceway but it is expected that by the end of this week they will be completed.

FARM & GARDEN.

TO MAKE A BROODER.

If Properly Constructed, One Lamp Will Keep It Comfortable.

Make a box 4x8¼ feet and six inches high, cover top with boards and bottom with zinc, making a box like the heater of an incubator. Take a piece of old cloth, some heavy material, and cut strips four inches wide and long enough to reach all around the 8x4 box or fourteen feet. Tack this cloth around the bottom edge of the box; it will hang down four inches below the box. Cut the cloth every four inches. The box will then be surrounded with pieces of cloth four inches square. Put a block four inches square under each corner of this box and the chicks will get in under easily by pushing between the four inch strips of cloth. Fix one tin pipe, to heat the brooder, and one lamp will keep the brooder warm. Place a ¾-inch escape pipe in every corner of the brooder to draw heat over the surface of the zinc evenly. As a lamp cannot be connected in the pipe if the brooder is on the floor, make a table a little larger than the brooder with legs six or eight inches high. A board from brooder to the floor will soon be used by the chicks. Do not set boards around the brooder to keep the chicks in, for they will crowd up in the corners and kill many. As the chicks grow put higher blocks under the brooder so they can get under but not high enough so they can get on top of each other. The floor of the brooder may be covered with sawdust.—C. W. McQueen, in Farm and Home.



HOME-MADE BROOD.

[Description: a, brooder pipe and lamp; b, pipes as in incubator; d, brooder table; l, board running up to brooder.]

FARM MACHINERY.

Some Buy Too Much of It, and Others Not Quite Enough.

One may easily go to either extreme on almost any question. This is certainly true in the matter of buying farm implements and machinery. A prominent place in the causes of failure of not a few farmers should be given to their habit of recklessly buying farm machinery when not needed, and of neglecting to care for it after it is bought. Where one has a good implement or machine, it is folly to throw it aside and purchase another because of some trifling claimed improvement. On the other hand, it is at least equal folly to continue to use nearly worn-out or inferior tools, neglecting to avail oneself of important improvements. A noticeable tendency of agriculture in the prairie regions, which are so admirably fitted for the use of the farm machinery, is to reduce hand labor to a minimum. It is not only attempted to do almost all parts of field culture work by the aid of horse-drawn machinery, but to do it with the smallest possible number of men. Wide-cutting or gang plows, harrows or cultivators, or seeders, and so of mowers and reapers, are becoming more common. Many of the new machines are decidedly better than the older ones of the same class; some are not. In many cases it will be a clear gain to buy new machinery; just as in others it would be a needless waste of money.

If the new plow will cut an inch or two wider than the old one with no increase in draft, it will soon pay for itself. If equally good work can be done with a harrow which cuts fifteen feet instead of ten, the saving in cost of labor will soon equal the cost of the harrow. One or two bushels increase per acre in the yield of corn on the area which can be cultivated with a good cultivator will make the price of a good cultivator in one year.—Prairie Farmer.

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receive one third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own class, but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period' and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid by them during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

For some time the eight-hour movement has been making great progress among Russian manfacturers, and several firms have just established the system in their factories and workshops without making any reduction in wages.

BOOKS AND BOOKMAKERS.

The first Bible printed in English in America was the "Bay Psalm Book," printed in 1640.

Walter Besant is at the head of a movement for the erection of a statue of Robert Louis Stevenson in London.

Rudyard Kipling is not as prolific a writer as he was some years ago. His success early in life has made him conservative with his pen.

M. Jules Verne, though in his 79th year, works for five or six hours a day. He is now engaged upon a story for 1897, but he has five manuscripts ready for the printers.

Mr. Disraeli was the last novelist who received $50,000 for a single work, and that proved so disastrous to the publishers that the author offered to return part of the money.

Mary Cowden Clarke, the compiler of the well-known "Concordance of Shakespeare," is still alive. She was born in the same year as Mr. Gladstone, and has been living for nearly thirty years at the Villa Norvillo, at Genoa. It was to Mrs. Clarke that Douglas Jerrold said: "On your first arrival in Paradise you must expect a kiss from Shakespeare—even though your husband should happen to be there."

THEY WINTER AFLOAT

HUNDREDS OF PERSONS SPEND MONTHS IN CANAL BOATS.

In Their Little City They Dance the Long Nights Away and Make Merry—Constant Care Must Be Taken of the Carriers of Grain.

It is one of the strangest cities in the world. Every day it rises and falls twice, and every house in unison. Every year it comes; every year it goes.

Often the same houses compose large portions of it year after year, and then again strange new dwellings creep in to rise and fall with the whole settlement. Every winter sees it flourishing; every spring sees it depart, even to the last vestige. Strange, indeed, and yet easily explained, for it is a city of boats—the boats of the great Erie Canal. Its yearly location is the Erie Basin, at the southern extremity of Brooklyn.

To the wayfarer or the sightseer this city presents a novel view. The whole of the basin proper—an area of about twenty acres—is a wilderness of roofs of these odd craft. With the exception of the few smokestacks of occasional canal steamers, the strings of flapping clothes, out on lines to dry, and the figures of men, women and children at various occupations, the aspect is one of flatness and monotony.

No tall belching chimneys, no sky scraping buildings, no lofty spires of churches make this village like any other in existence. And yet it represents wealth, industry, human interest, everything, as it silently rises and falls on the tides.

In the city are nearly four hundred boats, lashed together so closely that a world could hardly find a place between them where it could fall into the water below if it tried.

There they are, those of the poor and the poorer and the "well to do," snuggled together to breast out the winter storms.

They have been there since the latter part of November last, and will remain until early in May. It is a queer condition of enforced idleness.

The boats represent nearly all of the total number plying the Erie Canal, and are those which got through before the ice blocked their road. They came down loaded with cargoes of grain, and inhabited by families that have no other homes. Of the total number now in the basin, about [illegible] hundred and fifty are still deep in the water with burdens of grain. When it is considered that these have an average of 8,000 bushels apiece in their holds, and that the plainest of the boats is worth from $3,000 to $5,000, while many are valued at from $10,000 to $15,000, the statement that the little city represents considerable money at once becomes evident.

As for the idleness, it is a yearly part of the boatman's programme, therefore is provided for or rather merely anticipated, for it is exceedingly difficult to provide tasks against the many long hours of winter when every one must be inside, under closed hatches.

Few denizens of this burg appear upon its roof streets. Now and then a man engaged in some small occupation shows himself; a youngster trips across from boat top to boat top on some errand; a curly head is thrust out of a hatchway long enough to satisfy the owner's curiosity, or a swain and his lady love walk over the homes hand in hand.

In names the owners of these "houses" seem to have been blessed with more fruitfulness than originality. They have long and short, hard and easy, harsh and euphonious titles. Family names have been used and abused without end. The name of "R.G. Ingersol" is conspicuous, and, singularly enough, this boat is rubbing sides as closely as possible with one whose name is "Agnostic."

One man who was owner, captain and crew of his craft, was not only agreeably communicative, but he was unusually intelligent and well posted. He was sawing up some pieces of driftwood which he had fished from the water and thrown on his roof to dry. In answer to a question as to how long the boats would remain in the winter city he said:

"That depends somewhat on the weather and more on when they sell their cargoes. All the boats which you see sunk low are loaded, the others are empty. The empty ones could go any time, except that the canal and part of the river are frozen tight.

"A few do go out every day to get loads to take up, but they come back here to wait for spring. About May 1 the boats will all be gone, but they will go so gradually and quietly that you will hardly know when or how they did it.

"Breaking up generally starts earlier than this, but so far we haven't been able to even scrape and paint. The spring is backward."

"What about the steamers taking the places of the horses on the canal, and then electricity running the whole thing?"

"Well, the horses will be used for a long time to come. There are not very many steamers so far. Only a small percentage of the line boats are towed by them. Electricity is a long way off, but it's coming.

"The overhead wire doesn't seem to be just the thing. What they need is a sort of locomotive on a track where the horses are now. With such a thing, about five to eight boats could be towed at once. If any broke loose, the locomotive could back up and get them easily, but that is a hard job now, and always blocks the canal.

"The trouble, though, about putting down a track is that they cannot in any way disturb the horses; it's illegal. I don't know how they'd fix it, but electricity will be used sure, some day."

The social life in this ephemeral city is as complete as that in any New England village. Lashed side by side, here every storm sweeps all alike, and where every boat is packed in like a herring to his neighbor in a barrel, there yet exist wide social differences and the regulation caste which seems to accompany humans everywhere.

Nearly every one knows nearly all the persons in the floating town.

This is unavoidable, as they constantly meet on the roofs of each other's houses as they walk to and fro. The children, too, get acquainted at the water barrel, a convenience on wheels, designed to take the necessary supply as near to kitchen doors as possible.

It is the height of indiscretion for a man out in the middle of the pack of boats to get upon poor terms with the shoreward neighbors. They can make it exceedingly disagreeable to him as he walks from housetop to housetop.

The average after-dinner speech will explain to you the meaning of the phrase, "Too full for utterance."

FARM MACHINERY.

Some Buy Too Much of It, and Others Not Quite Enough.

One may easily go to either extreme on almost any question. This is certainly true in the matter of buying farm implements and machinery. A prominent place in the causes of failure of not a few farmers should be given to their habit of recklessly buying farm machinery when not needed, and of neglecting to care for it after it is bought. Where one has a good implement or machine, it is folly to throw it aside and purchase another because of some trifling claimed improvement. On the other hand, it is at least equal folly to continue to use nearly worn-out or inferior tools, neglecting to avail oneself of important improvements. A noticeable tendency of agriculture in the prairie regions, which are so admirably fitted for the use of the farm machinery, is to reduce hand labor to a minimum. It is not only attempted to do almost all parts of field culture work by the aid of horse-drawn machinery, but to do it with the smallest possible number of men. Wide-cutting or gang plows, harrows or cultivators, or seeders, and so of mowers and reapers, are becoming more common. Many of the new machines are decidedly better than the older ones of the same class; some are not. In many cases it will be a clear gain to buy new machinery; just as in others it would be a needless waste of money.

If the new plow will cut an inch or two wider than the old one with no increase in draft, it will soon pay for itself. If equally good work can be done with a harrow which cuts fifteen feet instead of ten, the saving in cost of labor will soon equal the cost of the harrow. One or two bushels increase per acre in the yield of corn on the area which can be cultivated with a good cultivator will make the price of a good cultivator in one year.—Prairie Farmer.

The Whistling or Musical Tree.

The musical tree is a native of the West Indies, growing abundantly on all the islands of that group except Jamaica. It has a very peculiarly shaped pod which is split open along the edge, and the wind whistling through thousands of these shell-like pods produces the sound which gives the tree its name. A species of acacia, which grows very abundantly in the Soudan, is also called the "whistling tree," for similar reasons.

Sweeping Without Dust.

A Peterboro' merchant says: "I sweep my floor without raising a bit of dust. The brooms are dipped in coal oil before sweeping. The odor is unpleasant at first, but a few minutes' airing serves to remedy that evil. The oil takes up every particle of dust and leaves the floor as clean as when first laid. I have been using the oil in this way for six months and am satisfied that the scheme is good."

The Bridegrooms of Berlin.

The marriage statistics for 1893, which are just out, show that the Nestor of bridegrooms at Berlin during that year was a widower aged eighty-three, whose bride had arrived at the age of three score years and three. Nine men, all widowers over seventy, married again in the same year. At the other end of the line stand forty-four girls, aged sixteen, who married men of various ages, the youngest bachelor being just nineteen.

A Calf for Barnum.

A heifer owned by Mr. James Cooper of North Dummer gave birth to a calf two weeks ago, which was three months overdue, but this fact does not seem to bother the youngster much, as it was larger when born that it would probably have been at the same date had it came into the world at the right and proper time. It measures 41 inches around the body, 22 around the neck, 15½ around the hind leg and 11½ around the front leg just above the knee. The length of the calf from tip to tip is 71 inches.—News.

GEN. CAMPOS TRAPPED.

Spain's Best General Surrounded by Maceo's Daring Rebels.

Special to the Times.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 26.—A cablegram from Key West says: A private letter received in this city last night from Havana confirms the report of Martinez Campos' defeat at the battle of Valenzuela. Of the 1,800 Spanish troops that went into the battle only 300 escaped to Rayamo, where they are surrounded by 6,000 Cubans under Macco, Masso, Quinlin, Bandera, and Goulet. The insurgents' loss in this battle was 280 killed and wounded. General Campos is now at Bayamo seriously wounded and surrounded by the insurgents. Troops are being sent from all parts of the island to relieve him.

HAD TWELVE HUSBANDS.

Mrs. Blackmire's Strange Experiences With Matrimony.

Special to The Times.

LAPAZ, Ind., July 23.—The funeral service was held of Mrs. Blackmire, who enjoyed the unique record of having had 12 husbands. At the time of her death Mrs. Blackmire was 45 years of age. Her first marriage occurred when she was only 15 years old. The list of husbands are as follows: No. 1, a husband aged 15, divorced at the end of ten years: No 2, an attorney, divorced; No. 3, cruel separation; No. 4, convict from Jollette, reformed and died; Nos. 5 and 6, died within 18 months; No. 7, gambler, divorced. No. 8, prospector, fell down a well on wedding day, killed; No, 9, no record; No 10, the widow, aged 38, married J. H. Brown, druggist, first child, disappeared; No. 11. Dr. Spencer, aged, soon died; and No. 12, Mr. Blackmire divorced. The woman was still charmingly single when she died.

Cholera in Japan.

TOKIO, July 26.—There is every symptom at present of a serious epidemic of cholera in Japan. The terrible disease has made its appearance among the troops at Pescadores, Port Arthur and Chin Chow, its germs having been carried home by the returning soldiers, and already from fourteen centres of infection reports of fresh cases reach the authorities daily. Thus far the cases have only aggregated 315 and the rate of mortality has been about three per cent., but when the summer heat asserts itself a grave situation of affairs will in all probability ensue.

MYSTERY OF THE WOODS.

LILY LOW, A HANDSOME GIRL, VICTIM OF A CONSPIRACY.

The Grieved Father's Serious Charge Against the Plotters—The Culprits Aimed at Robbing Him of His Fortune and Her of an Inheritance.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Three persons, two men and a woman were taken before Coroner O'Meagher this morning on suspicion of having been connected in some way in the death of Lilian Low, daughter of James Low, jr., who shot herself on Washington Heights on Tuesday. There is really little or no evidence against these persons as the girl clearly took her own life, but she circumstances surrounding her life for the past four months were so strange that the police deemed it advisable to take into custody Miss A. K. Hanson, a boarding house keeper of 103 West 58th street, Henry T. Champney, her lodger and Dr. Thos. J. Briggs of 34 West 32nd street. Dr. Briggs is the "Tommie', who wrote to the young woman from Glendale, O., and signed himself the "Big Brother of the dead girl," whom he addressed as "My Baby Cuckoo." The three were arrested last night on warrants issued by Coroner O'Meagher, who decided to arrest all persons who were alleged to have been concerned in inducing the young girl to leave her father's home. The prisoners were arraigned before Coroner O'Meagher at 11.30 and were held under $2,000 bail each to appear at the inquest at 10.30 Tuesday. They all furnished bonds.

THE VICTIM OF A CONSPIRACY.

Mr. Low made this statement today: "I have not the slightest doubt but that my daughter was the victim of some terrible conspiracy and that she was driven to suicide by these people who have gained such influence over her. They wanted to get my fortune. When I was so ill last winter I told Lily that if I died she was to have everything I possessed and I told her she could find my trunk with bonds in it and the will which I made. This was all to be hers. These people learned in some way that Lillie was to have my money and laid their plans to get her under their control. The statement made that I ill treated her and all other incidents that are stated and of all quarrels with her mother are most outrageous lies. The people first tried to blackmail my brother, Joseph T. Low, who is worth over a million. That was last winter. This scheme failed, for the conspirators evidently feared to get into trouble if they went any further. After my daughter was taken away from me, I used to hear that she was seen riding in Central Park and elsewhere with men, and that she was always wearing fine costumes. These stories were false. After they got hold of her by or whatever it was, they actually made her do a servant's work in that house. I foresaw how it would all end, and had a firm conviction all along that they would drive her to death. They worked on her weak mind, frightened her and made a slave of her. God only knows what they did not do to her, and in trying to get hold of the fortune they expected she would inherit they have killed her.

Another arrest was made in the case today by Capt. Pickett. The prisoner is Helen Hanson, a nurse in the Roosevelt Hospital, who is a niece of Amelia Hanson. She was brought to the station house but afterwards released, as she knew nothing of the circumstances leading up to Lily Low's death.

Will be Tried.

KINGSTON, July 26.—R. Wycott, who bit W. Castell with a baseball bat at Sydenham on Wednesday, is now in Kingston jail, having been arrested on a coroner's warrant, the jury at the inquest returning a verdict of manslaughter.

POND'S EXTRACT

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

Avoid substitutes; accept genuine only, with buff-wrapper and yellow label.

ALIVE TO THEIR DANGER.

Minneapolis People Making Enquires with regard to a Canadian Discovery.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 22.—There has been an unusual number of deaths from heart disease in this city during the last few months and in many cases the victims were unconscious of being sufferers from the dread complaint. Postmortems have shown in several instances that the trouble was directly traceable to a diseased condition of the kidneys, and people have become alive to the danger. A number of enquiries have been instituted with regard to the best methods of cure and the new Canadian specific remedy known as Dodd's Kidney Pills has come in for a great share of attention owing to the extraordinary number of cures which have been effected through this agency.

PEARY'S PRIVATE SECRETARY

Goes Wrong in Chicago—Said to be a Petty Swindler.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 27.—Warrants were taken out today for the arrest of Walter T. Swain on the charge of swindling. Swain was a member of the Peary expidition to the North Pole, which left Philadelphia in June, 1893. Lieut. Peary picked up the young man in Brooklyn and made him his private secretary. Swain was ruscued with the party last year by an expidition of which Prof. T. C. Chamberlain, of Chicago University, was a member. He turned up in Chicago about two weeks ago and devoted himself to a series of swindles of which members of the Peary expidition were the victims. His method was to obtain small sums on bogus drafts. The total of the alleged swindles is not large. Swain is said to belong to an excellent family in Indianapolis.

OCEAN STEAMSHIP DEAL.

The National Line to be Absorbed by the Wilson Line.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 27.—The United Press learns that the National Line Steamship Company, whose steamers ply between New York and London, are conducting negotiations with the Wilson Line, whose steamers run between New York and London, Hull, Newcastle and Antwerp, looking to the sale of their ships. The negotiations are being carried on at Liverpool. The foregoing statement is confirmed at the Wilson lines London office, where it is given out that the National Company are desirous of selling their fleet and business to the Wilson Company. The question now under consideration is the purchase price which the Wilsons' think may be settled very shortly. In the meantime the details of the matter are being kept strictly private.

A WOMAN CROOK DEAD.

Strange Career of Elizabeth Perkins, Alias "Liz" Finnegan.

Special to the Times.

BOSTON, July 27.—Elizabeth Perkins, better known as "Liz." Finnegan, who had been for many years one of the most noted women of the criminal class in this section, died yesterday, aged about forty. She had been charged with having held up men late at night and robbing them and with many cases of larceny and numerous assaults.

"Liz." Finnegan, in 1883, caused the death of Bernard J. Mahan, of Boston, and because of this crime served a sentence in the House of Correction. She stabbed him with a hat pin because he refuse to drink with her. Her husband, George Perkins, has served time.

Tim Finnegan, "Liz's" brother, was arrested twenty years ago for highway robbery and served seven years. Since that time he has served other sentences.

Indians in War Paint.

FIRE IN AN ASYLUM.

The Superintendent Seriously Injured—Buildings Gutted.

Special to the Times.

MADISON, Wis., July 27.—At about midnight fire was discovered in the County Asylum for the incurable insane at Verona, ten miles from the city. The fire started in the hall between two main buildings and soon spread through the hall and into the water tower between both halls and main building. The asylum and poor house will be a total loss. Supt. L. H. Edwards, while fighting the fire soon after it was discovered, fell 25 feet from the roof and is seriously, perhaps fatally, injured. It is supposed the inmates were gotten out of the buildings safe, but there are rumors that some were burned. There were more than a hundred inmates in the institution.

CAUGHT IN A "WOMAN'S CLUB."

"Innocent" Americans Afraid to go About at Night in London.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 27.—Since several prominent Americans were arrested at a "Women's Club" the other night the other Americans of prominence in the city are almost afraid to go about after midnight, and the other evening there was a panic among the Americans in the Continental hotel restaurant because the police appeared. The bobbies only wanted to see if the place was closed on time, but the Americans though a raid was intended.

A Presbyterian Ordination.

VANATTER, Wellington Co., July 27.—The ordination and induction of Mr. McConnell took place on Tuesday, the 23rd, at the Presbyterian church, Vanatter, and his people held a grand reception for him the same evening on the lawn of Mr. H. H. Hunter, seven hundred people being present.

Looking For Her Husband.

GUELPH, July 27.—Mrs. James Cooper, of Toronto, accompanied by her child, arrived in the city Thursday in search of her husband. Some time last April Mr. Cooper, who has been an employee at the Toronto gas works for over twenty years, suddenly left the works and has not since been seen. Mrs. Cooper heard he was working on the Guelph street railway and came here to investigate, but got no tidings of him.

Purified Blood

Saved an operation in the following case. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures when all others fail. It makes pure blood.

"A year ago my father, William Thompson, was taken suddenly ill with inflammation of the bladder. He suffered a great deal and was very low for some time. At last the doctor said he would not get well unless an operation was performed. At this time we read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it. Before he used half a bottle his appetite had come back to him, whereas before he could eat but little. When he had taken three bottles of the medicine he was as well as ever." FRANCIS J. It Always Pays.

It pays to advertise in a live newspaper all the year round. It pays just as well in summer as it does in winter. The ancient and very foolish superstition that advertisers could afford to keep out of print during the hot months has been effectually exploded. The public consumes food, wears out clothes, shoes and hats, and purchases furniture and all the necessaries of life in summer as well as in winter. Indeed, the number of people who are shrewd enough to see that it is often profitable to wait for summer bargains is constantly increasing. The merchant who attracts these customers by seasonable and interesting announcements of what he has to sell will make money whether the weather is hot or cool, dry or rainy.

Look Out For These Tramps.

On Monday two seedy looking tramps struck Omemee with their arms all tied up in bandages, says the Post. They said they had gone through some great fire in Montreal, and, as is always the case, were soliciting alms from the good-natured people of that village. The town constable ran across them and took them to a doctor's office to have their wounds attended to, where it was discovered that they had a bottle of acid in their pockets which they had been putting on their arms to make them sore, thinking that they might secure a little more cash, with which they said they wanted to reach Montreal again. The doctor told them that their arms would heal themselves if they would stop using the acid, and then the constable gave them a few minutes to leave town. Yesterday they reached Lindsay, having, we understand, done a good business on the way, and one of them entered the store of Mr. Jas. Keith, William street but it was of no use—he had tackled the wrong man, as there had been a young man from Omemee talking to Mr. Keith only a few minutes before. The tramp began to explain how he had met with the accident, but Mr. Keith would not listen to him and he went out and around a couple of blocks to meet his friend, when Chief Bell got his eye on them, and after watching them a short time he told them to leave town immediately or he would lock them up. So they headed for Peterborough, but the police there had been notified, and no doubt will turn out to meet them.

DEATH OF THOMAS DOLAN

The Well-known George Street Merchant Dies of Heart Failure.

Residents of Peterborough were shocked yesterday to learn of the sad and sudden death of Mr. Thomas Dolan, which occurred on Sunday morning, the cause being heart failure. Death came to him very suddenly and without warning, and the shock to his family and friends is very great.

Mr. Dolan for a number of years had conducted business at the corner of George and Hunter streets, and since coming to Peterborough, especially since going into business, had made a wide circle of warm friends, who will be pained to learn of his very sudden demise.

Deceased was born in Castle Reigh, Rosscommon county, Ireland, and came to this country 17 years ago, settling in Peterborough. During his residence here he has filled many important and honorary positions. A year ago he succeeded Dr. Brennan as president of the C.M.B.A., of which order he had been a member for 8 years. He was at one time a member of the Separate School Board, and also a Justice of the Peace for Peterborough.

Deceased leaves a widow and 8 children, the oldest of whom, Albert, is in Pittsburg, where he went only a few weeks ago. Mr. James Dolan, of the City Hotel, is a brother of the deceased.

His grief stricken relatives will have the sympathy of the community in their sad loss. The funeral announcement will be made later.

ANOTHER DARK MYSTERY.]

A Havelock Farmer Disappears — His Wife's Strange Death in a Swamp,

James Holbrook, who lived on a farm near Havelock with his daughter, Mrs. Henry Wesse, has mysteriously disappeared. Holbrook is the husband of the woman who some years ago disappeared, and whose lifeless body was found later in a swamp. Holbrook has been a man of erratic notions, and his daughter claims that he is not sane. At one time the board of health of the municipality had to go in a body and open the part of the house he occupied in order to have it renovated and cleaned to prevent disease. Holbrook had the windows boarded up, and the door leading from the portion where his daughter lived was fastened with a ponderous logging chain. He would take articles out, dig a hole in the garden and bury them. After Holbrook's disappearance, a neighbor named Mrs. Samson comes forward and demands possession of the Holbrook farm, claiming that she had purchased the farm and held the deed of it. It is charged bp Henry Weese, Holbrook's son-in-law, that they have taken forcible possession of the place and warrants were issued.

Constable Moore arrested Mrs. Samson, her husband, and their hired man named Varty on Friday, and Saturday they appeared before Magistrate Edmison. The case was adjourned until Tuesday.

A BRAVE DEED RECOGNIZED.

Presentation to Young Godfrey Who Saved Two Lives.

The unequalled act of bravery of 14-year Ephraim Godfrey, will be remembered by our readers. A few weeks ago this young hero rescued two of his companions from certain death by drowning, by diving down into 13 feet of water, and bringing them from the bottom to the surface and then swimming ashore with them.

On Friday night last, the citizens of Young's Point gathered together and presented young Godfrey with a token of their recognition and appreciation of his heroic act. The meeting was held in the Carleton hotel, Proprietor McFarlane having been largely instrumental in getting up the testimonial. Mr. A. A. Smith read an address to Master Godfrey in which the citizens expressed deep admiration for his pluck, and then little Miss Laura McFarlane presented the brave lad with a handsome watch and chain on behalf of the citizens, and a nobby suit of clothes from Mr. Graham, whose young son Bruce was one of the lads whose life was saved.

Raspberries were 65 cents a pail on the market Saturday. They will be more plentiful and cheaper this week on account of the rain.

Constable Beardsley, of Barrie, writes to the police here for information regarding Samuel Roberts, who they understand came originally from Peterborough and is now under arrest for alleged theft at Barrie. The police here do not know the young man.

He rocked the boat in foolish glee,
And tried to make the others scream;
His friends are grappling now to see
If they can fish him from the stream.

Mr. W. Fraser, and his son Malcolm, of New York, were out with John Reid, on Saturday, and had a wonderful experience. Mr. Malcolm hooked a maskinonge weighing 18lb. 3oz., and the gamiest fish that has been taken for years. It was twenty five minutes of intense excitement landing him. Frequently he jumped at least four feet out of the water, and often 300 feet of line had to be run out. Mr. Fraser was not accustomed to so large a fish, and was considerably flustrated. A plaster cast was made from the fish, as a memento to the experience.--Bobcaygeon Independent.

A Letter of Thanks.

The Lindsay Baseball Club have forwarded the following letter of thanks to Commodore H. Calcutt:

LINDSAY, ONT., July 25th, 1895.
HENRY CALCUTT, ESQ.:

DEAR SIR.—On behalf of the Lindsay Baseball Club I desire to thank you for the most sportsmanlike conduct and manner you displayed on our first visit to your beautiful resort, and for the magnificent and costly trophy you so generously put up as a prize for a match between the Hiawatha and the Lindsays.

We won it—we will cherish it as a memento of the kindness you so magnanimously showed towards us, and our visit will be ever green in our memories.

Thanking you once again, we beg to remain,

Sincerely yours,
A. HAMILTON,
Captain.
[Signed on behalf the Lindsay B.B.C.]

IN FLY TIME.

B-z z-z-z-zip!
Blest if there ain't a man in bed yet
And it's nearly 5 o'clock.
Or else I ain't the liveliest fly
In the block.
Oh!
I won't do a thing
To you!
Sleeping, are you?
B z z z z Z-Z-DZUNGK!
Take that!
Why don't you wake up?
You will turn over,
Will you?
You just try to to sleep again.
Z z Z!
That was a corker!
Caught him right in the ear.
Say, you were going to swipe me, eh?
You think you're
Gosh awful sharp, don't you?
You just wait!
I'll sit down on the bed post for a while
And he'll think 've quit.
And when he's just dosing off
Mebbe
I won't fool him.
There he goes—
B-zz s swat! That's the stuff!
Oh, I'll teach you to use
Cusswords
Before a nice gentlemanly fly!
Ain't you ashamed?
Mebbe it isn't your time to get up.
You're going to get up just the same
I say!
Say! S-s-s-z-z z-zt!
I'll be durned if he ain't
Going to sleep again!
O-o-h, I just won't do a thing
This time.
Just wait till I get
My vacuum-producing
Pedal extremities
Against that ugly mug of yours
And clear my voice.
Now then—
B-z-z-z-z-z-z-
Z-z-z!!
Now will you get up?
Well, I guess yes.
That's better!
Just stop swearing and mosey
Out of those pajamas.
That's right!
Why don't you come to it without making a fuss?
I'll be round to-morrow at Four a. m.
And you want to behave better.
See?
What's that? You'll get fly paper!
Get it!
If you think this fly
Is chump enough to prefer fly paper
To a soft thing like you
You're way off!
I'm onto my job, I am!
Ta-ta!
Tomorrow at 4, remember!
B z-z-z!

Anything to Win.

The Ontario Lacrosse Club will play a return match with Peterborough on Wednesday, July 31st. Should they be able to make favorable arrangements with the G.T.R. and be supported by the public, they will run a special excursion, leaving the town platform at 1.30 p.m. returning before or with the ten o'clock train. We have no doubt a great many of our citizens will embrace the opportunity for an afternoon's sport, and a smart run to Peterborough and back besides being a cheer and encouragement to our boys to hold their own.—Port Hope Guide.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $150,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard
THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check it is almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 102 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

A SKELETON IS FOUND.

IT IS BELIEVED TO BE THAT OF MRS. JULIA CONNER.

It was Dug up in the Cellar of Homles' Castle—Holmes Writes a Letter to Quinlan—Link by Link a Chain of Evidence is Being Forged.

Special to The Times.

CHICAGO, July 29.—In Inspector Fitzpatrick's office here is a skeleton unearthed in Holmes' castle and believed to be that of Mrs. Julia Connor. Others which have been dug up are being brought to the City Hall to remain there waiting further developements in the case. The man who produced this startling evidence was closeted with the inspector and Detective Norton and Fitzpatrick from 6 to 9 o'clock. The inspector declines to make his name known at present, for the reason that it would handicap his further investigations.

This man's story is that he first met Holmes in response to an advertisement for a machinist, which appeared in a daily newspaper. This was in the summer of 1892. He worked for Holmes in that capacity for several months.

Holmes, he says, asked him one day if he knew how to mount a skeleton. The man replied in the affirmative and then Holmes conducted him to a dark room on the second floor, in the central part of the building, and there pointed to the remains of a man. There was considerable flesh on the lower limbs, but the arms were practically bare. He took the armbones and skull away with him that night. The next day Holmes brought the remainder of the skeleton to the machinist's house.

A FEMALE BODY.

This was Oct. 1, 1892. On Jan. 2, 1893, Holmes came to him and asked him to articulate another skeleton for him. Another trip to the dark room produced another human body, this time that of a female. This body had much more flesh on it than the other.

This is the skeleton now in possession of the Inspector, who believes it to be all that is left of Mrs. Julia Conner.

In the following June Holmes again called on him to attend to a third skeleton which was produced from the same dark and mysterious chamber in the castle. Holmes paid him $36 each for two of the skeletons, and took them away. The third he did not call for.

WHERE QUINLAN COMES IN.

Another most important feature of this man's story was his statement that during all this time that he was fixing up skeletons for Holmes Pat Quinlan was about the premises and seemed to be Holmes' trusted man. To verify his statement in this regard Quinlan was sent for and confronted by the machinist and mounter of skeletons. What took place between the two men the Inspector declined to say, but when Pat came out of the sweat-box this time he looked ten years older, and his whole bearing was that of abject despair.

The police believe that the chain of evidence against Pat. Quinlan is now complete, and Holmes' ex-janitor will be tried for murder here. "I won't allow Quinlan to become a State witness to escape the rope," said Chief of Police Badenoch. "I believe in hanging murderers, and I believe Quinlan is a murderer. I shall make every effort to have Holmes brought here for trial, for Chicago was the center of operations, and most of his killing was done here. I have enough evidence to indict both Holmes and Quinlan, and the case will be submitted to the grand jury soon."

THE CHAMBER OF HORRORS.

Only about an hour before Quinlan had been called upon to face the witness whose testimony was damaging for him and Holmes. This witness was Cephas Humphrey, a colored man, who lives at 0213 Peoria street, and runs an express wagon. Humphrey told the inspector that in June, 1893, Holmes came to him one day and asked him if he could take a trunk and box to the Union depot.

"I told him I could," said Humphrey. "I want you to come for the stuff about dark," said Holmes, "as I do not care to have the neighbors see it go away."

Humphrey called. He was conducted to the chamber of horrors mentioned by the machinist and even more vividly described by the superstitious colored man.

"It was an awful looking place," he said "There was no windows in it all, and only a heavy door opening into it. It made my flesh creep to go in there. I felt as if something was wrong, but Mr. Holmes did not give me much time to think about that."

AN ORDINARY COFFIN CASE.

Humphrey then went on to tell how he had found a large box which looked like the casing ordinarily used for a coffin. This box he carried downstairs and started to set upon end on the sidewalk. Holmes was watching him from a window upstairs and rapped vigorously to attract his attention.

"Don't do that," he called to the expressman. "Lay it down flat."

He then went back and got the trunk Holmes instructed him to take both to the Union depot and leave them at a certain place on the platform. He told Humphrey he was not to say anything to anybody at the depot, as a man there was expecting the package and would take care of it. Humphrey said, as well, he recollected. Holmes told him the box was to go to Philadelphia, but he could not remember where he said the trunk was to be sent. The expressman and machinist were both detained by the inspector, and will not be allowed to leave the custody of an officer until more searching investigation is made in regard to their stories.

HOLMES TO QUINLAN.

THE CUNNING LETTER THAT THE MURDERER WROTE TO THE JANITOR.

CHICAGO, July 29.—The police have a letter, dated July 18, 1895, from Holmes to Quinlan. It runs as follows:

"DEAR PAT,—Among their other fool theories they think you took the Pietzel boy to Michigan and either left him there or put him out of the way. I have always told them that I never asked you to do anything illegal, but they are bull-headed. On the 12th I saw you at the factory, I think. Can't you show where you were all the rest of the month? If they question you, or threaten to arrest you, tell them anything there is to tell, or any other matters. They may want to know if you were in Cincinnati or Indianapolis about October 21. It is well for you to be able to know where you were working. I am awfully sorry, Pat, for I have always tried to make things easy for you. When Minnie killed her sister I needed you the worst way, but would not drag you into it. If the detectives go to New York, as I want them to, they will find where Minnie W. took them by boat. I have done no killing, Pat. One by one they are finding all alive. Minnie W. will not come here as long as there is any danger of her being arrested. A Boston man knows where she is, and her guardian (Mossie H. Watt) will, at a proper and safe time, go to her. Let your wife write me anything you wish, not oftener than two times a month. Direct H. H. Holmes, County Prison, Philadelphia. I cannot write many letters to you. I am doing all I can for all. Expect to hear shortly from you. Give my love to your wife and Cora. Tell her I have a tame mouse and spider to keep me company. My food is the worst part here. Clarence Phillips' restaurant, at its worst, could be fine compared with it. I only eat once a day. Shall be out of it sooner than you expect. They kept Mrs. P. shut here six months, when we could have let her out on bail. We make a fool of her. Write soon and free. Ask any questions you want. Georgiana is visiting her mother. Went about two weeks ago. With regards to all. H.H.H." (Pencil memo.)—'If you see Tefdt please tell him I am much obliged to him."

WHERE IS EMILY VAN TASSEL?

Emily Van Tassel, who has been missing from her home since June, 1892, is thought to have been another of Holmes' victims. She lived at 641 North Roby street. Her occupation was that of a cashier in a fruit store, and it was here that she met Holmes. All that the police are able to ascertain about her connection with Holmes is that he saw her on four occasions. She showed a remarkable liking for Holmes and her mother believes, in the light of recent revelations as to Holmes' character, that she went with him. Not a single clue to her fate has ever been received since she left home, and there is little doubt in the minds of her friends that she is dead.

The workmen digging in the cellar of the Holmes' house in Englewood this afternoon unearthed two brick vaults, three and one half feet beneath the surface. The vaults are six feet long by three feet wide, and just deep enough to make a grave for a single body each. Both were filled with quick lime. Near by was found another bunch of hair clotted with blood.

Chief Badenock has detailed men to investigate the suspicion that Horace Williams, brother of Minnie and Annie Williams, was murdered by Holmes. There is reason to believe that this is true, because the young man had his life insured for $2,500 in favor of his sister Minnie, which was equivalent to making Holmes the beneficiary.

COL. BELKNAP'S THEORY.

Col. Jonathan L. Belknap, a distant relatives of the Wilmette wife of Holmes, who lived for many years at Big Foot Prairie, Ill., has made a statement to the police regarding the death of Mrs. Julia L. Connor. According to his statement Mrs. Conner was killed by Holmes in the Englewood building four and a half years ago. He believes she was asphyxiated in her room while she slept. Her room was a small dark one adjoining the bath room. Mr. Belknap's theory is that the murderer entered the woman's room by the secret door from the bathroom. When he had killed her by turning on the gas he carried her body to the bathtub, cut it in pieces and fed the parts to a furnace like fire in the stove. When the process of cremation was complete Holmes carried the bones and ashes to the cellar and buried them in quicklime. Col. Belknap now resides at Watson's Mill, Cattaraugus county, N.Y. The police have letters written by him to friends spent Christmas with Holmes and Mrs. Connor, that he helped Holmes carry the stove through the secret door into the bathroom adjoining Mrs. Conner's room, and that the same night Mrs. Conner disappeared, going to Omaha it was said.

MYSTERIOUS MISCHOFF.

HE IS SURPRISED THAT HOLMES SHOULD BE CHARGED WITH MURDER.

PHILADELPHIA, July 29.—An important development came to light Saturday in the Holmes case. It was in the form of a letter written from Chicago by H. W. Mischoff to a Philadelphia friend of Holmes.

The recipient of the letter declined to allow his name to be used. The epistle reads:—

Chicago, July 18, 1895.

"Dear Sir, —I have just returned from Europe and was surprised when I heard that my friend Holmes was charged with killing the children of Benjamin Pietzel in Toronto. I hardly think there can be any truth in the charge. I knew of Mr. Holmes' whereabouts at the time the little girls are said to have been murdered. I can say without fear of contradiction, that he was not in Toronto or vicinity at the time the murders are alleged to have been committed.

"If the children were killed Mr. Holmes had no hand in the crime. Let me know if I can be of any service in the case. I am writing Mr. Holmes by this mail.

"Yours faithfully,
"H. W. MISCHOFF."

Attorney Shoemaker, who represents Holmes, was seen in reference to the letter. He said, "I refuse to say whether or not I know Mr. Mischoff."

The recipient of the letter stated that "Mischoff," is an old friend of Holmes. He further declared that Holmes could not be proved guilty of the Toronto murder.

QUINLAN IN A NET.

HOLMES' JANITOR AT THE CASTLE WILL BE TRIED FOR MURDER.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Developments in the investigation into the criminal deeds of H. H. Holmes, in Chicago, close the net still tighter around Pat. Quinlan and add still more proof to that already existing that he was an accomplice of Holmes and fully cognizant of most if not all of his deeds. The name of Milford C. Cole, formerly of Baltimore, Md., was also added to the list of Holmes' possible victims, as was that of a woman, who was for a short time a resident of the "Castle" in 63rd street. The date of the disappearance of Mrs. Julia Connor was fixed at Christmas Day, 1891. This information was obtained from Mrs. John Crowe, who occupied rooms in the Holmes castle from early in 1891 to September, 1893, and whose name in connection with the case has never before been mentioned.

AN IMPORTANT ARREST.

Last night Officer Fitzpatrick arrested a man in Englewood, who is believed to be H. S. Mack, who worked for Holmes during the last six months he lived in the 63rd street house. Mack's identification with the druggist's operations was furnished by Railroad Detective Young, who used to live in the "castle." Police have been looking for him since Friday, and now that they have him in the toils, they admit unreservedly that they have the most important witness they have yet rounded up. Whether he can tell anything about Holmes personally they are not certain, but that he knows all about Pat Quinlan and his wife and their connection with Holmes, they feel sure from certain admissions he has made to friends.

GULLY IS NOT WANTED.

THE CABINET WOULD LIKE TO FIRE HIM FROM THE SPEAKER'S CHAIR.

The Present Secretary of State For the Home Department Will Make a Bid for the Position at the Next Cabinet Meeting.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 29.—The new Parliament is now practically completed. It is lucky for the Liberal Unionists that the Ministry was formed before the Conservatives had an idea that they would appear in the House with a majority great enough to defy a succession on the part of the Liberal-Unionists or a coalition of all the parties. Already influential Conservatives are urging the leaders of that party to reconstruct the Government, giving the Conservatives increased representation therein. It would be difficult to reshuffle the cards so evenly dealt out, but at the Carleton Club it is thought that Lord Salisbury will try to do it.

WANT TO DUMP GULLY.

The Cabinet will meet tomorrow, when the question of removing Mr. William Court Gully from the Speakership of the House of Commons, and the substitution in his stead of Sir Matthew White Ridley, at present Secretary of State for the Home Department, will be discussed. Mr. Gully stands to win no matter what action the Cabinet may take. Should he be allowed to retain the office, he will, of course, have all the honors and emoluments attaching thereto. Should he be removed to make room for a member of the Government party, he will receive a pension of £4,000 annually, and perhaps be made a Peer, though this latter is by no means a certainty. His salary is now £5,000 a year, and in addition he is furnished a residence in the Palace of Westminster.

CONSERVATIVES ARROGANT.

The refusal to re-elect a Speaker is a rare event in the history of Parliament. There has only been one such refusal within a century, but the Conservatives are arrogant in their success, and threaten to oppose Mr. Gully's nomination, even if the Government should be willing that he remain in office. With Sir Matthew White Ridley as Speaker room would be made in the Home Office for that staunch Tory, J. W. Lowther, who is the husband of a niece of Lord Salisbury. Another post, that of Chairman of Committees of the House, awaits another of Lord Salisbury's proteges.

Three seats have been offered to John Morley, late Chief Secretary for Ireland, who failed of re-election. He proposes to rest from political life until spring and to devote himself to literary work.

CHAMBERLAIN'S FOLLOWING.

The Liberal Unionists claim a party vote of 70, but the Conservatives know that Mr. Chamberlain's position is weaker than it seems. A majority of his apparent following is composed of old Whigs, who are akin to the new Tories. If a rupture should come they would remain with the Conservatives. Mr. Chamberlain's steadfast adherents really consist of the Birmingham group, with about fifteen other members. It is to his interest to continue in harmony with the Tories on any terms.

A JINGO CABINET.

SOME PAPERS URGING AN ATTACK ON FRANCE—A STORMY TIME AHEAD.

LONDON, July 29.—Since a large Conservative majority in the House of Commons is seen to be certain there is assurance of jingoism in the present Cabinet. This condition of affairs heralds a stormy time if Lord Salisbury should seek to satisfy the aspirations of his followers. The French papers are assiduously advocating the use of the Franco-Russian alliance to drive Great Britain out of Egypt and to meet her intrigues with the Porte. The Italian papers claim that the change of Government, however, will result in a revival of the Salisbury-Crispi entente, while the Berlin and Vienna journals hail the restoration of a Conservative policy, declaring that it is almost tantamount to the incorporation of Great Britain into triple alliance.

FRANCE ACCUSED OF BREAKING FAITH.

The Pall Mall Gazette, dealing with the subject of the Franco Chinese treaty, accuses France of a breach of faith in obtaining from China the territory that is included in the above French buffer agreement of 1893, and establishing a fort. This, the paper declares, must be got at. It is still more intolerable that France still occupies Chantabun, notwithstanding her promises to evacuate that place when the Franco-Chinese treaty should be carried out.

The arrogant tone of these articles ignoring the French pretension and France's military and naval strength will most assuredly cause an outburst of chauvinism that will render the maintenance of peace impossible.

HOUSE OF COMMONS OVERCROWDED.

With 410 Unionists claiming seats on the Government side of the House of Commons, while the benches will barely accommodate 300, the long pending question of the size of the House becomes a question of interest to members, and amusement is expressed at the limited accommodations. The Liberal Unionists in the next parliament will not like to sit with the Opposition, and the latter will resent their presence, but until the interior is enlarged it will be impossible to avoid mixing them up. Some lively episodes between members are meanwhile inevitable.

THOMPSON'S CAUSE FOR PROTEST.

LONDON, July 29.—Dr. E. C. Thompson, the defeated Unionist candidate for Middle Tyrone, announces that he will petition against the return of Mr. Munnaghan to Parliament on the ground that the latter is a naturalized American citizen.

ADVISING THE POPE.

German Catholics Make Known Their Views on Social Reform.

Special to the Times.

BERLIN, July 29.—Barons Boenleger and Walloek have forwarded a memorial to the Vatican in regard to social reforms, intending that the reply received thereto shall be presented to the Congress in Munich. The memorial urges the necessity of co-operative organization among the peasants, a reform of the laws of succession, so as to restrain the subdivision of rural properties, the creation of compulsory industrial corporations and legal regulation thereof. The reply of the Vatican is awaited with great interest not to say curiosity.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 30 1895.

Oscar Wilde has just been declared a bankrupt financially. The courts also decided some time ago that he was in the same fix morally.

The great Siberian railway is now completed and in operation from St. Petersburg to Omsk, a distance of 2,200 miles, and the work of extending it to Vladivostock, the western seaport terminus, is being rapidly prosecuted. They're Russian the job so to speak.

The other day train robbers who held up a train near Toledo, Ohio, got $8,000 and got away with it. Ten days ago train robbers who held up a train near Berlin, Ont., got captured and got from five to seven years in the penitentiary yesterday. The method of both gangs were the same, but the revolver bluff didn't go with the Canadian train crew, and the passengers lent their energetic assistance in capturing the highwaymen.

PHOTOGRAPH THE INSURED.

Numerous cases of imposing on life insurance companies by means of false personation are to be found in the law reports of this country and of England. A notable addition to the number seems likely to be found in the case of Mrs. Annie Silverman, who was insured in May last by the Empire Life Insurance Company for $3,000.

The insured woman represented herself as the wife of a man named Rolf Silverman of this city, and he accompanied her to the office of the insurance company at the time of the application for the policy. On the 30th of June the company was notified of Mrs. Silverman's death. The insured woman was a person apparently of such robust health that the announcement of her decease excited surprise among the insurance people, and they determined to inquire into the matter. It was discovered that a Mrs. Wolf Silverman had applied for a policy to the New York Life Insurance Company a short time before the policy in the Empire was obtained, and that although the examining physician deemed the risk very good so far as the health of the applicant was concerned, there was something about her manner which led him to reject it.

An effort on the part of the Empire Life Insurance Company to obtain an order for the exhumation of the body of Mrs. Sylverman was strenuously and successfully opposed in court by her husband; but finally the District Attorney obtained an order for the disinterment of the body. According to the statements of those who have examined the corpse, it is not that of the woman who represented herself as Mrs. Silverman and whose life the policy was intended to insure.

This is a statement of the facts as they now appear. The story up to the present time indicates anew the possibilities of fraudulent imposition to which life insurance companies are exposed, and suggests the importance of additional safeguards in such cases.

It seems to us that there is one method which might be adopted that would tend very greatly to secure insurance companies against frauds of this sort. Why not take an accurate photograph of every person whose life is insured at the time of the application for the policy? Such a picture, identified as it could be by the photographer, the insurance agent, and even by the signature of the applicant endorsed upon it, would afford a means of identification which would be very difficult to dispute, except after a long lapse of time, or where there chanced to be a very striking resemblance between the person insured and the person whose death was the basis of the claim for the insurance money.

DID NANSEN FIND IT?

EXPLORER NINDEMANN THINKS IT POSSIBLE, BUT IMPROBABLE.

He Talks About the Queer Currents Around and Across the North Pole Which are Said to Have Helped the Norwegian.

Brooklyn has an authority on North Pole exploration who takes no stock in the report that Dr. Nansen has discovered the North Pole and planted the Norwegian flag upon it. He is W. F. C. Nindemann, one of the two survivors of Capt. De Long's party of fourteen in the first cutter of the Jeannette, which was lost near Henrietta Island in 1883. The other survivor is Louis P. Narros, now a letter-carrier in Fall River, Mass., whose oilskin pantaloons, it is said, gave Dr. Nansen some idea of the route he has taken to accomplish his object, supposing, of course, he has done so.

Mr. Nindemann lives at No. 94 Elton street, Brooklyn. He was ice quartermaster on the Jeannette expedition, was also a member of the Polaris expedition, and was one of those who went in search of those expeditions.

"As regards the discovery of the North Pole by Dr. Nansen," said Mr. Nindemann to a New York World reporter, "it is possible but highly improbable. My opinion is that while a vessel such as Dr. Nansen's Fram could reach as high as eighty-two north latitude, the journey from there to the Pole must be covered through aerial navigation. It is true that while all former Arctic expeditions took the Behring Sea route from the west, the Norwegian has taken a different one, and so fortune may have favored him. And by fortune, I mean he may have been carried by the current across or around the Pole.

I have spoken of my surviving comrade, Louis P. Narros. Well, this story goes—it comes from Denmark, and I don't believe it—that a pair of oilskin pants belonging to Narros was left on the ice near Henrietta Island and was picked up four years later by whalers somewhere between the Spitzbergen and Greenland. Now, if true, this is highly important, for those pants must have drifted on the ice through Kennedy's Channel, Robinson's Straits, Smith's Sound and Baffin's Bay right through Davis' Straits till they came within easy distance of Dr. Nansen's point of departure from Norway.

"It is further said that as Columbus believed in the existence of a great western continent from having seen a stick carved in a manner unknown in Europe, so Dr. Nansen, from having seen a pair of pantaloons that drifted from Henrietta Island (it took four years in drifting, came to the conclusion that the Fram could pass over the same course. But it must be remembered that the current flows from east to west, and hence the pantaloons story to me seems odd. Still, I don't say that they did not drift. The Jeannette drifted helplessly with the current for twenty-two months, but it was in zigzag fashion, and made little headway.

"But let us suppose that Dr. Nansen has really reached the Pole. How did he get there? What route did he take? Starting from Norway, he must have passed through the Kara Straits, and, pushing his way between Nova Zembla and the Siberian Islands, entered the Kara Sea and then Behring Straits. But what I can't get over is how, after reaching 76 degrees north latitude he managed to pass Cape Cheljusken. He may, of course, have followed Nordenskjold's track, and after rounding the cape stood out to sea, as it were. All the navigators before Nansen's time, including Nordensjkold, turned back when they arrived at this point, and doubtless Nansen learned to keep out from land instead of hugging the shore, and thus gaining from experience, either by accident or design got into the current and reached his destination."

"You think, then, that the current you speak of has an existence?"

"Probably. But bear in mind when I speak of currents I do not imply running water. The ice moves along and carries things with it—steamers as well as pantaloons—and in this way the Fram may have been carried across or around the North Pole. Around the Pole there is not a large expanse of open water, neither is there a packed ice surface. There are, instead, stretches of ice and stretches of water. Had the Jeannette provisions enough to last six or seven years, and had she not been crushed by the ice near Wrangel Land, I believe we would have reached the Pole.

"In my opinion the Pole must be reached from the 82nd or 83rd degree parallel by a balloon or aerial ship."

"Where, then, is Dr. Nansen?"

"On one of the Siberian Islands, I reckon, or drifting somewhere on the ice; or he and his comrades may have perished as other brave men have perished before them."

Early Potatoes.

Early potatoes should pay well, as they are always in demand. A potato field should be kept clean from the time of planting to the harvesting of the crop. Many potato fields are allowed to become so overrun with weeds as to make the cost of harvesting more than all other labor given during the season. Keep the weeds down from the start and the tubers will be large and the yield heavier.

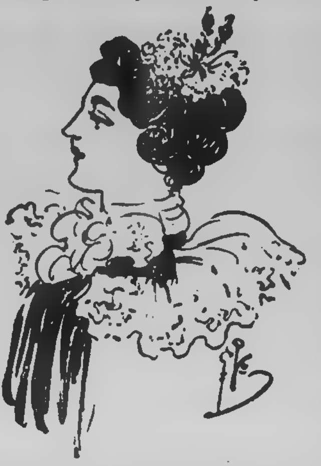
HINTS ON HAIR.

Fashionable Women Are Looking for a New Arrangement of the Coiffure.

Most people have grown tired of the Psyche knot, and are experimenting with their tresses trying to discover some new style of coiffure that is becoming. Those women whose faces will bear it, part their hair and draw it down over the ears, then coil it loosely at the nape of the neck. It is waved very little and is fastened down very smooth on each side the part with the little side combs that everybody wears. Tiny curls just above the ears are a relief to the severe lines at the forehead, and are very coquettish on a pretty girl if they are becoming.

Nearly every woman parts her hair, and then each coils the back hair as it is most becoming. Many of the summer hats are made to accommodate the high coiffure. The little Napoleon hats admit of both high coiffures and the pompadour front, which is coming into vogue.

So long as the tiny bonnets stay with us, there must of necessity be considerable elaborateness in the arrangement of the coiffure, for a woman must have the appearance of wearing something on her head.



A MINIATURE BONNET.

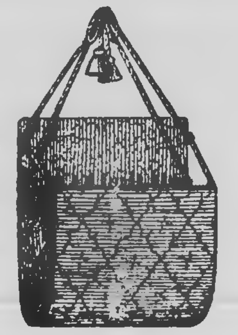
The tiny capote which is pictured here would look very diminutive indeed if the hair were brushed back smooth and tight instead of being waved all over the head. It consists of a bunch of roses and buds placed just above the knot of hair, with a small violet crown and some flounces of lace to make at least an apology for a hat.

The arrangement of the neck fixings also has much to do with the appearance of the hat. This has a yoke of mousseline de soie with a band of silk wrapped around the neck and run through round buckles on each side. The same trimming finishes the bottom of the yoke.

Pocket for Stationery.

A nice receptacle for the unanswered letters which accumulate so quickly in the summer when one is away from home, is as follows:

Take two pieces of pasteboard or stiff canvas, each six inches wide and fourteen inches long. Cover one side of each piece with pretty figured silk, satine or cretonne, turning the edges over on the other side and basting them smoothly all round.



POCKET FOR STATIONERY.

Lay the wrong side of the two pieces together, and overhand the edges together with fine silk. At equal distances apart on each side edge, beginning a little way from one end, sew eight small rings, crocheted over with silk or floss in a color to match some color in the covering.

Bend the case as shown in the picture and lace a pretty cord throught the rings at each side, carrying the ends up and knotting them together at the top.

With needle and silk fasten the cords (so they cannot draw up and close the pocket) where they pass through the three upper rings, and sew little tassels to the ends.

A larger pocket of this kind, ten by twenty-three, makes a convenient holder for magazines and daily papers.

A Polish for Tan Shoes.

Now that tan-colored shoes are so much worn a hint as to how they may be preserved indefinitely may not be amiss. A clever little woman of my acquaintance had a handsome pair of very light yellow low buttoned shoes that were ruined as far as appearances wont. Her husband was to bring her some dressing, but he would not return until night and she wanted to wear them after lunch. She put her wits to work; wet a soft muslin rag with water into which a few drops of household ammonia had been poured, rubbed it with a little Castile soap, and applied it first to the back of the shoe. It worked admirably. The entire shoe was thoroughly clean in five minutes. She kept one hand inside the shoe to hold it in shape, and was careful not to wet the rag so much as to soak through the leather to the lining, and also to rinse off well before drying. While damp she smoothed them into fine form, then stood them away for half an hour to dry. Then she took a soft flannel rag and rubbed them well over for a minute or two. This gave them a natural gloss. She has worn these shoes for six weeks, cleaning them in this way three and four times a week, and they are as soft and pliable and presentable as the day she bought them.

A Simple Cosmetic.

A woman who has reached middle age with a skin of cream and roses says of her complexion regimen:

"My recipe is the simplest and cheapest in the world. A little milk and water and ten minutes a day are all the secrets involved. All women know that to consult a skin specialist, or even the family physician, about their complexion means an endless routine of dosing and doctors' bills, but my remedy will serve for the busiest, as well as the most economical of women. I use nothing but milk and warm water—one part milk to two of water. With this I bathe my face and neck freely twice a day, five minutes, night and morning."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

FOUR WERE DROWNED.

AN APPALLING DROWNING ACCIDENT IN THE OTTAWA RIVER.

While out Boating Their Craft is Struck By a Squall and Four Drown While one is Saved —Well Known Citizen of Ottawa.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 27.—The saddest drowning accident ever known in this vicinity took place between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening at Aylmer, nine miles from here, on the Quebec side of the Ottawa river, by which four young men lost their lives and one had a very narrow escape. Aylmer is a favorite summer resort for Ottawa families, and a number of Ottawa people have cottages there. Amongst them being Geo. P. Brophy, superintendent of the Ottawa river works, and vice president of the Ottawa Electric Railway Company; the Rev. Thos. Winfield, private chaplain to his Excellency the Governor General, and at present filling the pulpit at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, during the absence of the Rev. A. T. Herridge, in England, and Edward Miall, Commissioner of Inland Revenue.

FOUR DROWNED, ONE SAVED.

About 5 o'clock in the afternoon, Alexander, aged 25, Walter, aged 20, and Edward, aged 13, sons of Mr. Brophy, George, aged 13, only child of the Rev. Mr. Winfield, and Edward, only son of Mr. Miall, went for a sail in a canoe in Aylmer bay. Just as they reached the point of the island where two sons of Judge St. Julien were drowned a few years ago, and where a number of accidents have happened, a squall struck the canoe, and it upset, throwing the accupants into the water.

Young Miall managed to cling to the canoe, and was rescued in a very exhausted condition, but the other four were drowned Alexander, Mr. Brophy's eldest son, was a very promising young man, universally liked, and the son, Walter, has just matriculated at McGill College, Montreal. The youngest Brophy and young Winfield were boys at school.

CLEVELAND SUNK.

A British Steamer Sent to the Bottom off Folkestone—Seven Lives Lost.

Special to the Times.

GRAVESEND, Eng., July 27.—The British steamer Baltimore City, Capt. Graham, which recently left Hamburg for United States ports, arrived here today and reports that at 3 o'clock this morning in a dense fog off Folkestone, she heard cries for help, and lowering a lifeboat she picked up five men, who turned out to be part of the crew of the British steamer Cleveland, from the Mediterranean, which had been sunk in a collision with the British tank steamer Duffield, Captain Lowe, from Philadelphia, on June 29, for Havre, France. The Duffield is understood to have rescued five other members of the crew of the Cleveland, but seven of the sunken steamer's crew are still missing.

CUSTOMS OFFICER IN TROUBLE.

Mr. Bowman, of Berlin, Is Short in His Accounts.

Special to the Times.

BERLIN, July 27.—The Inspector of Customs, Boultbee, has been at this port for some days investigating the affairs of Customs Officer Bowman. It has leaked out that there is a shortage of between $5,000 and $6,000. and to make the evidence all the more damaging Mr. Bowman has left the town and is now in the United States.

The inspector's staff as usual visited Berlin last Saturday for the purpose of inspecting the office, and by their special mode of testing discovered an irregularity which prompted the inspector to make a thorough investigation, something which has not been done for more than twelve years. When the irregularity was discovered Bowman was suspended.

Mr. Bowman was also the local agent for the Standard Life Assurance Company of Edinburg, and it is understood he is about $150 short in his returns to this company.

The exact amount of the shortage in the customs will not be known until all the entries and other papers are examined.

Smuggler Johnson's Case.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., July 27.—Dick Johnson, the La Salle fisherman who Protector Pomeroy gathered in about two months ago for illicitly pursuing his vocation after getting fooled into confessing that he had smuggled the fish found in his possession across the line from Canada, was held by Commissioner Pound in $300 bail to appear at the next United States Court to answer to the latter crime. Johnson could not furnish the collateral and was sent back to jail.

Bird Foods Explained . . .

SAY! DO YOU KNOW That much of the seed sold is poor stuff, unfit for Bird Food, save to destroy song and endanger life. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage use Cottam's Bird Seed. We put up no less than six different brands of Bird Seed, all equal in value to anything of the kind in the market, but all very much inferior to Cottam's Bird Seed. C.B.S. is acknowledged to be the very best. WHY? For explanation read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods, price 25 cents. C.B.S. is sold by all the best grocers; only 10 cents per package, but really worth 15 cents, as each packet contains 16 ounces of choice Bird Seed and a 5 cent cake of our patent Bird Bread. Beware of worthless imitations.

KEROSENE V. SPERM OIL

THE RISE IN THE PRICE OF OIL MAY REVIVE AN OLD INDUSTRY.

Curious Lights Still in Use—The Burning Fish of the Aleutian Indians and the Edible Candles of the Esquimaux and Greenlanders.

Coincident with the astonishing rise in the price of oil, says the New York World, there came the news that a whale was being towed into the port of New York.

There may be no connection between these two events, but they are significant of the relationship between petroleum, a new industry, and the whale fishery, a very old industry, which the former has almost crushed out of existence. And it is apparent that it only requires a further advance in the price of petroleum to start such a revival of the whale fishery as the old salts have long dreamt about.

Kerosene will not have to rise to the price of sperm oil to create a large demand for the latter, as sperm oil is so far superior to kerosene as an illuminant and as a lubricator that consumers would invariably prefer the product of the whale even if it cost a little more than the bituminous product pumped from the bowels of the earth. At the same time everybody who has followed the history of the whale fishery, which has flourished in a small way in spite of petroleum fields, to the present day, is aware that the killing of the whales, the trying out of the blubber and the preparation of the sperm oil is now accomplished at a much less cost than was the case forty years ago.

The old salts who sit about the crumbling wharves and tell tales of the wondrous days of the whale fishery have always looked forward hopefully to the days when they said the petroleum fields were going to run dry, and when the whale fishery would again resume its ancient dignity. They always maintained that sperm oil was the traditional illuminant which man had been using from the earliest times, and that the greasy product taken out of the ground was a newfangled substitute which would have its day and disappear.

It appears from what these ancient mariners have stated that the first feeble footsteps of civilization were illuminated by sperm oil, and that from the very dawn of history the chase of the whale for his oil has been one of man's boldest exploits.

At the same time there are other fish oils of equal antiquity for lighting purposes. The walrus, the narwhal, the porpoise and the seal have all contributed to their blubber, which is the thick layer of fat in which they are incased by nature to withstand the cold of the Arctic seas.

The Aleutian Indians are using at this day one of the most curious methods of illumination which the investigator of this subject has yet discovered. These gentlemen catch a fish, about the size of a herring, which swims in countless millions in the waters about their islands. These fish the Indians hang up by the tails, and they become stiff and hard by the exposure to the weather. Then through the long winter the fish are used as candles. When an Aleutian Indian wants to illuminate his cabin he sticks one of these fish into a crack in a board and touches a light to the nose. Then the fish begins to burn with a bright and steady light.

These natural candles burn right down to the tail, and bones and scales are all consumed. In the rude churches where these Indians perform their religious ceremonies these fish may be seen sticking up in long rows before the services begin, and then they are all lighted by the medicine man and burn with a steady glimmer.

The "rush light" is an equally curious if not so rude a method of illumination practised in many out-of-the-way corners of Europe at the present day. The rush light is made by dipping a bull-rush in the fat of animals and letting it dry. These candles are sometimes made a yard or more in length, and are quite slender. In parts of Normandy, on the west coast of Ireland and in the Highlands of Scotland the rush light in a more or less modified form is to be seen in rude cabins of the peasantry, who prefer it even to the cheap and modern kerosene oil lamp.

Another curious form of light surviving to these fin de siecle days, and of great antiquity, is the floating wick. In an earthen or metal bowl, filled to the brim with oil, a small wick is floated in a cork or piece of other wood. This was a common light under the Romans, and many of these bowls were taken from the ruins of Herculaneum.

In rich sacramental edifices in the East a huge tank is built of teak or hard wood and filed with oil, and a minute light of this kind is kept perpetually burning, but when the oil is exhausted the temple is abandoned and the worshippers move off to another place. The jungles of India contain many beautiful temples of this kind which have been abandoned to the snakes and tigers after the sacred lamp had burned itself out.

Among some of the savage tribes of South America vines are used for light, as they contain fatty saps which burn steadily, but with much smoke, though emitting a pleasant odor. Among the Esquimaux the fat of the walrus and the seal is used both as an illuminant and as a food. The Greenlanders make a sort of candle of the fat of the seal, but they burn them and eat them with equal indifference, and the candle ends left over at night may be served for breakfast in the morning.

One of the latest re-enlistments in the navy is that of John R. Knowles, the sailor who lashed Admiral Farragut to the rigging of the Hartford in her memorable fight with the confederate ironclad ram Tennessee in Mobile Bay. Knowles has been in the service forty-five years, during twenty-eight of which he has been on duty at the Naval Academy. As he is now seventy years old he will probably spend the remainder of his life at the Navy academy.

PEARY'S PRIVATE SECRETARY

Goes Wrong in Chicago—Said to be a Petty Swindler.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 27.—Warrants were taken out today for the arrest of Walter T. Swain on the charge of swindling. Swain was a member of the Peary expidition to the North Pole, which left Philadelphia in June, 1893. Lieut. Peary picked up the young man in Brooklyn and made him his private secretary. Swain was rescued with the party last year by an expidition of which Prof. T. C. Chamberlain, of Chicago University, was a member. He turned up in Chicago about two weeks ago and devoted himself to a series of swindles of which members of the Peary expidition were the victims. His method was to obtain small sums on bogus drafts. The total of the alleged swindles is not large. Swain is said to belong to an excellent family in Indianapolis.

A WOMAN CROOK DEAD.

Strange Career of Elizabeth Perkins, Alias "Liz" Finnegan.

Special to the Times.

BOSTON, July 27.—Elizabeth Perkins, better known as "Liz." Finnegan, who had been for many years one of the most noted women of the criminal class in this section, died yesterday, aged about forty. She had been charged with having held up men late at night and robbing them and with many cases of larceny and numerous assaults.

"Liz." Finnegan, in 1883, caused the death of Bernard J. Mahan, of Boston, and because of this crime served a sentence in the House of Correction. She stabbed him with a hat pin because he refuse to drink with her. Her husband, George Perkins, has served time.

Tim Finnegan, "Liz's" brother, was arrested twenty years ago for highway robbery and served seven years. Since that time he has served other sentences.

"REV." MR. BELL'S FAMILY.

The Betrayer of Emma Hall Left Them to Depend on Charity.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 27.—Those who followed the sad story of Emma Hall, who died in Detroit last winter from the effects of an operation, may be interested in knowing that the family of the Rev. Jonathan Bell, her betrayer, who were deserted by him when he fled from justice, have been compelled to leave their home in Blackheath and at public expense seek refuge with relatives. In the meantime the Rev. Mr. Bell has completely disappeared and the chances are that he will never be brought to justice.

IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY

That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

Avoid substitutes; accept genuine only, with buff-wrapper and yellow label.

PETERBOROUGH, JULY 30 1895.

A SKELETON IS FOUND.

The whole trend of the present investigation is not only to fasten the crimes upon Holmes, but also upon Mr. and Mrs. Quinlan, so they can be arraigned for murder. Chief Badenoch says he does not believe the Philadelphia authorities will ever surrender Holmes, and therefore he is determined that Illinois justice shall be meted out to his accomplices here.

THE SCENE OF MANY MURDERS.

The police are satisfied that the skeleton which is now safe in the vault of Inspector Fitzpatrick is all that remains of Alice Williams, sister of Minnie. They have no means of proving that this is so, because the teeth have been destroyed and the jaw-bones broken, but nevertheless they are satisfied that their conclusion is correct. Yesterday's revelations have also convinced the police that the house at 63rd street was the scene of all of Holmes' murders and that the mysterious "office" on the third floor was employed exclusively for the butchery of his victims.

A CINCINNATI SEARCH.

IN A HOUSE WHERE HOLMES HAD HIS MYSTERIOUS TRUNKS.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 29.—Friday night Chief Dietsch received a telegram from Detective Geyer to search the Poplar street house, formerly occupied by H. H. Holmes in this city. Holmes had his mysterious trunks at this house, but took them with him. He gave away the large stove he had used in the house. Howard Pietzel, as well as his sisters, were here with Holmes, and Geyer wanted to be satisfied as to whether Howard was disposed of here. Detectives and workmen dug up the basement on Saturday, and took out the fire place. The yard and everything was searched, but nothing was found to indicate murder there. Holmes was closely watched by Geyer and local detectives. It is the opinion of the latter that Howard was taken to Indianapolis.

The Fire Record.

WALES, July 29.—This morning at about 4 o'clock a fire broke out in a storehouse east of the freight shed stored with coal oil, salt and lumber, totally destroying the building. A flatcar was standing on the track in front of the shed loaded with timber; all burned. Three telegraph poles and wires were burned, also a lot of cedar posts, wood and telegraph poles, which were in the yard. Loss about $1,500. No insurance. All belonged to Kerr Bros.

BELLEVILLE, July 29.—Jenkins' livery stable on Church street, owned by Mr. T. S. Carman, was burned during the night. Mr. Jenkins' loss is about $1,000. Stock insured for $400. Building insured.

The Fight Prohibited.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 29.—Governor Culberson yesterday afternoon issued a proclamation prohibiting the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. He asserts that it is in direct defiance of the law, and [illegible] of all law.

A DIVER'S DEATH.

Mr. Alexander Logan Strikes on His Head in Shallow Water, Fatally Injuring His Spine.

Special to the Times.

GRIMSBY PARK, July 29.—A probably fatal accident happened here about 3 o'clock this afternoon, the victim being a young man named Alex. Logan, aged nineteen, a son of Mr. Alex. Logan, sen., of Niagara Falls. Young Logan was diving off the pier from a height of about six feet, and he was doubtless deceived as to the depth of water, as the lake was rough and the level is fully two feet lower than last year. The result was that he came in contact with the bottom. The spectators were horrified at seeing the stalwart swimmer lying limp and helpless, and in an instant Mr. Albert Sanderson sprang to the rescue, in which he was aided by Mr. Dane of Toronto. Dr. W. S. Philp, who is living at the park, was quickly in attendance and ordered the injured boy removed to his parents' cottage, where he was received by his almost broken hearted mother, who had witnessed the leap. Dr. Fairfield of Beamsville and Dr. Fred Rosebrugh of Hamilton were also quickly summoned. The sufferer is, at this present writing, completely paralyzed from the second rib downward, though quite conscious. The medical men hope that there is no fracture or dislocation but merely a terrible wrench to the spinal chord; but even so, the case is a most critical one. Young Logan is of splendid physique and had just completed his collegiate course and was about to enter on the study of law. The father was summoned from the Falls and reached here about three hours after the accident. This event has elicited the deepest expressions of sympathy with the parents, for their son is a general favorite with the many who knew him here.

The young man, Alexander Logan, injured while diving off the pier yesterday afternoon, died at ten this morning. An examination revealed the fact that the spinal column had been fractured a little below the nape of the neck. The remains were taken to the parental home at Niagara Falls this afternoon by train.

WERE DROWNED LIKE RATS.

Japanese Soldiers Take a Deadly Plunge in a Train.

Special to the Times.

KOBE, Japan, July 29.—A frightful accident in which 140 soldiers perished has occurred on the railroad running from this place to Osaka. A train of 23 cars was conveying to this city 400 Japanese soldiers who were returning from China where they had taken part in military operations. A heavy storm was raging and as the train was running along the sea wall, on which the tracks as they approach the city are laid, a large sea swept over the wall, separating the train and derailing the engine and 11 cars which plunged off the wall into the bay. Most of the men in them were drowned like rats in a trap. The accident occurred at about one o'clock in the morning and the night was pitch dark. The sea was running so high it was impossible to render assistance to the men in the cars that had gone over board even if means had been at hand to do so. Some of the men who managed to get out of the cars while they were in the water were dashed to death against the wall.

FORTY PERISHED.

A Large Steamer With Passengers Supposed Lost in Tennessee.

Special to the Times.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 29.—It is rumored here that the large and elegant steamer Belle Memphis, owned by the Anchor Line Company and running between here and St. Louis sunk this evening about 60 miles north of the city. It is reported that 40 or more lives were lost. At this hour it appears improbable that the rumor can be either confirmed or denied tonight, as every source has been exhausted. There is no telegraph line along the river. The Belle Memphis was due here tonight and reached Cairo south bound at 4.30 this afternoon.

CONFESSION FROM CREAM.

He is Said to Have Murdered Thirty-Five Women.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 29.—In "The Sunday Companion," the Rev. G. P. Merrick, chaplain of Holloway gaol, tells a story of the murderer, Dr. Neil Cream, of Quebec, who, it will be remembered, was executed for the murder of several women in London by the administration of strychnine concealed in capsules.

According to the chaplain of Holloway gaol it was proved beyond a doubt that he had murdered in cold blood, no fewer than thirty-five women. It appears that while in America he suffered imprisonment for a crime which had been traced to him by a woman. This woman detective had beguiled him until his guilt was brought to light. When he came to England he believed, or said he believed, that every woman who spoke to him was a police decoy, and he sacrificed them. Strangely enough he was one of the most proficent Bible students ever admitted to Holloway gaol. He could recite from memory almost half the Bible.

THE SETTLERS SAFE.

Probably no Truth in the Report that a General Massacre had Occurred.

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The following telegram was received this morning at the Indian Bureau, from Agent Teeter:

"REXBURG, Idaho, July 27., via Market Lake, July 28.—To Indian Commissioner Browning: On the 28th instant I met Sheriff Hawley near Rexburg returning from Jackson's Hole, whither he had been sent to ascertain if any of the settlers had been killed by Indians. He stated that none of the settlers had been molested by the Indians, who are supposed to be encamped at a point about 40 miles from the settlement in a practically impregnable position. There is no doubt a large party of Lemi Bannocks have joined the other Indians at Hoback's Canon."

AURANIA DISABLED.

Cunard Liner Injured While in Mid-Ocean on Her Trip to New York.

Special to the Times.

QUARANTINE, July 29.—Steamer Manitoba arrived this morning from London. Last Friday night she sighted the Cunard line steamer Aurania, Capt. McKay, from Liverpool and Queenstown, in a disabled condition, bound for New York.

Captain Griffith, offered assistance, but Captain McKay politely declined, stating that none was required. He requested to be reported all well on board. Inquiry was made concerning the damage but no information was given.

Captain Griffith, of the Manitoba, said it could not be very serious.

Japanese Navy.

St. Petersburg, July 29.—A despatch to Moscow, Vremya, Vladivostock, says that Japan is diligently [illegible] war footing for her army and navy. [illegible] cruisers that she bought from Peru have arrived in [illegible] like temper in Japan.

NO WATER IN LONDON.

Poor Women Vainly Trying to Buy It in the Streets.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 29.—The meagre supply of water in the eastern part of London is causing increased suffering to the inhabitants of that section.

The streets are filled with women offering three pence or more for a bucket of water, but are unable to get it, for the very good reason that there is none. The death race in East London has been doubled since the companies began turning off the flow of water except for about two hours in the 24.

Charged with Abortion.

Stratford, Ont., July 29.—Dr. G. J. Yemen, dentist of this city, was arrested on Friday evening and charged with having performed an abortion on an unmarried women named Alice Dunn, at present living in Mount Forest. On being taken before the Police Magistrate he pleaded not guilty, was admitted to bail in $10,000 bonds, and remanded until Friday next. Miss Dunn was employed as a domestic here some four or five years ago. Since then she has been living in Mount Forest. The alleged offense is said to have been committed here on the 26th of June last, and since then Miss Dunn has been ill. Latterly she has been getting worse and fears for her recovery were entertained. However at latest accounts she was improving. Dr. Yemen declares his innocence in the matter, and claims that the charge is a trumped up affair and feels confident of his ability to clear himself of any criminality.

Gin Factory Burned.

HAMBURG, July 29.—The Spirit Bonded Warehouse Company caught fire and fifty thousand sacks of sugar and twenty thousand barrels of lard were destroyed, together with buildings. The loss will aggregate millions of marks.

From Chicago to New York.

NEW YORK, July 29.—George W. Wolfe arrived at the city hall at 7.15 last evening, having covered the distance from Chicago by wheel in six days three hours and five minutes. He broke the record, it is said, just minutes. The rider looked remarkably fresh after so long a ride.

Worthless Divorces.

GUTHRIE, Okla., July 29.—The suit to test the divorce granted by the probate judge of Oklahoma, has been decided by the Supreme Court adversely to the judges and the divorces, the court confirming its former decision on the subject, denying the right of probate judges to grant divorces, and declaring all such null and void, and any subsequent marriages of the parties illegal. Hundreds of eastern people who have secured Oklahoma divorces from Probate Courts will be compelled to have their cases retried in District Courts.

Cholera Epidemic.

TOKIO, July 29.—Since the outbreak of cholera in Japan there have been 9000 cases of the disease and 5000 deaths. The scourge is raging in Corea and on the Lia Lung peninsula.

Rev. Beecher's Death.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Rev. Dr. E. Beecher, brother of Henry Ward Beecher, died at his home in Brooklyn this morning after an illness of three days.

Lacrosse Match To-morrow.

The lacrosse match tomorrow on the Driving Park Grounds between the Athletics of Peterborough and the Ontarios of Port Hope, will undoubtedly be the best game played in Peterborough this season, and no doubt will draw a large crowd. The Athletics feel confident they will give the Ontarios a hard fight and come off victorious. The Ontarios have gotten up an excursion and will be accompanied by several hundred citizens of Port Hope.

Found a Horse and Rig.

About ten o'clock last night a man brought a bay horse and covered buggy to the police station, and said he had found the animal straying around the northern portion of the town. The horse looked like a valuable animal and was minus a bridle. The police had it quartered at the Huffman House, awaiting an owner.

Later.—At one o'clock the horse and buggy was claimed by a farmer named Brothers. It had been tied to a post. The owner had searched all over the town for it.

The New Curate.

Rev. Carl Smith, of Lindsay, has, it is understood, signified his willingness to accept the curacy in connection with St. John's South Ward Mission, and will assume charge in September next, when Rev. B. C. Andrews' resignation takes effect. Rev. Carl Smith is well known in town, having conducted services in St. John's and the Mission on numerous occasions. He is a fluent expounder of the Bible truths and already has formed many friendships in town. Mr. Andrews is leaving to accept a charge in New York City.

Baseball at Jubilee.

Arrangements have been made by Prof. Crowe, of Alderville, to have a baseball tournament at the above park between the teams of the celebrated White Cloud Indian club, of Central Ontario, and the Algonquin Indian club to be held on Sept. 4th. The Hiawatha and Chemong Lake Indian clubs will also play on the same day. Excursions will be run from all points on the railroads touching the lake and Otonabee river. The Bowmanville baseball club will play the Hiawathas on August 7th at Jubilee. D. McCabe, the one-arm twirler, has gone to several towns to arrange matches at Jubilee.

A MENACE TO HEATH.

IS WHYTE'S POND ON PARK STREET SAY RESIDENTS.

Citizens Give Evidence Before the Board of Health—Cases of Diptheria Attributed to this Alleged Nuisance—A Petetion to Have the Dam Removed.

Special to the Times.

Citizens living in the vicinity of Whyte's Pond on Park street, and also citizens whose children attend the West Ward School, are making a united effort to have the dam removed for sanitary reasons. This has been mooted for years, but at last it looks as if something is going to be done in the matter. A largely signed petition, characterizing the pond as a nuisance and a menace to health, particularly to children attending the West Ward School, was sent to the Board of Health, asking that body to assist the citizens of that vicinity in removing the dam. Acting on this petition a special meeting of the Board of Health was held in the Council chamber last night. A large number of interested citizens were present and some of the petitioners.

The members of the Board present were, President Hartley, Dr. Clarke, Wm. Blackwell, Robert Innes, C. Stapleton and Dr. McGrath. President Hartley stated that the Board assembled to hear the evidence of citizens regarding the alleged nuisance.

Councillor Dawson then came forward and under oath made the following statement:

He considered the dam a nuisance in this way—they dam the water up at night and run it off in the morning, which leaves quite an area exposed to the sun, and the foul smell is very offensive. It effected the cellars in the vicinity. If water was allowed to take its natural course, he believed the health of that section would be better. If the nuisance was not removed, a great many would not be able to live there. It was well known to medical men, that more cases of diphtheria occurred in that locality than in any other in the town. The wells were effected by the dam, said Mr. Dawson, in answer to a question.

Mr. John Burnham, who appeared for Mr. Henry Owens, the owner of the dam, cross examined Mr. Dawson.

Witness said his residence was on the corner of Murray and Donegal streets. He had built his house subsequent to the dam being built. At times the water backed into his cellar. He hadn't had the water in his well examined, but it was effected in color by the dam. He drained into the creek below the pond. Never had any diseases in his family, attributable, or otherwise to the pond.

Mr. Andrew McNeil next gave evidence. The only effect he knew of the dam, was that it was a nuisance to the school in that vicinity by backing up the water, the affluvia from which was disease producing. He had had illness in his family, and the doctor had said it was caused by the dam.

Cross examined Mr. McNeil said it was in November, 1892, that his children were taken ill with diphtheria. They went to the school near the dam. He had known other children die from diphtheria caused by the dam. He referred to Mr. Muncaster's children, who lived at the corner of Brock and Donegal streets.

Councillor Mills corroborated the former witness to the extent that the dam was a nuisance and a menace to the people living in the vicinity, and to the children who attended the West Ward school. He had lived in the vicinity for 11 years. The stench from the pond was very great at times. It didn't effect his house where he lived at present, but when he lived on Weller street, the water in his cellar rose and receded with the dam. He had one child attending the West Ward school, and he was always fearful of an outbreak of diphtheria on account of the dam. The wind carried the stench as far as Elm street.

G. D. Hardy said he found the stench very offensive. He lived within 60 feet of the pond. He had to keep the door and windows of his house closed to keep the stench from going through the house. His cellar was kept continually damp, sometimes as much as one foot of water rising in it. When the pond was low his well water was all right, when high, he couldn't use his well water. His child took fever, which the doctor said was caused by the stench from the pond.

Cross-examined witness said he had no drain or cess pool on his place.

Mr. A. A. Kennedy said his lot was flooded nearly six months in the year, and last year a great deal of water came into the cellar. His well was contaminated by the pond water.

Cross examined he said the lot belonged to the Hilliard Estate. He thought about a quarter of the lot was in the pond. He didn't know the level of his house above the water.

Councillor Clinkscale said he could corroborate all that had been said as to the ill effects of the dam. The basement of the West Ward school was kept constantly damp on account of it. He had lost one child by diphtheria, caused by the water.

Mr. E. Barritt, the janitor of the West Ward school said that the cellar of the school was very wet except in the winter months. He had seen several feet of water in it. The well water was bad and he had known of citizens who took their children from the school on account of the poor water. The medical health officer had ordered him to carry water from the water works into the school.

The evidence of Mr. Pease, Mr. G. Ball, Mr. J. Lynch and others was taken. The Board then adjourned. The medical evidence will be taken at another meeting.

BARRELS OF GOLD.

Handled in Toronto as Though it Were Ordinary Merchandise.

Thursday afternoon of last week eleven ordinary looking kegs containing Five Hundred and Twenty-Nine Thousand, Five Hundred and Thirty-Two Dollars and Sixty-Five Cents in gold were rolled off an express car at the Union station, loaded on a wagon and sent to the Ontario Bank as part of the payment for the city's bonds recently sold to Heidelbach, Ickelheimer & Co., of New York, says the News. This distinguished shipment had not a single policeman to welcome it, nor did any of the slick ones avail themselves of the glorious opportunity that was presented [illegible]. [illegible] Ontario [illegible] it was conveyed in the original packages to the office of the Deputy Receiver-General, whence legal tender was transferred to the bank. A large portion of this payment was [illegible] to meet Hamilton's [illegible] banks.

The payment for the bonds was made in three sums—a bill of exchange for [illegible], $529,532.65 in gold as described, and $61,000 as the five per cent. deposit with the tender.

FOUND THE HEAD.

The Ghastly Skull of Old Scollie Said to Have Been Found.

As a result of Detective Murray's recent visit to Peterborough, it is reported that the missing head of old David Scollie has been found. This will be an important link in the evidence for the Crown.

It will be remembered that a farmer of Otonabee made the statement that he was driving near the Gray's and one of the Gray children climbed into his wagon with a queer looking bone in his hand. Upon being asked what he was playing with the child replied: "Old Davie's jawbone." Detective Murray followed up this clue, and not only recovered the jawbone, it is reported, but the balance of the skull.

The skull will be examined by the medical men who held the post mortem, and will enable them to decide with more precision how the head became severed from the body.

A GANG OF THIEVES.

Who Have Been Operating in Small Towns and Villages.

The county authorities of York are hot after a gang of burglars and thieves who infest the small villages and towns. Of late many small burglaries have been committed, and the victims are invariably farmers and outlying storekeepers. The authorities have long been of the opinion that an organized band of thieves are in existence. They operate in one place and then transfer themselves to another part of the county the next night. In the meantime they drop their swag to confederates who meet them on their passage from one place to another. By this method the booty is transferred through a number of hands and the connection between the thief and the man who disposes of the plunder is hard to prove.

The authorities think this gang is operating in all parts of the province and an effort will be made to work in conjunction with other counties throughout Eastern Ontario.

SOVEREIGN GRAND LODGE.

Delegates From Ontario Visit the Grave of Sir John Thompson.

Some fifty delegates from Ontario to the Sovereign Grand Orange Lodge of British America, which opens in Halifax this afternoon, have arrived. Sunday afternoon they were to Holy Cross Roman Catholic cemetery in a body and visited the grave of the late Sir John A. Thompson. Comptroller N. Clarke Wallace, ex-Mayor Clarke, of Toronto, and party of eighty are not expected till tonight.

It is anticipated that 500 delegates will attend the lodge, which has not met in Halifax since 1868. Only three of the members who then attended will be present in 1895. William Caldwell was then Grand Master of Nova Scotia; James Bonnet, of Toronto, Past Grand Master of Ontario West; Thos. Keys, of St. Catharines, Past Grand Secretary, and Grand Secretary Birmingham, who is organizer of the Conservative party in Ontario, are here.

It is said a scheme is afloat to supplant Birmingham in the Secretaryship and Hon. N. Clarke Wallace as Grand Master, but this is denied. A prominent delegate said Mr. Wallace is not anxious to continue in office, but would be nominated and elected if he would run. He further stated that there were 100 men in the Grand Lodge who had as much claim to the office as ex-Mayor Clarke, who is spoken of as the opponent to Mr. Wallace.

More rain.

The new fire horse is giving splendid satisfaction.

The streets are muddy from the recent rains.

The Philharmonic Society will run their excursion to Burleigh on Thursday.

The list of prisoners to be discharged from the Central prison in August has been sent the Chief of Police, and from Peterborough is James Elves, who was sentenced to six months last April on a charge of larceny in connection with the clothes wringer swindle.

Last Wednesday morning, a man from down east, whose horse had been unsuccessful in the races at Donegan Park, attempted to sneak out of town without paying his hotel bill. [illegible] When he discovered that he was fairly caught, he with reluctance paid the bill and went his way rejoicing.—Cobourg World.

BOY WANTED.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles!

Symptoms—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents.

ANOTHER FALSE ALARM.

The Firemen Called Out in the Night for Nothing.

Another false alarm was sent in last night from box No. 1, and the firemen again responded in the middle of the night, only to find that there wasn't any fire.

At 20 minutes past 1 o'clock this morning a feeble alarm was sent in from box No. 1. This box was broken open a short time ago by some person or persons, and several false alarms have been sent in from it. The firemen got up and dressed, but believing that it was another false alarm, did not take out the wagon. Ten minutes later a loud alarm was sent in from the same box, so the hose wagon and the hook and ladder immediately responded, only to find that they had been fooled again.

Naturally the firemen are incensed. It is no joke to be roused out of bed, and the parties who have been sending in these alarms will be dealt with pretty severely if they are caught. Last night the roads were fearfully muddy and the hose wagon and truck were covered with mud, which will entail a lot of extra and useless labor.

Box No. 1 has been disconnected and it is impossible to send in an alarm from it. The firemen felt justified in breaking the connection.

St. Peter's church Sunday school picnic will be held on Tuesday, August 6th, at Little Victoria Park, which is a pleasant picnic ground on the Otonabee River. This will be the best excursion of the season, as it includes besides the railroad trip, 3 miles on Rice Lake and 10 or 12 miles on the far-famed Otonabee River. The steamer City of Peterborough is a large new and substantial boat capable of carrying 500 passengers, without a scow. Train leaves King street crossing at 8.45 a.m., returning at 6.30 p.m. Picnickers will have 3 or 4 hours at the park. Tickets 30 and 60c.—Cobourg World.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives they will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 102 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

BLUE BEARD'S DEN!

Was the Castle Which Holmes Had in the Chicago Suburb.

MORE HORRORS FOUND.

HOLMES SOLD THE SKELETONS OF HIS VICTIMS—THE QUINLANS MAY HANG—CHICAGO DETERMINED TO PROVE THEIR GUILT.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 3.—Thousands crowded around Holmes' castle yesterday trying, but in vain, to obtain admission to its mysterious chambers. Jeweller Davis, who occupies a portion of the building, sought to turn an honest penny by admitting the curious at ten cents a head, but when the police learned of the scheme they vetoed it out of existence at once.

Charles L. Chappell's pointers to the police have proved very valuable. He exhibited thorough familiarity with all the details of the buildings attached to the false vaults, in which it is believed Holmes suffocated some of his victims. The theory is substantiated by the imprint of a woman's foot, which has been found on the floor of the vault between the iron door and the back wall, within which limits there is barely room for one to stand. Chappell showed thorough familiarity with the combination lock of the vault, which he locked and unlocked at will.

CHAPPELL MUCH AGITATED.

Chapell was brought to Inspector Fitzpatrick's office early in the morning, the intention being to put him through a thorough investigation in order to find out whether the accounts he has given the detectives are true. He was so much agitated, however, that it was found impossible to go on with the inquiry. With the assistance of a glass of whisky he was able to leave the office, supported by the Inspector and his brother at ten o'clock. It is understood that the destination of the three is Englewood, where the mechanic's story as to knowing the combination of the mysterious steel vault, in which the detectives think that some of the persons believed to have been murdered by Holmes may have met their death, will be tested. He has already opened the vault, but he did so by putting his ear to the lock and hearing the tumblers fall, just as an expert mechanic might do anywhere. Chas. M. Chappell, his son, said this morning that his father had in his life been a very hard drinker, and that this had acted on his mind to such an extent that he did not always talk rationally.

A REGULAR DISSECTING ROOM.

Chappell told the police that Holmes had two vats in the cellar. One, he said, was in the south-east corner and the other in the south-west corner of the rear cellar. They had since been walled up, he said. One of the vats, according to Chappell's statement, was used as a vessel in which the flesh was eaten from the bones by the use of acids. The other was for the purpose of bleaching the bones. Twelve laborers worked all day digging out the two corners designated by Chappell, and were about to give up the search as unsuccessful when one of the men at work on the south-east corner struck his spade against something which gave forth a metallic sound. The metal object proved to be a huge tank in the shape of a boiler. It was located just outside the cellar wall, and its top was four feet from the ground's surface. Work for the night stopped before the tank was fully uncovered, but apparently it is eight feet long and three feet in diameter. Except for the discovery of the tank, the search in the basement was fruitless.

THE QUINLANS IN A BAD FIX.

The whole trend of the present investigation is not only to fasten the crimes upon Mr. and Mrs. Quinlan, so they can be arraigned for murder, Chief Badenoch says he does not believe the Philadelphia authorities will ever surrender Holmes, and therefore he is determined that Illinois justice shall be meted out to his accomplices here. The police are satisfied that the skeleton which is now safe in the vault of Inspectop Fitzpatrick is all that remains of Alice Williams, sister of Minnie. They have no means of proving that this is so, because the teeth have been destroyed and the jawbones broken, but nevertheless they are satisfied that their conclusion is correct. Yesterday's revelations have also convinced the police that the house at 63rd street was the scene of all of Holmes' murders and that the mysterious "office" on the third floor was employed exclusively for the butchery of his victims.

WAS HE A PROCURER.

One of the many theories that have been advanced concerning the Holmes building and the many uses to which it was put, is to the effect that Holmes was a professional "procurer." The presence of so many young girls about the premises at various times has led to the suspicion that Holmes added this to his other nefarious crimes. In this way the disappearance of some of the unfortunate creatures is accounted for.

A woman named Sylvester, who lived there when Holmes and Quinlan did, arrived unexpectedly yesterday, having come from Kansas city to visit her son. She has told the police of more strange doings of Holmes and Quinlan, particularly of the digging of a tunnel under the sidewalk. This is to be investigated.

In summing up the gist of the police work it may be said on the authority of the police that they expect to hang Patrick Quinlan, H. H. Holmes, the man Harris (alias Zeigele), and James C. Allen, the Little Rock convict, before they finish with the castle.

HOLMES' DAILY STATEMENT.

HE TELLS ANOTHER STORY OF HIS CONNECTION WITH PIETZEL.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 30.—The Bulletin today prints the following: "An entirely new statement has just been made by H. H. Holmes, the supposed multi-murderer. In it, the man of many crimes gives in detail his version of how Pietzel came to his death last September, and also states that his (Holmes) connection with the tragedy. The statement was given to a close friend of Holmes in Philadelphia, who gave it to the Bulletin representative today."

Holmes says that on the Saturday night preceding the death of Pietzel the latter came to his house on North 11th street, where he was staying with "Mrs. Howard." Pietzel told Holmes a heartrending story of his pecuniary difficulties, and of the sickness of his daughter in St. Louis. "I must have money," he said, or words to that effect, "to send to my wife in St. Louis." Holmes remonstrated with Pietzel as to his spendthrift habits, and spoke substantially to him as follows: "Ben, you have been a good friend of mine. I'll admit I have made lots of money through you, but I cannot keep this thing up. Where is that $50 I gave you the other day? If you don't quit drinking you and I will have to separate."

This conversation is said to have been carried on along 11th street, the men walking north until Morris street was reached. When they arrived at the corner Peitzel exclaimed: "I am no benefit to no one. I will soon get rid of my difficulties. Life has become a nuisance to me."

HOLMES GOOD ADVICE.

Holmes then avers that he jokingly remarked to Pietzel: "Well your body is as good as any other, but I wouldn't advise you to do anything rash."

Holmes accounts for making this remark that he and Pietzel had under consideration the defrauding of the Fidelity Mutual Insurance Company. Holmes says Pietzel then became angry, and again avowed that he would committ suicide. Holmes then explains that Pietzel left him with the intention of going home. Holmes says he gave Pietzel no money that night, but promised to meet him at the Callow Hill street house the following morning.

It was about 10 o'clock the following day, Sunday, Holmes goes on to say, that he went to visit Pietzel at the Callow Hill street house. When he reached the place no one, apparently, was about. Holmes sat in the kitchen for almost twenty minutes waiting for Pietzel to appear. The latter, Holmes supposed, had gone out for breakfast.

Time wore on and "Ben" was not to be seen. The conspirator then says that be became anxious about his friend's whereabouts, and began to search the house for him.

HE WAS HORRIFIED.

"As I arose to go upstairs," says the criminal, "I noticed a note lying on the counter in the front part of the house. It was addressed to me."

Then Holmes explains that he opened the note. It directed him to go up to the second floor, and open a closet, in which he would find a large blue bottle containing another letter addressed to him. Holmes followed the directions. He found the note in the bottle as described, and was horrified when he read it.

It was from Benjamin Pietzel, and advised Holmes that his (Pietzel's) dead body could be found in the house. The letter pleaded that Holmes look after Pietzel's children, and suggested that there would be no difficulty in getting the insurance money from the Fidelity Company now that the dead body of Pietzel could be produced in evidence.

Holmes then told his friend of the appearance of the corpse, and said that he sat in the room with the body for over an hour. He was dazed and hardly knew what course to pursue. He finally made up his mind that since Pietzel had taken his life, there would be no harm in destroying any evidence of the suicide, so that he might be able to get the insurance of Pietzel's life without any difficulty.

Holmes has confessed that he therefore dragged the dead body to the second floor, laid the corpse on the floor, pried open the mouth of the dead man with a pencil, and poured in a quantity of explosive chemicals.

DISFIGURED THE CORPSE.

He then, he said, placed a lighted match to the man's mouth, when the explosion, which so horribly disfigured the corpse followed. To give the more forcible impression that Pietzel came to his death by an accidental explosion, Holmes stated to his friend that he got a pipe of Pietzel's, filled it with tobacco, lighted it, then blew out the flame after the tobacco had been partly consumed, and placed the pipe beside the dead man's body.

It was nearly 4 o'clock in the afternoon, Holmes states, before he left the Callow Hill street house. He put on a hat of Pietzel's to partially conceal his identity, and placed his own hat, which was of felt, under his coat. The criminal went directly to the Broad street station, so he alleges and inquired at what hour the first train left for Chicago.

Holmes says he does not distinctly remember at what hour the railroad officials told him a Chicago train would leave Philadelphia, but believes it was between 9 and 9.30 o'clock at night. He then went to the house where he was staying and made preparations to leave the city. He and his wife, Holmes alleges, left for Chicago that night.

WORKED FOR HOLMES AND LIVED.

A UNIQUE INDIVIDUAL TURNS UP IN KANSAS CITY.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 30.—There is living in Kansas City a man who once worked for the murderer, H. H. Holmes, in Chicago, and who is familiar with many of his peculiarities, and with the construction of the building in which the murders are said to have been committed.

This man is Thos. L. Tuck, a drug clerk in the employ of O. W. Kruger. "I know really nothing of the girls Holmes is charged with having murdered," said Mr. Tuck, "as all that happened after I had left his employ. After I had worked in his store several months I quit because I became convinced that Holmes used crooked methods in his business, and there were too many mysterious things going on which I could not understand. Holmes had a man working for him named Latimer, who was his confidant, and he and Latimer used to be up at all hours of the night. One night when I was called up to fill a prescription I found Holmes and Latimer engaged in tearing up the floor of the second story, and filling up the space between the ceiling and the floor with cement to deaden the sound. I regard to what they call the secret chamber, I used to sleep in that. I became convinced while I was working for Holmes that he was a consummate scoundrel, who was ready to turn his hand to anything to make a dollar but I had no cause at that time to suspect him of being a murderer."

A WERID EXPERIENCE.

JONATHAN S. BELNAP TELLS OF AN AWFUL NIGHT IN HOLMES' HOUSE.

BUFFALO, July 30.—Postmaster Jonathan S. Belnap, of Weston Mills, near Olean is the latest witness against H. H. Holmes. In 1891 he lived at Big Foot Prairie, Wis., while Holmes, with his wife who was a grandniece of Belknap, lived at Wilmette, Wis. Holmes bought some property and induced Belknap to become security for the payments. Holmes went to Chicago and forged Belknap's indorse-

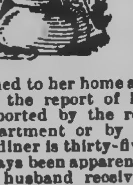
A DELEGATE MISSING.

HAS NOT BEEN HEARD FROM SINCE THE CONVENTION.

Went to Boston to the Christian Endeavor Convention From Arcadia, Nebraska—Her Husband Receives Very Curious Letters.

Special to the Times.



BOSTON, Mass., July 30.
A MOST mysterious affair connected with the recent Christian Endeavor convention here has just come to light. Mrs. E. T. Gardiner, of Arcadia, Neb., who came here as a delegate to the convention, has not yet returned to her home and husband and child, and the report of her death here is not supported by the records of the Health Department or by anything else. Mrs. Gardiner is thirty-five years old. She has always been apparently healthy, and when her husband received from her a letter July 15 stating that she was about to die, he was astounded.

To that letter came a supplement, written by "Mr. J. Brown, of South Boston," whom neither Mr. Gardiner nor any one else knows, stating that the woman was dead and in the interest of economy her body would be buried here. Now the death registers bear no record of any such death and detectives employed by Mr. Gardiner have failed to find a trace of Mrs. Gardiner dead or alive.

It is assumed by some of those interested in the case that Mrs. Gardiner has been spirited away by thieves who were attracted by the large sum of money and considerable amount of jewelry she carried, while some believe she died and her body was secured for dissection purposes.

When Mrs. Gardiner was in Boston she did not stay with the rest of the Nebraska delegation at the regular headquarters, but stayed with some friends who cannot now be found.

A HUGE SERPENT.

Which is a Resident of Black Lake, Megantic, Quebec,

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 30.—At Black Lake, Megantic, Que., a huge snake, showing its head and 20 feet of body above water, has been seen by over a dozen people within the last month. Louis Cyr, the strong man, and J. B. Clearihew are prepared to make an oath to its presence. Cyr was in a boat and the monster appeared above water. It crossed the lake, one and one half miles, in less than three minutes, and churned the water to foam. Again on July 19 Clearihew saw it. All boats are kept ready and in case of reappearance miners here will make an effort to capture it. The testimony that the serpent exists is unimpeachable. Black Lake is in Megantic county and is the milling center for asbestos working near Maine boundary not far from short line C.P.R. route to St. John.

EMBEZZLED $20,000.

George Porter, Teller of the Bank of Montreal at Quebec, in Custody.

Special to the Times.

QUEBEC, July 30.—George Porter, teller of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, was arrested at his summer house, Isle of Orleans, for stealing from the bank here. The amount is said by some to be $20,000, which has been mostly recovered. A good deal of it was lost in speculation.

Porter was drunk, had a revolver and resisted the provincial police, who made the arrest. Porter comes from Ontario and married the daughter of Chief of Police Vohl here.

MOST INVALUABLE.

The New Specific Remedy is being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favor of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness, which appeared during the summer.

GAVE UP ITS DEAD.

Bodies of Two Victims of the Ottawa Drowning Accident Recovered.

Special to the Times.

AYLMER, Que., July 30.—The body of Alex. Brophy, one of the four who were drowned on Friday last, was found this morning at 9.30 near Blue Berry Point, about half a mile from his home and about ten miles from where the accident occurred. He was found by his uncle, John Brophy, who was walking along the shore. The body of Walter Brophy was found at 11 o'clock about two miles further. Search is still continued for the other two.

Betting on Coming Fights.

NEW ORLEANS, July 30. The betting tonight on the coming prise ring contests, which are scheduled to take place in Dallas, Tex., in November, is as follows: 4 to 6 on Corbett, 5 to 4 on Fitzsimmons, 6 to 7 on O'Donnell, 7 to 8 on Maher, 4 to 5 on Ryan, 5 to 6 on Smith, 4 to 5 that the Corbett Fitzsimmons contest does not last 20 rounds. No direct odds, 4 to 5 either man wins.

Combinations—5 to 1, with Corbett in, to win; 8 to 1, with Fitzsimmons in, to win; 3 to 1, the contest takes place in Texas. The betting changes daily.

Mrs. Corbett's Divorce.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Referee Jacobs, in his report on the suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Ollie Corbett against her husband, James J. Corbett, the pugilist, finds Mrs. Corbett entitled to a divorce, and recommends that the agreement entered into by her and her husband at the time of their separation, by which he agreed to pay her one hundred dollars a week for life be continued.

Outraged and Murdered.

MONTREAL, July 30.—The body of an unknown but well dressed woman has been found in the woods near Laprarie, opposite here. It is supposed she has been outraged and murdered.

The TIMES received a letter from Mr. C. W. Sawers, addressed to the Orangemen of Canada. The letter is altogether too lengthy for our columns. It is written in defence of Separate Schools, presumably from an Orangeman's standpoint, but really from the standpoint of a ward politician who is looking for a fat government job.

The project of erecting swimming baths, which was brought forward in the Council a short time ago, and referred to a committee, is probably dead for this year. We however, hope that the matter will not be allowed to die, as respectable bathing places are needed almost as badly as pure water for domestic purpose.

If Justin McCarthy retires from the leadership of the Irish National party, who could succeed him? Timothy Healy is not to be thought of. John Dilion as leader would make a reconciliation with the Healyites impossible. Thomas Sexton is a good man, but he dosen't want the leadership—doesn't want even to be a member of the party, though he was elected in spite of his protests to that effect. It may be that our Edward Blake is destined to be Ireland's political Moses.

During the past few months the TIMES has put forth strenuous efforts to increase its circulation and the success which has followed these efforts is very gratifying. Our circulation has increased so rapidly that it is with great difficulty that we are able to handle our Saturday issue. Shortly after two o'clock on Saturday morning printing begins, the dozen regular carrier boys are first supplied, after which the outside mail is prepared. At four o'clock this portion of the work begins, and is only completed a short time before noon. These facts speak for themselves. People know a good paper when they see it, and everybody sees and reads the TIMES.

WORDS OF WISDOM.

Experience keeps a dear school, but fools will learn in no other, and scarce in that; for it is true we may give advice but we cannot give conduct.

Much as worthy friends add to the happiness and value of life, we must in the main depend on ourselves, and every one is his own best friend or worst enemy.

No one can ask honestly or hopefully to be delivered from temptation unless he has himself honestly and firmly determined to do the best he can to keep out of it.

There is nothing nobler in man than courage and the only way to be courageous is to be clean-handed and hearted, to be able to respect and face our record.

It is curious that men are not generally ashamed of any form of anger, wrath or malice but of the first step toward a nobler nature—the confession of a wrong—they are ashamed.

Life is not a plaything to be used as long as it gives pleasure and then cast aside. It is an imperative trust, a continuous obligation, from which no grief, no loss, no shame can ever absolve us.

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own class, but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

FANTASTIC VAGARY.

A PUBLIC MAN WHO CONSULTED THE OUIJA BOARDS.

This is One of the Grounds on Which It is Sought to Show That He Was Incapable of Making a Proper Will—The Estate Involved is a Large One.

The Ouija board, that curious little device which attracted so much attention and furnishd so much amusement to many people a few years ago, has got into the courts. It is cited as evidence of a man's mental weakness and his incapacity to make a proper will. This man was Charles M. Pond, once State Treasurer of Connecticut, a Senator in the same State and a director of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. A suit is now under way in New York to break his will. It was instituted by his brother, Anson Phelps Pond.

Among the property which Charles M. inherited from his father was the Prospect Hill farm, on the outskirts of the city of Hartford, and this, with about $450,000 worth of other realty, he willed to Hartford. The disputed farm or homestead which Hartford proposes to turn into a public park, is now valued at about $250,000.

The claim is made by the contestant that his brother had no right to devise away this tract, and counsel bring forward his father's will in substantiation of this position, and quote that part of it which reads: "And it is my express desire that my said son, Charles M. Pond, will not alienate or sell my farm known as the 'Prospect Hill Farm,' but that the same may descend and be from time to time devised to my lineal descendants."

Among the testimony already introduced is that of Mrs. Frank A. Porter, a sister of the Ponds, which it is said showed the deceased brother to be an extraordinary and eccentric person.

In his public career Charles M. was known only as a man of rare judgment and brilliant parts, but it seems that for some time previous to his death his mind was clouded or weakened by dissipation, and he displayed oddities of intellect that were entirely at variance with his character as the public and all but his intimates knew it.

According to Mrs. Porter's statement, some of the evidence that would be important and valuable as corroborative proof has been deliberately destroyed. The destroyed evidence consisted of works on Spiritism and the several Ouija boards that were the property of Charles M. Pond, and were used by him. It is said that the dead man was a firm believer in Spiritism and was an easy dupe of mediums. Luther R. Marsh was not more thoroughly fooled by Miss De Bar than he was by the men and women who pretended to be able to rematerialize those who had passed to the shining shores.

After the death of his wife, it is said, he was almost constantly under the influence of mediums. He had implicit confidence in the oracular qualities of the Ouija board which is a rudimentary sort of planchete. In the latter case the spirits are supposed to communicate with their friends in the flesh by means of writing; in the former the spirits have not got so far in the three R's, and they spell out their communications.

A panchette is a small heart-shaped bit of wood, mounted on two tiny legs with casters, and having for the third leg a pencil. When the little table is placed on a sheet of paper and the hands are permitted to rest lightly upon it, the pencil moves, and some people pretend that the lead-marks made by the pencil are legible messages, and they go through the solemn formality of reading them.

Ouija has a three-legged, heart-shaped little table, too, which the hands rest upon, but it travels not over writing paper but over a smooth rectangular board, on which the alphabet and the numerals are stencilled so that they make the segment of a circle, and the words "yes" and "no" are stenciled in two of the corners. Messages are read by following the movements of the leg at the apex of the heart. It travels from letter to letter and spells out words, the nerves and muscles of the manipulators having much to do with the direction of its movements.

Chaires M. Pond had several of these Ouija boards and he consulted them dozens of times a day. Through them he communicated with his dead wife. The story is told that often he would arise in the midst of a group of friends, excuse himself and hurry off to another room to ask Ouija certain questions.

These Ouija boards with all of her brother's Spiritistic books, Mrs. Porter says, she burned. Her statement is that she went to the office of one of the executors of the will and in his absence obtained from his father, who drew up the will, permission to remove the books and boards from the house, which she did and made a bonfire of them.

This is only one of the strange proceedings of the executors, it is claimed.

There is a great deal of secrecy about the proceedings and a whole lot of mystery, but the plaintiff feels confident that he will be able to show the mental insufficiency of his brother to make a will as well as to clinch his own right to the disputed part by the restricting clause in his father's will, which insists that the property shall not be devised away from the family.

The dissipated habits of Pond's brother have been pretty well established. He seems to have had a wild and terrible mania for morphine and administered it to everybody and everything on his place, even the dogs. The Ouija board weakness, though, appears to be the most fantastic of all his vagaries

Tactics in the Band.

A colonel in the French army, who had a great eye for neatness, but not much of an ear for music, took occasion one day to compliment his bandmaster on the appearance of his men. Their uniforms are neat, said the colonel, and their instruments are nicely polished and kept in order, but there is one improvement that I must insist upon.

What is it, colonel?

You must train your men, when they perform, to lift their fingers all at exactly the same time and at regular intervals on their instruments, so—one, two! one, two!

The Military College.

The Kingston Military College is a very expensive luxury to the people of Canada, and some of the items we have to pay for are very peculiar. An opera glass, $9.25; Prince of Wales hunting belt, $8.59; emigrant's knife, $7.48; trout rod, twelve feet long with three joints, $5.96; a lawn tennis bat, $2.71. The college cost us $70,000. No wonder there is a deficit.—Brockville Recorder.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

NO WATER IN LONDON.

Poor Women Vainly Trying to Buy it in the Streets.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 29.—The meagre supply of water in the eastern part of London is causing increased suffering to the inhabitants of that section.

The streets are filled with women offering three pence or more for a bucket of water, but are unable to get it, for the very good reason that there is none. The death race in East London has been doubled since the companies began turning off the flow of water except for about two hours in the 24.

AURANIA DISABLED.

Cunard Liner Injured While in Mid-Ocean on Her Trip to New York.

Special to the Times.

QUARANTINE, July 29.—Steamer Manitoba arrived this morning from London. Last Friday night she sighted the Cunard line steamer Aurania, Capt. McKay, from Liverpool and Queenstown, in a disabled condition, bound for New York.

Captain Griffith, offered assistance, but Captain McKay politely declined, stating that none was required. He requested to be reported all well on board. Inquiry was made concerning the damage but no information was given.

Captain Griffith, of the Manitoba, said it could not be very serious.

ADVISING THE POPE.

German Catholics Make Known Their Views on Social Reform.

Special to the Times.

BERLIN, July 29.—Barons Boenleger and Wallosk have forwarded a memorial to the Vatican in regard to social reforms, intending that the reply received thereto shall be presented to the Congress in Munich. The memorial urges the necessity of co-operative organization among the peasants, a reform of the laws of succession, so as to restrain the subdivision of rural properties, the creation of compulsory industrial corporations and legal regulation thereof. The reply of the Vatican is awaited with great interest not to say curiosity.

The Fight Prohibited.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 29.—Governor Culberson yesterday afternoon issued a proclammation prohibiting the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. He asserts that it is a fragrant defiance of the law, and will bring disrepute upon and foster a spirit of disobedience of all law.

Sweden and Norway.

CHRISTIANA, July 29.—The Storthing today by a vote of 59 against 52 refused to grant the proposed 10,000 kroner for the personal expenses of the Norwegian Minister to Stockholm.

From Chicago to New York.

NEW YORK, July 29.—George W. Wolfe arrived at the city hall at 7.15 last evening, having covered the distance from Chicago by wheel in six days three hours and five minutes. He broke the record, it is said, just 45 minutes. The rider looked remarkably fresh after so long a ride.

Japanese Navy.

St. Petersburg, July 29.—A despatch to Movoae, Vremya, Vladvistock, says that Japan is diligently gaining war footing for her army and navy. The two cruisers that she bought from Peru have arrived in Japanese waters and crews will shortly go to England to take to Japan three ironclads that are being built there. The despatch adds that there is a strong warlike temper in Japan.

Worthless Divorces.

GUTHRIE, Okla., July 29.—The suit to test the divorce granted by the probate judge of Oklahoma, has been decided by the Supreme Court adversely to the judges and the divorces, the court confirming its former decision on the subject, denying the right of probate judges to grant divorces, and declaring all such null and void, and any subsequent marriages of the parties illegal. Hundreds of eastern people who have secured Oklahoma divorces from Probate Courts will be compelled to have their cases retried in District Courts.

Charged with Abortion.

Stratford, Ont., July 29.—Dr. G. J. Yemen, dentist of this city, was arrested on Friday evening and charged with having performed an abortion on an unmarried women named Alice Dunn, at present living in Mount Forest. On being taken before the Police Magistrate he pleaded not guilty, was admitted to bail in $10,000 bonds, and remanded until Friday next. Miss Dunn was employed as a domestic here some four or five years ago. Since then she has been living in Mount Forest. The alleged offense is said to have been committed here on the 26th of June last, and since then Miss Dunn has been ill. Latterly she has been getting worse and fears for her recovery were entertained. However at latest accounts she was improving. Dr. Yemen declares his innocence in the matter, and claims that the charge is a trumped up affair and feels confident of his ability to clear himself of any criminality.

Bird Foods Explained . . .
SAY! DO YOU KNOW That much of the seed sold is poor stuff, unfit for Bird Food, save to destroy song and endanger life. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage use Cottam's Bird Seed. We put up no less than six different brands of Bird Seed, all equal in value to anything of the kind in the market, but all very much inferior to Cottam's Bird Seed. C.B.S. is acknowledged to be the very best. WHY? For explanation read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods, price 25 cents. C.B.S. is sold by all the best grocers; only 10 cents per package, but really worth 15 cents, as each packet contains 16 ounces of choice Bird Seed and a 5 cent cake of our patent Bird Bread. OUR ROADS.

In the Majority of Cases the Work is Done Without Regard to the Result.

'For the last four years we have been working on this question with a view to arousing the people to a sense of its importance, says the Municipal World, and if possible, convince them that the work of road building would do more to lift them into prosperity than any other work to which they could direct their energies. We have obtained from nearly every township in the province, returns as to the present expenditure for road purposes, and an average for a number of years past, also statements as to the amount of statute labor performed each year. In return for which they practically receive nothing. This has been going on for nearly a century. If the amount which has been sunk in this manner could be ascertained, it would startle even the most phlegmatic of our citizens.

The job of making a ditch in a low part of the road is let for $50 or $100 no proper outlet is made for it into the adjoining property, it holds its full of water, and after a couple of winters the action of the weather and stagnant water causes the sides to slip and in a short time the ditch is filled up. Another job is let for grading a piece of road, when the foundation is not first drained, the travel on it in the wet season makes it as bad as ever Gravel of all qualities is hauled on the road and dumped in the quagmire, soon to be lost sight of. In other instances it is put on so thinly as to be of no use. When convinced of this an extravagant quantity is used, the wheels are allowed to rut it while loose, no further attention is paid to it, and in a short time deep gutters are formed where the wheels travel; rains fill these gutters; heavy traffic cuts through and it is damaged rather than improved. In many cases large sums of money are expended for gravel, which, owing to the amount of earthy substances among it, makes the road worse than it would be if this material had not been put on, but the natural soil of the road-bed properly drained and rounded up. Culverts are constructed of perishable material, which on account of its exposure to the varying changes of wet and dry, collapses in a short time under a load, and not only the cost of a culvert but large sums for damage are wasted. Small timber bridges are constructed in ravines and high and expensive grades are made at either end, without any knowledge of the great pressure of the embankment, and the weakness of the structure which in many instances collapses before the contractor has reached home with the people's large draft. Hundreds of dollars are expended in cutting down hills, where if the proper pains were taken in laying out the road, it could be deviated from a straight line, hills skirted, the ascent made easier and the large cost of reducing the grade, together with the subsequent cost of keeping the gutters open, and repairing the damage done by the water and frost would be saved. These items together with the many items of from five to twenty-five dollars expended throughout the township in filling holes and making small surface ditches, grading patch by patch without any regularity and many other trifling items of work, make the amount when footed up at the end of the year of alarming dimensions.

Roads have been constructed by road work under pathmasters, and good roads can be constructed under the statute labor system, but more money has been squandered, labor misapplied, wasted, and practically thrown away. Draining, grading and other elementary principles involved in making and keeping of a good road in a great majority of cases are ignored and the work is done without rule, reason or any regard for the ultimate result. All the water that falls on the road is allowed to stand in ditches made to receive it, which saturates the foundation, stands in pools and ruts on the road, and the traffic churns and mixes it with soft dirt until it is removed by the slow process of evaporation. During the dry season this lazy process is put in operation and leaves the roads more susceptible to the damaging influences of the wet autumn weather.

Objections to the Present System.

Every road is a structure and needs a foundation. A good road will never be built by accident or maintained by ignorance It is quite as senseless and futile to attempt to build and maintain a good highway by calling out A B and C from their various occupations to maul and scrape a few miles of soft dirt with hoes and shovels, as it would be to expect the same persons under a similar system to contribute their personal labor in the successful erection of a courthouse or gaol. In either case the proper completion of the work requires that it be done under an intelligent supervisor, and by persons whose knowledge and instruction fits them for this kind of work. Besides these objections, the system of working out the road tax as at present operated, presents certain features which are inequitable as among the people themselves. The money collected from these persons who agree to pay their assessments in money rather than by personal labor is in many cases diverted to mysterious use, which only the municipal politicians have power to disclose. While on the other hand the labor performed here and there by that little squad composed of the youth taking his first lesson, strong in ambition, but weak in physique; the hired man proud of his holiday; the middle aged willing to work, but more anxious to yarn; the prosperous farmer anxious to work according to the intention of the law, but cannot see his way clear to do more than his neighbor; the veteran roadster whose hair has grown grey anticipating good roads as the result of his many years' labor; the grandfather, who when his work is done has completed his manual labor for the year.

How to Kill Sparrows.

To kill sparrows, put cayenne pepper in the crevices of buildings they infest; this treatment killed hundreds about the Maryland state house. Or support a long and wide plank by a stake, scatter grain under it, and when the sparrows are busily eating pull the stake away by means of a string, and the heavy plank deadfall will kill the sparrows. Others will quickly return to take their place. Many believe the English sparrow does more good than harm.

A French technical paper, the Journal de l'Horlogerie, declares that a new amalgam has been discovered which is a wonderful substitute for gold. It consists of ninety-four parts of copper to six parts of antimony. The copper is melted and the antimony is then added. Once the two metals are sufficiently fused together, a little magnesium and carbonate of lime are added to increase the density of the material. The product can be drawn, wrought and soldered, just like gold, which it almost exactly resembles on being polished. Even when exposed to the action of ammoniacal salts of nitrous vapors it preserves its color. The cost of making it is about a 25 cents a pound avoirdupois.

THE SETTLERS SAFE.

Probably no Truth in the Report that a General Massacre had Occurred.

Special to the Times.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The following telegram was received this morning at the Indian Bureau, from Agent Teeter:

"REXBURG, Idaho, July 27., via Market Lake, July 28.—To Indian Commissioner Browning: On the 28th instant I met Sheriff Hawley near Rexburg returning from Jackson's Hole, whither he had been sent to ascertain if any of the settlers had been killed by Indians. He stated that none of the settlers had been molested by the Indians, who are supposed to be encamped at a point about 40 miles from the settlement in a practically impregnable position. There is no doubt a large party of Lemi Bannocks have joined the other Indians at Hoback's Canon."

FORTY PERISHED.

A Large Steamer With Passengers Supposed Lost in Tennessee.

Special to the Times.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 29.—It is rumored here that the large and elegant steamer Belle Memphis, owned by the Anchor Line Company and running between here and St. Louis sunk this evening about 60 miles north of the city. It is reported that 40 or more lives were lost. At this hour it appears improbable that the rumor can be either confirmed or denied tonight, as every source has been exhausted. There is no telegraph line along the river. The Belle Memphis was due here tonight and reached Cairo south bound at 4.30 this afternoon.

CONFESSION FROM CREAM.

He is Said to Have Murdered Thirty-Five Women.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 29.—In "The Sunday Companion," the Rev. G. P. Merrick, chaplain of Holloway gaol, tells a story of the murderer, Dr. Neil Cream, of Quebec, who, it will be remembered, was executed for the murder of several women in London by the administration of strychnine concealed in capsules.

According to the chaplain of Holloway gaol it was proved beyond a doubt that he had murdered in cold blood, no fewer than thirty-five women. It appears that while in America he suffered imprisonment for a crime which had been traced to him by a woman. This woman detective had beguiled him until his guilt was brought to light. When he came to England he believed, or said he believed, that every woman who spoke to him was a police decoy, and he sacrificed them. Strangely enough he was one of the most proficent Bible students ever admitted to Holloway gaol. He could recite from memory almost half the Bible.

A DIVER'S DEATH.

Mr. Alexander Logan Strikes on His Head in Shallow Water, Fatally Injuring His Spine.

Special to the Times.

GRIMSBY PARK, July 29.—A probably fatal accident happened here about 3 o'clock this afternoon, the victim being a young man named Alex. Logan, aged nineteen, a son of Mr. Alex. Logan, sen., of Niagara Falls. Young Logan was diving off the pier from a height of about six feet, and he was doubtless deceived as to the depth of water, as the lake was rough and the level is fully two feet lower than last year. The result was that he came in contact with the bottom. The spectators were horrified at seeing the stalwart swimmer lying limp and helpless, and in an instant Mr. Albert Sanderson sprang to the rescue, in which he was aided by Mr. Dane of Toronto. Dr. W. S. Philp, who is living at the park, was quickly in attendance and ordered the injured boy removed to his parents' cottage, where he was received by his almost broken hearted mother, who had witnessed the leap, Dr. Fairfield of Beamsville and Dr. Fred Rosebrugh of Hamilton were also quickly summoned. The sufferer is, at this present writing, completely paralyzed from the second rib downward, though quite conscious. The medical men hope that there is no fracture or dislocation but merely a terrible wrence to the spinal chord; but even so, the case is a most critical one. Young Logan is of splendid physique and had just completed his collegiate course and was about to enter on the study of law. The father was summoned from the Falls and reached here about three hours after the accident. This event has elicited the deepest expressions of sympathy with the parents, for their son is a general favorite with the many who knew him here.

The young man, Alexander Logan, injured while diving off the pier yesterday afternoon, died at ten this morning. An examination revealed the fact that the spinal column had been fractured a little below the nape of the neck. The remains were taken to the parental home at Niagara Falls this afternoon by train.

ment to a note for $2,500 and also a deed relating to the Wilmette property.

Belknap went to Chicago, determined to have Holmes straighten out the matter. After listening to Belknap's demands, Holmes invited him to visit his new house. They went through the house, and then Belknap was invited to go on the roof, but he had been warned of Holmes' character, and refused to go.

"I knew Holmes was a scoundrel," said Belknap, "and did not remain in the house that night, but he fairly insisted on it.

"When I went to bed I locked the door. I slept lightly on account of my fears, and was awakened some time after midnight by steps along the hall.

"Presently I heard my door tried, and a key slipped into the lock. I asked who was there, and heard the sound of feet shuffling down the hallway.

"Evidently two men had been there, for Pat Quinlan's voice answered that he was there, and wanted to get in and sleep with me, as there was no other place for him. I refused to let him in.

"I am confident now that, if I had gone on the roof of the house with Holmes that day, or if I had allowed Quinlan to come into the room that night, I would have been on the list of his murders now.

"While I was in Chicago on that trip I met Miss Kelly and Mrs. Connors, who were his typewriters, and who have disappeared, and I also met Emily Cigrand, to whom I later deeded the Wilmette property, in order to get my money out of the mixed transaction. The deed was made to the name of Amelia B. Williams. I believe they are the same."

Mrs. D. T. Horton, of Buffalo, and Mrs. Hiram Dean, of Olean, are related to Holmes by marriage.

ACCOUNTED FOR THE TRUNK.

MRS. CIGRAND SAYS IT WAS BOUGHT BY WEALTHY MR. PHELPS.

ANDERSON, Ind., July 30.—Mrs. Cigrand, mother of one of Holmes' victims, was seen today for the first time and proved to be the most interesting of the family when she at last laid aside her timidity and began to talk. She can account for the big trunk in which Miss Emily's body was taken out of the castle. About a week before her marriage with Phelps, Miss Cigrand packed her trunk full of her clothes and wrote a letter to her mother stating that she was going to return them and her trunk. She hoped that the folks at home, who were common folk, could use them and also the trunk. She said that Mr. Phelps was very wealthy, and bought her new clothes and a great big trunk. It was a very large one, she said, and she did not need the one she had. The trunk was received at Lafayette, charges prepared. It was brought out of a closet today and the contents examined. It is a very large trunk.

WHEN SHE RECEIVED THE TRUNK:

This accounts, Mrs. Cigrand thinks, for the great trunk that Emily was carried out of the "Castle" in. There is hardly any doubt in the matter. The trunk was not received until a day or two after her supposed wedding. The address was on a card written with a typewriter. The clothes were examined, but not a trace of blood could be found. Mrs. Cigrand says the trunk was packed very carelessly and did not look like a woman's work. Mrs. Cigrand also remembered of another letter coming from the missing daughter. It was written on a typewriter and signed Emma. It did not bear any date or street number and was very short. It simply said: "Why don't you write? I am distracted."

Mr. and Mrs. Cigrand received word from Chicago today to come to their uncle, Dentist Cigrand, who several years ago resided here. They will leave at midnight. Since reading everything that has come out they are confident that the fate of the girl is not summed up correctly. They also find that she drew $300 out of the Fowler National Bank at Lafayette about that time.

PLOTTED AGAINST HIS FIFTH WIFE.

DETECTIVE GEYER SATISFIED THAT HOLMES INTENDED TO KILL HER.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 30.—Detective Geyer, who is here searching for the house in which he thinks Holmes murdered Howard Pietzel and disposed of the body, has made the startling announcement that he had discovered enough here to convince him that the arch-murderer had laid his plans to murder his fifth wife, Georgiana Howard, and her mother, Mrs. Yoke, of Franklin, in this city, as soon as he should get rid of the Pietzel family. Detective Geyer obtained his clue at the real estate office of John L. Wright, who had dealings with Holmes while the latter was darting from one hotel to another with the Pietzel children. At that time Holmes had authority by Georgiana Howard to make a deal with other heirs for the property at Franklin, and had her mother's consent. Owing to some hitch, the deal was dropped temporarily. Detective Geyer asserts that as soon as Holmes had got the few thousand dollars coming to his wife, he would have disposed of both Georgiana and her mother, as he did of the Pietzels. Detective Geyer still holds to the belief that Howard Pietzel was murdered in this city, although his body might have been disposed of in Chicago. Thus far he has no clue to any house in this city that Holmes rented. He says all traces of the boy end in Indianapolis.

BRITAIN'S CABINET.

First Meeting Since the General Elections of Salisbury's Ministry.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 30.—The first Cabinet meeting since the general elections was held at the Foreign Office at noon today. It was expected that the Speakership would be one of the subjects discussed. The Marquis of Salisbury presided and he and all the Cabinet Ministers were loudly cheered on arrival at the Foreign Office.

The following additional election returns have been received:

Donegal, East Division—Arthur O'Connor, McCarthyite, 3,393; E. T. Herdman, Unionist, 2,731. McCarthyite majority, 662. Mr. O'Connor, who is the sitting member, at the last election had a majority of 763, showing a loss of 101 votes.

Londonderry, south division—Thomas Lea, Unionist, 4,470; Dodd, Liberal, 4,018. Unionist majority, 432. Mr. Lea, who is the sitting member, had a majority of 504 at the last election, showing a loss of 91 votes.

The Pugs Indifferent.

NEW YORK, July 30.—In reference to the proclamation against the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight issued by Governor Culbertson, of Texas, on Saturday, Corbett said last night that he had received no official information on the subject, and until he did he should be very much inclined to doubt the accuracy of the news. When asked what he would do if the rumor proved to be correct, he said: "I am under contract to Dan Stewart and Joe Vendig, of the Florida Athletic Club and will abide by their instructions." Fitzsimmons showed no particular concern when told of the action of the Governor of Texas, and in reply to the question what he intended to do about it, replied that he was confident the fight would come off all right, and that he did not intend to trouble himself further about the matter.

The Durant Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—When the Durant case was resumed today the defence asked for an injunction to prevent the production of the play "The Crime of a Century," supposed to have for its basis the Emmanuel Church murders. The prosecution joined in the request, and the court granted it. The examination of the talesmen for jurors was then resumed.

The Disabled Aurania.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The steamer Salle from Bremen, passed the disabled Cunarder Aurania on the 27th. The Aurania's engines had been damaged. She refused assistance.

Electric Boat Burned.

BRANTFORD, July 30. — The electric launch, which has been running since the first of July on the canal, was burnt to the waters edge last night. The fire is supposed to have started from the storage battery. Loss about $1,000; insured in the Guardian Insurance Company for $700.

'Twas a Canard.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Telegrams received at the War Department from the seat of Indian troubles are of an encouraging nature. The denial of the massacre at Jackson's Hole is followed by further reports of a pacific nature.

A Ticket Agent Disappears.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 30.—H. E. Schaeffer, ticket agent at the New York Central's North Tonawanda station, has disappeared, leaving his wife and several creditors. A shortage was found in his accounts, but this he made good before he went away.

FIVE DAUGHTERS

At a Birth Borne by a P.E.I. Woman to Her 84-Year Old Husband.

Special to the Times.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., July 30.—Mrs Alex. Campbell, of Montague, gave birth to five daughters on the 28th of July. Her husband is a tailor and in his 84th year.

AGED 100 AND MAKES HIS OWN CLOTHES.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I. July 30.—John Robertson, aged 100, a tailor at Montague, has cut and made for himself a vest and a pair of trousers.

A Woman Killed on the Track.

EASTWOOD, July 30.—Mrs. Taylor, a woman of about 70 years of age, was struck by a G.T.R. passenger train and instantly killed a short distance east of Eastwood station. She walked on the track and not noticing the train was struck by the engine and hurled about fifteen feet. She was the mother of twelve children.

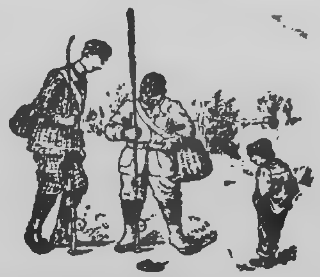
Bad Measure.



Two Rods. One Perch.

He Was Taking No Chances.

"What do you mean by going along the street whooping and howling in that insane fashion?" said the policeman. "Are you drunk?"

"Not a bit of it," was the reply. "I'm hurrahin' for our baseball nine."

"But the season hasn't opened yet."

"I know it. I'm seizing the golden moment before it passes forever. Experience has taught me that if don't do my hurrahin' for our nine at this time of year, I'm liable never to get a chance."—Washington Star.

FARM MACHINERY.

Some Buy Too Much of It, and Others Not Quite Enough.

One may easily go to either extreme on almost any question. This is certainly true in the matter of buying farm implements and machinery. A prominent place in the causes of failure of not a few farmers should be given to their habit of recklessly buying farm machinery when not needed, and of neglecting to care for it after it is bought. Where one has a good implement or machine, it is folly to throw it aside and purchase another because of some trifling claimed improvement. On the other hand, it is at least equal folly to continue to use nearly worn-out or inferior tools, neglecting to avail oneself of important improvements. A noticeable tendency of agriculture in the prairie regions, which are so admirably fitted for the use of the farm machinery, is to reduce hand labor to a minimum. It is not only attempted to do almost all parts of field culture work by the aid of horse-drawn machinery, but to do it with the smallest possible number of men. Wide-cutting or gang plows, harrows or cultivators, or seeders, and so of mowers and reapers, are becoming more common. Many of the new machines are decidedly better than the older ones of the same class; some are not. In many cases it will be a clear gain to buy new machinery; just as in others it would be a needless waste of money.

If the new plow will cut an inch or two wider than the old one with no increase in draft, it will soon pay for itself. If equally good work can be done with a harrow which cuts fifteen feet instead of ten, the saving in cost of labor will soon equal the cost of the harrow. One or two bushels increase per acre in the yield of corn on the area which can be cultivated with a good cultivator will make the price of a good cultivator in one year.—Prairie Farmer.

Hard Times.

Old Woman (to undertaker)—Bad weather for us poor folk, sir, but very good for the likes of you. Undertaker (sadly)—Weather, indeed! What's the good of a cold winter to me, when we've got the new Sanitary Committee down our way? Would you believe it, lady, we had 197 less deaths last year in consequence! Call that business?

Hot weather proves depressing to those whose blood is poor. Such people should enrich their blood with Hood's Sarsaprilla.

In Advanced Years

The strength and pure blood necessary to resist the effects of cold seasons are given by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I have for the last 25 years of my life been complaining of a weakness of the lungs and colds in the head, especially in the winter. Last fall I was again attacked. Reading of Hood's Sarsaparilla I was led to try it. I am now taking the fifth bottle with good results. I can positively say that I have not spent a winter as free from coughs or pains and difficult breathing spells for the last 25 years as was last winter. I can lie down and sleep all night without any annoyance from cough or pain in the lungs or asthmatic difficulty." E. M. CHAMBERS, J. P., Cornhill, N. B.

PETERBOROUGH JULY 31 1895.

CITY AND COUNTY NEWS

LOCAL AND DISTRICT HAPPENINGS OF THE DAY.

The Weather.

Probs.—Fresh to strong westerly to northerly winds; fine and a little cooler.

Garden Party Postponed.

The garden party which was to have been held at the residence of Mr. George Edmison last night, under the auspices of St. Andrew's church, was postponed owing to the weather.

Good Morning!

Have you used Bates' bread? It is positively the best. Praises are pouring in daily from all quarters; not in Peterborough alone, but also from surrounding towns and villages. If you have the cash buy the best. Walter Bates, bakery 63½ Stewart street.

A New Excursion Route.

The excursion trip which the City of Peterborough will run on Friday, August 2, will be a new trip. The excursion will be to Hastings from Port Hope, Cobourg and Peterborough, close railway connection and rates having been secured. The City of Peterborough will make this trip several times this season and no doubt the first one will justify a continuance.

Wedding Bells.

A very quiet wedding took place yesterday morning, when Mr. Wm. B. Rehill, of Buffalo, was united in marriage to Miss Mary Jane Pollard, of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Rae. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Joseph Pollard, corner of Aylmer and Simcoe streets. Mr. and Mrs. Rehill left immediately for Buffalo which will be their future home.

Foresters Arrive Safely.

The following cablegram was received Monday evening at the Supreme office at 5 p.m. from Queenstown from Dr. Oronhyatekha, and party, of Independent Order of Foresters, en route per steamer Kensington, from Philadelphia, to the Supreme Court to be held in London, Eng.:—"Queenstown, July 29.—Arrived well; good passage; greatly enjoyed the voyage; none seasick. Oronhyatekha."

Fine, Cool Weather.

"We have had quite a nice rain scattered over Saturday, Sunday and Monday," said the artist of the weather yesterday. The total rainfall of the three days amounted to 1.41 inches. "We needed rain, more especially in northern Ontario, where the forests are suffering from extensive conflagrations, that keep the air heavy with smoke. "The outlook now is for fine, cool weather, which will just suit people, after the warm weather we have had."

Taken to the Asylum.

County Constable Archie Moore took Robert Craig to the Toronto Asylum yesterday afternoon. Mr. Craig was taken into custody a few days ago at the request of his family and with his own consent. Some years ago he received injuries to his head and since then has been aware of failing mental capacity, and at times he became so violent that his family thought it only safe that he be taken in charge by the authorities. Craig bid his family a touching farewell yesterday and broke down completely. He appeared to recognize the necessity of the action taken, but took it very hard. It is indeed a sad case.

Loaded the Fish With Shot.

There was a merry party of tourists from Rochester at the popular Lakefield House at Young's Point last week consisting of Mrs. Charles H. Clare, Mr. R. R. Bennett, Mr. John Farbar and Mr. George Jenny. They enjoyed themselves very much indeed, but took the most pleasure in seeing which could lure the most and heaviest of fish from the translucent waters at the Point. One of the party, upon whom the honored title of Grandpa had been bestowed, on account of his superior knowledge and circumspect regard for the truth in telling of fish caught in his boyhood days, etc., supplied himself with a can of corpulent worms, and the most athletic frogs procurable and hied himself away to Hannah's rock, and in a short time landed a whole cargo of bass. He proudly exhibited his "catch" and made a boast that they were the heaviest ever pulled out of the water at the Point. The result was a wager, and in the meantime Grandpa had made it up with Mrs. Kearney, who had taken possession of the fish and, like Mark Twain with his frogs, had filled them from tail to gill with shot. The fish were weighed and nearly broke the scales, while Grandpa pocketed the wager. The rest of the party were dumbfounded but couldn't say a word. The party returned to Rochester yesterday after a most pleasurable outing.

Catarrah of the Stomach.

"My daughter was suffering with catarrah of the stomach, and was treated by the best physicians without benefit. Finally she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped her at once. She has taken 15 bottles and she is now able to work all the time." Anna Merrill, Eaton, Que., Canada.

Hood's Pills cure all liver ill.

WANTS MORE TIME.

Contractor Grant Asks for an Extension —No Quorum Last Night.

A special meeting of the town council was called yesterday to meet at 7.45 last night to consider the sewer matter. A few of the councillors put in an appearance at the clerk's office, and waited until 9 o'clock for a quorum. A sufficient number of the council to constitute a quorum did not arrive, so the few present went home.

It appears that Contractor Grant refuses to go on with the work unless the council passes a resolution extending the time for the completion of the sewer from August 1st to December 1st. Mr. Grant thinks this is only his due, considering the delays he has put up with. He is anxious to commence work on Monday next.

The council will probably meet this morning and pass the resolution. Contractor Grant will then rush the work beginning on Monday.

THE INQUIRY ADJOURNED.

Witnesses Did not Put in an Appearance Before the Board of Health.

The Board of Health met again last night to resume the inquiry into the sanitary condition of Whyte's pond. There were present, President Hartley, and Messrs. Shortly, Innes, Dr. McGrath, Dr. Clark, Blackwell, Stapleton, Hall and Denne.

When the Board was ready to hear the evidence of other petitioners it was found that none were present. It was then decided to go on with the testimony. Dr. Caldwell was called, but he stated that he knew nothing personally of the sanitary condition of the pond and did not care to give evidence. He had signed the petition supposing that the resresentations contained therein to be true.

There were no other medical gentlemen present, and the Board considered whether it would rest its case, and take the evidence of the defence.

Mr. John Burnham, Q.C., who appeared for the owner of the dam, stated that he had not had time to secure witnesses, and would not be able to go on. He wanted to know if the case of the petitioners was closed, so that he would know what his client would have to meet. He could not be ready in less than a week from the time the petitioners' case was closed.

The Board decided to leave the case open, with the understanding that the defence should have all the time desired to secure evidence, after the petitioners case was closed.

The Board then went into private session and excluded the press.

Grand Black Chapter in Conclave by the Sea—Pledged to Defeat the Measure.

At the Masonic Hall in Halifax the Most Worshipful Grand Black Chapter of British America held a three hours' session.

M.W. Grand Master Robert Weir, of Peterborough, presided; William Lee, of Toronto, acting as deputy, and Major A. T. Armstrong, of St. John, N.B., as associate deputy. Among the other officers present were: Grand Chaplain Walsh, of Brampton; Grand Registrar J. S. Williams of Toronto; Grand Treasurer Jas. Brownlee of Toronto, Grand Censor J. H. Scott, of Kincardine; Grand Marshal, Henry Burnett, of Brampton; John Bailey, of Toronto and Lieut. Col. Hogg, of Collingwood. P.G.M. J. T. Jones and D.G.M. Ireland, of Toronto, and P.G.M. Parkhill, of Midland; also had seats on the platform.

After the usual routine business had been transacted, Grand Master Weir delivered his formal address to the Chapter. Referring to the Manitoba school question he was happy to say that the Provincial Legislature had refused to obey the remedial order passed by the Dominion Government at the command of the Romish hierarchy. As the Government had pledged itself to pass an act at the next session to compel Manitoba to restore Separate schools. It was the duty of us all to use our utmost endeavors to defeat such a measure. All influence possible should be brought to bear upon our representatives in Parliament and all candidates pledged to speak and vote for the maintenance of the Public school system throughout Canada.

Major A. J. Armstrong, in a few earnest remarks, heartily endorsed every word of the speaker's address, and was sure ninety-nine out of every hundred Sir Knights and Orangemen in the country would agree with him.

A number of other gentlemen will speak on the subject when the Credential Committee reports.

An address of welcome to the visiting delegates were also read, one paragraph containing these words: 'Should a time arrive when it will be necessary for us to give a practical demonstration of our loyalty to the cause, we feel convinced that Nova Scotia will not be found wanting."

The Chapter reassembled at nine o'clock. The Canadian Pacific train which brought Ontario and Montreal contingents was nearly two hours late. The 66th band met the party at the station and escorted them to hotels. Hon. N. Clarke Wallace and ex-Mayor Clarke are at different hotels. Yesterday morning members of Parliament went on an excursion on the harbor at invitation of T. E. Kenny, M. P.

The Grand Lodge was formally opened yesterday afternoon.

The Black Chapter elected officers yesterday afternoon. Following are the principal ones: Deputy Grand Master, William Lee, of Toronto; Grand Master, A. G. Armstrong, St. John; Associate D.M.M., J. H. Scott, Kincardine; Grand Chaplain, Rev. Wm. Walsh, Brampton: Grand Registrar, J. S. Williams, Toronto; Deputy Grand Registrar, J. C. Gass, Nova Scotia; Grand Treasurer, J. R. Brownlee, Toronto; Grand Lecturer, James Fulton, Toronto. One of the Deputy Grand Lecturers is James Kennedy, Toronto; Grand Standard bearer, John Bailey, Toronto.

A Saturday Night Trip.

On Saturday the City of Peterborough will inaugurate a new trip down the river, the boat leaving at 7.30 in the evening and calling at Jubilee and Idyl Wyld, giving the passengers the choice of stopping at either of these beautiful resorts over Sunday. On the return trip the boat will leave Harwood and call at Jubilee and Idyl Wyld, reaching Peterborough at 8 o'clock on Monday morning. Tickets for the round trip, including meals, and room for two nights have been placed at $1.50 and can be secured at this office up to 12 o'clock Saturday. It is intended to make this a popular outing and no doubt it will be much appreciated. No pains or expense will be spared by the manager of the steamer or hotels to add to the comfort and enjoyment of guests.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lyman, Sons & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents

G.T.R. WAGES TO BE CUT DOWN.

The New President Will Reorganize the Whole Road.

Sir Charles Rivers Wilson will arrive in New York on August 13, and in Montreal on August 17, to reorganize the affairs of the Grand Trunk Railway, says a despatch. An exhaustive examination will be made of the company's resources and both the wages and number of employes will be cut down considerably. An effort will be made to establish working treaties with other roads at once and the formation of a new Canadian Board will be quickly proceeded with. A depreciation fund will also be established for the rolling stock lent to the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway.

PERSONAL MENTION.

WITH THE SPORTS.

The lacrosse match this afternoon between the Athletics and the Ontario's, of Port Hope, will commence at 2.30 sharp on the Driving Park grounds. A large excursion is coming from Port Hope. Citizens should turn out in large numbers to witness this match.

A private telegram was received from one of the officers of the Florida Athletic Club inquiring as to the feasibility of pulling off the Corbett-Fitzsimmons battle in Mexico, just across the border of Laredo, or Eagle Pass, Texas. The club desired to know what facilities in the matter of transportation could be afforded leading to the border. The latter question was immediately taken up by telegraph with the railroads and it is believed a satisfactory guarantee as to the rates and transportation facilities will be given by the passenger departments of the roads concerned. It is believed that the outspoken attitude of Governor Culberson towards the proposed pugilistic carnival precludes all possibility of it taking place any place in Texas.

Orange, Texas, offers $40,000 for the Fitzsimmons Corbett glove contest, and guarantees to bring it off free from interruption or interference, on an island near Orange, the title of which is in dispute between Texas and Louisiana.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking of his beauties. He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. Sale room, 45 Yonge-st., and 45 King street west

Items of Interest Intelligently Presented for Busy Readers.

A meeting of the Bicycle Club will be held tonight.

The Children's Aid Society has taken charge of the Gray children.

The Foresters will run their excursion to Jubilee and Idyl Wyld on August 15.

A permit has been issued to the Globe Printing Company for the erection of a three Storey office building at the corner of Jordan and Melinda streets to cost $11.000.

At the tenth annual meeting of the Provincial Board of Health to be held in Belleville on Aug. 14th and 15th, Dr. L. B. Powers will present his opinions on, "How Should Municipal Water Supplies be Controlled."

The Masonic lodges of Fenelon Falls ran their excursion to Chemong Park on Monday via steamer Columbia. Fully 250 persons took in the trip and it proved to be a very enjoyable and successful one in every way.

INS AND OUTS.

Just as soon as the Council was called to consider the outfall sewer matter yesterday morning, the weather began to get cold.

⁂

The report of the massacre at Jackson's Hole grew out of a rumor that H. H. Holmes of Boston had been seen lurking in the vicinity.

⁂

It is, perhaps, a significant fact that the petition sent to the Board of Health protesting against the unsanitary condition of Whyte's Pond, did not contain the signature of a single undertaker.

Railway Notes.

Travelling engineer E. Drew, who has his headquarters in Toronto, was in town on Friday and Saturday inspecting the lately repaired engines that have arrived at this station prior to their being put into use.

Since the lumbering season in the north has finished the business of the Midland division has fallen off considerably; but it is expected to pick up again next month. At present the newly made conductors have been put back braking, and the brakemen have been laid off, or at least a good many of them.

Engine, No. 627, which we mentioned last week as having lately arrived from Stratford, is now doing service on the Toronto way freight prior to being put into passenger service. Every engine has to travel 6,000 miles as a freight engine before it can be used on a passenger train. It is in charge of Engineer J. Janes.

THE BUSINESS WORLD.

A. B. Dick, Owen Sound, has sold out.

Laird & Co., general merchants, Tara, have assigned to T. A. Kilgour.

Mary Beechie, hotel, Guelph has sold out to Charles Schnuck.

LOST.

Between George street and south end of Stewart street on Saturday night a gold locket and chain on which is a tooth pick, finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving it at the Times Office.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

KILLED WITH A COUPLING PIN.

Owen Delaney Fails to Shield Himself of a Crime.

Special to the Times.

DE-PLER, Ohio, July 30.—Early yesterday morning Owen Delaney reported to neighbors that his wife had been murdered. Officers arrived and found the woman dead with her blood and brains spattered all over the walls. The husband said he was awakened by two men who broke into the house to rob his wife of money she had received from the sale of a farm. There was no evidence to substantiate this fact. As a bloody coupling pin was found under a rug the husband was arrested. The couple did not live happy together.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 101 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

Agents wanted in every town and county in the Dominion. $100 to $200 a month easily made For further particulars address

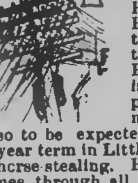
THE MYSTERIOUS HATCH.

THE ACCOMPLICE OF HOLMES FOUND IN JAIL.

He is Serving a Ten-Years' Sentence for Horse Stealing—He Will Tell Many Things about Holmes and His Nefarious Dealings—Latest Developments.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, July 30.



THE police now claim to have discovered the whereabouts of the much-sought-after Hatch, upon whom Holmes has thrown the responsibility for the safety of the two Pietzel children. He is, as was to be expected, a man of many aliases, and, as is also to be expected, is now serving a ten-year term in Little Rock Penitentiary for horse-stealing. He was as close to Holmes through all his murder plots as Janitor Quinlan, and is ready to tell all he knows. This includes the pointing out of the resting place of the Williams sisters, whom he himself assisted in secreting after they were murdered. He will tell how they were murdered, and exactly how their bodies were handled. He will also give full and explicit information concerning the murder of Pietzel and his two children, and implicate Holmes in other crimes. Two well known aliases of Hatch are Bond and Mascot.

SKELETONS AND HIDDEN VAULTS.

Chief Badenoch was asked if he believed the story told by M. G. Chappell, the articulator of skeletons.

"I have no choice but to believe it," he said. "The man gave us the most unmistakeable evidence of his familiarity with the premises by leading us straight to the hidden vaults and pointing them out to us. If he had not known all about them he could not possibly have done as he did. As to the skeletons, there no way on earth of proving their identity, but there are certain persons missing, and every thing points to the conclusion that they were disposed of in this house at 63rd and Wallace streets."

THIS WOMAN ESCAPED.

Mrs. Stowers, a washer-woman, who lives at 61st and Morgan streets, furnished the detectives with a new feature in the case. She said she used to wash for Holmes and for Mrs. Connors. Several times, she said, some of the latter's clothing was brought to her by Holmes. In 1991, she stated, Holmes came to her and urged her to take an insurance policy on her life for $10,000.

"Don't be afraid of me," Mrs. Strowers quotes Holmes as saying. You take out the policy and I'll give you $6,000 cash for it at once."

Mrs. Strowers' friends persuaded her not to do so, and she never talked with Holmes on the subject again.

HOWARD PITEZEL'S BODY.

WHEN IT IS FOUND THE PHILADELHHIA AUTHORITIES WILL DO SOMETHING.

PHILADELPHIA, July 31.—The Holmes case, so far as the energies of District Attorney Graham and his officials are concerned, had today a much needed rest, and matters appertaining to the notorious case are quite dead here. The District Attorney said that he had nothing new to impart. He stated he was waiting to learn of the whereabouts of young Howard Pitezel, living or dead, and until the fate of the child can be established he did not think the case complete. There is a suspicion that this lad, if located and alive, can tell several things that will enlighten the procecution, yet the reports of Detective Geyer, who has been spending weeks in his effort to locate the boy, failed to indicate that the lad is alive.

The District Attorney said that Detective Geyer was continuing his search in Indianapolis, and at last accounts was following up a clue that was the closest that had thus far favored the efforts of the Philadelphia authorities.

HATCH STILL MYSTERIOUS.

HE WON'T CONFESS HIS IDENTITY BUT HE WILL TELL OTHER THINGS.

CHICAGO, July 31.—A despatch to a local paper from Little Rock, Arkansas, says: Supt. McConnell said last night that Convict Allen stated to him during the evening that he declined to say whether or not his name was Hatch, but one thing was certain, that he was in possession of facts which would save the heirs of the Williams girls $10,00) and explain the whereabouts of the missing girl.

QUINLAN CONFESSES

THAT "HATCH" ALIAS "MASCOTT" WAS HOLMES' CONFIDENTIAL AGENT.

CHICAGO, July 31.—Pat Quinlan, under the questioning of Chief of Police Badenoch, has let the cat out of the bag by admitting that "Mascott" was H. H. Holmes' confidential man in Fort Worth, Texas, "Mascot" is the man the police have been looking for. Just a few minutes before, Quinlan, had stated that Allen, the man confined in the Little Rock, Ark., penitentiary for horse stealing, was Holmes' confidential man. The questions were piled faster and faster and Quinlan admitted that "Mascot" was the man who had been close to Holmes in Chicago and was his right hand man in Forth Worth. "He engineered all the big deals for him," said Quinlan. "I was not good enough for the fine work."

WILL GRANT HIM A PARDON.

Detective Rea, of Fort Worth, last night telegraphed that Allen is the much wanted "Mascott," and that he has given up valuable information. By agreement between States Attorney Kern, Mayor Swift, Chief Badenoch and Attorney Capp, who represents the heirs of the missing Minnie Williams, the latter will leave for Little Rock tonight with credentials and authority for granting him the power to represent the State of Illinois in requesting the absolute and permanent release of Allen from the Arkansas penitentiary, such immunity being granted on condition that he fasten the crime of murder on Holmes by unmistakeable and existing evidence in this city. Within ten days unless the present plans miscarry through some technicality or official disturbance, Allen will arrive in Chicago in custody of Attorney Capp and the proper officers of the law.

AFTER "HATCH'S" TESTIMONY.

CHICAGO POLICE WILL DO ANYTHING TO GET HOLMES CONVICTED.

CHICAGO, July 31—Arrangements were completed today for the taking of the testimony of John C. Allen, the little Rock Ark. convict, whose testimony is expected by the police to convict H. H. Holmes of murder. Attorney William Capp, of Fort Worth, Texas, who represents the heirs of the Williams girls and who discovered Allen's alleged connection with Holmes will leave for Little Rock tonight with promise of immunity for the convict. State Attorney Kern gave Lawyer Capp an agreement today which promises freedom from prosecution here for Allen providing his story will convict Holmes. Allen is to be released on parole and if his statements prove correct, Kern promises to do all possible to secure an unconditional pardon at Little Rock.

INTO OFFICE AND OUT.

Superannuations and Appointments in the Customs Department.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 31.—Thirty Customs officers were superannuated on the 12th of July. Besides the three men superannuated in Toronto, four in Hamilton, three in St. John, five in Halifax and two in Windsor, many superannuations have taken place in the smaller offices, among them Collector William Kirby, at Niagara; Joseph Schryer, at Fort Erie; John Brown, clerk at Amherstburg, and John D. King, of St. Thomas. George Smith has been appointed sub-collector at Southampton, Ont., and James Bogue special preventive officer at St. George, with a salary of $6000. Fred W. Shaw has been appointed sub-collector at St. Mary's, N.W.T., in place of Percy R. Neal, who is now serving a term in the penitentiary for defalcation.

Joseph R. Esmond has been appointed Deputy Collector Inland Revenue at Ottawa, vice J. M. Heney, superannuated after 28 years' service.

THEY ESCAPED DEATH.

CUBAN INSURGENTS CONDEMNED TO DEATH PARDONED.

General de Campos is Merciful—A War Ship With Arms and Ammunition Going to the Aid of the Rebels—The Cuban Rebellion Progresses.

Special to the Times.

HAVANA, July 31.—Before leaving Manzanillo for Cienfuegos, Cap. Gen. Martinez de Campos pardoned all of the political and war prisoners and ordered them to be set at liberty. The prisoners thus released include many who were under sentence to be shot, according to military laws and others had been condemned to imprisonment in the African colonies.

Detachments from the battalion of Estra Madura and the Pizarro squadron have had a skirmish with the insurgents while reconnoitering, on Mount Armonia, in the department of Santa Clara. The troops afterwards found one dead and two wounded insurgents on the field. It was badly stained with blood, and this leads to the belief that General Bermundez is seriously wounded.

A big expedition under command of Col. Enrique Collasp, is on its way to Cuba. After a trial trip, on which she developed 19 knots an hour, the ship was purchased and put to sea ten days ago.

A contingent of about 25 loyal Cubans, skilled as shipwrights, and experienced men of warsmen were shipped on another vessel and transferred to her on the high seas. Rapid firing four and six inch guns were purchased and these, with two Gatling guns, were sent out in the same vessel, and by the time the boat reaches Cuban waters she will have quite a formidable battery in position.

What is needed more than anything else by the insurgents is said to be aboard the vessel. There is said to have been loaded from this city 3,000 Remington rifles and 50,000 pounds of ammunition. Among those who are enrolled is a former officer of the United States navy and officer of the national guard and four or five men who served throughout the late civil war. The names of these people will not be made known until the vessel lands its men on Cuban soil. For obvious reasons, the name of the vessel has also been kept quiet,

As soon as the Cubans are recognized as belligerents by some foreign Government the vessel will be pursued by the insurgents. This recognition is expected from a South or Central America republic in a very few days. It is the purpose of those on the island to set up a provisional Government at Manzanillo or Bayamo, or some other point in a day or so.

NEW ZEALAND.

To Co-operate With Canada in the Cable Scheme.

Special to the Times.

WELLINGTON, July 31.—In the New Zealand Parliament today Colonial Treasurer J. G. Ward presented the annual financial statement, showing the estimated surplus of £9400 for the coming year. Mr. Ward announced that the government proposed to reduce the duties on tea, kerosene and other articles. He said it was also the intention of the government to subsidize the Vancouver steamship service in the amount of £20,000 annually and to co-operate with Canada in the Pacific cable scheme.

MOST INVALUABLE

The New Specific Remedy is being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Quebec, and of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favor of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appeared during the summer.

ELECTRICITY KILLED HIM.

A Current Passed Through the Body of Edward Maloney.

Special to The Times.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 31.—Edward Maloney, aged 23, was instantly killed this morning while at work in the power house of the electric light works by a current of electricity passing through his body. His companion who was standing beside him, was uninjured.

SHOT DEAD BY HER LOVER

A MONTREAL CIGAR-MAKER'S TERRIBLE CRIME.

Two Heart Broken Families—Sensation of the Hour in the Metropolis—A Respectable Girl Lured Away and Murdered in Cold Blood.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 31.—A horrible tragedy was enacted here this evening, resulting in the death of a young girl named Corinue Corsenni, 22 years old. The girl was shot dead by her lover in a fit of jealousy. The shooting took place at a private house, No. 19 Bonsecour street, where the girl lived. Isaac Gauthier, 23 years old, a cigar maker, by trade had been paying attention to the girl for some time and this evening made her a visit. Words ensued between them, and finally Gauthier in a fit of anger and shot at the woman. He fired four shots, the bullets taking effect in the head, chest and arms. The girl expired before she could be removed to the hospital. Gauthier was promptly arrested and confined in the police court to await examination before the court tomorrow. He refuses to make any statement as to the cause of the shooting.

PULLED HIS REVOLVER

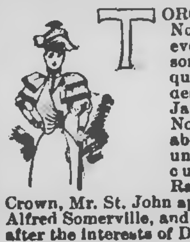
LATER — Israel Gauthier, the young man who killed the girl Celina Costigny this evening made a virtual confession to the police tonight that he had killed the girl in cold blood because he was intensely jealous of her. The particulars that have been gathered by the police divulge some startling facts. It appears that Gauthier, who is a young cigar-maker, living with his parents on St. Martin street, was engaged to be married to the girl, and the wedding would have taken place next Monday. This afternoon he called at the house of the girl's parents, who are highly respectable French people, living on Busby Lane, and took the girl out, explaining that they were going out for a walk. The couple repaired to a rendezvous on Bonsecour street and took a room where they retired and shortly afterwards revolver shots were heard and the people of the house going to the room found Gauthier brandishing a revolver over the girl's body, which was lying on the floor. The man had fired three shots into the girl, one of which in the head, must have caused instant death. The girl was nearly naked and was lying in a pool of blood, while blood covered the bed and room. The police were promptly on hand and arrested the murderer, who was removed to police headquarters. He declined to say anything until tonight when he admitted to the police he was jealous and that he had therefore killed the girl. The young woman was a very beautiful girl and her parents are heart-broken over the crime. Gauthier is acting like a demented being at the police headquarters tonight, scream and crying.

SOMERVILLE'S VERSION.

HE SAYS HE DID NOT KNOW MISS JAMES' CONDITION.

He Denies Any Guilt in the Matter—What Hewson Says Somerville Told Him—The Medical Evidence.

Special to the Times.



TORONTO, July 31.—At No. 3 police station last evening Coroner Johnson resumed the enquiry into the cause of death of the late Sarah James, who died at No. 49 Bellevue avenue, about a week ago, under suspicious circumstances. Mr. Raney represented the Crown, Mr. St. John appeared for the lover Alfred Somerville, and Mr. Waldron looked after the interests of Dr. Lehmann.

Alfred Somerville, the young man who was the cause of the girl's trouble, was the principal witness. Last saw deceased alive at Glencairn on July 7, when she was staying with his sister. She left for her home at Utica on the 9th, having to pass through Toronto. On July 12 he received a letter from her, saying she was staying in Toronto for a few days. On the 19th an unsigned telegram called him to Toronto, and he saw deceased at 49 Bellevue avenue. She said she had been very ill, and had to have an operation performed. Remained until she died, and went home on Monday. Told Hewson he did not think doctors cared what became of a patient as long as they got their money.

To Mr. Raney—Sadie told him before she died that she was pregnant. Knew two doctors at Creemore, but never assisted one of them to nurse a patient suffering from a miscarriage, nor never told anybody he did. Admitted having been intimate with deceased, but never told Hewson he would like to wring the doctors heart out. Never knew deceased had consulted a doctor in the country.

To Mr. St John—Never gave deceased any money, nor paid the doctor a cent. Told Hewson deceased paid the doctor $35 or $40.

WHAT HEWSON SAYS.

George A. Hewson, 71 Palmerston avenue, knew deceased. Drove Somerville to the depot on the morning she died. Somerville said he would like to wring the doctor's heart out for not treating the girl properly. He said the doctor had been paid $40 before he did anything for deceased, and that in a similar case at Creemore he had helped a doctor nurse the girl.

Dr. F. E. King and Dr. Fred Fenton gave medical testimony. Both agreed that deceased died of blood poisoning. The former was sure the child was dead before she came to Toronto. Dr. Fenton said every organ was affected by the blood poisoning, and there was no means of knowing whether a criminal operation had been performed or not.

The inquest will be resumed this evening.

The Owen Electric Belt

Trade Mark--Dr. Owen

The only scientific and practical Electric Belt made, for general use, having batteries that generate a strong current of Electricity that is under perfect control and can be applied to any part of the body, for the cure of

Nervous Diseases

Thousands of people suffer from a variety of Nervous Diseases, such as Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Lost Manhood, etc., that the old modes of treatment fail to cure. There is a loss of nerve force or power that cannot be restored by any medical treatment, and any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is pursuing a dangerous practice. Properly treated, these diseases can be

Positively Cured

Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Suspensory, will most assuredly do so. It is the only known power that will supply what is lacking, namely nerve force or power, impart tone and vigor to the organs and arouse to healthy action the whole nervous system. It will most assuredly cure,

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 1 1895.

To-day marks an epoch in the progress of the territories of the west. The first industrial fair opens in Regina.

Possibly Holmes threw the Haymarket bombs and drove the famous white horse of the Cronin case.

As a fictionist, Rider Haggard isn't to be compared with Holmes and the Chicago press correspondents.

The Chicago police have not yet discovered indisputable evidence that Holmes was implicated in the assassination of Stambuloff.

Hogtown proposes to give Hayhurst a "reception." It will probably consist of an invitation to remain in that delightful place long enough to spend his prize money.

The Gatling gun is likely to be shortly superseded by a new invention which fires more rapidly and with more accurate aim. If these vast improvements in weapons continue, the battles of the future will be short, sharp and decisive for both sides will likely be entirely annihilated in double-quick time. This may rob war of its glories, but not of its horrors.

The great banking house of the Barings, whose disastrous failure in 1890 caused widespread ruin, is rapidly regaining its lost fortunes. In the first half of the last century a German, named John Baring, founded this celebrated house at Exeter, England, and one hundred and twenty-five years ago his sons established themselves in London. The Barings had a high standing before the Rothschilds were known, and until the crash unexpectedly came five years ago, possessed the confidence of the financial world in no less degree than the Bank of Montreal does to-day. The resumption of business by this old banking house will be gratifying intelligence.

OTTAWA SEPARATE SCHOOLS.

We agree with the Toronto Telegram that the Ecclesiastical authorities were responsible for the condition of the Separate schools at Ottawa, and the commission of enquiry was appointed in response to the request of the trustees representing the Catholic people who were not fond enough of Separate schools to allow their children to grow up in ignorance their.

The report of that commission would have supplied opponents of Separate schools with a powerful argument if the commission had not been appointed at the instance of Roman Catholic supporters of Separate schools. As it is the report will show the dissatisfaction of the Roman Catholic laity with the education their children were receiving in the Ottawa Separate schools was more than justified.

The commission was not heartily assisted by the ecclesiastical authorities. The commissioners were at first refused admission to some schools which were afterwards opened to them. In the schools taught by the Christian Brothers whole classes of boys were unable to answer the simplest questions. The girls in the schools taught by the nuns made a better showing, but the findings of the commissioners, when proved, will completely vindicate the Separate School Board, and completely condemn the clerical authorities who have allowed the Ottawa Separate schools to become thoroughly inefficient.

THE SUN IS ALWAYS SHINING.

If storm clouds gather on life's way,
  No use to fret about it;
In other climes the sun still shines;
  'Twere foolishness to doubt it;
And though it be so dark that we
  Can see no silver lining,
This truth we know, for it is so,
  The sun is always shining.

And if the night falls dark and drear,
  Take courage in believing
That morning light will soon appear;
  There is no use in grieving.
And though sometimes we cannot see
  "The cloud with silver lining,"
We know 'tis true, in other blue,
  Somewhere the sun is shining.

The orb of day sails on its way,
  The storms are all below it;
It needs no sage to turn the page,
  And read this truth—we know it!
Then let us bear of life our share,
  And try to cease repining;
This truth we know, through joy or woe;
  God's sun is always shining.

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own class, but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

A DAY DREAM.

I can see her now, how plainly to my memory comes the sight
Of that sweet old wrinkled face, to me so dear;
Framed in curls that formed a halo of the softest, purest white;
Lighted up by eyes so tender, true and clear.
Oh, the wondrous tales she told,
Of the robber knights of old,
That used to fill my boyish soul with dread.
But she brushed away all fear
With each tangled lock of hair,
As she kissed and tucked me in my trundle bed.

What a tender, loving smile was always on that dear old face;
And what music did that thin, sweet voice employ;
What a world of consolation found I in that boundless grace,
That would let her see no evil in her boy.
Oh, how bountifully blessed,
Was the curly head that pressed
That bosom, as she crooned some quaint old song;
Gently rocking to and fro
In the evening's firelight glow,
Safely shielded from all chance of harm or wrong.

Many years have come and gone since I saw that dear old face;
Many years of toil and blessing, pain and joy;
But there always will remain within my heart a tender place,
For that guardian angel to a wayward boy.
Little prayers learned at her knee,
Little stories told to me,
In those early days, come crowding back the while;
And, oh, what would I not give
O'er those days again to live,
Basking in my dear old granny's tender smile.

HE WAS A GENTLEMAN.

A few years ago one of the leading citizens of Buster City, the county seat of Buster county, Texas, got on a big drunk, began to shoot up things and raise old Nick generally. Even in those days this sort of thing had gone out of fashion, and the county sheriff attempted to arrest the disturber. Result: The sheriff killed the leading citizen, and the leading citizen killed the sheriff, causing a vacancy in the sheriff's office. This brought along a new sheriff and a new deputy sheriff.

The deputy was a good man and a brave man. He knew how to use a gun, and had the courage to do so if necessary. He had the reputation of being a man with whom it was far better to use diplomacy than force. With all these qualities he had had no official experience, but of this he gained a great deal the first time he ever made an arrest. It happened this way:

Some miles from Buster City is a little collection of houses and stores known as Fishhook. A young man had come through there riding a horse of such good quality as to attract universal attention. He was anxious to sell the horse, and, moreover, was willing to sell at a price far below its real value. It was beyond anyone's comprehension why the man wanted to sell at such a price, unless he had stolen the horse. Hence, the citizens of Fishhook rallied together and took him in charge as a horsethief, put him under guard and sent word down to Buster City by the boy who carried the daily mail for some one from the sheriff's office to come up, get the prisoner and take him to the county jail. In response to this message the new deputy rode over. He had a new horse, a new saddle that squeaked as he rode along, and a new six shooter—45-caliber, with carved ivory handle, slung rakishly over his right hip. He carried also a grim pair of handcuffs that were not new, but serviceable.

When he reached his destination he found the man he was after sitting in a chair in one of the stores, with a circle of stern, Winchester-bearing Fishhookers sitting all around him. The man had on good clothes, and did not look like at all a horsethief would be supposed to look.

The deputy told him he would be obliged to come along, and to put his hands so he could put the handcuffs on. The man turned pale when he heard this, and especially when he saw the cruel irons. Said he:

"I'm a stranger here charged with being a criminal. I am innocent and hence more than willing to go with you, as my innocence can readily be proven. I profess to be a gentleman, and would like to be treated as one. Put me on the slowest old horse you can find, have me ride in front all the way. You are armed, I am unarmed, hence I couldn't escape if I wanted to. For God's sake, though, don't disgrace me by taking me through the country with those things on me!"

The man's looks, his earnestness and his horror of the handcuffs impressed the deputy, and he felt very much like relenting, but he didn't. It was his first arrest, and it behooved him to be careful. Duty was duty and it wouldn't do to take chances. So he snapped the handcuffs on the man's wrists and led him out. Both mounted their horses, the prisoner with some considerable difficulty bound as he was, and the deputy tied one end of a rope to the bits of his own horse and the other end to the bits of the horse supposed to have been stolen. Together they rode away, the prisoner riding on the right. If the deputy had known his business better he would not have allowed the prisoner to ride on that side, next to the new six-shooter. He doesn't allow prisoners to ride that way now.

The road was long, uninteresting and very sandy. Their progress was necessarily slow and they went along for some time in silence side by side. Now, the deputy was a sociable, kindly man, who loved to talk and be talked to, and he stood it as long as he could, but finally opened up a conversation and his companion responded. The prisoner turned out to be a marvel. He could talk about anything and talk knowingly. He told stories and experiences, novel and interesting.

So they rode on together, meeting a few people, who looked at them curiously, until finally they entered a long, straight stretch of road between two high barbed wire fences. Open fields were on either side, and not a human being in sight. Over to the left, low in the air, a few buzzards were circling lazily.

"I wonder what those buzzards are after," casually remarked the prisoner, nodding his head in that direction, and the deputy looked over at them. This was the climax of the deputy's errors. For awhile he looked away, quicker than you could say "scat," easily and gently the prisoner leaned over and with his bound hands snaked the beautiful, new ivory-handled six-shooter from its holster, and when the deputy looked around he

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., July 30.—Mrs. Alex. Campbell, of Montague, gave birth to five daughters on the 28th of July. Her husband is a tailor and in his 84th year.

AGED 100 AND MAKES HIS OWN CLOTHES.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I. July 30.—John Robertson, aged 100, a tailor at Montague, has cut and made for himself a vest and a pair of trousers.

GAVE UP ITS DEAD.

Bodies of Two Victims of the Ottawa Drowning Accident Recovered.

Special to the Times.

AYLMER, Que., July 30.—The body of Alex. Brophy, one of the four who were drowned on Friday last, was found this morning at 9.30 near Blue Berry Point, about half a mile from his home and about ten miles from where the accident occurred. He was found by his uncle, John Brophy, who was walking along the shore. The body of Walter Brophy was found at 11 o'clock about two miles further. Search is still continued for the other two.

The Disabled Aurania.

NEW YORK, July 30.—The steamer Salle from Bremen, passed the disabled Cunarder Aurania on the 27th. The Aurania's engines had been damaged. She refused assistance.

Outraged and Murdered.

MONTREAL, July 30.—The body of an unknown but well dressed woman has been found in the woods near Laprarie, opposite here. It is supposed she has been outraged and murdered.

Electric Boat Burned.

BRANTFORD, July 30. — The electric launch, which has been running since the first of July on the canal, was burnt to the waters edge last night. The fire is supposed to have started from the storage battery. Loss about $1,000; insured in the Guardian Insurance Company for $700.

'Twas a Canard.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Telegrams received at the War Department from the seat of Indian troubles are of an encouraging nature. The denial of the massacre at Jackson's Hole is followed by further reports of a pacific nature.

A Ticket Agent Disappears.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 30.—H. E. Schaeffer, ticket agent at the New York Central's North Tonawanda station, has disappeared, leaving his wife and several creditors. A shortage was found in his accounts, but this he made good before he went away.

The Durant Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—When the Durant case was resumed today the defence asked for an injunction to prevent the production of the play "The Crime of a Century," supposed to have for its basis the Emmanuel Church murders. The prosecution joined in the request, and the court granted it. The examination of the talesmen for jurors was then resumed.

Mrs. Corbett's Divorce.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Referee Jacobs, in his report on the suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Ollie Corbett against her husband, James J. Corbett, the pugilist, finds Mrs. Corbett entitled to a divorce, and recommends that the agreement entered into by her and her husband at the time of their separation, by which he agreed to pay her one hundred dollars a week for life be continued.

Betting on Coming Fights.

NEW ORLEANS, July 30. The betting tonight on the coming prize ring contests, which are scheduled to take place in Dallas, Tex., in November, is as follows: 4 to 6 on Corbett, 5 to 4 on Fitzsimmons, 6 to 7 on O'Donnell, 7 to 8 on Maher, 4 to 5 on Ryan, 5 to 6 on Smith, 4 to 5 that the Corbett Fitzsimmons contest does not last 20 rounds. No direct odds, 4 to 5 either man wins.

Combinations—5 to 1, with Corbett in, to win; 8 to 1, with Fitzsimmons in, to win; 3 to 1, the contest takes place in Texas. The betting changes daily.

The Pugs Indifferent.

NEW YORK, July 30.—In reference to the proclamation against the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight issued by Governor Culbertson, of Texas, on Saturday, Corbett said last night that he had received no official information on the subject, and until he did he should be very much inclined to doubt the accuracy of the news. When asked what he would do if the rumor proved to be correct, he said: "I am under contract to Dan Stewart and Joe Vendig, of the Florida Athletic Club and will abide by their instructions." Fitzsimmons showed no particular concern when told of the action of the Governor of Texas, and in reply to the question what he intended to do about it, replied that he was confident the fight would come off all right, and that he did not intend to trouble himself further about the matter.

Bird Foods Explained . . .

SAY! DO YOU KNOW That much of the seed sold is poor stuff, unfit for Bird Food, save to destroy song and endanger life. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage use Cottam's Bird Seed. We put up no less than six different brands of Bird Seed, all equal in value to anything of the kind in the market, but all very much inferior to Cottam's Bird Seed. C.B.S. is acknowledged to be the very best. WHY? For explanation read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods, price 25 cents. C.B.S. is sold by all the best grocers; only 10 cents per package, but really worth 15 cents, as each packet contains 16 ounces of choice Bird Seed and a 5 cent cake of our patent Bird Bread. HE WAS A GENTLEMAN.

could see a blaze in the glistening eyes. On they came, hussars, lancers, dragoons, with all the pomp and glory and magnificence of war mingled with the mystery of the world unknown. There rode Major Halket. His proud, handsome face set firmly and unflinchingly, his sword clinched in his hand, as it was found next day when they raised his body from the blood-soaked soil. Then came Lord Fitzgibbon. You knew him, Lang, and so did I, since as children we played together in the green woods of Mount Shannon. He was pointing a shadowy finger ahead, and his attitude was as if he was calling to his hussars following close behind. As he dashed by he recognized me, and a sad, oh! what a sad smile, flitted across the pallid face for an instant as he tossed a last farewell to me, in his careless, boyish style, and disappeared into the mist. Next came Pigott, the Lovelace of the Seventeenth. The same serene light in those eyes that had broken many a maiden's heart in the drawing-rooms of Belgravia. And Hackett—Hackett of the Fifth—"the saint," as we of the First Royals used to call him, that upright, God-fearing, great-hearted man, whose name was called on the muster roll of heaven ere the sun set next day. His eyes were now fixed on the murky sky above, his face bore the calm, assured, expectant look that Jerome must have worn at the stake. He was galloping far in advance of his men, as if anxious to obtain his recompense. In a flash he disappeared into the dark.

The gusts of icy winds accompanying the rush of the phantoms were now declining in their force, the rumbling noise that had risen to the roar of a temptest during their progress past was now quieting down. As the last line of charging horse passed from my sight I saw a shadowy lieutenant of the Guards beside me. He pointed in the direction whither they had gone, a scornful smile was on his spectral face. His hollow voice echoed tauntingly in my ear:

" 'So Major Hurst, of the First Royals, prefers discretion to valor because he belongs to the heavy and not to the light brigade!"

"I aimed a blow at my traducer, but my hand only struck into the empty air. "He laughed a mocking laugh, and again pointing down the valley said, 'Go!'

"The warm nose of my horse, who had returned, was pressing against my hand.

" 'I will show you that at least one of the "heavies" can do as well as the men of the light brigade!' I cried, jumping into the saddle and galloping off after the vanished cavalry. I felt like one bereft of his senses. I galloped on and on in the dark until I saw again the white streak approaching me in a contrary direction and the rumbling echoing in the roar. A second and it burst upon my sight. But what a change! Horses, riderless, terrified, wounded, maddened with excitement. Not a single form of soldier passed. Riderless horses! Riderless horses! Riderless horses! Here and there opaque spots upon the shadowy saddles, showing where human blood had rushed down. I drew aside from the apparent stampede of ghostly steeds and waited. Then I saw another white streak approaching. It came nearer! It was upon me! The fur caps, the long riding coats, the leggings, the long lances, and, above all, the superb horsemanship displayed told me that they were the Cossacks of the czar. But their faces were as rigid as the dead. Instead of their habitual yells, in victory or defeat, not a sound escaped from the tightly closed lips. As I gazed like a man walking in his sleep I saw one of the silent host bearing full upon me, his lance in rest, his cold, dead eyes holding me transfixed so that I could not move a limb. I felt my charger tremble beneath me, but he never made an effort to break away. A moment more and a pang shot through my heart. Then all seemed dark, save for an occasional star shooting by. The stars increased in number; then more and more, until they formed a disk like the full moon, that again was transfigured into a sun, whose intense light almost blinded me. I struggled to place my hands over my eyes, and as I did so I heard a voice above me say:

" 'He's coming to. My! but it was a close call.'

"I opened my eyes, I was lying swathed in blankets in the tent of one of the boys of the Ninety-third. My limbs and body were tingling from recent friction, and five bearded faces were peering anxiously into my half-opened eyes.

"I recognized Heathcoate. Poor Heathcoate that was afterward killed at Delhi, just after being gazetted as colonel for his gallant corps.

" 'Why, old man,' he said, joyfully, 'you were near saving the Russians a job! I found you lying stiff and stark near the Grodno road, as our boys came along to help the Twenty-sixth drive back the attack on the outposts. We brought you here and have had a big job getting you round. It's a wonder you are not minus toes and fingers, but there's only the tip of your ear frozen.'

" 'And,' added my father, touching the uneven surface of his left ear, 'there is the mark where the Russian frost bit me,' but the vision I saw that night is, in view of the events of the following day, far more indelibly implanted in my memory."

An Inviting Prospect.

The Landlady—Yes, I have a piano in the house, but it won't be no worry to you.

The New Boarder—Oh, I don't expect to be worried by music. I am fond of it.

The L—Yes, but some people are such poor players that they do aggravate one.

The N. B.—That's true.

The L.—But my daughter won't trouble you that way; she can't play any yet; she's only learnin' and all she does is practices.—Boston Courier.

He Was All Right.

Aunt Cynthia (as her husband and nephew go out the door)—That's jess one reason I hate to bring Josiah to teown to visit any of his nephews. The very first night they allers take him out to see the sights of the city.

Her City Niece—Oh, don't worry, Aunty; he'll be all right.

Aunt Cynthia—Yes; but he allers has to bring his nephews home in a carriage.

Hard Times.

Old Woman (to undertaker)—Bad weather for us poor folk, sir, but very good for the likes of you. Undertaker (sadly)—Weather, indeed! What's the good of a cold winter to me, when we've got the new Sanitary Committee down our way? Would you believe it, lady, we had 197 less deaths last year in consequence! Call that business?

Your first experience in eating artichokes is that you are eating boiled pine cones.

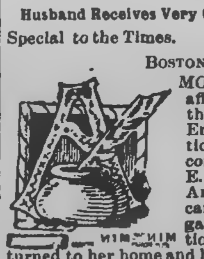
A DELEGATE MISSING.

HAS NOT BEEN HEARD FROM SINCE THE CONVENTION.

Went to Boston to the Christian Endeavor Convention From Arcadia, Nebraska—Her Husband Receives Very Curious Letters.

Special to the Times.

BOSTON, Mass., July 30.



MOST mysterious affair connected with the recent Christian Endeavor convention here has just come to light. Mrs. E. T. Gardiner, of Arcadia, Neb., who came here as a delegate to the convention, has not yet returned to her home and husband and child, and the report of her death here is not supported by the records of the Health Department or by anything else. Mrs. Gardiner is thirty-five years old. She has always been apparently healthy, and when her husband received from her a letter July 15 stating that she was about to die, he was astounded.

To that letter came a supplement, written by "Mr. J. Brown, of South Boston," whom neither Mr. Gardiner nor any one else knows, stating that the woman was dead and in the interest of economy her body would be buried here. Now the death registers bear no record of any such death and detectives employed by Mr. Gardiner have failed to find a trace of Mrs. Gardiner dead or alive.

It is assumed by some of those interested in the case that Mrs. Gardiner has been spirited away by thieves who were attracted by the large sum of money and considerable amount of jewelry she carried, while some believe she died and her body was secured for dissection purposes.

When Mrs. Gardiner was in Boston she did not stay with the rest of the Nebraska delegation at the regular headquarters but stayed with some friends who cannot now be found.

EMBEZZLED $20,000.

George Porter, Teller of the Bank of Montreal at Quebec, in Custody.

Special to the Times.

QUEBEC, July 30.—George Porter, teller of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, was arrested at his summer house, Isle of Orleans, for stealing from the bank here. The amount is said by some to be $20,000, which has been mostly recovered. A good deal of it was lost in speculation

Porter was drunk, had a revolver and resisted the provincial police, who made the arrest. Porter comes from Ontario and married the daughter of Chief of Police Vohl here.

BRITAIN'S CABINET.

First Meeting Since the General Elections of Salisbury's Ministry.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, July 30.—The first Cabinet meeting since the general elections was held at the Foreign Office at noon today. It was expected that the Speakership would be one of the subjects discussed. The Marquis of Salisbury presided and he and all the Cabinet Ministers were loudly cheered on arrival at the Foreign Office.

The following additional election returns have been received:

Donegal, East Division—Arthur O'Connor, McCarthyite, 3,393; E. T. Herdman, Unionist, 2,731. McCarthyite majority, 662. Mr. O'Connor, who is the sitting member, at the last election had a majority of 763, showing a loss of 101 votes.

Londonderry, south division—Thomas Lea, Unionist, 4,470; Dodd, Liberal, 4,018. Unionist majority, 452. Mr. Lea, who is the sitting member, had a majority of 504 at the last election, showing a loss of 91 votes.

A HUGE SERPENT.

Which is a Resident of Black Lake, Megantic, Quebec.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, July 30.—At Black Lake, Megantic, Que., a huge snake, showing its head and 20 feet of body above water, has been seen by over a dozen people within the last month. Louis Cyr, the strong man, and J. B. Clearihew are prepared to make an oath to its presence. Cyr was in a boat and the monster appeared above water. It crossed the lake, one and one half miles, in less than three minutes, and churned the water to foam. Again on July 19 Clearihew saw it. All boats are kept ready and in case of reappearance miners here will make an effort to capture it. The testimony that the serpent exists is unimpeachable. Black Lake is in Megantic county and is the milling center for asbestos working near Maine boundary not far from short line C.P.R. route to St. John.

TARRED AND FEATHERED.

Outrageous Conduct of Villagers Towards a Woman.

Special to the Times.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., July 31.—Jayville, a village on the fringe of the Adirondack forest above Carthage, has been the scene of an assault on a frail woman in an outrageous manner. Some time ago John Pekirch and Mrs. Bert Covey of Jayville eloped from that place; neither was heard of till Saturday when Mrs. Covey suddenly returned. On Sunday three men called on her and told her that if she did not leave the place she would be tarred and feathered. She went to Pitacairn on Monday and swore out a warrant for the arrest of the three men who had threatened her. In the evening she retured home. When the train stopped at Jayville and the woman stepped off the platform she was suddenly surrounded by a crowd of men who seized her and took her into the railroad freight shed where they stripped her off her clothing. There was a crowd of women present dressed in men's clothes with blackened faces. The men held the poor woman down on the floor while the women applied the tar and feathers with a paint brush completely covering her with the stuff, after which they left her. She was taken to her mother's house where a physician was called who found that one arm and a number of ribs were broken. All the parties concerned it is claimed, are known and warrants will be sworn out for their arrest.

COLOSSAL FORTUNES.

SOME RICH MEN WHO LIVE IN THE OLD WORLD.

India and China Regions of Vast and Hidden Wealth—The Duke of Cumberland Measures His Plate by the Ton—Some Rich German Noblemen,

The death of the Russian Privy Councillor, Theodore Ballewski, serves to recall how very little is known even in England, of the existence in the Old World of millionaires beside whose wealth even that of the Goulds, Rockefellers, the Vanderbilts and the Astors sinks into comparative insignificance. True, it is wealth that is not so extensively advertised in the public press as that of the great American millionaires, and hence is but little heard of outside of their own country.

But we doubt if there is any American or English millionaire whose riches are so boundless as, for instance, those of M. Bazilewski. His fortune was simply incalculable, and his gold mines in Siberia, which have been in his family for generations, and are famous for the richness of their ore, constitute only a portion of the estate that he has left to his brother, each of his four sisters receiving huge legacies, and nothing being left to his divorced wife, who was the cause of such a sensational law suit at St. Petersburg and Paris some fifteen years ago. Most of the large sturgeon fisheries in Russia belonged to him, and his estates in Cranburg and Smolensk are of the size of kingdoms.

Equally inexhaustible and incalculable is the wealth of the Demindoffs, which also consists in great part of mining property, this house enjoying almost the monopoly of malachite and lapis lazuli, besides possessing gold and silver mines in Russia of great richness.

Then, too, there are the Yousoupoffs, who control almost the entire output of turquoise in the world, this, however, being merely an incidental feature of the many resources of revenue of the Princess, who is now the sole heiress of the property. Her husband, who has been permitted by the Czar to assume her name and title, is descended in the third generation from a Philadelphian named Elton, who entered the service of the Czar Paul at the close of the last century.

Little is known of the extent of the wealth of the late Archduke Albert, whose estates comprise a goodly portion of the entire Empire, and who owned something like 50 per cent. of all the big manufactories and industrial establishments in the dominion of his nephew, Emperor Francis Joseph.

In this case, as in that of the Russian arch-millionaires, it is literally impossible to calculate the fortune of the Archduke with any degree of precision, since a portion consists of mine property. But equally incalculable is the fortune of the Czar of Russia, which has been variously estimated at from $500,000,000 to $900,000,000 and the income from which is about $20,000,000 per annum. But this is probably below the actual figure, and it must be borne in mind that among the personal estates of Emperor Nicholas are huge tracts of territory as big as the State of New York, and abounding in mineral wealth which is yet only in the early stages of development.

Then, too, think of that Anlgo-Hanoverian Prince who bears the title of the Duke of Cumberland, and who is the de jure sovereign of the Duchy of Brunswick. His wealth is so great that he measures his family plate, his silver and gold dinner services, etc., not by the hundred weight, as ordinary millionaires do, or by the ounce, as do people of small fortune, but by the ton, and on his last visit to England for a three-months' stay he brought along with him just fourteen tons—long tons at that—of plate for temporary use.

There are some German noblemen, especially in Silesia, such as the Prince of Pless, Prince Puckler, and Count Henckel-Donnersmarck, whose revenues exceed even those of the English Duke of Westminster, who has an ever-increasing income of about $8,000,000 a year, and whose one dread is that he and his family are doomed to die in a poor house.

During a few days that preceded the official deposition of Khedive Ismail and after he had received private intimations from Constantinople of the fate that was in store for him, long trains of ammunition wagons loaded with specie and precious stones made their way across the desert from Cairo to Suez by night under strong escort of personal guards of the Khedive. It is estimated that he carried away with him $100,000,000 on that occasion—that in addition to the property which he had already intrusted for safekeeping to various European banks and in addition also to the enormous landed estates, which the Egyptian Government subsequently purchased from him at a cost of $15,000,000.

This fortune represented the fruits of eighteen years of cruel exaction and wholesale confiscation. For in those days whenever a man became rich in Egypt he was sure to be found guilty of some imaginary offense that furnished a pretext for the seizure and absorption of his property by the Khedive.

Nor has any one probably any idea of the vast wealth that lies concealed in Asia, particularly in India and China, the reason for this being that Orientals have no confidence in banks, and prefer to conceal rather than to boast of the possession of wealth. As a general rule it is buried beneath the ground, and the only evidences thereof that are to be seen are the jewels which the owners occasionally wear and their estates.

One old Chinaman, Wam Po, who was Russian Consul at Singapore, was known to possess in land alone and in visible property a fortune to the amount of $30,000,000.

"Do you think," he asked "that there is any truth in the saying, "All the world loves a lover?" "Why, of course," she replied; "that's one of the things we take for granted." "I'm glad to hear you say so. You know I have always told you that you are all the world to me."

Chollie—Baw Jove, do you know, I think I'll be cwemated when I'm dead. Miss Figg—Why, Mr. Lytewayte? Chollie—Just fancy, now, a fellow being in a grave for a year or so, and then dug up again for some purpose or another. Don't you see, his clothes would be all out of fashion by that time?

Underhill—Doctor, how can sleeplessness be cured?

Doctor—Well, the patient should count slowly, and in a meditative manner, 500, and then—

Underhill—That's all very nice, doctor, but the baby can't count.—Pearson's Weekly.

Weak and Nervous

Whenever the body has been weakened by disease, it should be built up by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read this:

Wedding Bells.

St. Martin Church, Ennismore, was the scene of a happy event on Monday evening when Mr. Daniel Hickson was united in marriage to Miss Ellen Crough, third daughter of Mr. Patrick Crough, J. P. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. J. McColl, Parish Priest, in the presence of a large gathering of intimate friends. Miss Alice Crough, sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Thomas Hickson, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hickson will reside in Ennismore.

A Large Pilgrimage.

Another large pilgrimage to the shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre passed through the city today says a despatch from Montreal. There was no less than 3,500 pilgrims, under the immediate supervision of his Grace Archbishop Cleary and the Rev. Abbe Stanton and others. The pilgrims had been recruited from all parts of the Province of Ontario. It took four special trains to convey the passengers to their destination. In order to avoid a repetition of the Craig's Road disaster, none of the trains were allowed to proceed before the head train was at least one station ahead of the other.

A Saturday Night Trip.

On Saturday the City of Peterborough will inaugurate a new trip down the river, the boat leaving at 7.30 in the evening and calling at Jubilee and Idyl Wyld, giving the passengers the choice of stopping at either of these beautiful resorts over Sunday. On the return trip the boat will leave Harwood and call at Jubilee and Idyl Wyld, reaching Peterborough at 8 o'clock on Monday morning. Tickets for the round trip, including meals, and room for two nights have been placed at $1 50 and can be secured at this office up to 12 o'clock Saturday. It is intended to make this a popular outing and no doubt it will be much appreciated. No pains or expense will be spared by the manager of the steamer or hotels to add to the comfort and enjoyment of guests.

Conductor's Excursion.

The Order of Railway Conductor's which includes in its membership the conductors on the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways, held their annual excursion yesterday to Niagara Falls, taking the magnificent steamships, the Chippewa and Chicora. The conductors on the Canadian railways are noted for their courtesy and joviality, and the large number of their friends who went with the excursion were quite willing to acknowledge before the end of their trip that they were also gentlemen, everything being done to make the outing as entertaining and enjoyable as possible. On the return trip in the evening a very high sea was running, especially on the other side of the lake, owing to the strong wind blowing from the north, and several of the passengers were seasick, but every attention was paid them by the members of the order and their misery was soon relieved. The committee who made all arrangements were: C. Mitchell, chairman; C. Stuart, Treasurer, and A. Johns, secretary. They were also assisted in their duties yesterday by Mr. Thomas P. Charlton, Chief Engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, who was present as a delegate from that body.

THE ATHLETIC'S VICTORY.

The Ontarios of Port Hope Vanquished by Four Straight Goals.

The Athletic lacrosse club covered itself with glory yesterday by defeating their formidable rivals, the Ontarios, of Port Hope, by four straight goals. It was a signal and unexpected victory and proves conclusively that Peterborough has in the Athletics the strongest amateur lacrosse team in the midland district.

The Ontario's reached here yesterday accompanied by about 100 citizens of Port Hope. They were confident of victory, and their supporters showed their faith in the team by offering the odds of two to one that the Ontarios would win. They were accommodated by the friends of the Athletics and considerable money was put up.

The ball was faced at 2.30 o'clock on the Driving Park grounds. About 500 people were present. The weather was a trifle cool for the spectators but splendid for the players. Those who attended witnessed a splended game and one of the fastest ever played in Peterborough. The teams lined up as follows:

PETERBOROUGH.		PORT HOPE.
Dobbin	goal	Natrass
Borland	point	L. White
Green	cover point	J. White
Brown	1st defence	J. Foster
Joe McDonough	2nd "	M. White
Thompson	3rd "	T. Tuer
T. McDonough	centre	G. Tutton
Rubidge	3rd home	T. Burt
Hickey	2nd "	Coleman
Lipsett	1st "	M. Sullivan
Galley	outside "	J. Crowhurst
J. McDonough	inside "	P. Day
P. J. Doris	field captain	D. Hoey

Referee, H. LeBrun; Umpire, Sam Ray.

In less than an hour the Athletics succeeded in getting four straight goals. Their combination work was beautiful and excited the greatest admiration. The defence never did better work and the Ontarios found it an impossibility to get through it. The game was almost too fast to note the passage of the ball, but it was a gentlemanly game and the playing was not characterized by roughness. The goals were scored as follows:

WON BY	SCORED BY	TIME
Athletics	Galley	Eight minutes
Athletics	Galley	Ten minutes
Athletics	Lipsett	Ten minutes
Athletics	Lipsett	Twenty minutes

The excellent combination work of the Athletics was a surprise to their friends. For the Ontarios the Whites and Day did splendid work. Every man on the home team played a star game, and the boys are naturally exultant over the result.

The Athletics will play Millbrook on Friday and they feel confidant of being the victors.

WERE NOBLE WORDS.

The Designation the Grand Lodge Gives Wallace's Address.

The session of the Grand Orange Lodge reassembled at Halifax yesterday morning with a full attendance. Two and a half hours were spent in routine, when reports of committees were taken up.

The committee on the Grand Master's address congratulated the organization on the overwhelming defeat of the Home Rulers in Great Britain, and expressed the belief that the Home Rule movement would not be heard of again for a quarter of a century.

Referring to the Manitoba school question, regret was expressed that the Privy Council had reversed the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada, as that decision has raised a difficulty in this Dominion, the serious nature of which cannot be magnified.

"It is most unfavorable that in a country like Canada, consisting of a population widely diverse in race and creed, questions like these which arouse the very strongest passions of men, should arise, but being face to face with them it is our duty as citizens to grapple with them. We have a grave duty to perform—not only to ourselves, but also to posterity, as well, and animated by the glorious example of him whose name we bear and whose illustrious memory we reverence, let us do that duty manfully and well."

"As Orangemen we must ever stand by the principal of non-sectarian schools, in which the tenets of no particular church shall be taught, and our duty to Manitoba requires of us that we shall resent by every lawful means in our power the application towards her of any coercive measures which shall have for their object the restoration of that wretched system of education which the legislature of 1890 swept from her statute books.

"Being of this mind upon this subject, it is with no small degree of pride that your committee is able to point to the noble utterances of the Grand Master, in that portion of his address dealing with the Manitoba schools; but knowing as well as we do the Grand Master's principles, of his entire devotion to the principles of our order, his unflinching attitude upon this matter, regardless of the effect it may have upon his political position, it is no surprise to your committee, but only a matter of satisfaction, that the confidence, which is in common with that the Orangemen of Canada have ever reposed in him, has not been misplaced."

The report was adopted unanimously.

BICYCLE CLUB ORGANIZED.

A Good Start Made With Over Fifty Paid Up Members.

A meeting of the bicyclists of the town was held last night in the rooms of the Catholic Association, when it was decided to organise a club and secure club rooms.

The meeting was largely attended and the members enthusiastic. The two committees appointed at the last meeting brought in reports of such an encouraging nature, that it was felt the organization will be a success.

The committee delegated to interview bicyclists to find out how many would join the club and pay a membership fee of $5, brought in a list of over 50 names of paid up members. This was considered very encouraging.

The committee appointed to select rooms for the club recommended that the curling rink be secured if possible as they believed it more suitable than any of the various rooms they looked at. The club thought the recommendation an excellent one and added the names of Messrs. R. M. Dennistoun, R. Neil and R. D. Hamilton to this committee which was instructed to see the directors of the curling and skating rink company with a view to renting the rink building during the summer months.

THE ROAD RACE.

A committee was appointed to take charge of the road race which will take place on next Wednesday night. It will be a handicap event, so that green riders will have an opportunity of entering. The run will be to Lakefield and return, leaving the Court House park at 6.30. A suitable trophy will be given to the winner.

Mr. R. M. Dennistoun drew attention to the practice of "scorching" on the sidewalks, and said the club should do all in its power to have it stopped. The club will disapprove of this practice and the members will not indulge in it. There are a few bicyclists who persist in this dangerous work, but they are not members of the club, which, of course cannot restrain outsiders.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Monday night when the question of club rooms will be settled, and the executive officers elected.

Five young ladies, who were left in Fenelon Falls last evening by the steamer Crandella and had to hire a livery rig to reach Lindsay, are very much annoyed at the captain. They claim that they were at the wharf before 6.30, the hour for leaving, as the Howry & Sons' whistle sounded after the boat had left, and that they were going by Lindsay time, not by the captain's crazy timepiece. The young ladies were placed in a very embarassing predicament, and the least the captain can do in expiation of his ungallant conduct is to pay the livery bill.

WITH THE SPORTS.

It has been stated repeatedly that Thomas A. Edison had invented an electric attachment for propelling bicycles. The Wizard denies it.

"I know how the story started," he said to an Associated Press reporter the other day. "I have been experimenting with an attachment to a bicycle for my own personal use and for special conditions. My house in Llewellyn Park, Orange, is about one-sixth of a mile from my laboratory and 80 feet higher up on the mountain side. So, in order to save myself a heavy pull when I went home in the middle of the day, I designed a heavy spring, just large enough for the purpose, which was to be wound up by power from the laboratory engine, and attached to the bicycle before I started up the hill. I wanted this spring to supply most of the energy for the ascent. Of course, there is nothing electrical about it at all; it is a purely mechanical construction.

"The device is to be so arranged that when riding down the hill, or even on a level, the rider can at will throw the spring into gear, and by degrees wind it up to its limit. Then, when a hill is to be climed, or the rider wishes to stop working for a short distance on the level, he can turn on the power and let the spring give back some of the energy stored up in it. It can be arranged so that the spring can be wound up gradually, so as not to make pedaling much heavier when on the level, and should, I think, be of sufficient power to carry a rider a thousand feet or so on a good road with no up grade without his doing any work."

A large number of spectators witnessed the cricket match at Chicago yesterday between Mr. Hyman's Canadian eleven and the local Wanderers. One innings was played, the Canadians winning by the close margin of one run and one wicket. The score was 160 for 9 wickets to 159. For the winners, Laing scored 51 not out, Terry 31, Wardsworth, 16 and Pope 13.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail for 50 cents. THE SEA SERPENT Washed Ashore Near New York—Dead and Twenty-five Feet Long.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, July 31.—For several weeks past the officers and passengers on boats plying the sound have reported seeing a "sea serpent," and last night a dead snake twenty-five feet long floated down from the sound through Hell Gate. It went ashore on Blackwell's Island and was hauled out of the water there. It is 25 feet long, is said to greatly resemble a boa constrictor and is covered with scales. The snake's back was badly torn, and it had evidently been killed by the paddle wheel of a steamer.

A Race Riot in Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 31.—Further details of the race riot at Brookside state that in the battle between the whites and blacks last night, four negroes were shot dead. The battle waged fiercely for nearly two hours.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking of his beauties. He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 161 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

Agents wanted in every town and county in the Dominion. $100 to $200 a month easily made For further particulars address

HAD A COFFIN MADE.

HOLMES PROVIDED HIMSELF WITH A QUEER CASKET.

Latest Developments in the Case—Holmes Tells Another Story This Time Regarding Miss Cigrand—Hatch Wants a Pardon First.

Special to the Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—A newspaper man has had a talk with W. E. Carpenter, the man who made the famous box for Holmes in 1892. He was seen at his house at 7102 Greenwood avenue, and told the following story: "I was working on a house on 31st and Wentworth avenue in March, 1892, when a man came to me and asked me if I wanted a job. I went with him to Wallace and 63rd street, where he told me he wanted me to make an airtight box. He gave me the dimensions, 4 feet 6 inches long, 3 feet 8 inches wide, and the same in depth.

"I bought the pine, and took stuff into the alley at the rear of the house, and after cutting the lumber into the required length, carried it with the assistance of Pat Quinlan up the Wallace street side of the house to the third storey. There are three rooms on the 63rd street front. One was Holmes' office, and in it was a young woman with a typewriter. There was a vault in one corner.

"In the extreme west room I rigged up a bench, and planed the boards on it for the box. Holmes told me to make the box so that the sea air could not get into it, and I made it so that the cover would set in. It was also his request that the cover be so fixed that it would screw on.

"I worked for three days and then at his request, coated the inside of the box with tar. I helped him to fix the box over the vault, where he said he wanted to place some papers, and the last thing I did was to fix the box so that he could put handles on it himself. My bill was $20, and I never got it from him. I went to the place several times, but he always said he had no money. I got tired of going and quit.

"I haven't any idea why he wanted such a curious box, but I never asked him. Of course a body might have been put in it, and sent away, but the limbs would have had to be chopped up or separated from the body."

Carpenter described the building accurately, and also said that Holmes was working in the basement all of the time, and from the noise made he thought it was some kind of a factory.

CHICAGO POLICE FOOLED.

THEY HAVE PLENTY OF CLUES BUT NO DIRECT EVIDENCE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The police acknowledge today their complete defeat so far in their efforts to secure direct evidence of murder against H. H. Holmes. Dozens of promising clues have been carefully investigated; witness after witness, who was confidently expected to "tell all," has been examined without result, and at last the detectives are forced to admit that their efforts have been unavailing so far as real proof of guilt is concerned.

Inspector Fitzpatrick today said: "when we started on this case we knew it would be almost impossible to get any one who could positively connect Holmes with any case of murder, yet we thought it our duty to investigate and we have done the best we could. We believe several crimes have been committed and believe that Holmes and his confederates are guilty of several murders. So far we are unable to prove our belief. We have no evidence that would even cause an indictment against any one under suspicion if it were presented to the Grand Jury."

PRATT WAS HOLMES.

ANOTHER ALIAS UNDER WHICH THE MURDERER TRAVELLED.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug 1.—There is hardly a doubt but that the man "Pratt," mentioned in the recent Topeka despatch as having lived there, and H. H. Holmes are one and the same man, Allen. "Mascot," the convict in prison, says Holmes went by the name of Pratt in Texas. To a reporter Allen said: "A reporter who came out to see me last Friday had me wrongly reported as saying that Holmes came near swindling a Jew at Dennison. Pratt, that being the Texas name of Holmes, was afraid to go to Dennison and left me ten miles from there. This was early in May, 1884, and I have not seen him since. This man Cole, they speak about, I never heard of before. I was hoping this thing would be kept quiet. and I expected a reward of at least $10,000 would be offered for information clearing up the mystery about the Williams girls and that I would get it. That was why I wrote to Texas to find out what there would be in it for me if I told what I knew. I came right to Arkansas when I left Holmes. I was in Chicago a number of times before that, but never stayed there long. Today's papers say the Chicago people have collected evidence showing that both the Williams girls were killed. These detectives think they are slick. I see a couple of them are on their way here from Chicago to talk to me. Let them come. They will not get anything out of me. I know Pat Quinlan. He came to Fort Worth when Pratt (Holmes) and I were there, but would not take charge of things because of the shape they were in. Lyman (Pietzel) acted badly there. He drank a great deal and became infatuated with a dashing widow. Pratt had with him then a woman whom he called Jeanette. I knew all the time that his name was Holmes and knew that he had five or six living wives. I travelled a great deal with him and we both visited Hot Springs together. Holmes had the most winning ways towards women of any man I ever saw, and never mixed up with any that were not good looking. He was also mild-mannered, courteous and affable toward men."

There was a moment's pause and "Mascot" continued: "But I'm not going to tell what I know until the thing is fixed to suit me."

There is perhaps no manner of swindling that Allen is not familiar with. Some people believe he is now engaged in a slick attempt to gain liberty by bartering his knowledge of Holmes' criminal career—knowledge that may have to be taken after all with a grain of salt.

A WOMAN VISITOR.

THE MONOTONY OF HOLMES' PRISON LIFE SOMEWHAT RELIEVED.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1.—H. H. Holmes, the suspected murderer who has been confined in Moyamensing prison since November last, had the monotony of his confinement somewhat relieved during the past few days by the visits of a mysterious woman. Although not permitted to see him the visitor brings with her each day a basket of choice fruit or some other delicacy which she gives in charge of the jailer with a message to Holmes.

Who the woman is or where she came from is a matter that not even the astute jailer seemed to know, and the mystery regarding her actions had attracted the attention of the prison officials.

A DIAMOND FIGURED BEAUTY.

The strange visitor is described as about 28 years old, of prepossessing appearance and has a tall, willowy figure, dark hair and dark eyes. She dresses fashionably and has every appearance of culture and refinement. She wears about her neck a small golden locket and two of the fingers on the left hand are adorned with sparkling diamonds.

Several weeks ago the woman made a visit to the prison and surprised one of the keepers by asking to see the accused murderer. She was asked to give her name, but refused, and when informed that it was against the rules to permit any one to see the prisoner, she went away. Several days ago, however, she reappeared at the prison with the request that some delicacies be carried to Holmes' cell. When the officials assured her that her request would be carried out she appeared satisfied, and, thanking the keeper for his kindness, went quickly away.

DAILY VISITS TO THE PRISON.

Since that time she has daily visited the prison, always bringing something choice for Holmes, but never tarrying longer than to deliver the basket to the keeper and receiving the promise that it will be delivered over to the prisoner. She has been frequently observed coming and going from the jail by people in the neighborhood but all efforts to learn her identity have failed.

It was at first supposed that the woman was the arch conspirator's wife, but inquiry disclosed the fact that Mrs. Holmes had not been to see Holmes since her return to Philadelphia. It was said that a woman answering her description turned up in this city soon after Holmes was arrested, and that she came from Boston, but whether she is the same one cannot be ascertained.

A theory is that the woman is an old acquaintance of Holmes and proposes to stand by him to the end.

SMUGGLING OF TOBACCO.

Chinese Detected in the Trade by United States Officials.

Special to the Times.

MONTREAL, Aug. 1.—It is reported here that tobacco smuggling has been carried on between Montreal, Boston and New York for many months. The U. S. customs officials have been on close watch and they think they have a good case. Arrests are expected to follow. The scheme is operated between Lacolle, Stottsville and Rouse's Point. The tobacco comprising the Sumatra and Havana leaf, upon which the duty is $1.50 per pound, is purchased from large Montreal firms and is carried over the border in 50 pound packages on a railway tricycle. It was ascertained that the daring operator goes across the border to Rouse's Point twice each night. At Rouse's Point the tobacco is forwarded to Boston and New York by men in the league. The traffic has been successfully conducted for weeks and when arrests are made, two prominent French Canadians of Stottsville and also some prominent men of Rouse's Point, for co operation, will be in trouble. Indictments are now out and action may be taken at any time. Then the Chinamen who have been smuggled across have worked a paying game by wrapping leaf tobacco about their persons. Each man has been known to have from three to five pounds of tobacco wrapped around his body. After disposing of his tobacco the Chinaman has pretty well crossed Scott free.

FORTY-ONE CONVICTS

Will Be Released from Kingston Next Week—Some Torontonians.

Special to the Times.

KINGSTON, Aug 1.—Forty-one persons will be released from the Kingston Penitentiary next week. Of these the oldest is a colored man, Bower Dorsey, who was doing a five years' term for perjury in Toronto. The youngest on the list is a young man of sixteen years, who is in from Toronto for horse stealing. There are 20 of the prisoners who are 25 years of age or under, and four are 60 years old or over. The man who has served the most terms is only 22 years of age. He is from Woodstock and is doing his third term already.

STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE.

Mrs. C. Baker still Hunting for Her Missing Spouse.

Special to the Times.

DOWAGIAC, Aug. 1.—Mrs. C. T. Baker, whose husband disappeared while they were stopping at the Contential hotel, Buffalo, last week was not robbed by her husband, as some of the despatches state. She returned here yesterday, and declares that her husband took none of her money with him. Mrs. Baker has resided in Dowagiac for many years, being the widow of a union soldier by the name of Broket. Recently she disposed of her property in this city, and left for Jackson, Mich., with C. T. Baker, whom she married in that city, Saturday, July 20. The couple reached Buffalo Sunday morning, Wednesday afternoon Mr. Baker left the hotel to attend to some business, saying, "You will not go down to supper till I return." since which time he has not been seen. Mrs. Baker believes that he has been either dealt with foully or that he wandered away when partially deranged, as he had complained of his head for several days. Baker took none of the drafts which she had with her, amounting to $2,000 and left no bills for her to settle.

Guilty But in Self Defence.

KINGSTON, Aug. 1.—Judge Price yesterday heard the evidence in the charge against Robert Wycott, of Odessa, of causing the death of W. H. Castle on July 24th, by striking him with a baseball bat at Sydenham. The prisoner was convicted but in view of the circumstances, allowed his liberty on suspended sentence. It was shown that Wycott had acted solely in self defence.

Surrounded by Fire.

GLADSTONE, Mich. Aug.1—There is still much fire in this vicinity and the wind remains in the north, Maywood, a pleasure resort east of the city, has been swept by fire, and there is a rumor that Cook's station on the Soo line is surrounded by fire and that there is little hope of saving the place.

A Record on the Mergenthaler.

CINCINNATTI. Aug 1.—Chas. E. Poe, typesetter on the Mergenthaler machine yesterday, in 7 hours and 56 minutes' continuous work, turned out 76,800. The copy was carried to him and the slugs removed, This beat the record by 1,200 ems. Poe's performance is attested by trustworthy witnesses.

GAUTHIER'S LAME EXCUSE

HE SAYS HIS SWEETHEART ASKED HIM TO KILL HER.

They Went Out That Afternoon for the Purpose of Ending Both Their Lives But He Had no Bullets Left to Kill Himself With.

Special to The Times.

MONTREAL, Aug. 1.—Gauthier, the young man who killed his lover, Alma Consigny, in Montreal on Tuesday, was declared guilty of murder by the coroner's jury yesterday and sent to the Criminal Court to stand his trial. This is Gauthier's statement, which was given when asked what he had to say:

"I killed her myself, because she asked me to take her life. She said she had a disease that prevented her from marrying under any circumstances, and she also gave me that disease, the name of which I do not know. She said: "Since we cannot live together, you will kill me, and then kill yourself.' I killed her and then tried to commit suicide, but found that I had no more cartridges left. She spoke about this in the forenoon, and asked me to get a revolver, which I did, in St. James street, near Inspector. Before shooting the deceased, she said, 'We will marry in the other world,' and again I promised her that I would kill myself."

The evidence of the girl's family went to show, however, that deceased was as gay as possible when she left home at 2 o'clock, and never gave them to suspect that she was going to her end.

TRIED FOR MURDER ONCE BEFORE.

Lieutenants Bouchard and Watson recognized Gauthier as the young man who was arrested about eight years ago and tried for the murder of a farmer named Monteith on the lower Lachine road. The case was a celebrated one at the time. Gauthier and two other young men named Belanger and Therien went to Monteith's farm to steal apples. Monteith detected the thieves and ran after them. Being three to one, they showed fight, and the farmer, who had a pitchfork in his hands, ran at Gauthier, who drew a revolver and shot him. Monteith died a few days afterwards, and Gauthier was tried for murder, but was acquitted, his friends proving that he shot in self-defence.

SHORTAGE $40,000.

Bank Teller Porter's Arrest in the Ancient Capital.

Special to the Times.

QUEBEC, Aug., 1.—The leading officials of the Bank of Montreal in this city are somewhat reticent as to the details respecting the embezzlement of money by the paying teller, George Porter.

The latter is still in charge of the provincial police and will probably be brought to the police court this afternoon for hearing.

The amount of the embezzlement is now acknowledged to be between $40,000 and $45,000, but the bank officials expect to get most of the amount back. In fact they can now trace about $30,000 which will probably be returned.

The news of Porter's arrest was the talk of the town yesterday, as he was well known and very popular here. While at the bank he always enjoyed good reputation for punctuality and industry.

Mr. Macrae, the bank manager, laid the information against Porter, charging embezzlement. Judge Chauveau issued a warrant and Sergeant Burke of the provincial police made the arrest.

Porter was a dabbler in stocks and though at first things went his way, he eventually came to ruin.

It is celieved Porter would have shoot the policemen when arrested but for the fact that his wife had hidden his revolver.

GASCOYNE COMING.

Not so Drastic a Commander as General Herbert.

Special to the Times.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Colonel Gascoyne, of the Scots Guards, is the military man picked to succeed General Herbert in command of the Canadian militia. He proceeds to Canada very shortly. The Colonel's experience is practically confined to the militia here, and he is highly spoken of in military circles.

It is said here that probably he will not be so drastic as General Herbert in his conduct of affairs. Col. Gascoyne served with his corps through the Egyptian campaign, taking part in the battles of Tel-el-Kebir and Suakim. He is Deputy Adjutant General of the military district of London in the volunteer service, and has had a great deal of experience with the metropolitan volunteers. Col Gascoyne is a full Colonel of the Guards and has recently been recommended for promotion to a Major General.

STRIKERS BACK AT WORK.

Nearly Half of the Tailors Who Went Out in New York Return.

Special to the Times.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Four thousand seven hundred of the 16,000 strikers who went out last Sunday and Monday in the Metropolitan district are again busy at work. It is said the strike may become national. Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Utica, Syracuse, Buffalo, Cincinnati and Chicago are all large clothing markets, where many thousands of workers are employed, and the large majority of them are organized.

DIED IN ENGLAND.

Dr. J. H. McConnel Passes Away While on a Visit to the Old Land.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Aug. 1.—A cable from England to the head office of the Foresters this afternoon brings news that Dr. John H. McConnell, of Dundas street, Toronto, had died there. He went over on the recent Foresters' excursion.

Killed Because he was Slow.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug, 1.—Last night at Potts Camp, Miss., Joel Gattin, a politician, shot and killed E. West, a telegraph operator for not hurrying satisfactorily in sending a message for election returns. No arrest has been made.

Over 1,000 Men Locked out.

PITTSBURG. Pa., Aug. 1.—Green glass manufacturers have declared a lock out in all union factories, affecting over 1,000 men.

The Owen Electric Belt

Trade Mark—Dr. Owen

The only scientific and practical Electric Belt made, for general use, having batteries that generate a strong current of Electricity that is under perfect control and can be applied to any part of the body, for the cure of

Nervous Diseases

Thousands of people suffer from a variety of Nervous Diseases, such as Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Lost Manhood, etc., that the old modes of treatment fail to cure. There is a loss of nerve force or power that cannot be restored by any medical treatment, and any doctor who would try to accomplish this by any kind of drugs is pursuing a dangerous practice. Properly treated, these diseases can be

Positively Cured

Electricity, as applied by the Owen Electric Belt and Suspensory, will most assuredly do so. It is the only known power that will supply what is lacking, namely nerve force or power, impart tone and vigor to the organs and arouse to healthy action the whole nervous system. It will most assuredly cure,

The Times.

PETERBOROUGH, AUGUST 2 1895.

The Courier tells of a policy-writer who dealt in bogus drawings. He was simply doing in his humble way what his principals do on a stupendous scale.

A German chemist has discovered a method of making artificial musk, which cannot be distinguished from the real article, and perhaps somebody will soon discover a method of making artificial skunk odor.

Not many weeks ago the Duke of Argyle was reported to be dying. But as he has just entered for the third time into wedlock, marrying a girl 50 years younger than himself, it may be taken for granted that their's some life in the old man yet.

Justice is a queer thing. A Montreal dealer who cheated everyone of his customers out of a portion of the coal they paid for has been let off with a fine of $500; in this city, and perhaps in Montreal, a poor boy who would steal a basketful of coal from a railway car would get a term in jail.

According to a foreign correspondence the sinking fund is the great secret of Glasgow's success in financial management, and is applied to every enterprise under municipal control in the city. How well the city is managed by this device is shown by the fact that the liabilities are £8,000,000, and assets over £10,000,000, leaving a clear balance of over £2,000,000 to the good.

A commercial mission to China was recently organized by the Lyons Chamber of Commerce, acting in concert with the French government. Young men will be sent out at its expense for two years, first to Shanghai and then to the interior provinces, in order to make a thorough study of the best means for developing French trade with the Flowery Kingdom.

In the Roman Campagna the main scheme of drainage which is to reclaim vast tracts of agricultural land to free Rome from the malarial exhalations arising from the swamps has been carried out, and only works of secondary importance remain to be done. So far $1,500,000 have been spent on the work. The question of bringing the land under cultivation is already under consideration.

Up in Bruce county, J. L. Haycock, M. P. P. brought the tears to the eyes of the farmers by quoting these stirring words:

Lives of farmers oft reminds us,
  Honest toil don't stand a chance,
The more we toil we have behind us
  Bigger patches on our pants.

When the pocket of Mr. Haycock's trousers is swollen by the $600 which he wil receive for each of the four sessions in the term of his legislative life, there ought to be no patches on the classic exterior of these stylish garments.

The American dailies have big flare heads about the "Fight for Holmes," referring to the Ontario authorities' application for his extradition for murder. There is no fight for Holmes as far as Canada is concerned. All that is desired is that the murderer get his deserts with neatness and dispatch, with the accent on the dispatch. Americans admire our banking system and we wouldn't mind also giving them a prominent chance to admire our judicial system by deliberately, yet unexpeditiously, turning Holmes into a example of suspended animation.

THE TRILBY BUGABOO.

O Trilby! Trilby! Trilby!
  Pray grant us now a rest,
For with this Trilby-phobia
  Our souls are much distressed.
With Trilby teas and Trilby-sprees,
  And Trilby dinner-dances,
The famous Trilby feet have made
  Too many rude advances.

We meet "Svengalis" on the street
  On hypnotism bent,
And "Little Billies" everywhere,
  Lorn-eyed and innocent.
"The altogether" is the thing
  In real life as in fiction,
Till now it promises to be
  A positive infliction.

We've Trilby-servants, pro and con,
  And now a Trilby play;
The Trilby comic opera then
  Will follow by the way.
The Trilby foot chiropodists
  Are using as an ad.;
And as for swell society,
  It's gone quite Trilby mad.

So, Trilby! Trilby! Trilby!
  A little rest, we pray;
We'd like to keep it up for years,
  But we aren't built that way,
We've thought we "had 'em" oft' before
  With every fad and fake;
But Trilby was a fee-ure—gad!
  You surely take the cake.

The Stenographer Girl Had Sense.

When the head of the concern arrived at his office on the very cold morning his room was cold.

"Is the steam on?" he asked. The stenographer girl said it was.

"Ah! I see," he remarked. "The pipes are filled with cold air," and with that he unscrewed a small plug from one end of the radiator.

The cold air came whistling out and after came a trace of steam. "I'll wait till it heats up," he said.

The steam began to blow through the hole, so he started to screw the plug in again.

"Ouch! Gee! Thunderation!" he screamed as he danced around on one foot. The steam had scalded two of his fingers.

The radiator began "blowing off" like a locomotive, and spurting water across the carpet.

"Run for the janitor!" he yelled. "Somebody get that plug and put it in! Go tell the engineer!"

The room was clouding with vapor as he pawed around on the floor for the plug that had dropped while he burned his fingers.

"I can't find it," he gasped, as he jumped up again. "This is terrible. What can we do?"

The stenographer looked at him and calmly said: "Why not turn off the steam?"

BIGGEST DERRICK IN THE WORLD.

Has a Mast 99 Feet High and Has Lifted a Single Stone Weighing 57 Tons.

A piece of mechanism like which there is none other in the world, is the gigantic steel derrick at the C. E. Tayntor granite quarry, at Barre, Vt. The mast, which is ninety-nine feet high, stands higher than any similar one yet erected. Both the mast and the boom are built of heavy steel plates riveted together with hundreds of large bolts and stiffened with a number of trusses. The mast is sustained by guys running from the top to points averaging about two hundred feet distant and anchored to trees or great rings set into the granite ledge. The wire rope in the guys and other rigging would make a continuous line almost a mile in length, and the weight of the derrick, exclusive of rope, is about fifty thousand pounds.

The boom is seventy feet long and commands a large amount of working surface. None of the Barre granite quarries is deep; the tendency has always been to extend operations laterally instead of going down into the earth, so that the advantavge derived from the great length of boom is apparent.

The machine is operated by means of a powerful hoisting engine and all the workings are controlled by a single engineer. There are steam derricks at all the large quarries and granite manufacturing plants in Barre, but the power applies only to the lifting; the booms with their loads of stone, in every instance, are swung around by hand power.

At the foot of the Tayntor derrick, heavily planked over to protect it from flying stone when blasting out refuse granite, is the turning geer connected by a wire rope with the engine-house, where by means of a lever similar in its workings to the reversing lever on a locomotive, the engineer alone is able to lift from the bottom of the quarry, swing around to the side track and place upon a flat-car a block of granite weighing forty tons. The largest single piece of stone ever lifted from a quarry in America by means of a derrick was taken from this quarry and weighed fifty-seven and one-half tons.

The derrick has always been found equal to any strain put upon it, and has several times broken chain links nearly two inches in diameter. The company has an order for a granite shaft fifty-five feet in length which, in the rough, will weigh nearly one hundred tons. It is already partly quarried.

Good Advice.

"I believe I'll take off my flannels, observed one of the boys about the house when the first mild day came.

"You'd better stick to your flannels, my boy, said Uncle Allen, "until your flannels stick to you."—Chicago Tribune.

PROFITS.

Policyholders of the Sun Life Assurance Comyany of Canada receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. of the TOTAL surplus earned by the Company, and the stockholders the remaining six and two-thirds per cent. By this system the holders of participating policies receive ninety-three and one-third per cent. not only of the profits of their own class, but also of those earned by the non-participating policies. They thus have the protection of a large capital stock for a merely nominal sum.

On ordinary policies profits are divided every five years, counting in each case from the date of the policy. The method adopted is eminently fair to all parties, and is a modification of what is known as the "Contribution Plan." The profits may be taken in cash to be used in payment of premiums, or applied to the purchase of bonus additions to the sum assured.

On Reserve Dividend Policies the surplus, instead of being distributed every five years, is accumulated during the Reserve Dividend period, and the accumulation thus arising is distributed among those who have survived that term and have kept their policies in force. The profits paid during 1895, to those entitled to receive them, are the largest that have ever been paid by the Company and have seldom been equalled by any other Company.

Electrical Treatment

210 Cowan Ave., Toronto.

A. NORMAN, ESQ.

Dear Sir:—We think we ought to acknowledge in some way that may become public, the very great benefit our daughter has derived from the use of your Electro-Curative Belts, and your application of Electricity in the Bath and from Dry Treatment: When we brought her to you she was a picture of unhealthiness, her limbs were shriveled up, and as thin as limbs could be; she had no strength even to play with other children, in fact she was dying of consumption. Besides this, there was a hard lump on her spine at the nape of her neck, which caused her neck to be so stiff she could not move her head. Although it is only three months since we brought her to you she is sound and well

A Girl Who Insisted on Having Her Own Way.

Mrs. Barbara Best was one of the sweetest, most peculiar old ladies in the world. To begin with, she was very rich. That in itself was, perhaps, not so much of a peculiarity. But, then, she was spare and crooked and withered up like a crab apple which has hung too long on the tree, and she wore a little black satin cape and a cap trimmed with ribbon bows, such as were in fashion half a century ago, and she walked with a gold-headed cane, a la Fairy Godmother; and her eyes sparkled weirdly through gold spectacles, and her hands were covered with little knitted silk mitts. And as she sat by her drawing-room fire, drinking chocolate and talking with another witch-like little old woman, they made a very funny pair indeed.

"Yes," said Mrs. Barbara, nodding her head, "I couldn't endure it any longer. I told her she must either give up me or give up her everlasting dabbling in paint and varnish!"

"Dear! dear!" said Mrs. Fanshaw, the second witch-like little old woman. "A trifle more sugar in my chocolate, please, dear."

"For my part," observed Mrs. Barbara, "I don't know what the world is coming to. In my time, we used to leave that sort of work to the tradespeople. But Gladys had an odd notion about independence. And she inherited some of that artist-blood from her father's family. There's none of it in the Bests, I'm very sure."

"No, to be sure, not," said Mrs. Fanshaw.

"And I told Gladys plainly that I would not tolerate it," said Mrs. Barbara. "Choose between us," said I. "Be a lady or a grubbing artist, whichever suits you best. Because," said I, "if you don't consult my wishes I shall disinherit you and cast you off! I know of another young relation whom I can adopt, and who cares no more for art than I do for the Egyptian obelisk."

"And what did she say?" asked Mrs. Fanshaw, contendedly sipping her chocolate.

"She told me to do just as I pleased," answered Mrs. Barbara, in an aggrieved tone of voice. "Because, she said, she intended to take the same privilege."

"What shocking ingratitude!" commented Mrs. Fanshaw, heaving a deep sigh.

"Of course we parted good friends," said Mrs. Barbara. "But Gladys knows very well that I never shall see her again. If she has wrecked her own fortunes, she has only herself to thank for it."

"And where is she now?" asked Mrs. Fanshaw.

"In a studio, somewhere on Sixth avenue," solemnly answered Mrs. Barbara. "With a sign out: 'Art Salesroom,' and 'Painting and Decorating Done to Order.'"

"Did you ever!" said Mrs. Fanshaw.

And, by way of answer, Mrs. Barbara only groaned.

"But I like Lovel very well," she added. "He's a splendid young fellow, although I sometimes find his college bills high and his flow of spirits rather overwhelming. But he's a gentleman. A real Best!"

"Does he know about Gladys?" Mrs. Fanshaw asked, in a mysterious whisper.

"Certainly not," said Mrs. Barbara, "there is just enough of the Don Quixote about him to make him go to sea or take to verse-writing or some other preposterous business if he thought he was standing between Gladys and her fortune—which he isn't!" Mrs. Barbara added, with emphasis. "The money is mine, to leave to whom I please, and he is just as near a relation on the side of the Bests as Gladys is on the Maitlands!"

"Dear, dear, how silly young-folks are!" said Mrs. Fanshaw.

"All I want them to know is that I am not to be trifled with," said Mrs. Barbara, with the air of a Nero, in black satin and little corkscrew curls.

In truth Mr. Lovel Best was a very frank, loyal-natured, handsome young fellow. He liked Aunt Barbara because Aunt Barbara was kind to him, but he rallied her to her face, teased her parrot, made her pug bark, laughed at the stiff old portraits of the dead-and-gone Bests, that hung on the parlor walls, and kept astonishing her perpetually. But all the time Aunt Barbara knew that Lovel was fond of her in his heart, and it warmed her chill old pulses to hug this knowledge to her!

"He's a wild chap," she said to herself; "but he'll come out all right. The Bests always do, when they have had their fling. He has none of Gladys' obstinacy about him."

And Gladys? Well, that headstrong young votary of art lived on the least possible amount of money, and dreamed rapturously over her sketching-board. She had a very little money, which her mother had bequeathed her—about sufficient to rent the little studio and pay the gas and fuel bills.

"As for eating and drinking, what does that signify?" said Gladys.

So she taught a class daily in Miss Mincher's academy, to furnish the bread-and-cheese part of the business; and very tedious work she found it.

"But I shall sell some of my placques and vases soon," said she, hopefully.

She did not, however. To be a successful artist, one must have an appreciative public, and the public never came near poor Gladys Maitland. In vain she decorated the doorpost with signs; in vain she put out her prettiest paintings and most spirited sketches; nobody came to buy. The agencies represented themselves as overcrowded when Gladys came blushing in with specimens of her work, and our little heroine began to wonder how long this sort of thing was to endure.

SMOKING IN THE HOUS

ONE ROOM AT LEAST SHOULD BE FREE FROM ITS ODOR.

Women Tolerate the Fumes of Tobacco Because the Men of Their Hearts and Homes Like to Smoke, But They Would Much Rather They Did Not Smoke.

Women have various degrees of liking for the fumes of tobacco smoke. To some it is utterly reprehensible; others have a certain tolerance for it, while the majoriy will tell a man that they either like it, that they are really fond of the fumes of a good cigar, or that they have been "seasoned" and do not mind smoke. If the majority of women were to be truthful about the matter men would find that they have only a certain educated tolerance for it, based upon the knowledge that the men of their hearts and homes like to smoke, and so they put up with it as well as they can. In short, women tolerate tobacco smoke, for the most part, because they feel they have to. As a matter of fact the fumes of any cigar, no matter how good the brand, can be nothing else than instinctively distasteful to the sensitive organism of any woman. Women have a charming way of hiding their feelings in this matter, but the feeling is there just the same. All things being equal, that is, if the average wife knew her husband would be just as happy and contented without smoking as with it, she would prefer him without the smoking.

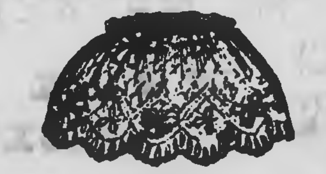
This being so, and it only admits of a fancied denial, it becomes men to regulate their smoking in the home. A man's idea of a home is a place where one room is the same as another, so far as his comfort is concerned. And women, as a rule, have never interposed any strenuous objection to this mental picture of man. A very charming woman not long ago struck the keynote of the whole situation as it is most conducive to the fullest happiness when she said: "I want my husband to feel that he and his friends can smoke in any room in this house save one, our bed-chamber. That I want to keep free from the cigar." To many, particularly so to well-bred persons, it may seem strange that any word of comment should be necessary on the subject of men smoking in the bed-chambers of their homes. Yet its strangeness does not rob the matter of the necessity of it. The vast majority of men would not think of smoking in a bed-chamber. At the same time it is well sometimes to write to the minority. "A gentleman, surely, would not do it," said a woman recently, and yet when she went over the list of her friends she found that she knew one or two of her them who had mentioned the fact to her that their husbands did smoke in their sleeping apartments. And she was compelled to confess that she esteemed these men in the light of gentlemen.

It is unfortunate when the fumes of tobacco are so offensive to a woman that she cannot tolerate her husband's smoking at home. For if there is one place and one time above all others when and where a man enjoys his cigar it is in his home after dinner, the hour which is truly the man's hour. But every woman has a right to ask of her husband that the fumes of tobacco shall be excluded from her room. It is not too much to ask; it is no more than any man will concede to his wife. The cause for the request upon the part of the one or the concession upon the part of the other should never rise. But where it does arise, or exists, the right of the wife is as plain and indisputable as the error of the husband is palpable. No man, with the best wishes of his wife at heart, will ever introduce the fumes of tobacco into a bed-chamber occupied by his wife as well as by himself. There should be one room in the house where a woman has the benefit of her own instinctive preferences.

A Simple Lamp Shade.

To make a pretty lace shade for an ordinary sewing lamp, a yard of cream-colored lace edging, ten inches wide, and three yards of narrow pink satin ribbon will be required.

First sew the ends of the lace together; then thread one end of the ribbon into a tape needle and run it in and out through the meshes of the lace about an inch from the upper edge, draw it up enough to make it fit easily over the globe, and tie it in a double bow with short ends.



LAMP SHADE.

Make the rest of the ribbon into little bows, and tack them on at regular intervals around the shade.

A lining of thin, pink silk would make the shade still prettier, but for unskilled fingers it might be a little difficult to arrange.

Dining-Room Etiquette.

The woman who accepts an invitation to a dinner or a lunch party and neglects to answer it, or, if accepted, neglects to appear or send an apology, is either ill-bred or uninformed as to the common usages of society.

Only the most extraordinary circumstances can justify ones being late to a formal dinner or luncheon. On the other hand, do not put in an appearance an hour before the time appointed, as, presumably, the hostess will not be in readiness to receive you. Ten or fifteen minutes in advance of the hour is quite enough. Ladies may remove their hats or not at a luncheon, but the present fashion is in favor of keeping them on.

It is suggested that a multiplicity of knives, forks, spoons and small plates on the dinner table, especially if guests are present who are accustomed to dining simply at home, savors of vulgarity. It is better, in such cases, to bring fresh supplies of these articles as each course is served. Otherwise embarrassment is apt to ensue, and this is a sure foe to enjoyment.

Summer Comforts.

Window screens of black mosquito netting, when the wire screens cost more than one can well afford.

Piazza shades made of striped awning cloth fastened on a stout brass rod by means of dress rings. These curtains can easily be pushed to one side when desired.

A strong, serviceable hammock, swung on the piazza or between trees, and furnished with a couple of big downy pillows covered with bright plaided gingham.

A folding piazza chair covered with canvas, that can be made into a couch if desired. This should also be furnished with at least two down pillows and an afghan.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

FREAKS OF A TORNADO.

Trenched Ten Feet Deep Cut in the Hillside.

Special to the Times.

HALIFAX, N.S., July 31.—The section of Pictou County, known as McLennan's Mountain was visited by a tornado Sunday. There was a cloudburst, and trenches 10 feet deep were cut into the hillsides and every water course in the vicinity was turned into a torrent. The lightning struck several houses. Farmers' crops were ruined. The losses will foot up many thousands of dollars. An old mill was carried bodily away and strewn along the stream for a mile. Fifteen inches of hail fell.

TO STUDY CANADA'S CROPS.

A Gallician Delegated to our Fair Dominion.

Special to the Times.

VIENNA, July 31.—Prof. Olesknow, of Gallicia is about to start for Canada to study the agricultural resources of that country. He will be accompanied by a practical farmer. He leaves for England on August 1st, and will then proceed to Canada. He goes on his mission on behalf of various farmer's societies, and hopes, if the visit proves satisfactory, to be able to make aims to direct to Canada some of the Austrian agricultural emigration that has hitherto gone to Brazil.

INTO OFFICE AND OUT.

Superannuations and Appointments in the Customs Department.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, July 31.—Thirty Customs officers were superannuated on the 11th of July. Besides the three men superannuated in Toronto, four in Hamilton, three in St. John, five in Halifax and two in Windsor, many superannuations have taken place in the smaller offices, among them Collector William Kirby, at Niagara; Joseph Schryer, at Fort Erie; John Brown, clerk at Amherstburg, and John D. King, of St. Thomas. George Smith has been appointed sub-collector at Southampton, Ont., and James Bogue special preventive officer at St. George, with a salary of $600. Fred W. Shaw has been appointed sub-collector at St. Mary's, N.W.T., in place of Percy R. Neal, who is now serving a term in the penitentiary for defalcation.

Joseph R. Esmond has been appointed Deputy Collector Inland Revenue at Ottawa, vice J. M. Heney, superannuated after 28 years' service.

TARRED AND FEATHERED.

Outrageous Conduct of Villagers Towards a Woman.

Special to the Times.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., July 31.—Jayville, a village on the fringe of the Adirondack forest above Carthage, has been the scene of an assault on a frail woman in an outrageous manner. Some time ago John Pekirch and Mrs. Bert Covey of Jayville eloped from that place; neither was heard of till Saturday when Mrs. Covey suddenly returned. On Sunday three men called on her and told her that if she did not leave the place she would be tarred and feathered. She went to Pitacairn on Monday and swore out a warrant for the arrest of the three men who had threatened her. In the evening she retured home. When the train stopped at Jayville and the woman stepped off the platform she was suddenly surrounded by a crowd of men who seized her and took her into the railroad freight shed where they stripped her off her clothing. There was a crowd of women present dressed in men's clothes with blackened faces. The men held the poor woman down on the floor while the women applied the tar and feathers with a paint brush completely covering her with the stuff, after which they left her. She was taken to her mother's house where a physician was called who found that one arm and a number of ribs were broken. All the parties concerned it is claimed, are known and warrants will be sworn out for their arrest.

Bird Foods Explained . . .

SAY! DO YOU KNOW That much of the seed sold is poor stuff, unfit for Bird Food, save to destroy song and endanger life. To secure health, song and brilliant plumage use Cottam's Bird Seed. We put up no less than six different brands of Bird Seed, all equal in value to anything of the kind in the market, but all very much inferior to Cottam's Bird Seed. C.B.S. is acknowledged to be the very best. WHY? For explanation read Cottam's Book on Birds and Bird Foods, price 25 cents. C.B.S. is sold by all the best grocers; only 10 cents per package, but really worth 15 cents, as each packet contains 16 ounces of choice Bird Seed and a 5 cent cake of our patent Bird Bread. IMPRESSED ON THE MEMORY
That Pond's Extract is without equal for relieving pain, and that no remedy should be accepted as "just as good." And unscrupulous druggists will insist on trying to force upon purchasers weak imitations which are irritating, uncertain and even poisonous, very different from genuine Pond's Extract, which is universally known as a great healer, pacifier and comforter. Nature's own remedy for all pain is genuine Pond's Extract.

HADDO NOT ON BOARD.

The Governor-General's Son Not One of the Sunbeam's Crew.

Special to the Times.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—There is no truth whatever in the story telegraphed from Chicago that Lord Haddo, son of the Earl of Aberdeen, was on the yacht Sunbeam, supposed to be lost on Lake Michigan. Lord Haddo is now on his way from England, where he has been at school, and will be here in a few days.

FARMERS APPEAL FOR AID.

The Drought-stricken Tillers Seek Financial Aid.

Special to the Times.

TORONTO, Aug. 1. — A deputation of farmers from Grey county waited on the Ontario government this afternoon to lay before it the distressed condition of the farmers of the county as a result of the plague of grasshoppers during the summer and the continued drouth. The deputation dwelt at length on the condition of the different townships and asked either a cash grant from the government or leave for the county to pass a by-law granting financial aid. Hon. Mr. Dryden, who represented the Government, promised the matter should be carefully considerded.

MOST INVALUABLE

The New Specific Remedy is being Extensively Used at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, July 29.—The marvellous recovery of Mr. G. H. Kent, of this city, from Bright's disease by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills is still fresh in the memories of Ottawa people, and the remedy is being freely recommended both by druggists and private citizens. The similar wonderful cures of Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond. Quebec, and of Mr. Arthur Coley, of Somerset, Manitoba, to say nothing of many others, are generally quoted in favor of the assertion that no remedy of modern times has gone so successfully through a severe trial, and been so efficacious in all cases of kidney trouble. It is also proving itself invaluable in the milder forms of sickness which appeared during the summer.

WANTED TO HUG DURRANT.

A Handsome Woman Tries to Embrace Him in the Court Room.

Special to the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 1.—Two additional jurors have been secured to try Durrant for the murder of Blance Lamont. The third panel of seventy-five names having been exhausted an order was issued for 1?? more. The additional jurors secured yesterday are M. R. Dempster, commission merchant, and Nathan Croker, contractor. Four jurors in all have so far been secured.

As Durrant was entering the court room a well dressed and handsome woman rushed up towards him with endearing words and attempted to embrace him. The sheriff protected Durrant from this admirer and also refuses to deliver the quantities of flowers sent to his cell by strangers.

Demers Committed to Trial.

MONTREAL, Aug. 1.—Demers, who is charged with the killing of his wife at St. Henri, was committed by the police magistrate this afternoon to stand his trial at the next term of the Court of Queen's Bench in September.

Burglary at Gravenhurst.

GRAVENHURST, Aug. 1.—Burglars broke into the post office here some time during last night and considerable money was taken, together with the contents of several registered letters. Entrance was effected through a rear window, and a door leading to the main office was pried open. The burglars then drilled a large hole through the vault door at the side of the combination lock and, with a punch, destroyed the lock.

ENLARGES THE USES OF MUSIC.

There is a good deal in the old saw that music will charm the savage breast. It always was possessed of a magnetic power over individuals. To the present age, however, must be credited the greater triumphs in musical directions. And not the least of these is the transposing piano of Heintzman & Co., Toronto, which opens out for vocalists a wide arena of delightful study. The instrument is unique in every particular, and ought to command the study of everyone interested in music, whether professionally or for its individual delights.

Twenty Thousand Roses.

There are nearly 20,000 rose trees in bloom now at Dunlop's conservatories Bloor-st. west, Toronto. Visitors are always well come. Mr. Dunlop is proud of his establishment and takes pleasure in speaking on his beauties. He ships them by mail and express to all parts of Canada, and as these orders are filled direct from the trees, he guarantees them to arrive in good condition. COOKERY AS A FINE ART.

Several Changes That Have Been Noted in the Preparation of Salad.

It is the duty of every woman to make herself familiar with the details of housekeeping, especially the portions relating more particularly to the cuisine. To concoct dainty and wholesome dishes requires, besides manual skill, a trained judgment and a knowledge of certain chemical laws. In one well-cooked dinner will be found enough scientific material to fill a text-book.

So much for the material portion!

Cooking has also its artistic side. To make dishes destined to adorn her table present as attractive an appearance as possible should be the pride and the pleasure of every good housekeeper. No matter how well trained her servants may be, her own dainty taste, together with her practical knowledge of cookery in all its details, will enable her to give the finishing touches which tempt the palate as well as charm the eye.

It is at this season of the year that one grows to dislike the sight of familiar beef, mutton, and canned vegetables of various sorts, which have supplied so large a part of our sustenance during the winter season. The wise housekeeper begins to vary the diet, as far as possible, by the introduction of green vegetables, salads, fruit, etc.

Regarding the preparation of the salad, several changes are noticed. It was formerly the unwritten law of salad concoction that the more substantial portion should be composed of vegetables not saccharine in their nature. Recently, however, epicures have declared this ancient and time-honored doctrine to be a fallacy. Shaddock, oranges, and the small and delicious alligator pears have been served with either French or mayonnaise dressing, for the course between the roast and the dessert, and the result has been a most novel, as well as palatable, dish.

To prepare oranges for a salad, slice them very thin. Serve on flat plates with dressing of oil, vinegar, salt and pepper, as mayonnaise is a trifle heavy for the fibre of the orange, though it serves excellently on the shaddock (grape-fruit), which does not possess a flavor so delicate as that of its cousin the orange. This fruit should be peeled, quartered and served with mayonnaise over it.

A very toothsome salad may be prepared by mixing the alligator pear, cut in small pieces, with either mayonnaise or French dressing, but to the epicurean palate the pleasant flavor of vinegar unmixed with egg is preferable. Some housewives serve the fruits salads on the crisp leaves of lettuce. The blending of the green and yellow presents a most artistic appearance and is also pleasing from a gastronomic standpoint.

Tomato frappe.—A salad bearing this name recently made its debut at a luncheon party. Its preparation was exceedingly simple. The tomatoes were peeled and squeezed through a colander into a mass of pulp. This was placed in a long, narrow jelly mold and consigned to the icebox to become thoroughly congealed. In serving, the hostess used a flat salad-knife and divided the frappe into rather thick slices, to which was added an appetizing accompaniment of mayonnaise dressing.

Egg salad.—Slice hard-boiled eggs and arrange upon crisp leaves of lettuce. Serve with mayonnaise dressing, which may either be poured over the salad or served in a separate dish and passed to each guest.

Salad of caviare and tomatoes.—This combination results in a most tempting dish. Buy a small pot of caviare and add to it a dressing made from two tablespoonfuls of oil and one tablespoonful of vinegar. Season with cayenne pepper, but no salt. Mix thoroughly with the caviare, then add a hard-boiled egg, cut in small slices, and two tomatoes, previously peeled and sliced, being careful not to break the tomato slices. Serve very cold on a bed of crisp lettuce-leaves.

Tomato and lettuce salad.—This is by no means a novelty, but if carefully prepared will add a charm to the simplest menu. One tomato will be required for each guest, and care should be taken to select large, firm ones. Throw them into a pan of boiling water, let them remain for about two minutes, then remove them and peel off the skins. They will come off very easily, requiring only a trifling aid from a sharp knife. If the skin resist very much, return them to the boiling water for a few seconds, but be sure that they are not allowed to become soft and "mushy." Place the peeled tomatoes on a flat dish in the ice-chest and allow them to become thoroughly chilled, not merely cold. Prepare a mayonnaise dressing according to the excellent receipt given in a preceding issue of this magazine. When just ready to serve, cut a small portion out of the top of each tomato, using a very sharp knife. In this cavity, place a generous spoonful of the mayonnaise; serve with a border of crisp lettuce-leaves around the dish, or if preferred, each tomato may be placed on a salad plate with a leaf of lettuce and served individually.

Light Fabrics for Summer.

For evening toilettes all through the summer chiffon, mousseline de sole and taffeta will be the leading materials. For the street, those who do not mind the heat will look stylish in tailor-made costumes, not so plain as heretofore, and enlivened by silk guimpes in place of the stiff collar and shirt-bosom—in some cases, if not in all.

Crepon is a light, summery fabric, the popularity of which shows no evidence of being on the wane. It makes a very comfortable dress, and its wave and crinkled surfaces are given every imaginable tint. Ripple crepon makes a charming gown in all shades of brown, and can be brightened up by the use of plaid taffeta for vests and sleeves. On very young girls plaid ribbons are added, placed on each seam and ending in bows near the bottom of the skirt. Among other light cloths are Saxony serges, Victoria cloth, Henrietta, and all the old favorite heather mixtures. From France comes a cloth basket weave, which is put on the market just as it comes from the loom without either dyeing or dressing. It is extremely pretty and uncommon, and is also very serviceable.

Negligee gowns will always be popular. In the country they are permissible even at the breakfast-table of a boarding-house or small hotel, and everywhere they are charming for afternoon wear before the dressing hour. Cashmere, Henrietta and light silks are the principal fabrics used for them; challis is also pressed into service, and beautiful creations of white muslin, and lawn and organdie combined with lace and ribbons are shown at the principal shops.

Norfolk jackets are again coming into favor. They are seen on many stylish gowns of tweed, cheviot, and serge, and also in the more delicate silks and satins, and in all the hot-weather fabrics.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

Mr. Jacob Wilcox of St. Thomas, Ontario, is one of the best known men in that vicinity. He is now, he says, an old man, but Hood's Sarsaparilla has made him feel young again.

"About a year ago I had a very severe attack of the grip, which resulted in my not having a well day for several months afterwards. I was completely run down and my system was in a Terrible Condition.

I lost flesh and became depressed in spirits. Finally a friend who had been benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla advised me to try it and I did so. I continued taking it until I used twelve bottles and today I can honestly say Hood's Sarsaparilla has restored me to my former health." JACOB WILCOX, St. Thomas, Ontario.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Is the Only True Blood Purifier

Prominently in the public eye today. It cures when all other preparations fail.

PLEASE ACCEPT

This public acknowledgment to save time. It is only natural that you should fee proud and gratified with the effect of using this remarkable article—it eclipses every thing. But we really dtserve no credit for giving the samples, less than actual cost (we don't believe in free samples) or for making them doubly valuable by putting them in seasonable Glass Gem Jars.

THANKS
Very Much.

The new "Eclipse" Baking Powder is so splendid and so cheap, (but don't put on the same level as ordinary powders at similar prices), the result must be such an enormous demand that only a slight increased price will be needed to pay the required moderate interest on our heavy outlay.

All wide awake grocers will supply you—it won't pay you to dea with any others. A list of "Wide Awakes" later.

A False Report.

It was reported around town last night that a Peterborough man had been killed in a fight at Lindsay early in the evening. Investigation proved the rumor to be without foundation.

The American Flyers.

The large posters for the meet of the American circuit in Peterborough on August 30, are being issued from THE TIMES office. The best riders in America will be present at this meet which will consist of 9 events.

Lacrosse Match Today.

The Athletics will play with the Millbrook lacrosse club on the Driving Park grounds this afternoon. Millbrook recently defeated the Athletics and they are anxious to return the defeat. The ball will be faced at 5 o'clock.

Good Morning!

Have you used Bates' bread? It is positively the best. Praises are pouring in daily from all quarters; not in Peterborough alone, but also from surrounding towns and villages. If you have the cash buy the best. Walter Bates, bakery 651 Stewart street.

An Infant Falls From a Chair.

On Thursday last, the little eighteen months daughter of Mr. E. W. Elcombe, grocer, of Campbellford, formerly of Peterborough, fell from a high chair in which it had been placed by its mother, and broke its collar bone. A doctor was called to render the necessary medical attendance, and his young patient seemed quite comfortable the following day.

A Serious Affray at Coboconk.

On Monday evening last one of Howry & Son's drives reached Coboconk, and as usual the men loaded up with whiskey. After raising a tremendous racket about the usually quiet village the men returned to their tents on the river bank. One of the gang then got into a dispute with the cook, whose name is Burns, and used an axe, striking Burns on the forehead and on the left arm, inflicting dangerous wounds. The fellow then decamped and has not since been seen. Hopes are entertained of the recovery of the wounded man.

A Saturday Night Trip.

On Saturday the City of Peterborough will inaugurate a new trip down the river, the boat leaving at 7.30 in the evening and calling at Jubilee and Idyl Wyld, giving the passengers the choice of stopping at either of these beautiful resorts over Sunday. On the return trip the boat will leave Harwood and call at Jubilee and Idyl Wyld, reaching Peterborough at 8 o'clock on Monday morning. Tickets for the round trip, including meals, and room for two nights have been placed at $1.50 and can be secured at this office up to 12 o'clock Saturday. It is intended to make this a popular outing and no doubt it will be much appreciated. No pains or expense will be spared by the manager of the steamer or hotels to add to the comfort and enjoyment of guests.

A Close Call.

On Friday forenoon last, as Mrs. Morton, of Campbellford, was returning home from picking berries, she narrowly escaped being killed by a train moving westward, about half a mile east of the village. She was walking outside the rail of the track, and did not hear the train, as her hearing is defective. Her little grandson who accompanied her, saw the train approaching from where he was standing near a barn, and shouted to her to get off the track, but she did not hear him. Mr. Thomas Arnott who was working in a field near by, saw the danger, and ran hurriedly towards her, and shouted to her to get out of the way, and she stepped aside just as the locomotive swept past her and almost grazed her shoulder. She was about to step upon a culvert when Mr. Arnott reached her, and had she done so she would certainly have been killed. Mrs. Morton told Mr. Arnott she heard the noise but thought it was from his wagon.

Catarrah of the Stomach.

"My daughter was suffering with catarrah of the stomach, and was treated by the best physicians without benefit. Finally she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped her at once. She has taken 15 bottles and she is now able to work all the time." Anna Merrill, Eaton, Que., Canada.

WALLACE RE-ELECTED.

List of Officers Elected at the Grand Orange Lodge.

There was a little scene at the Grand Lodge at Halifax when the credential committee reported W. A. McCulloch, ex M.P, Edward Cochrane, M.P., Alex. McKay, M.P., Lieut. Col. R. Tyrwhitt, M. P., and "Whip" Taylor, M.P., entitled to sit and vote. John McMillan, of Toronto, wanted to know by what right they were thus accorded votes, and a lively dispute followed. It was ended by the Grand Master ruling that the gentlemen mentioned were entitled to vote as "incorporated members" having registered and been designed as such by Parliament.

The Grand Master was re-elected by acclamation, Bro. E. F. Clarke declining to run. He also declined re-election as Deputy Grand Master and A. J. Armstrong, of St. John, was elected. Mr. Galbraith, Past Grand Master of Quebec, being his opponent, 130 to 33. Robert Birmingham was re elected Grand Secretary by acclamation. The complete list of officers is as follows:

Grand Master—Hon. N. Clarke Wallace, M.P.

Deputy Grand Master—Major A. J. Armstrong, St. John.

Grand Chaplain—Rev. John Helliwell, Vankleek Hill.

Grand Secretary—Mr. Robt. Birmingham, Toronto.

Grand Treasurer—Mr. W. J. Parkhill, Midland.

Grand Director of Ceremonies—Mr. R. Burns, Toronto.

Deputy Grand Chaplains—Revs. Wm. Walsh, D. Carscadden, Brampton; Philip Jones, Elmsdale; Chas. E. Perry, Davenport; Rural Dean Cooper, B.D., Invermay; S. A. Duprau, Belleville; F. M. Finn, Portage la Prairie; J. E. Flewelling, M.A., Centerville, N.B.; A. L. Geggie, Truro, N. S.; J. W. Jones, Maxwell; J. C. Madill, Sarnia; P. T. Mignott, B.A., Milton; William Moore, D.D., Ottawa; E. W. Sibbald, M.A., St. John, N.B.; W. S. Smyth, D.D., Montreal; A. F. Thompson, Bathurst, St. John, N.B.; David Wright, Springhill, N.S.

Deputy Grand Secretary—Mr. John C. Gass, Shubenacadie, N.S.

Deputy Grand Treasurer—Lieut.-Col. J. H. Scott, Kincardine.

Deputy Grand Lecturers—Messrs. John Shepherd, Ottawa; John Cox, Montreal; G. R. Vincent, P.G.S., St. John, N.B.; R. K. Brace, Charlottetown, P.E.I.; J. Armstrong, Medicine Hat, N.W.T.; Robt. Bell, Vancouver, B.C.; E. G. Martin, G. S., St. John's, Newfoundland; A. J. Munro, Amherst.

Grand Lodge Auditors—Major Sam Hughes, M.P., Lindsay; Mr. W. H. Stewart P.C.M., Warwick.

The retiring Deputy Grand Master, E. F. Clarke, was tendred a vote of thanks.

Collingwood was selected as the next place of meeting.

GREY COUNTY DISTRESS.

Grasshoppers and Drought Cause Suffering to Farmers—Asking Relief,

Warden George Binnie, of Grey County, waited upon Hon. John Dryden yesterday, and laid before him the distressed condition of the county. Grasshoppers and drought were blamed for the loss of almost every green thing. Holland and Sullivan townships had suffered most.

Mr. Binnie asked whether the Government would make a cash grant for relief or enable the county to do so. Mr. Dryden suggested that more details be gathered, another meeting be held, and some scheme formulated. Every attention would be given by the department to the matter. Perhaps a cash grant would be made, or a commission might be appointed to distribute the aid if thought necessrry.

THIS YEAR'S FRUIT CROP.

Small Fruits not Very Good, But Apples Promising Well.

"Peaches, pears and plums are going to be rather a short crop," said a well known fruit man yesterday morning. "One grower told me this morning that he wouldn't have two baskets. The peach crop will be mainly composed of early varieties that the cold snap did not hurt.

"Pears are plentiful in some localities, but, generally speaking, there are not by any means enough to fill the usual demand. Plums altogether belie the bloom they showed, and grapes will be somewhat better. Root crops are all right, and the melons, tomatoes and that sort of thing will be of good quality and quantity.

"Apples are well reported here, in the United States, in Great Britain, and on the continent. Canadian exporters are, of course, not pleased with the large British crop, as it does not tend to better the market for them. But local dealers are not at all displeased."

J. R. Gurd, coal and wood, London, West, has sold out.

Helping the Town Along.

Most of our citizens take a great interest in town affairs and do all in their power to try and promote everything that will be for the good of the town. Farmers and people living in the vicinity of the town should also take an interest in its well being, for it is here they sell their products and buy most of their groceries, provisions, etc. How can these people further assist the town? If in no other way they can refuse to purchase goods from the many peddlars who call at their homes. The goods these fellows handle are generally cheap trash, purchased in the large cash shops of Toronto and brought out here on the trains as baggage—thus saving express and freight charges. With these goods on their backs they start out to canvass the country, and even if you don't want the goods you will often buy them to get rid of the peddlars. There is no way of stopping them but to simply starve them out by not buying their goods. They pay no taxes to assist in keeping up the roads, public buildings, etc., and are generally a shifting, dirty lot of fellows and would be very little missed if put out of existence, as they are of no use to any community or country. Now, let everyone refuse to deal with these hawkers and purchase your goods from established merchants, and thus help to build up the town. Keeping money in circulation in your own town is the best way to build it up.

The Auburn Woollen Mills team, of Peterborough, which is billed to meet our boys here on civic holiday, is a very strong team and a good game may be expected.—Lindsay Post.

A new swindle has just been nipped in the bud. A fakir named Dunoon was arrested Monday last at Sault Ste. Marie and sentenced to six months in Central prison for obtaining fees from hotel keepers for inspecting their licenses, and signing receipts therefor.

It has been said that the receipts of the dairymen in this locality will be one-third less than what they realized last year. This has been brought about by the low price of cheese and the great decrease in the flow of milk caused by the prolonged drought.—Campbellford Herald.

An inventive genuis, noticing the growing tendency to large sleeves and the ladies evident fear of having the aforesaid sleeves crumpled, has hit upon a scheme to avoid this. In each sleeve he proposes to place an inflated rubber sack, which is connected with a small whistle under each arm. Any pressure on the sleeve is at once made known by a note on the whistle.

A poor, crippled man with a wooden leg, came to the village begging, one day during the week. He was in rags, and travelling with him was his wife and an infant, who were also poverty stricken and objects of pity. They drove an old horse that seemed ready to fall, and rode in a delapidated buggy that was falling to pieces. The unfortunate man said he was burned out last fall, and lost everything he had.—Campbellford Herald.

Ask some men for an advertisement or a few locals and they will say they don't believe in advertising—a paper is never read. Let one of them be caught kissing his neighbor's wife or trying to hold up the side of a building sometime, and his tune changes instanter, and if the printing office is in a garret of a seventeen story building he will climb up to the top and beg the editor to keep quiet—not to publish it in the paper. The paper is not read—oh no!

A London (Ont.) girl has won the prize offered by a Washington paper for the best essay on the late lamented George after whom the capital of the United States is named. A Canadian (Hall) was the best member of the Cornell crew at Henley, a Cananian (Hackett) was the fastest oarsman at Saratoga, a Canadian (Hayhurst) won the Queen's prize at Bisley, and now a Canadian school girl beats the whole United States in writing an essay on the Father of the American republic. 'Rah for Canada!

A slight mishap befel the Str. Esturian while on the up trip Tuesday evening, Just as the steamer had entered the river she collided with a sunken log, with the result that the false siding, constructed shortly after the boat was built in order to steady her, was smashed into on the port side allowing the water to pour in. The accident occasioned some little consternation among the women and children aboard, but there was really no danger. The boat was promptly beached, and the passengers transferred to the Greyhound, which happened to come up at the time, and taken to Lindsay.

A country minister in a certain locality took permanent leave of his congregation in the following pathetic manner: "Brothers and sisters, I come to say goodby. I don't think God loves this church, because none of you ever die. I don't think you love each other, because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me, because you have not paid my salary; your donations are mouldy fruit and wormy apples; and 'by their fruit ye shall know them.' Brothers, I am going away to a better place, I have been called to become chaplain of a penitentiary. Where I go, ye cannot come, but I go to prepare a place for you, and may the Lord have mercy on your souls. Goodby."

Sealskin to be Dearer.

Sealskins are likely to be dearer this year than for several seasons past. The principal factor in reducing quotations of skins last season was the unusually large catch of the Canadian sealers, amounting to 94,000 skins, 25,000 more than the catch of the previous year and about double the catch of 1892. At the Department of Marine and Fisheries reports are carefully watched of the sealing operations, and there it is stated that the number of skins taken this year, and likely to be taken in the Behring Sea during the open season, which commenced on the 1st of August, will be considerably below the catch of 1894. The coast catch, already accounted for, is very much less.

BIG PROFITS —ON— SMALL INVESTMENTS

Returning prosperity will make many rich, but nowhere can they make so much within a short time as by successful speculation in Grain, Provisions and Stock.

$10.00 FOR EACH DOLLAR INVESTED can be made by our SYSTEMATIC PLAN OF SPECULATION.

Originated by us. All successful speculators operate on a regular system.

It is a well known fact that there are thousands of men in all parts of the United States who, by systematic trading through Chicago brokers, make large amounts every year, ranging from a few thousand dollars for the man who invests a hundred or two hundred dollars up to $50,000 to $100,000 or more by those who invest a few thousand.

It is also a fact that those who make the largest profits from comparatively small investments on this plan are persons who live away from Chicago and invest through brokers who thoroughly understand systematic trading.

Our plan does not risk the whole amount invested on any trade, but covers both sides, so that whether the market rises or falls it brings a steady profit that piles up enormously in a short time.

WRITE FOR CONVINCING PROOFS, also our Manual on Successful Speculation and our Daily Market Report, full of money-making pointers. ALL FREE. Our Manual explains margin trading fully. Highest references in regard to our standing and success.

A Metal Breadboard

THE WOMAN WHO HAS BEEN USED to kneading dough on the old fashioned wooden breadboard knows what a bother it is to get them clean and how cumbersome and heavy they are. When they begin to crack or check its almost impossible to thoroughly cleanse them, and they may easily become dangerous conveyances of disease. It was left for a woman, of course, to remedy this state of affairs, and Mrs. M. M. Everhard, of St. Joseph, Mich., has patented a metal bread-board, which is one of the greatest labor-savers imaginable. It is light, does not absorb grease, dough does not adhere to it, and while it possesses all the advantages of the marble bread-board it is much cheaper and, of course, far lighter and easier to handle. If readers want to confer a favor upon their wives that will be forever appreciated, let them send $1 to the manufacturers 161 Bay street Toronto, for one of these boards.

Agents wanted in every town and county in the Dominion, $200 to $500 a month easily made For further particulars address

HOLMES IN TREPIDATION.

HE IS FEARFUL OF THE DISCLOSURES HATCH WILL MAKE.

He Says Hatch Had the Pietzel Children and Hatch May Deny This—If He Does He Will Tell Much More In Order to Prove Holmes a Liar—Latest Developments.

Special to the Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 2.—It is quite evident that Holmes regards the probability of a revelation from the recently-discovered Hatch with no small amount of uneasiness. He continues his loquaciousness and discusses with great freedom the developments in the case as they appear.

"The Chicago officials," he said, "may claim that I am responsible for the death of Minnie Williams, Emily Cigrand and Mrs. Conner and little Julia, but I can show conclusively that these people have not and could not have been done away with by me. I am willing to admit that Emily Cigrand was employed by me as a clerk and typewriter for quite a while, but I cannot say where she is now." Holmes declared that Minnie Williams is alive.

IT WOULD BE DOG EAT DOG,
